Woman Dies After Crash On Highway

First Marin Auto Death In New Year; Child Hurt

Mrs. Arlene F. Smith, 22, was eastbound on the highway about 4 p.m., her 3-year-old son, James, beside her, when her car crossed into the westbound lanes and smashed into a car driven by Alton B. Bench, 61, of 650 Canyon Road, Novato, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Mrs. Smith died four hours later at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco, where she had been transferred after emergency treatment for head injuries at Novato General Hospital.

Her son was in critical condition at the Novato hospital today, with head injuries.

Also in critical condition in the same hospital was Mrs. Bench, 61, who was a passenger with her husband. She suffered severe internal injuries.

Bench, a maintenance man at the Novato hospital, was reported in fair condition with a fractured right leg.

The Benches' daughter, Lynn, said her parents were returning from a shopping trip to Vallejo when the crash happened.

Highway Patrolman Angelo J. Corvino, who was driving behind Mrs. Smith's 1963 Ford sedan, said he saw no reason for the car to suddenly swerve.

Mrs. Smith's body was taken to the San Francisco morgue.

President To Ask Billions For War

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson ill go to Congress after it resumes session next week for a whopping $13 billion in extra funds to finance the war in Viet Nam during the current fiscal year.

It will raise total military appropriations for this fiscal year to well above $62 billion—the highest figure since World War II.

It also gives a foretaste of what can be expected in defense spending requests in the budget Johnson will submit to Congress for the fiscal year which starts July 1.

Since appropriations include large sums for long-term production items such as ships and aircraft, they are not all spent during a 12-month period. The defense spending estimate for the current fiscal year now stands at $53 billion. Johnson's new budget is expected to call for something less than $60 billion.

COMBINED AP & UPI

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg today renewed President Johnson's appeal to members of the U. N. Security Council to help arrange peace talks on the Viet Nam problem.

He told the U.N. that the United States had made the following points in its contacts with key governments:

That the United States is prepared for discussions or negotiations without any prior conditions whatsoever.

That "a reciprocal reduction of hostilities could be envisaged and that a cease-fire might be the first order of business in any discussion or negotiation."

That the United States remains prepared to withdraw its forces from South Viet Nam "as soon as South Viet Nam is in a position to determine its own future without external interference."

That the United States desires no continuing military presence or bases in Viet Nam.

That the future political structure in South Viet Nam should be determined by the South Vietnamese people through democratic processes.

That the question of reunification of the country should be decided by the free decision of its people.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the powerful Senate Armed Services Committee, said today the U.S. "pause" in bombing Communist North Viet Nam has already run too long.

Russell prefaced his comments on the bombing pause with a statement that he has little hope for the Johnson ad-

Storm Eases In North

COMBINED AP & UPI

EUREKA — Heavy rain fell again today on soggy Northern California and Western Oregon, and one more town was isolated by swollen streams. See pictures, page 12.

The ominous threat of a major flood continued, despite the fact that many streams in the regiond were receding.

Disaster workers, who helped more than 1,000 people move out ahead of floodwaters, breathed a little easier as skies cleared partially and rain of the past 20 days eased up.

MORE RAIN

However, more rain was forecast tonight and temperatures went up slightly. Any significant warming could melt a deep snowpack in the mountains and cause a major disaster for the second winter in a row.

River crested last night and today well below the record levels which devastated the region last year, killing 43 people and causing damage estimated at $300 milioln.

The 1,200 residents of Ferndale in Humboldt County were isolated by the Eeel River, which was seven feet over flood stage and still rising. It was expected to level off later in the day.

Previously isolated by washed out bridges were the communities of Briceland, Whitmore and Petrolia on the Eel River.

Rep. Don Clausen, R-First Congressional District, whose district encompasses the flood area, made an aerial inspection today and reported "it amplifies the need to continue flood protective recommendations."

UKIAH RAIN

Ukiah, Mendocino County, was soaked by 4.13 inches of rain in a 24-hour period ending early today.

Red Cross disaster workers, Army Engineers and national guardsmen remained prepared for the worst, despite the slight let-up.

Some 180 persons, evacuated from Starvation Flat in Humboldt County and 65 families from the Fernbridge area and others from Orick and Hydesville were being housed and fed at the

Heavy Night's Rainfall

At least 20 families were evacuated from homes in Kentfield and Larkspur today as relentless rains combined with wind and high tide to push the winter's worst storm to the crisis point.

The storm dumped 11.16 inches of rain on Ross in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m.

Classes were cancelled at the College of Marin and nearby Adaline E. Kent School when Corte Madera Creek overflowed its banks.

Mud slides in several areas made traffic problems even worse.

The Weather Bureau predicted the storm would continue through tomorrow.

San Rafael received 6.12 inches of rain from noon yesterday to the same time today.

This is how the storm affected various areas of Marin:

Kentfield — More than three feet of water sealed off the entrance to the Kent Woodlands area, making it impossible for residents to leave for jobs or school.

Water rose to the doorknobs on Kent Avenue apartments near the College of Marin football field. Firemen removed a dozen families from that area. Another six to eight families were evacuated from Berens Drive and McCallister Drive, where two and one-half feet of water flooded garages but receded before entering most homes.

Firemen escorted families in and out of the Granton Park area, but houses were not flooded there, according to firemen.

Fire Chief Kenneth Kamp said his men made no effort to keep records of how many families were evacuated or who they were.

Larkspur-Corte Madera—Two feet af water flooded Larkspur's Doherty Drive, main road to Redwood High School, and the parking lot of the Value World store on Magnolia Avenue.

Principal Donald Kreps declined to suspend classes at Redwood, but nearly 25 per cent of the student body was reported absent this morning.

Residents of Mohawk Avenue and Lakeside Drive in Corte Madera said the water was two feet deep and rising in their streets.

Petitions Fight Fourth Street Parking Shift

Businessmen on Fourth Street in San Rafael were circulating a petition today opposing the city council's decision to install parallel parking on the busy downtown street (See also story page 15).

Dr. Frank Howard, a San Rafael dentist and one of the men circulating the petition, said:

"The city council's decision on Monday took us all by surprise and we didn't have a chance to raise any objection.

"We will press City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen to put the matter back on the agenda for the next meeting, when we will present the petition."

He said he had canvassed businesses on Fourth Street and everyone he spoke to were against the abolition of diagonal parking between Lincoln Avenue and E Street.

The city council passed the measure by a 3-2 vote in an unexpected move at the end of Monday's meeting.

Dr. Howard said the traders' principal objections included the loss of 140 spaces with the proposed method of parking.

Storms Are Blamed For Stopping Trains

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Track beds weakened by a continuing wintry storm caused Southern Pacific today to cancel its Cascade passenger train service between Portland, Ore., and Oakland for the third straight day.

Several of the roadbeds are under repair in Oregon.

MARINITES RELIEVED

Church Still Above Orrick Floodwaters

The waters of the Eel River and Redwood Creek in Humboldt County were reported subsiding today—to the relief of a contingent of Marin young people who spent their Christmas holidays rebuilding a church at Orrick that was severely damaged in the Christmas, 1964, flood there.

The Eureka Humboldt Times reported the Orrick church apparently was unharmed by this week's flood, which caused some 70 people—most of the population of the tiny community—to flee their homes.

A dozen teen-agers — eight boys and four girls—and three adults from the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael spent Christmas holidays in Orrick, working on the Presbyterian church there.

Little but the walls of the cement block building remained after the flood of just over a year ago. Some of the Marin young people worked at its restoration during last Easter vacation and again last summer. The Christmas holiday contingent put in a new ceiling and started refinishing the walls, reported Rev. T. Royal Scott, who headed the work party. The roof was replaced last summer.

Minister of the Orrick church is Rev. Joel Peters, who was ordained in his native India and did post-graduate study at San Anselmo Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. Rev. Peters' house is at high enough elevation to escape the flood, Rev. Scott said.

"I just hope our work didn't go for nothing," said Rev. Scott.

Jury Indicts Bobby Baker

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Former Senate aide Robert G. (Bobby) Baker was indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of tax evasion, conspiracy and other offenses.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas deB. Katzenbach said the nine-count indictment charged that Baker understated his income by $54.558.91 for 1961 and 1962.

Baker was accused of evading $23,090.97 in federal income taxes for those two years, the Justice Department said.

City Cool To Cubans

OAKLAND (UPI) — The city council voted last night to tell the federal government it does not want Cuban refugees brought into the East Bay area.

Transport Unions Stand Pat

COMBINED AP & UPI

NEW YORK — Union negotiators rejected Mayor John V. Lindsay's plea today for resumption of subway and bus service while contract negotiations continue.

Lindsay entered the strike talks on the fifth day of a transportation paralysis which started the day he took office.

The rejection of his plan came from the second line of union negotiators, now handling the bargaining for the nine officers of two striking unions who were jailed for calling the strike.

Another court session was scheduled for today concerning the possibility of levying fines against the officers and the unions.

Traffic congestion of fantastic proportions forced the city today to institute a voluntary plan for staggered working hours for the duration of the subway-bus strike.

The strike is costing business losses estimated at $100 million daily.

Union leader Michael J. Quill and eight other top union brass were prisoners of the city for contempt of a court order for resumption of public transit service. Quill suffered a possible heart attack shortly after he was jailed yesterday. Today his condition was still serious, but not critical, according to Bellevue Hospital.

Reagan Is In The Running

TRIES NEW CAREER—Actor Ronald Reagan shows a variety of expressions as he confirms his long-rumored plans to seek the Republican nomination for governor, at a press conference yesterday in Los Angeles. Newsmen saw a half-hour filmed exposition of Reagan's political views, which also was simultaneously released on television stations throughout California. He said his campaign will be "without name calling." (AP Wirephoto)

Calls For Creative Society

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Republican Ronald Reagan, an old-timer in the movies but a newcomer to politics, today steered a course he hoped would put him in the governor's chair of the nation's most populous state.

Reagan, 54, formally announced his candidacy last night for the Republican nomination as California governor in the state's June 7 primary.

In his formal announcement, Reagan suggested establishment of a "Creative Society" in California, apparently as a rival to President Johnson's "Great Society."

"A great society must be a free society, and to be truly great and really free, it must be a creative society calling on the genius and power of its people. Legislation alone can't solve our problems, nor will they disappear under a shower of tax dollars."

Turning to civil rights, Reagan said there was a limit to what could be accomplished by laws and regulations and that he questioned "whether anything additional is needed in that line." Instead, he said he would seek to mobilize people "of goodwill" to "make it plainly evident that those few who choose to walk with prejudice will walk alone."

He courted votes from the Democrats, outnumbering Republicans 4.1 million to 2.8 million, by saying millions of Democrats were "devoted to the cause of freedom and torn between loyalty to party and concern for their own deeply held beliefs and principles."

At the same time, he sought unity within his own party by pledging to work for whoever wins the primary election and asking his fellow Republicans to do so.

Reagan told a news conference after the announcement that he would not submit voters to a "loyalty oath" to find out if they were members of the John Birch Society.

Reagan turned some of his attention in his 30-minute announcement to state issues—in contrast to most of his speeches during his unofficial campaign period.

He held up a catsup bottle and said one Oakland plant manufactured 28 million fewer of them after cancellation of the Mexican bracero farm laborer program.

He also charged the Brown administration with sweeping budget deficits under the rug with "gimmicks" and called proposals for a state withholding tax "the worst gimmick of all."

Welfare costs, he said, had doubled in the past eight years. He warned against asking working men and women to provide welfare for citizens who make welfare a "way of life, free-loading at the expense of more conscientious citizens."

Describing California city streets as "jungle paths after dark," Reagan said the state needs legislation to "untie the hands of our local law enforcement officers."

Republicans Mostly Silent But Demos Sharpen Razors

Democrats were quick to knock down Reagan for his announcement that he would seek the GOP gubernatorial nomination in the June primary.

On the other hand, GOP chiefs were treading softly in an effort to avoid open party warfare and maintain unity.

Former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher, one announced candidate for the Republican nod, said last night that he looked forward to a "very intense" campaign against Reagan, including challenges of his "philosophical statements."

Christopher added, "I won't provoke anything."

The only other announced Republican contender, Laughlin E. Waters, said the actor's candidacy would give state Republicans a choice between the "moderate and winning position" and the "positions which were overwhelmingly rejected nationally in California during the last election.

There was no comment from either of California's two GOP senators.

Sen. George Murphy—another actor turned politician—was silent because—according to an aide—"he's interested in party unity, and he didn't make statements for Christopher or Waters."

The office of Sen. Thomas Kuchel said the senator was out of town and not reachable by telephone.

Roger Kent of Kentfield, the chairman of a group working to re-elect Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, called Reagan's 30-minute television announcement "canned political garbage." Kent added that Reagan's facts were inaccurate and his "sincere look the product of the make-up man and the lighting expert."

Democratic state chairman Robert L. Coate said, "Reagan's chief appeal will be to people who don't know about government." He added, however, that the actor would be "an extremely tough candidate."

Coate's GOP counterpart, Dr. Gaylord Parkinson, did not have an immediate comment on Reagan.

Assemblyman Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, regarded as a possible gubernatorial aspirant, said Reagan's declaration was "politically regretable." he explained, "If we were wise, we'd have only one candidate...someone's going to get hurt in the primary."

Former Republican Gov. Goodwin Knight, considering whether he would seek the nomination, said, "this does not alter any plans I may have had...I still plan to make a decision within a week or two."

Sen. John F. McCarthy of San Rafael, Republican leader in the state senate, said, "I think it's going to be a rugged fight, and I hope it is an honest fight."

"I think it's (Reagan's announcement) wonderful," beamed Mrs. Edward P. Archer president of the California Young Republicans.

Brown's Committee Issues Denials To Reagan Views

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown's major campaign committee issued to newsmen last night a 15-page denial of most major points made by actor Ronald Reagan in announcing his candidacy.

In reply to a Reagan charge that California's unemployment rate was nearly 40 per cent higher than the rest of the nation and that the state led the nation in bankruptcies, the committee said:

"California's economy in 1965 operated at higher levels than any state in the nation: higher even than most nations of the free world."

It said employment, personal income, corporate profits, farm income and retail trade volume set new highs.

"It is not true that California leads the nation in bankruptcies and business failures. Reagan is simply wrong."

The campaign group also disputed an inference by Reagan that cancellation of the bracero farm labor program had injured the tomato and other agricultural businesses.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

German Politicos Fete Adenauer

BONN, Germany (AP)—Konrad Adenauer stood ramrod straight on his 90th birthday today as he received a long line of political leaders and diplomats at a reception in the House of Parliament.

Adenauer

One of the wellwishers who spent the longest time with the former chancellor was Soviet Charge d'Affaires S. M. Kudriavtsev, whose government Adenauer perennially opposes. Their conversation could not be overheard.

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard was among the last in the line, introduced according to a previously prepared list.

Adenauer, West Germany's first postwar chancellor who led his country up from the ruins of the Third Reich, gave up the government helm in 1963. He has announced he will not seek re-election this year as chairman of the ruling Christian Democratic party. He retains his seat as the oldest member of the Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament.

Britons Due Key Election Fight

LONDON (AP) — The Labor and Conservative parties plan high-powered campaigns in a special parliamentary election at Hull, where a splinter-faction candidate opposed to the government's support of U.S. policy in Viet Nam is threatening to cut into Labor votes.

Gott

If Labor does not win back the seat vacated by the death of Henry Solomons last November, Prime Minister Harold Wilson's parliamentary majority will be reduced to one vote.

The outside threat to Labor in the Jan. 27 election is Richard Gott, 27, a journalist put up by a group called the Radical Alliance. Its organizers are leaders in Britain's ban-the-bomb movement.

Kevin McNamara, 31, a law lecturer, is the Labor candidate, and Toby Jessel, 31, an exporter, is the Conservative entry. The small Liberal Party is running Mrs. Laurie Millward, a housewife.

East Germans Flee

UELZEN, Germany (AP) — Four East Germans, including two 13-year-old girls, fled across Communist minefields into West Germany during the night, police reported. In Berlin, an East Berlin woman, 23, fled across the Communist built wall.

Nazis Picket Cal

BERKELEY (UPI) — Three members of the American Nazi Party picketed the main entrance to the University of California's Berkeley campus briefly yesterday, protesting inclusion of an avowed Communist on a student-faculty committee. They carried signs protesting the membership of Bettina Aptheker who says she is a Communist.

Smathers In Hospital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George A. Smothers, D-Fla., who announced Monday that he would not be a candidate for re-election in 1968, entered Georgetown University Hospital here yesterday for medical tests.

Raft Testifies

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Raft, star of scores of Hollywood gangster films, made a brief and unexpected appearance yesterday before a federal grand jury investigating money deals of the Cosa Nostra. The jury was investigating the purchase and sale of stocks by the Costa Nostra crime family of Vieto Genovese, now serving a 15-year jail term on narcotics charge.

Luci's Man Moved

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Patrick J. Nugent, engaged to marry President Johnson's daughter Luci Banes, will be transferred to Washington, D.C., to complete his active military duty in the Air National Guard.

Landmark Burns

INDIO (AP) — This community's mustard-brown, two-story Southern Pacific Railroad depot —said to be the eldest building in the Coachella and Imperial valleys — has burned to the ground. Fire officials said the old structure burned yesterday in 30 minutes, and that a dozen giant Washingtonia palms nearby caught fire.

GOP Hires Newsman

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republicans have hired former Washington newsman Robert T. Hartmann to help "turn the lights back on so the public can see what is really happening." The former Washington bureau chief of the Los Angeles Times, will help with publicity, speechwriting and research.

Relations Cut Off

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China today announced the severance of diplomatic relations with Dahomey. The government of the West African country broke relations with Peking two days ago after Gen. Christophe Soglo, the army chief of staff, took control on Dec. 22.

Refinery Fire Out

LYONS, France (UPI)—A $2 million blaze that claimed 13 lives at one of Europe's newest oil refineries was brought under control today by firemen using special equipment rushed from as far away as Paris, 300 miles to the northwest. An investigation was launched immediately to find out the cause of the spectacular series of explosions and fire at the Feyzin Refinery near here.

Tax Hike Suggested

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Americans for Democratic Action believes the Johnson administration should raise taxes if it cannot finance the Great Society and the war in Viet Nam. Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., ADA national chairman, said yesterday the increasing cost of the war should not be permitted to "strangle the Great Society in its infancy."

'Nice, Quiet' Man Is Held In Slaying

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI) — Authorities held a "nice, quiet, old man" on a murder charge today in the shooting of a Negro civil rights worker whose 1,500 fellow students staged an angry march on City Hall.

Officers released no word from Marvin Segrest, a white, 69-year-old service station attendant, on the slaying which brought state and FBI agents rushing to this predominantly Negro town on the fringe of Alabama's Black (soil) Belt.

Investigators said Samuel L. (Sammy) Younge Jr., 21, a political science major at Tuskegee Institute, apparently was shot during an argument over use of a rest room at Tuskegee's only all-night service station.

Younge's body, sprawled at the entrance to an alley about 75 feet from the station, was found by a taxi driver around midnight Tuesday. The youth was clutching a golf club, which Dist. Atty. Tom Young speculated may have been used as a weapon. Younge was killed by a .38 bullet in the temple.

When word of the slaying spread, 1,500 students at Tuskegee Institute, probably the nation's most famous Negro college, marched in a chilling rain to City Hall and demanded to see Mayor Charles M. Keever.

Backed by Tuskegee's five councilmen, two of whom are Negroes, Keever was heckled by some students, who shouted "This is the time for strong action . . . (not) regrets."

Waldie In Surgery

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie, majority floor leader in the lower house of the Legislature, was "doing fine" today after knee surgery at the University of California Medical Center The surgery resulted from a high school football injury.

ONE OF MANY—This 45-foot cypress may have been one of the biggest, but certainly was not the only tree which fell in Marin County as the worst storm of the season reached dangerous proportions. This one did little damage when it fell in front of the Lagunitas Post Office, blocking part of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Others landed on houses, cars and power lines.

Kentfield Residents Flee Their Homes

the middle of Granada Drive, east of Highway 101.

Mill Valley — Mr. and Mrs. Louis Books thought an earthquake had struck when an earth slide crashed down on their small cottage at 426 West Blithedale Avenue at 7:30 a.m.

The earth pushed the house into redwoods, cracked it in two and broke gas lines, resulting in a fire which was soon put out by firemen. Mrs. Books suffered a scratch on the right foot.

Asst. Fire Chief Joseph Regalia reported the house was "all catywampus" and "pretty well shot. Furniture is all over."

At least two furnaces were extinguished by waters which flooded Tamalpais Valley basements.

Mill Valley police diverted traffic from 9 p.m. yesterday to 4:15 a.m. today around a flooded section of East Blithedale Avenue at Ashford Avenue. Traffic entering Mill Valley from the north was routed back to Highway 101 and south to Shoreline Highway.

Water was over the sidewalks on Camino Alto and Miller Avenue at 10:30 a.m. The city street department received several calls during the night for sandbags to barricade homes.

Sausalito-Marin City—A truck jacknifed into a mudslide on Highway 101 south of the Richardson Bay Bridge about 6:30 a.m., blocking all four southbound lanes and backing up commute traffic for five miles. The California Highway Patrol said it took an hour to open the highway.

Truck driver Glenn P. Gross, 51, of Eureka, suffered a cut arm when a pickup truck slammed into his big rig, the patrol said. Two sailors in the pickup truck, Richard W. Allen, 20, and Roy West, 19, suffered minor injuries.

Some stalled commuters turned to the Tiburon ferry as a means of getting to work. W. C. Helman, assistant general manager of Harbors Tours Inc., said the ferry service had a 70 per cent increase in passengers this morning. Normally about 100 passengers board the Harbor King at Tiburon at 7:30 a.m.; today there were 170.

A falling tree broke power lines at 73 Cazneau Avenue, Sausalito, at 12:30 a.m., interrupting electric service for 50 Pacific Gas and Electric Co. customers until lines were repaired at 5:15 a.m., according to Leonard O. Robertson, PG and E electrical superintendent. The big oak had been dedicated by the Sausalito Woman's Club.

An inch of water was reported on the factory floor at E. D. Bullard and Co., 2680 Bridgeway. Several roads in Marinship were flooded.

Sausalito firemen used a pump to eliminate water from the corporation yard at Bee and Caledonia streets.

Belvedere-Tiburon — Engine room and offices of the Tiburon Fire Department's main station at 1617 Tiburon Boulevard had three inches of water today. There was flooding on Tiburon Boulevard, and on Cove Road in Belvedere.

Sewers backed up in a few homes on Belvedere's San Rafael Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John Newell of 35 Cove Road, Belvedere, said their living room, utility room and bedroom were flooded by at least eight inches of water. It was the third time in five years their home had been flooded, said Mrs. Newell. It happened before in 1961 and 1963.

San Rafael—City crews worked through the night to keep houses from flooding in the Bret Harte area, according to Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles.

A, B and Second streets were full of water in downtown San Rafael this morning and Rawles said high tide might force Second Street's closing.

Motorists detoured to avoid the flooded intersection of First and B streets.

One class at Short School, Marin and Bayview streets, San Rafael, was moved during the morning to an entranceway when water flooded a classroom, the library and boiler room.

Four inches of water were reported at the home of Mrs. D. Oberschlake, 381 Redwood Highway. Mrs. Oberschlake said construction near the 3-R School cut off storm drainage.

An underground cable failed at Fourth and H streets at 4:45 a.m., cutting electricity for 400 PG and E customers in the Fairhills area until 5:27 a.m. Another failure affected 100 customers in Peacock Gap for an hour when a tree hit a line at McNear's Beach at 12:10 a.m.

San Anselmo—Water was hubcap deep on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in front of the new Sunny Hills Shopping Center and three and one-half feet deep on Sycamore Avenue next to the Creek Apartments.

San Anselmo Creek crested about three inches below overhanging buildings at 2:30 a.m. today but caused no damage.

A small oak tree landed on the roof of the Felix M. Warburg home at 443 Lagunitas Road, at 4:45 a.m. today.

Novato—Water was reported under houses along Walton Street at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Center Road was blocked between Tamalpais Avenue and Lu Sutton School in Novato. Many motorists left cars and walked home.

The North Marin County Water District said Stafford Lake rose two feet in the 24 hours through this morning, but was more than five feet below the spillway.

City crews worked all night to keep debris from drainage ditches.

San Geronimo Valley — A clogged drain flooded Alta Avenue in Lagunitas. The intersection of Redwood and Park avenues was flooded and a land slide partly blocked Ridge Road and undermined houses. A 45-foot cypress tree fell onto Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in front of the Lagunitas post office.

Fifteen county maintenance men worked through the night to keep roads in this and other county areas open and to clear drains, according to Public Works Director Donald R. Frost, who also was up most of the night.

A toppled tree near the new San Geronimo Valley Country Club knocked out electricity for 150 families from 1:15 a.m. to 2:05 a.m.

West Marin—Shoreline Highway was flooded at Inverness, forcing motorists to detour via Bear Valley Road.

Trees were down at several places.

The Marin Municipal Water District reported that Lagunitas, Nicasio and Bon Tempe reservoirs all were full this morning. Kent Lake was 2.8 inches from the spillway at 8 a.m. and Alpine Lake was 13 feet from the top.

Rainfall readings throughout the county for the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. were:

Kent Woodlands, 10.7 inches; Lake Lagunitas, 9.1; Kent Lake, 9; Alpine Lake, 8; Woodacre, and Larkspur, 6:25; Inverness, 6; San Anselmo, 5.72; Chevy Chase (Larkspur), 5.6; Lake Bon Tempe, 5.4; Point Reyes Station, 4.99; Nicasio and Manor Hill (Fairfax), 4.7; Santa Venetia, 4.1; Belvedere, 3.96; Tamalpais Valley, 3.4; Sausalito, 3.34; Mill Valley, 3.28; Hamilton Air Force Base, 3.17; Terra Linda, 2.9; Bolinas, 2.41; Novato, 2.17.

Reward Posted For Lost Spouse

A $10,000 reward for information leading to the whereabouts of a Tamalpais Valley woman missing since May 10, 1964, is being offered by the husband, sheriff's officers said today.

Bruce B. Jones, 441 Live Oak Drive, is offering the money in connection with disappearance of Gertrude Kavesh Jones, 44. Circulars of the offer and including a photograph are being prepared, officers said.

Mrs. Jones is described as weighing 135 pounds, having brown hair and eyes, wearing glasses with thick lens, and having a tendency to hitchhike. The Joneses formerly lived at 301 Richardson Way, Tamalpais Valley.

Thieves Take Tools At Building Sites

Tools were stolen from two houses under construction in the north part of San Rafael, police learned Monday.

Linscott Construction Co. reported power tools and plumbing equipment taken from a tool box at a Sky View Terrace building site, and a $450 paint sprayer from a house being built at Santiago Way and Lucas Park Road.

Car Lot Office Hit

The office shack of the Smilin' Ed Woods used car lot at 801 Second Street, San Rafael, was broken into and $294 worth of auto accessories, tires and batteries were stolen, police were told Monday.

Banker's Trial Jury Completed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A jury of seven women and five men begins hearing testimony today in the federal trial of Don C. Silverthorne and William S. Bennett, charged with mishandling $1.1 million in San Francisco National Bank funds.

The jury was sworn in late yesterday after 56 prospective jurors and alternates were dismissed, many because they told Judge Charles L. Powell that they already had fixed opinions in the case.

Charges against Silverthorne and Bennett followed closure of the San Francisco National Bank last January by the federal government. It was the first San Francisco bank failure since the depression.

The North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry, in a statement broadcast by Hanoi Radio yesterday, labeled the suspension of U.S. air attacks "trick" to further what it called "a deceptive peace campaign."

Presidential envoy W. Averell Harriman today extended his Viet Nam peace mission to Thailand and Japan in the Far East. He was reported to have won a promise in Cairo that the U.A.R. would renew its contacts with other nations concerned with the Viet Nam war.

Execution Stay Granted Inmate

Six days before he was scheduled to die in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber, Ernest Leroy Jacobson, 30, received a stay of execution today pending an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Jacobson was convicted of the 1964 drowning in Los Angeles of the 2-year-old daughter of his common-law wife.

Suspect Enters More Pleas On Forgeries

Guilty pleas to two additional counts of forgery were entered in Marin Superior Court yesterday by James Albert Sprague, 21, of 110 Laurel Place San Rafael.

Sprague had pleaded guilty to two counts last Tuesday. The final three counts in the 7-count complaint have been dismissed. Sprague forged checks ranging from $9.50 to $45 in Marin County from Oct. 14 to Oct. 18.

Condition Critical

Sidney Braverman, owner of Braverman's Home Furnishers, San Anselmo, remained in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital where he was taken after apparently suffering a heart attack yesterday at the Bank of Marin in San Rafael.

Seven times as many frying chickens are commercially grown in the U.S. as were produced at the end of World War II.

VIET

Cong today shot down a mammoth U. S. Army "flying crane" helicopter while it was ferrying ammunition to the Vietnamese Central Highlands, killing the five Americans aboard. U. S. troops in the same area captured and burned a Communist base camp.

A U. S. spokesman said the $6.25 million twin turbine aircraft called a "skycrane" was burning before it crashed and that it apparently was the victim of Communist ground fire.

It was one of only six in existence. Ammunition aboard exploded for hours afterward, preventing any rescue efforts.

The "Flying crane" is used to pick up downed helicopters and can be used as a troop transport.

In the ground war a U. S. 1st Air Cavalry battalion of about 800 men swooped down on a Viet Cong base within a mile of the Cambodian border and burned the camp the Communists had obviously used as a rest area.

The battle area was about 35 miles west of Pleiku in the Central Highlands and about 240 miles north of Saigon in the Ia Drang valley section where U. S. troops fought their costliest battle of the war late in 1965.

The United States has asked the United Arab Republic to act as the power protecting American war prisoners in Viet Nam, reliable sources said today.

They said it was believed to have been prompted by recent executions of Americans by the Viet Cong and the fact that a growing number of U. S. prisoners have been taken.

STORM

Humboldt County fairgrounds here.

The heaviest hit section of Oregon was the Roseburg and Myrtle Creek area where an estimated 200 families were evacuated because of surface water and high water from the South Umpqua River.

Scattered evacuations were were reported along the Coquille and Winchuck River in Oregon and isolated sections of California.

The storm was indirectly blamed for two deaths. A coast guardsman drowned Tuesday while checking buoys in the Columbia River and a truck driver was killed Monday when high winds overturned his trailer truck near Pendleton, Ore.

At Dunsmuir, snow-burdened roofs of five buildings collapsed today at Dunsmuir where a wintry storm has left this northern California town and some nearby areas without electric power for more than 30 hours.

Heavy rain increased the weight of the snow, caving in roofs of the old Southern Pacific roundhouse, two commercial garages, the old Methodist Church and a 40-by-80 foot structure known as the Youth Building

Pleads Guilty To Stealing

William Patrick Maloney, 24, of 182 Belvedere Street, San Rafael, will be sentenced in Marin Superior Court next Tuesday for possession of stolen goods. He pleaded guilty yesterday.

Four beer steins, sterling silver, and furniture, taken in a burglary last February of the residence of Kermit H. Fisher at 635 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, was found in Maloney's home.

Guarded for the Generations

A generous endowment fund assures the proper care and administration of Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in years ahead. Thus this historic site will remain typically Marin in its beauty. Should you wish to visit this beauty spot, we will be pleased to answer your questions and describe our facilities.

OBITUARIES

Marjorie O. Ross Dies At 56

Mrs. Marjorie Olivette Ross, 56, of 37 Rosebank Avenue, Kentfield, died unexpectedly of a heart attack at her home early today.

The wife of John E. Ross, a professor of statistics and economics at San Francisco City College, Mrs. Ross was an active member of the Ross Valley Players, appearing in many of their productions. She was a school teacher for nearly 30 years. She was a junior high school teacher in Daly City at the time of her death.

A native of California, she moved to Marin County 18 years ago. She was graduated from the University of Arizona and later took her master's degree at San Francisco State College. She was a member of the Delta Gamma Sorority.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a son, Robert, an associate professor at University of California at Berkeley; a daughter, Susan, a student at San Diego State College; a sister, Mrs. Cecilia Van Houten of Mexico; and a brother, Cecil Klee, superintendent of schools in Huntington Park, Los Angeles County.

There will be no funeral. Burial will be in a family plot in Hayward.

County Service Tax On Agenda

A tax covering municipal services in unincorporated areas will be discussed by the Marin Federation of Improvement Clubs Monday. The meeting will begin at 7:45 p.m. at the Civic Center.

Mill Valley Mayor Michael Wornum, a member of the county services committee, will speak on the proposed tax.

Wornum and Mayor Robert D. Carrow of Novato, another member of the committee, have proposed taxing agencies such as a county service area, which is administered by supervisors, as a means of wiping out the tax inequity between city property owners and those in unincorporated areas receiving equal services at lower tax.

Closed Session Results Not Told

The San Rafael Board of Education met in closed session for nearly two hours last night to discuss complaints against teachers, administrators and members of the board itself.

Schools Supt. Bert C. Corona said he "was happy" with what took place at the session, which had been requested by the California Teachers Assn., but said there was "really nothing" he could report publicly.

There was no formal action taken, he said.

MRS. ELSING

Private family funeral for Marion H. Elsing of San Rafael, who died Monday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness, will be held tomorrow at the Presbyterian Church in Exeter, Tulare County. She was 79 years old.

Mrs. Elsing was the widow of Rev. Warren Elsing, who was pastor of the church in Exeter when he died in 1930. A native of Neosho, Mo., she lived in California 60 years, the last 11 in Marin County with her sister, Miss Margaret Hamilton, at 509 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael.

She is survived by a daughter, Margaret Elsing of Palo Alto, and her sister, Miss Hamilton. She was a 50-year member of the Order of Eastern Star.

Burial will be in Exeter Cemetery. Local arrangements were handled by the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

R. G. QUINNELL

Funeral for Russell C. Quinnell, 75, retired plumber of 31 Latham Street, San Rafael, will be Friday at 1 p.m. at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

He was a retired member of Plumbers Union Local 38. He was born in North Dakota, but lived in St. Paul, Minn., for most of his life until coming to California—and San Rafael—in 1941. He had lived at the Latham Street address ever since moving here.

His wife, Hattie Quinnell, died in 1955.

Surviving are two daughters and a son, Mrs. Harold Wolhaupter of San Rafael, Mrs. Dean Holler of Dallas, Tex., and Russell G. Quinnell of Fairfield; six grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren, and several brothers and sisters.

Brochure To Explain Proposed Annexation

The North Marin Water District Board last night approved a brochure to be sent to all residents of the 45-square mile area of Northwest Marin proposed for annexation to the district.

The brochures prepared by the district staff, contains 18 questions and answers regarding the proposed annexation.

The water district board awarded Johns Manville Corp. of San Francisco a $93,550 contract for asbestos concrete pipe, and Specification Products of South San Francisco, a $20,497 contract for fire hydrants. In each case, the successful bidder was the lower of two

The board agreed to an increase from $10,000 to $18,000 in cost of a study of future water supplies being made by the Sonoma County Flood Control District. The North Marin and Marin Municipal Water districts will each pay a quarter of the cost, with the Sonoma district paying the remainder.

Heater Taken

Foreman Kenneth Johnson reported to police yesterday the theft of a space heater worth $150 from a construction site at 193 Lucas Park Drive, San Rafael.

Mayor Reviews Library Plans

San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini was briefed by the San Rafael Library Board last night on operation, financing and expected expansion of the city library.

Mrs. Vivian Smith, librarian, said Bettini attended the library board session to gain a better understanding of the library before the council reviews budget requests for fiscal 1967.

Board members told the mayor they hope soon to expand the children's library. They also discussed long-range plans such as setting up branches in other parts of the city.

The board will begin to think about its budget requests at the Feb. 7 meeting, Mrs. Smith predicted.

Sausalito Names Planners Again

The Sausalito City Council last night reappointed two planning commissioners and a member of the community appearances advisory board.

Alan D. Bonapart and John A. Sweeny were reappointed to the planning commission, each for a four-year term.

Theodore T. Bountmy was reappointed to the CAAB for a one-year term.

Blaze Kills Four Of Five Children

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Fire today destroyed a nearby Waterford Township house in which five children were sleeping.

Four of them were killed. The fifth was reported in fair condition.

Waterford Township police identified the victims as 8-year-old Donald Brown and his three sisters: Kathy 15; Nancy, 12; and Julia, 7. Their brother, Larry, 14, escaped the flames and was hospitalized.

Officers said their mother, Barbara, was at work at the time and the children were alone.

Fairfax Trustees Name It White Hill School

That new school in Fairfax School District will be called White Hill School.

Decision for the obvious—since the school will be on White's Hill—was reached by the district board last night after a four-month debate on what to name the school.

Mary Pincini, a sixth grader at Manor School, and Rob Roy of 46 Tamalpais Road, Fairfax, both suggested the winning name.

The Fairfax board received a recommendation from a committee screening candidates for district superintendent, recommending that seven candidates be interviewed, and set a meeting to discuss the recommendation for Saturday at 10 a.m. at Manor School. Supt. Homer Sisk will retire in June.

Meeting Postponed

A meeting of Glenwood Homeowners Assn., scheduled for last night, was postponed until 7:45 p.m. next Tuesday in the Church of the Redeemer, Glenwood.

Bachelor's Body Found In Clutter

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The body of a 28-year-old man was found Tuesday night lying on the floor of his cluttered, disordered apartment. Police said he apparently had been dead for some time.

Police said Daryll Dean France was found dead among overturned furniture and broken dishes. An aquarium was broken and a small live aligator was found in a closet, officers said.

Despite the disorder, the coroner's office reported, there were no marks of violence on France's body. An autopsy was scheduled to determine the cause of death.

Peter Lawford Marriage May End Next Month

Reports of an impending divorce multiplied yesterday when Mrs. Lawford and one of her children remained in Sun Valley, Ida., while the rest of the Kennedy family, including the late President's widow, Jackie, and her children, departed the ski resort.

"It's entirely possible that Pat will stay there for the six-week residence that will qualify her for obtaining a divorce," said a source close to Lawford. "It certainly wouldn't come as a surprise."

The Lawfords were virtually separated more than a year ago when Pat moved out of the family home in Santa Monica to live in a newly purchased New York City apartment.

Mental Test Set In Coin Burglary

Robert Harold Wood, 29, who pleaded guilty Nov. 31 to burglary of H and J Coin Shop in San Anselmo, yesterday was ordered to California Medical Facility at Vacaville for a 90-day observation period.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court held up sentencing until after the observation at Vacaville. Wood, of 737 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, and his brother, Thomas Edward, 24, still a fugitive, were jointly charged with the Nov. 17 burglary.

San Anselmo police recovered the approximately $10,000 loot in rare coins.

Center To Be Closed

The San Rafael Community Recreation Center at Second and Brooks streets will be closed tomorrow, Friday and Monday while floors in the building are being refurbished. All programs will be cancelled those days.

BLACK POINT CRASH TAKES WOMAN'S LIFE

Ambulance attendants lift Mrs. Arlene F. Smith of Vallejo from her wrecked car after it crashed head-on with auto (right rear) driven by Alton B. Bench of Novato on the Black Point Cutoff near the Petaluma Creek Bridge late yesterday. Her injuries proved fatal. (Story on page 1.)

Sausalito Names A Head Librarian

Mrs. Audrey Kay Berteau was named today as head librarian of the Sausalito Public Library.

She has worked for five years at the Palo Alto Public Library, where she was responsible for reference services, readers assistance, circulation and public relations for the central library and its three branches.

Sausalito has been without a head librarian since resignation in July, 1964, of Mrs. Cynthia B. Willcox. Since that time, Mrs. Dolly Georgetti has been acting librarian.

Mrs. Berteau will receive $700 per month, a hike of $50 per month over her predecessor. The increased salary was approved last night by the Sausalito City Council.

A native of California, Mrs. Berteau worked in New York City for Time magazine and in Japan and Germany for the U.S. government. In Germany she was in charge of 16 American libraries, having her headquarters in Stuttgart. She did the same type of work in Japan.

The new librarian, who will start work Monday, was graduated from University of California at Los Angeles and obtained her library science degree from University of Southern California. She resides in Corte Madera.

The appointment was made by the library board and announced by its president, Mrs. James J. Carroll.

Meeting Postponed

The Marinwood Assn. will meet at 8 p.m. at the Marinwood Community Center next Tuesday, postponing the meeting from last night's regular date, President Lawson L. Wood announced today.

Marinwood Park Board's Gavel To Manuel Morris

Manuel Morris was named chairman of the Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission last night, replacing chairman prot em Walter Van Gelder.

Van Gelder, who has served since William T. Lane Jr. resigned from the commission two months ago, attended his last meeting last night. He did not wish reappointment to the commission and his term expired Dec. 31.

Commissioners learned that Lawrence Crawford's resignation as recreation director will take effect Saturday. He will become recreation supervisor in El Cerrito. The commission will interview candidates for the director post Jan. 15.

The commission also urged that anyone wishing to serve on the commission to fill Van Gelder's position call Mrs. Genevieve (Fred) Bolding, secretary of the Marinwood Community Services District.

Commissioners recommended that the community services district board increase the wages of Mrs. Jan Swanson, tiny tot program director from $3 to $3.50 an hour.

Drums Stolen

Drums and equipment valued at $200 were reported stolen from the music room of Terra Linda High School yesterday by Gordon Lowe, music teacher. He told San Rafael police thieves apparently entered the room through a rear door.

School Building Plans Readied

San Anselmo School District trustees last night spent most of their meeting listening to curriculum reports on speech therapy, French and instrumental music programs in the district, then made some final arrangements for construction of Red Hill School.

Trustees hired Gordon H. Howe of Santa Rosa at $500 a month as building inspector on the job. They agreed to hire Abbott A. Hanks Co. of San Rafael to run laboratory tests on concrete used on the job.

The trustees agreed to inform county officials of a surveyor's report which shows as much as 10 feet of Fawn Drive encroaching on Hidden Valley School property in Sleepy Hollow.

Russia and Turkey are the only two countries having territory in both Asia and Europe.

Jail Cell Vigilantes Beat Sex Suspects

James John McElhinney, 43, was severely beaten about the face yesterday afternoon by a "committee" of other Marin County Jail inmates.

He was the second man charged with sexual misbehavior with children to be injured in the jail within a week.

Sheriff's officers said identity of the assailants had not been determined today. According to deputies, McElhinney, who shortly before noon had been ordered in Marin Superior Court to 90 days observation at Atascadero State Hospital, was beaten in the jail day room about 1:15 p.m.

He was taken to San Rafael General Hospital, where several stitches were taken in his lip and left eyebrow, then returned to jail. He was taken to Atascadero last night.

McElhinney, of 108 Eldridge Avenue, Mill Valley, pleaded guilty Nov. 18 to having carnal relations with a 14-year-old girl.

In a similar beating following his arrest last Wednesday, Robert Jack Berg, 39, of San Francisco, suffered a rib fracture. He did not, however, require hospitalization.

Berg, charged with lewd and lascivious behavior with a 9-year-old Tiburon girl, is free on $2,750 bail.

"Milk is the children's wine and wine is the old man's milk," said Sir William Osler. 19th century physician.

Committee Set To Fight School Plan

A newly formed San Geronimo Valley group, the Committee for Sensible School Sites, will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pederson, Oak Grove and Garden Way, Woodacre.

The group, which has been formed to oppose passage of a $200,000 bond issue and $400,000 state loan request in the Lagunitas School District Feb. 15, first met last week to draft the formal argument against the measures which will accompany sample ballots.

Members are opposed to use of the money to build a new elementary school on property where eight homes, including the Pederson residence, now are located.

Teen-Age Pair Appear On Narcotics Charge

Marc Torvend Ford, 18, of Sausalito, and a girl companion, Karen Lee Ames, 19, of Tiburon, were arraigned charging felony counts of possession of narcotics and possession of marijuana.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas then continued both cases until this afternoon for counsel and plea entry.

In addition, Ford is charged on the joint complaint with concealing stolen credit cards. He also faces two earlier felony counts of using stolen credit cards.

The pair was arrested after sheriff's officers and San Rafael and Sausalito police allegedly found marijuana and traces of methadone hydrochloride, morphine and atrophine in a saddle bag of Ford's at the Hilarita Housing apartment of Miss Ames last Wednesday.

Both suspects remained in county jail today in lieu of $5,500 bail each on the charges.

San Diego Adopts Flood Control Plan

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego County Board of Supervisors has approved inclusion of funds in the county budget for plans to build a long-delayed county-wide flood control system.

Warren Barney, director of special district services, said the plan will require 18 months to complete, but could become the basis for formation of a flood control district.

Clues Found To General's Crash

SEATTLE (AP) — An Air Force general bringing a jet plane in for an instrument landing in dark, rainy weather apparently plowed through half a mile of treetops northwest of Seattle before plunging to his death in Puget Sound.

Maj. Gen. I. L. Branch, 53, commander of the Edwards Air Force Base flight test center in California, vanished from radarscopes only a few miles from his destination Sunday. He was flying to Seattle on Air Force business.

Wreckage of the general's plane, his Air Force blue tunic with his name inside and some aeronautical charts were found yesterday. Wreckage was scattered along a half-mile swath leading from a timbered ridge to the beach at Point Jefferson.

San Anselmo Library Vote Bared: To Join County Plan

The San Anselmo library board will recommend to the city council that San Anselmo join the county library cooperative system, City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt said yesterday afternoon.

Louis Yates, a board spokesman, refused yesterday morning to disclose whether the board decided for or against the county system at its public meeting Monday night.

Flautt said board chairman Valerie M. Ansel told him the board wanted to report its decision to him before disclosing it to the public. (The library board's meetings are public but rarely draws an audience.)

The board will make its recommendation to the council at its meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in City Hall, Flautt said.

City membership in the county system would allow residents to withdraw books from the county library at no cost. San Anselmo is the only city in the county which does not have such an arrangement.

Strep Cases Down As Year Runs Out

Streptococcus infections, as usual, led the list of communicable diseases reported in Marin County during the final week of 1965, but the number, 22, was far below previous weeks.

The county health department also reported 13 cases of gonorrhea, two of infectious hepatitis, two of syphilis and one of mumps.

Teen-Agers Face Marijuana Charge

Corte Madera police arrested four 18-year-old youths on charges of possession of marijuana and conspiracy after their speeding car raced by an officer checking a minor traffic accident at 4:15 a.m. today.

Patrolman Charles S. Brobeck said he gave chase after the auto sped by him at Tamalpais Drive and Willow Avenue, heading west.

As the car turned off Tamalpais onto Redwood Avenue, Brobeck saw someone throw a white cellophane bag from the car. He continued in pursuit and radioed a nearby Larkspur police car to pick up the bag.

Brobeck said the substance in the bag, not yet analyzed by a laboratory, appeared to be a fine grain marijuana mixed with an unknown substance.

Brobeck stopped the car at Bayview and Pepper avenues in Larkspur and, with the aid of Larkspur officers Scott Waterman and Alasdair MacDonald, arrested the youths. They are:

Steven Ferdinando Marshall, unemployed, of 28 Diana Lane, Larkspur; Robert Menchen, a draftsman from North Hollywood; Stephen Willard Cox, unemployed from North Hollywood, and driver Michael Clinton Gruener, unemployed from Hollywood.

Brobeck said one of the youths admitted throwing the bag from the car, and that it contained marijuana.

Brobeck said Marshall told him he met the other three youths in Sausalito last night. They went to San Francisco and were on their way to Marshall's home when caught, Brobeck said.

All four were in county jail today with bail set at $3,300 each.

Radio Station Owner Tells Of Klan Terror

WASHINGTON (AP) — The owner of a Bogalusa, La., radio station said today Ku Klux Klan members threatened violence and death after he and a group of others invited former Rep. Brooks Hays of Arkansas to speak there.

"It had nothing to do with integration," Ralph Blumberg told the House Committee on un-American Activities. He said Hays, a former presidential assistant, had been invited to speak on "better community relations," said "this was a matter of freedom of speech."

He said to his surprise the mayor of Bogalusa and its city attorney opposed the meeting on the ground that its timing was bad and the Klan would oppose it violently. The meeting had to be canceled for lack of a place to hold it, he said.

Blumberg, who bought station WBOX in Bogalusa in 1961, said the Klan organized a boycott of the station and threatened advertisers to make them stop using the station. He said he lost almost all of his sponsors.

Blumberg said anonymous telephone callers rang his phone every two hours day and night for weeks, and threatened his life and those of his wife and children.

His car windows were smashed, he said, tacks were strewn in his driveway to ruin his tires, and high-powered rifle bullets were fired at his transmitter installation.

San Quentin Stabbing Trial Thrown Out: Dorado Case

A 1963 Marin Superior Court jury conviction of Robert Gene Glover, 33, for assault on a San Quentin Prison inmate has been reversed by the First District Court of Appeals, San Francisco.

Setting of a new trial date was scheduled for noon today by Judge Thomas F. Keating. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said the appeal ruling was based on the so-called Dorado decision, which holds that a suspect is entitled to counsel before questioning by police and that confessions obtained without the suspect's consent may not be used against him in trial.

Glover, convicted Sept. 18, 1963, for the stabbing of Henry L. Wolfenden, 23, with a sharp brass rod on Feb. 5 of that year, has been returned to San Quentin from Folsom Prison.

Glover was already serving a life term for robbery and escape in Kern County and sex perversion in Solano County when charged with the Wolfenden assault. He was given another life sentence for the crime, assault by a lifer, with no possibility for parole within nine years.

Terra Linda Fire Ratings Improve

Fire insurance rates in the Terra Linda Community Services District will come down, Terra Linda Fire Chief George Walser announced today.

The chief received confirmation of the new ratings from the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau. The new ratings were established Oct. 15, but the information was delayed in getting to him, Walser said.

The community rating will go from a six to five and the commercial area will go to a "low six" to a "high five," the chief said. He could not say what effect this would have on the premiums. "That's up to the insurance companies," he said.

The improved ratings are based on improved fire protection service and inspections.

Santa Rosa Woman Hurt In Collision

Corrine K. DuBato, 46, of Santa Rosa suffered cuts and bruises when her southbound car was struck from the rear on Highway 101 near Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, at 7:50 a.m. Monday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Miss DuBato's car was hit by a car driven by Clarence R. Uthe Jr., 33, of Petaluma. Miss DuBato was treated at Marin General Hospital.

San Anselman Injured In Rear-End Smashup

Sidney Taylor, 42, of 104 Broadmoor Avenue, San Anselmo, was treated for a mild concussion at Marin General Hospital at 6 p.m. yesterday, following a chain reaction rear-end auto collision in the westbound lanes of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Sais Avenue, San Anselmo.

Taylor's auto was struck from the rear by one driven by Eugene R. Waugh, 19, of 79 Ridge Road, San Anselmo, police said. Two other drivers involved in the accident were Gareth E. Hughes, 24, of 16 Frustuck Avenue, Fairfax, and Donald L. Schomaker of 38 Ridge Road, San Anselmo.

Supervisors Reject Zone Change In Black Point

Marin County supervisors yesterday discussed a proposed zone change for 13 acres at Black Point for nearly an hour before voting 4-1, with Supervisor William A. Gross dissenting, to leave it alone.

A change to planned residential zoning with apartment houses or clustering permitted was asked by owner Philip Rosenberg. The planning commission, however, recommended restriction to single-family residences only. Under the commission's recommendation, about 25 homes could be placed on the property, on the southeast side of Highway 37 at the end of Manzanita Drive.

Attorney Leland H. Jordan, representing Rosenberg, said the property would not be developed until a large holding on the south, covered by the Black Point Master Plan, is built up.

The Black Point Improvement Club and several property owners nearby protested apartments. Gross thought it would be best to approve the planning commission recommendation to assure protestors that there would be no apartments. But the four other supervisors thought any change would be premature in light of the dependency on the master plan development.

Supervisors also struggled at length with planned residential zoning asked by H. A. B. Sneve on 3.5 acres between Sacramento Avenue, Butte Street and Highway 101 near Sausalito.

The developer wanted to put about 100 units on the property but the planning commission said there should be no more than one unit for every 2,500 square feet of land. This would produce about 60 units.

Supervisors said up to 2,000 density might be allowed if the developer produces a plan for apartments of no more than two bedrooms, with parking under the buildings.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

1. Granted $6,000 to support the Marin Institute on poverty problem for the balance of the fiscal year.
2. Approved final map of the Seascape Subdivision at Muir Beach.
3. Abandoned a wedge-shaped easement between Green Valley Court and Hidden Valley Lane in Sleepy Hollow.
4. Approved Rex Williams' application for division of his Muir Beach property into a 10,000 square foot lot and one of 12,000 square feet. This was over the protest of neighbors.
5. Approved use permits for a shopping center and gasoline service station on Donahue Street opposite Drake Avenue in Marin City.
6. Appointed David Van Pelt acting planning director until the arrival of Paul Zucker Jan. 24.
7. Authorized payment of $14,314.86 from the county road fund to cover slide control work done on Red Hill in Tiburon last year by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.
8. Authorized $62 for agricultural commissioner Richard T. Straw to attend the commissioners' winter meeting in Sacramento; $221 for County Clerk George E. Grimes and his assistant, Agnes Nathanson, to attend the clerks' association annual meeting in Anaheim; $26 for traffic engineer James Robertson to attend a two-day work-shop session at Berkeley; $26 for Assessor Bert W. Broemmel to attend an assessors' association two-day conference in Sacramento, and $56 for director of economic development John Martin Douglas to attend a three-day course on airport economics at Richmond.
9. Rejected all four bids on an addition to the county corporation yard at Nicasio. The lowest bid, of Joseph E. Redmond of San Rafael, was almost twice the estimate.
10. Awarded contract to Joseph E. Redmond of San Rafael for construction of a court room at Juvenile Hall at $6,766. Redmond was the lowest of four bidders.
11. Set hearing for 1:30 p.m., Jan. 18, on widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between the Ross line and Laurel Grove Avenue in Kentfield.
12. Approved upgrading for the Sausalito School District's pre-school program, financed mainly through the federal war on poverty program. Improvements will add $5,968 in increased salaries and added equipment. The school district is to contribute a classroom valued at $9,894 in the budget expenditure.
13. Set for next Tuesday at 4 p.m. a joint hearing with the parks and recreation commission to discuss priority projects, the financing summary and a county-wide bond issue.
14. Endorsed in principle Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce's recommended guideline for County Chamber of Commerce.
15. Approved a planning commission report on exceptions to the subdivision ordinance on the tentative map for Los Caballos Estates in Marinwood.
16. Set for Jan. 25 at 1:30 p.m. hearings on rezoning at Oak Manor and zoning amendments concerning nonconforming uses, classifying interim areas and architectural projections.
17. Were told by County Administrator Alan Bruce that the January meeting date for the neighborhood youth corps at the Tiburon Navy Depot was "optimistic" and the start of the program will be considerably delayed.
18. Learned that an application for federal funds will soon be before them for approval to help finance improvements and additions to the Marin City Community Center.
19. Put off consideration of appointments to the airport commission until next week.
20. Again continued consideration on the assessment protest of Sara Hilarita Boyle Silberberg, Carmelita Boyle Silberberg and Ida Boyle Gross on 40 acres next to the Mill Valley Golf Course.
21. Agreed to ask the division of highways for more state money to complete the barrier project on Waldo Grade.
22. Awarded contract to E. A. Forde Co. of San Anselmo for drainage structures between Pine and Main streets in Tamalpais Valley at $7,692.
23. Named Marjorie Ward, employment counselor in the social services (welfare) department, to administer the minority employment clause in the hall of justice contract. The salary will be increased from $562 to $650 a month.

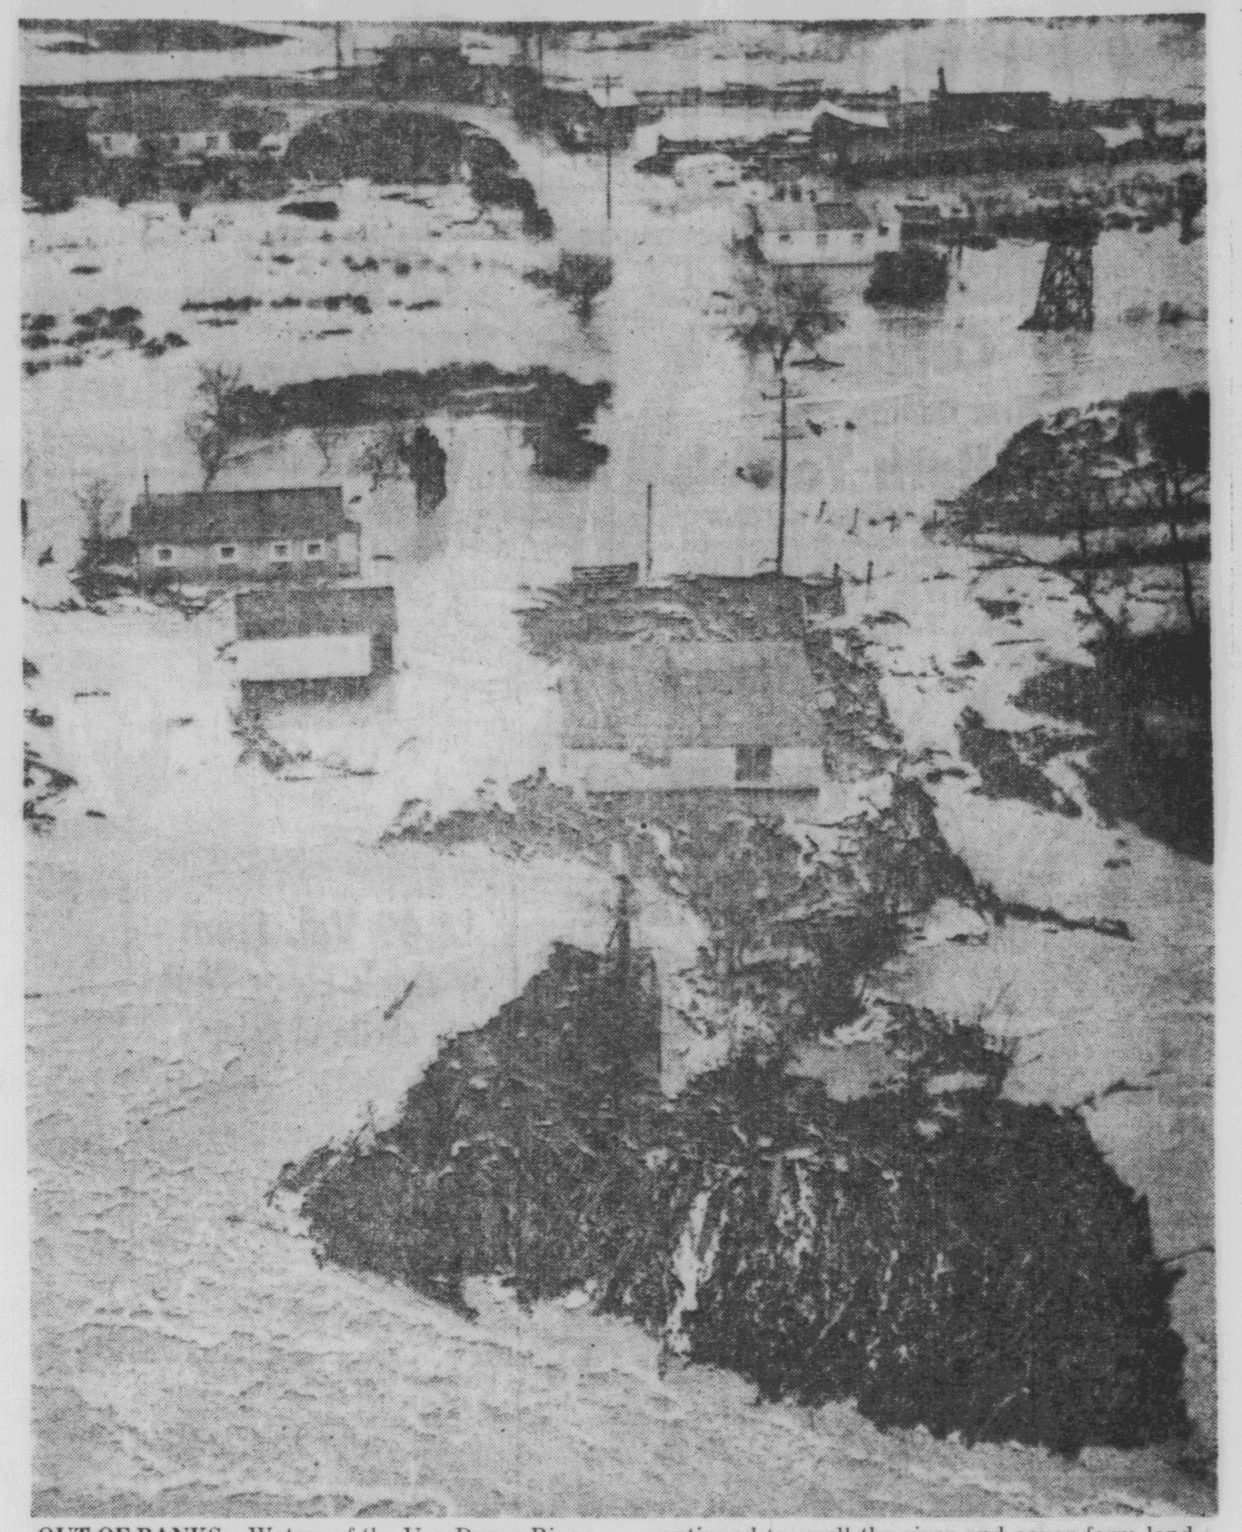
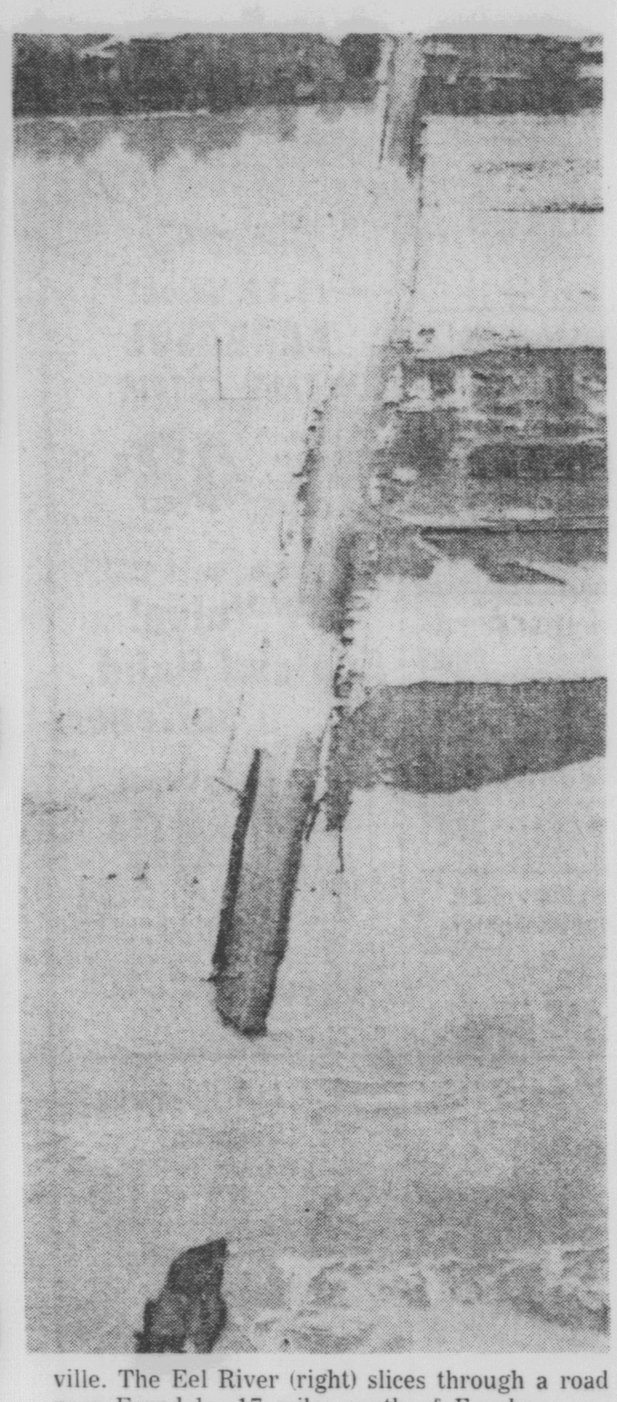
Rains Cause River Floods; Snow Drifts Isolate Town

EVACUATED — Residents of Starvation Flat, Humboldt County, rest in the nearby Hydesville Hall yesterday following their evacuation from flooded farm lands. Eight families had escaped from waters of the fast rising Van Duzen River by yesterday, but four other families refused to leave their homes. The flooded area is 25 miles south of Eureka.



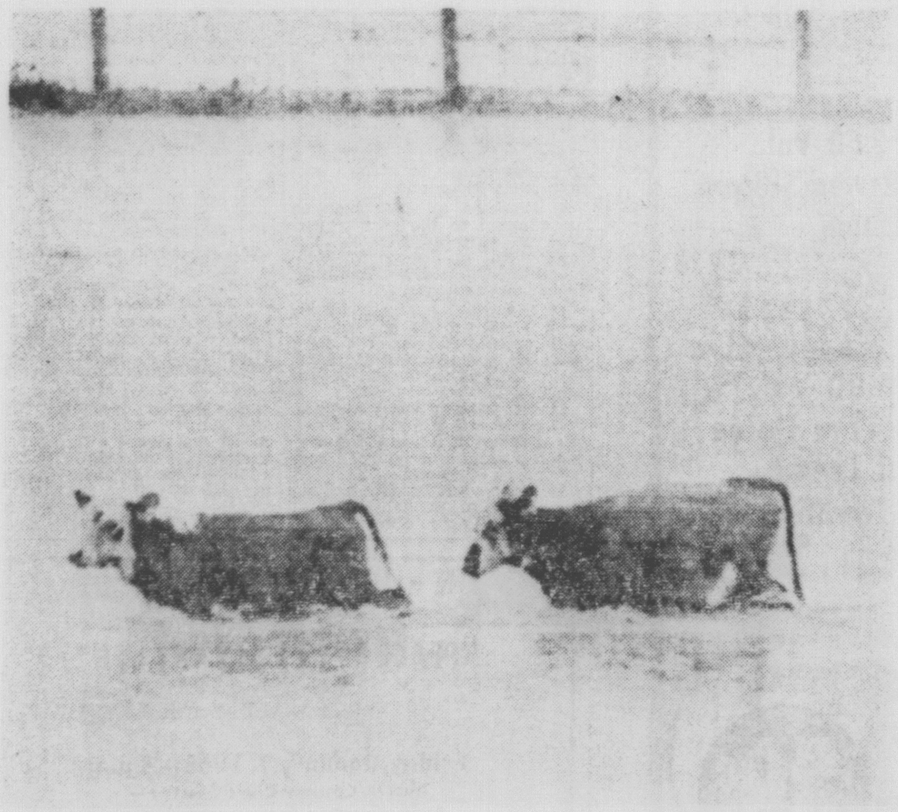
OUT OF BANKS—Waters of the Van Duzen River roar out of their banks to flood the community of Starvation Flat. Some families remained as rain continued to swell the river and cover farm land. Rains are expected to continue through the weekend.



SAFETY — Youngsters evacuated from their homes in Starvation Flat play in nearby Hydesville. The Eel River (right) slices through a road near Ferndale, 17 miles south of Eureka.

STARVATION FLAT—Another view of the community which was inundated by flood waters of the Van Duzen River. The rains came from a widepread storm off the northerrn Pacific Coast which sent rain and snow from California to Washington.

AP Wirephotos
and
and UPI Telephotos



DEEP PASTURE—Calves on a livestock ranch at Salmon Creek, 10 miles south of Eureka, moved toward higher ground yesterday. Northern California rivers were rising as the rain continued.

AND SNOW—At lower altitudes, rain swamped the land. Higher up, near Dunsmuir, Siskiyou County, the freeway ended for these vehicles which were stopped by soggy snow on interstate highway 5. Traffic in Dunsmuir was halted by snow, except on the main street. Residents stocked up on food as drifts piled five feet high.

CAPITAL TRIP IS APPROVED

Storer To Go For Meeting, Reception

Marin County Supervisors voted 4-0 late yesterday to send Supervisor Thomas T. Storer to Washington, D.C., for a three-hour conference and reception.

Storer abstained in the vote, but let it be known that he was eager to go to the Jan. 19 conference, called by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Other supervisors were a little skeptical, but voted for the expense of the trip.

COUNTY POLICY

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said the county had a policy setting a $150 limit for trips of board members out of the state. County Administrator Alan Bruce said the Washington trip would probably cost about $300.

The vice president has invited representatives from all counties of more than 100,000 population to a conference on implementation of federal assistance programs. The conference will be from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., then Humphrey and his wife will give a reception for the officials.

ALSO INVITED

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker, chairman of the board, received the invitation but said he could not go.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen noted that the vice president sent no agenda for the conference and wondered about its value.

"They're just going to put everyone in an amphitheater and fill them with a bunch of platitudes," Kettenhofen said.

Behr repeated that it was against county policy.

"You've already said that three times," Storer said.

The board then voted to approve the expense.

Novato Lights Fight Ends In Split Vote

Marin County supervisors yesterday got into a good deal of philosophy and a split vote over annexation of the 53-lot Castelwood subdivision to the Novato County Lighting District.

Although the tract, on the west side of Eucalyptus Avenue, will soon be adjacent to the city of Novato and could be annexed to it, developer Harold Frazier had promised home buyers that he would not seek annexation to the city.

Robert Lagle, Novato planning director, requested that the tract be annexed to the city, saying this would be in line with orderly development.

Supervisors William A. Gnoss and Byron W. Leydecker voted for annexation to the Novato city lighting district, but they were voted down by the other board members, who argued that they did not like forcing owners to take such a step against their will.

"You don't call it force," Leydecker said, "you call it leadership. We have got to provide this leadership."

The board then voted unanimously to annex the tract to the county lighting district.

Sausalito Police Due New Headquarters

Sausalito City Mgr. Charles E. Brown reported last night that the new police headquarters at 29 Caledonia Street, "will be ready in two or three weeks," and apparently it won't be a moment too soon.

AIRPORT PLAN HAS A HAPPY LANDING

After Flash Of Tempers, Supervisors Vote To Cancel Exclusive Clause

By RICHARD LYTTLE

After a turbulent flight of tempers, the Marin County Board of Supervisors achieved a happy landing and a unanimous vote on the county airport at Novato late yesterday.

It was accomplished through further explanation.

Some supervisors evidently thought at the start of the session that a vote to cancel the exclusive clause in the airport lease to Harry O. Tollefson would commit the county to a $500,000 to $600,000 development program there.

It will cost $17,500 to cancel the lease. At the start of the discussion, Board Chairman Byron W. Leydecker suggested the issue be turned over to the county airport commission, now being formed.

Leydecker particularly wanted the commission's recommendation on the suggestion of County Administrator Alan Bruce that the county adopt a limited development policy, keeping the present runway alignment and spending only $85,000. Included in his plan would be purchase of 11 additional acres for parking and plane tie-down.

The $500,000 to $600,000 project would include federal assistance, mean the realignment of the runway from an east-west to a north-south direction and purchase of 60 acres. The federal aviation authority would pay more than half the total cost. The county share would thus be around $250,000.

Only four members of the airport commission have been appointed so far, and some Novato Airport boosters, including Mayor Robert D. Carrow, looked upon Leydecker's suggestion as a move to delay decision.

Richard Nave of Novato, recently appointed to the commission, said at one point that the decision could be delayed considerably if some members of the board succeed in appointing opponents to the Novato project to the commission.

Leydecker brought his gavel down with a crash.

"I will not have you questioning motives!" he said. "I think you are out of order."

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney eventually explained that the agreement he had drawn up would not commit the county to closing out the exclusive contract or paying Tollefson until application was made for federal funds.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss of Novato, who repeatedly urged action, moved to approve agreement in principle. This passed unanimously. Tollefson has not yet signed, Maloney said.

By extracting the exclusive clause in the agreement, the county can qualify for federal funds and receive $2,500 a year in state aid. The lease runs until 1972.

Douglas Keeps Job By A Vote Of 4-1

With a 4-1 vote taken in closed session last night, Marin County Board of Supervisors confirmed its earlier decision to appoint John Martin Douglas of San Rafael as county director of promotion and development at $15,600 a year.

Doubt about the appointment had been voiced Dec. 24 by Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, who said that when he voted for Douglas he was unaware the new director, who began work Monday, was a neighbor of Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker.

Last night, Storer moved for abolition of the department until the Marin County Chamber of Commerce had time to put forward recommendations.

"I should like to see the Chamber of Commerce be given a chance to see what they can do," said Storer. However, he agreed to withdraw the motion if given answers to "some questions I have" in a closed session.

When the question of Douglas's suitability was raised by Supervisor William A. Gnoss, Leydecker declared:

"Douglas doesn't happen to be a close friend of mine . . . He just happens to be a neighbor.

"I debated with myself for a long time whether to say outright that he was a neighbor and I came to the decision, rightly or wrongly, that it was immaterial and irrevelant to the issue. I didn't care to prejudice the matter one way or the other.

"If I wanted to put people who are friends of mine into county government, I wouldn't do it in this crude fashion."

Leydecker lives at 12 Oakmont Court. San Rafael. Douglas lives around the corner at 80 Oakmont Avenue. Their houses back up to each other.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said he had "lost a lot of sleep" since this matter came up.

"I have been very emotionally concerned," said Kettenhofen. "I am convinced we should continue with this department. We are going to disintegrate morale in the Civic Center if we go back on this—even if we have made a wrong decision, and I don't believe we have."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said he voted for Douglas Dec. 22 because he believed he was the best man for the job and was supported in the selection by County Administrator Alan Bruce.

"Frankly," said Behr, "this is the sort of guerrilla warfare which I am accustomed to, but not out of uniform."

Behr reluctantly agreed to Storer's motion for a closed session, but declared, "My judgment is not going to be disturbed. If we go into executive session, we are going to pull the scab off an old wound."

Senior Citizens To See Winery

A luncheon and a visit to a winery are two of this month's events planned by the San Rafael Community Recreation Center's Advisory Board of Senior Citizens.

On Jan. 20, the luncheon will be held in the center at Second and Brooks streets at noon. On Jan. 25, members will leave San Rafael at 9:30 a.m. by bus for lunch with Redwood City Senior Citizens, followed by a visit to Paul Masson Winery, Saratoga.

Parallel Parking Due In 45 Days

Conversion of parking from diagonal to parallel along San Rafael's Fourth Street should take about 45 days, weather permitting, according to Public Works Director Norris W. Rawles.

The San Rafael City Council voted Monday night to install parallel parking on Fourth Street from Lincoln Avenue to E Street.

During the discussion it was estimated that the changeover would result in loss of 139 parking spaces and accompanying revenue.

Rawles said yesterday he believes fewer spaces will be lost. He said he wants to study the area carefully so that as few spaces as possible are lost.

Rawles said he will recommend that parking spaces be doubled up, with double-headed meters on a single pole, and four-foot red zones after each two parking spaces.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. said that although there will be a loss of revenue, the conversion will be legal because the revenue bond requirements of the downtown parking district will be met.

Eugene K. Sturgis, attorney for the parking district, said, "My recollection is that they (the city) can do this as long as they maintain sufficient revenue in the district to meet the bond requirements."

Sturgis said there must be sufficient revenue from parking meters in the district to meet the bond payments, interest and sinking fund requirements.

"My recollection is that revenues have been 'way over and there is a surplus," Sturgis said.

Teacher's Strike Continues At Catholic School

NEW YORK (UPI) —A teachers' strike at St. John's University, largest Roman Catholic university in the nation, went into its second day today.

University officials said yesterday the strike by members of the AFL-CIO United Federation of College Teachers failed to disrupt classes. A St. John's spokesman said all but 44 of 651 faculty members were working.

A union spokesman, however, said some 200 instructors were absent from the two campuses in Jamaica, Queens, and Brooklyn.

The strike was called to protest the dismissal of 31 teachers, many of whom were active in union affairs and protests over academic freedom.

Car Knocks Patrolman 100 Feet

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A California Highway Patrol officer, who stopped to give a San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge driver a ticket, was struck and knocked 100 feet by another car, officers reported.

The highway patrol said officer Bob Martin, 26, on the force less than one year, suffered a broken pelvis and internal injuries.

Officers said Martin had stopped Gerald Greenwade of Stockton to give him a speeding ticket near the bridge's Fifth Street off-ramp in San Francisco.

A car driven by Richard G. Klehm, 34, of Berkeley, sideswiped Greenwade's car, hitting Martin and throwing him across the rain-slick pavement, officers said.

Klehm was charged with felony drunk driving and was taken to San Francisco City Jail.

Martin was taken to Mission Emergency Hospital, then transferred to Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame for treatment by his own doctor. Martin is married and has two children.

Sausalito Delays Vote On TV Cable Rules

Sausalito city councilmen waded through the fourth draft of a proposed community antenna television ordinance last night and then continued the discussion until next Tuesday.

Attorney A. Leonard Bjorklund Jr., representing Martin's Community Antenna System, which is now operating in the city, suggested a stronger section requiring underground cable installation.

Under the proposed ordinance, underground cable is required unless the council grant permission for overhead cable.

Mayor Jan Paul Dyk said overhead cables would be permitted only in cases of hardship or where circumstances prevent underground installation.

Peter F. Sloss, a director of Sausalito Communications Service, a proposed non-profit television antenna cable company, questioned the requirement that engineering plans be supplied when a company applies for a franchise. Sausalito Communications Service applied for a franchise last month to construct a community antenna television system.

The directors propose to have subscribers as voting members of the corporation and to turn over any surplus income to the Sausalito Foundation for Community Betterment. Sloss said the engineering plans required "would cost several thousands," and the firm "hoped to do that after the first stage of application."

Councilmen wanted clarification on the section dealing with liability insurance requirements, and asked City Mgr. Charles A. Brown to confer with the city's insurance adviser.

After a public hearing at which there was no protest, the council granted Malcolm Dewees a use permit for a planned unit development at 319 Sausalito Boulevard. Dewees plans to construct four duplexes and a single-family home. The permit included requirement of a 32-foot height limit.

The Sausalito City Council also:

1. Introduced an ordinance establishing a police vehicle parking zone and no-parking zones on Filbert Avenue, Glen Drive, Crescent Avenue and Cloud View Road.

2. Received a report from Brown that the city will receive its full allocation, about $70,000, from the county toward widening of Bridgeway.

3. Received thanks from Gene Poole of the Sausalito Firemen's Assn. for the disability insurance coverage provided firemen by the city. Poole also noted that the firemen "would appreciate anything that could be added" in the way of disability payments.

4. Received notice that Robert Kirchmann of San Rafael has been granted a conditional license from the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board to serve liquor aboard his charter fishing boat Viajero, which operates out of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor. The permit allows the serving of liquor while the boat is under way, but not while it is berthed.

5. Received a letter from Mrs. Stanley Cowen, 2 Toyon Lane, commending police and fire personnel for their "prompt, courteous and efficient" action when her husband collapsed and died at his home Dec. 21.

6. Adjourned until 8 p.m. Tuesday in memory of Stanley Cowen, a former director of the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District and a past president of the Sausalito Rotary Club.

Councilman Eleanor O'Hara Chapin was absent.

Petaluma Man Pleads Guilty To Burglary

Judgment is Jan. 25. A second defendant, Gerald Dalton Rich, 23, was sentenced on Dec. 7 to nine months in Marin County Jail. A third, Harold Bradley Sheffield, 20, still faces trial in the burglary.

All are from Petaluma.

Private Hospital Asks Reopening Of County Bids

Terra Linda Valley Hospital, long dissatisfied over loss of county patients, has formally protested to Marin County supervisors, requesting that bidding on patient care be reopened.

In a letter sent to supervisors yesterday, Bruce R. Morgan, attorney for the hospital, claims Terra Linda Valley Hospital was excluded from bidding last November on the grounds that only non-profit hospitals were eligible.

On Dec. 20, Deputy County Counsel Thomas G. Hendricks gave the opinion that both profit and non-profit hospitals could bid. Terra Linda Valley Hospital claims it can provide acute patient care at $35 a day. San Rafael General Hospital, which has the county contract, charges $48 and will soon charge $53 a day.

Oil companies began issuing the first road maps in 1914.

Hollis Wins Supervisors' Split Approval Of New Aide

Marin County supervisors yesterday voted 4-1, with Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen dissenting, to allocate $2,277 to the county schools office toward hiring a coordinator for vocational education.

Kettenhofen charged the move would "slow down rather than upgrade" county high schools.

Board Chairman Byron W. Leydecker, who opposed the suggestion vigorously when it was first proposed Dec. 14, voted for the transfer yesterday, saying he was "pragmatic enough" to know this was the only way to get anything accomplished. Leydecker said he would stick by his earlier appraisal that the county schools office "was down the drain" because of unifications that must come to pass.

The board's action was contrary to the recommendation of County Administrator Alan Bruce, who challenged the entire scheme, saying the board would commit itself to more financial aid than appeared on the surface and the need for a vocational education coordinator was doubtful.

Supervisors three weeks ago asked Supt. of County Schools Virgil S. Hollis to look into the suggestion. But Hollis only reiterated the earlier request.

The coordinator will receive $13,750 a year. Bruce declared the county will be paying half this cost next fiscal year.

Auto Is Stolen

Dave M. Bartholow, of 10 Oakhill Drive, San Anselmo, Monday told police his car, left parked with the keys in the ignition, had been stolen about 5:15 p.m. from in front of his office at 63 Jordan Street, San Rafael.

Aliens Reminded: Time To Register

Federal law requires that all aliens in the United States register with the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service each January. Registration forms are available at all post offices.

The only non-citizens excluded from the requirement, according to District Director C. W. Fullilove, are persons in the diplomatic service, foreign representatives of certain international organizations and persons admitted temporarily as agricultural workers.

Parents or guardians must file for alien children under 14 years old.

A WHOLE MEAL sandwich, self-pickling onion rings, and pork chops with sage onions are only three of the many ways to enjoy the delicate-flavored Sweet Spanish Onions. Equally good raw or cooked, versatile onions add a new enjoyment to the day's good eating.

Enjoy Sweet Spanish Onions

Looking for something different? Sweet Spanish Onions are here in our markets. No ordinary onions these! In looks, they are distinctive with their crisp bronze or creamy-white skins which crackle at a touch. These paper-like coverings are delicate, so handle with care.

In size, they are large enough to stuff with a savoury filling for a whole meal dish. By nature, when sliced the cuts may be separated into rings so perfect for garnishes, pickling, and French Fried Onion Rings.

BY WAY of flavor, they live up to their name, being so mild-mannered that their crisp goodness adds much to sandwiches, salads, and uncooked relishes. To prepare them for slices and rings, cut off the root end. Do not remove skins. Using the stem end as a handle, cut in slices of desired width, then remove skins. We like to keep one of these onions in a plastic bag in the refrigerator so that sandwich makers can have a chilled onion slice for the concoction. P.S. Do not store any quantity of onions in the refrigerator. They like a cool dark dry place, well-ventilated.

When we're planning on using onion rings, we plan to include our Pork Chops and Sage Onions dish. This gives us a chance of using the smaller rings, centers, and end cuts of the onions. Sometimes we chop them, spread on a shallow pan and freeze the bits. They may then be put in a refrigerator container for adding delicate flavor to salad and sandwich mixtures and to cooked dishes.

AN ONION SANDWICH MEAL

For each serving, use 1 large or 2 small slices of pumpernickel or rye bread. Spread lightly with soft butter, then with softened cream cheese (nice whipped to a fluff with a bit of milk). Cover with thin slices of smoked or kippered salmon, then paper-thin slices of raw sweet Spanish onions. Top off with a dollop of mayonnaise and a sprinkling of capers or chopped dill pickle. Provide a knife and fork with this sandwich! There are endless variations.

SELF-PICKLING ONION SLICES AND RINGS

Slice sweet Spanish onions into slices a little less than ¼-inch thick. Remove skins. Place the onion slices in a wide-mouthed jar and pour over them enough dill pickle juice to cover. Refrigerate onions 3 or 4 days to pickle. They may be used as slices in sandwiches like the above or with hamburgers, and on cold meat plates. Or they may be separated into rings to use as a relish or garnish. The small rings and centers may be chopped and added to salmon or potato salads. Good, good, good!

PORK CHOPS AND SAGE ONIONS

4 pork chops, shoulder or loin
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon each of butter and salad oil.
1½ teaspoons salt
5 cups thin-sliced Idaho sweet Spanish onions
Dashes of coarse-grind black pepper
1 teaspoon powdered sage
½ cup water or dry white wine

Coat chops lightly with flour.

Brown in the heated butter and oil in heavy skillet or Dutch oven over moderately-low heat. (Stay with it, so you will have no scorching.) Turn chops, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Brown lightly on other side and remove from utensil.

Put onion in the fat. Toss about to coat onion; then brown lightly. Add remaining salt and the sage. Add chops, pulling the onions around them. Then add water or wine. Reduce heat to simmer. Cover tightly and cook slowly about 1 hour. Makes four servings. It is easy to make more!

P.S. Better take a look now and then if you are not sure of your range's simmering ability or unless you are using your jewel of an electric skillet. Or put tightly-covered utensil in 350° F. oven for 1½ hours.

SWEET SPANISH ONION SALAD-RELISHES

Orange-Onion Slices: Cut large oranges into cartwheels, after peeling. Slice very thin and remove skins of sweet Spanish onions. Arrange orange and onion slices overlapping or any way you like to make a pretty picture. Avocado wedges may be included. Pour over French dressing. Chill thoroughly. Especially good with chili con carne with beans. This is a striking buffet dish.

Onions and Beets: Arrange in alternate layers in shallow bowl cold sliced canned or cooked beet slices and thin-sliced sweet Spanish onions. Or combine tiny whole beets and onion rings. Add oil and vinegar or French dressing with garlic, as desired. Let stand in refrigerator several hours. Good with pork, cold meats, fish.

Herbed Onion Slices: Peel 2 large sweet Spanish onions. Slice crosswise about ¼-inch thick. Mix together 6 snipped mint leaves, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 teaspoon fresh thyme or ¼ teaspoon crumbled dry thyme. Arrange onion slices in flat dish. Over them sprinkle some of the herbs, salt, coarse-grind black pepper. Repeat layers, topping with the herbs, salt, pepper. Mix together ½ cup olive or other salad oil and ¼ cup red wine vinegar. Spoon carefully over onions. Chill at least an hour or all day, spooning some of dressing over onions during that time. Wonderful with roast lamb hot or cold, or in sandwiches of thin slices of rye bread and boiled ham or cold sliced lamb. Use dressing for salads or as marinade.

Low In Calories

Canned consomme and raw vegetables make a refreshing first course that is low in calories. Place 1 (10½ ounce) can of condensed consomme in refrigerator for about 4 hours, or until jelled. Divide soup into three 4 ounce stemmed glasses, layering it with a total of ⅓ to ½ cup of chopped raw vegetables (carrot, celery, cucumber, radishes, watercress, and parsley). Top each with a spoonful of salted whipped cream.

HONORS MAGI

A Cake For Epiphany Day

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) —Twelfth Night takes the cake.

King's Cake, Twelfth Cake and bean cake are all names for the same thing, a pound-cake like confection baked on Jan. 6, which is Epiphany Day, to honor the Magi. But some historians say that the custom pre-dates Christianity.

In our time, the ceremony of the Twelfth Cake generally is credited to the French, says the American Institute of Baking. Tradition dictates that a small dried bean or silver coin be baked into the cake, which is a firm, thick, round pastry, somewhat like a pound cake with fruit.

The man who finds the bean or the coin in his portion is named king for the evening's partying, and granted the privilege of choosing his queen for the festivities.

IN THE 12TH century, the celebration was religious in nature, adds the institute. The monks of St. Michel chose an Epiphany king by means of a bean cake. The man chosen occupied a special throne in the monastery chapel for the day, during Matins, High Mass and Vespers. Soon after that time, said the institute, Twelfth Night became an occasion for secular revelry.

A variation was added in the English observance in diarist Samuel Pepys' time. A clove also was inserted in the cake and the guest who found it in his portion became the "knave" of the party.

TWO NATIONS on our continent still observe the King's Cake custom. The institute says that French Canadians place a dry bean and a dry whole pea in the traditional galette des rois to designate a king and a queen for the partying.

Mexico's rosca de reyes differs from the galette in that it is made with yeast dough, flavored with citrus blossom water and grated lemon peel and garnished with sugar sprinkles and crystalized fruit. Some Mexicans also use the cake to schedule another party. The guest who finds a porcelain or other ovenproof replica of the Christ Child in his portion of cake traditionally becomes host or hostess of another party —on Feb. 2, or Candlemas Day.

BLACK CHERRY brandy torte is a 20th century version of France's King's Cake or Twelfth Cake, traditionally baked on Epiphany Day.

Cut a 12-ounce loaf pound cake into 3 layers of equal size. Drain a 1 pound 13 ounce can of pitted dark sweet cherries and reserve ½ cup of the juice. Add 1 tablespoon of cornstarch to reserved juice in small saucepan. Cook over low heat until juice boils, stirring constantly. Continue cooking 3 minutes; remove from heat.

Add cherries and ½ teaspoon of brandy extract to thickened juice and allow to cool. Spread cooled fruit mixture between cake layers. Add 1 teaspoon of sugar and ½ teaspoon of brandy extract to ½ cup of heavy cream and whip until thick enough to spread on top of cake. Chill until serving time. Makes 6-8 servings.

Tasty Rolls Filled With Marmalade

Nice when neighbors drop in! Marmalade rolls and coffee.

MARMALADE ROLLS

½ cup warm water
1 package active dry yeast
1 egg
1 tablespoon sugar
2½ cups biscuit mix
¼ cup chopped walnuts
½ cup raisins
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup orange marmalade

In a large warm bowl, dissolve the yeast in the warm water. With a spoon, mix in the egg, sugar and biscuit mix. Dust a board with extra biscuit mix and turn out dough on it. Kneed about 20 times or until smooth; let rest 5 to 10 minutes. Roll out into a 15 by 12 inch rectangle; cut into twelve 5 by 3 inch rectangles. Mix walnuts, raisins, cinnamon, nutmeg and marmalade; put a heaping teaspoon of the mixture on the center of each small rectangle; roll up and stretch the 2 open ends of each to meet to make a ball. Place in greased 9-inch round cake pan. Cover; let rise in a warm draft-free place about 1 hour. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until well browned—about 20 minutes.

Test The Stiffness

To test the stiffness of egg whites for angel food cakes or meringues, turn the bowl upside down. This suggestion is not as risky as you may think. First, test by tilting the bowl on its side. If the egg whites start to slip and do not cling to the bowl, they need further whipping.

When Friends Meet— Glaze Almond Cake

When friends come in for bridge or a committee meeting, they are bound to enjoy a freshly baked cake dessert.

If you want to try a new recipe, here's one that won't break the bank. It's a one-egg cake with an interesting glazed almond topping. You may want to fill and split this cake, as suggested in the following recipe; we found it is also good without a filling, served as a "coffee cake" fresh from the oven.

GLAZED ALMOND CAKE

1½ cups unsifted regular flour
1¾ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup granulated sugar
½ cup butter, soft
⅔ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 large egg
⅓ cup light brown sugar, packed
¼ cup halved (split flat) blanched almonds
¼ cup slivered toasted blanched almonds

Filling

In the large bowl of the electric mixer, thoroughly stir together the flour, baking powder, salt and granulated sugar. Add ¼ cup of the butter, ½ cup of the milk and the vanilla. At medium speed, beat for 2 minutes. Add remaining milk and the egg; at low speed, beat only until smooth (overbeating will produce tunnels). Turn into a greased and floured round cake pan (9 by 1½ inches). Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—25 to 30 minutes.

In a small saucepan over low heat, melt the remaining ¼ cup butter; stir in the brown sugar; spread over hot cake; sprinkle with the halved almonds. Place under broiler (about 5 inches from heat); watching constantly, broil until sugar bubbles and almonds brown — from 1 to 3 minutes; turn pan during broiling if necessary to brown evenly.

Place cake in pan on wire rack for 15 minutes. Loosen edges and turn out onto wire rack; turn right side up; cool.

With a long sharp knife with a serrated blade, cut the cake in half horizontally. Place the lower half on a serving plate. Add the Filling; sprinkle with the slivered almonds. Place top half of cake over filling. Serve at once.

Filling:

You may use a cooked custard mixture thickened with flour or cornstarch and flavored with vanilla.

Or if you are accustomed to using prepared fillings, you may use a 4-serving package of vanilla or butterscotch-flavor pudding-and-pie-filling mix, making it up according to package directions and cooling it. Spread as much of the pudding mix as will go comfortably on the bottom layer of the cake. (AP)

Artichoke Leaves

If you're preparing a dish that specifies fresh artichoke hearts, make good use of the discarded artichoke leaves. Use them for the wherewithall for dips instead of high-calorie tidbits, or scrape the meat from the leaves to flavor soups and sauces.

A FRIENDLY DISCUSSION between group home director, Mrs. Anna Marie Long, center, and alternate housemothers, Misses Eula Lowe, left, and Sharon Stone takes place every two days when the housemother arrives on duty so that continuity in management is maintained.

Director Helps Create Home

By LOIS SENS

"I started my job here as director of the group home in September, on Labor Day. Things went bang, bang, bang, and it has been going on like that ever since."

These are the words of Mrs. Anna Marie Long, well-liked director of the Marin Foundation Group Residence for girls in San Rafael.

The home provides a therapeutic living situation for five high school girls whose families or foster homes aren't able to handle the problems they present, the director explained. Mrs. Long, in the daily routine of the home, sets limitations providing a framework within which the girls are able to adjust socially.

The girls attend high schools in Novato, Terra Linda and San Rafael, with afternoons free after classes until 5 p.m. when community counseling meetings are held at the home.

Mrs. Long explains that the day begins at 6:30 a.m. when the housemother on duty, either Miss Sharon Stone of San Rafael or Miss Eula Lowe of San Francisco, awakens the girls. Breakfast is prepared buffet style by the housemother, or the girls can choose toast or cereal instead.

THE GIRLS prepare their own lunches either the evening before or in the morning from food items listed by the housemother.

After school hours, they may come home to a snack, visit friends, shop, study or bring their friends home.

ON WEEKENDS, the girls may date, but must be in at various times depending on their age and how privileges are handled. "We must be introduced to the boys, know where they are going, when they will get there and when they will return to the home," adds the director.

"We're pleased and excited at the way the group home situation seems to be working out," says Anna Long. "The kids can respond to this kind of setting more readily . . . it's working out just as I'd hoped it would after realizing the theory's possibilities."

She pointed out that in many cases disciplinary problems with adolescents arise when the parents fail to set limits for them to follow.

"The girl or boy will keep on pushing or testing parents' authority just to see how far they can transgress. In many homes these limits are never set up and the child feels the parents don't care. Here at the home, I care what they do, and at first there is a great deal of pushing and testing until we establish that I mean what I say, kindly but firmly, in disciplining them."

Mrs. Long, who is a trained social welfare worker, has spent 15 years working in administrative and casework levels of social welfare. She began her career as a teacher of English and drama in a Boulder, Colo., high school.

THROUGH teaching adolescents, she became interested in the social aspect of her work and followed this inclination by doing group work with the Young Women's Christian Assn. in Palo Alto. Following this, she attended classes at the University of California and was graduated with a master of social welfare degree.

Anna Marie then did case work for the Family Service Agency in San Francisco and in this capacity, she became interested in the possibilities of successful treatment of adolescents through group therapy. Mrs. Long also served as an executive of Travelers Aid Society in San Francisco before becoming a supervisor for the California Youth Authority's Los Guilucos School For Girls in Santa Rosa.

THE RESIDENCE in San Rafael is a comfortable-looking brown shingled house with spacious, airy rooms. One crosses a porch on entering from the street and is ushered into a small vestibule and sitting room.

Many of the girls living in the group home are quite talented . . . one making her own jewelry, another expressing her musical ability in playing the piano, organ and oboe.

One of the girls who had drawn kitchen duty for the week, was busy drying dishes in the kitchen in preparation for the evening meal, which the housemother would cook. Other weekly chores divided up by the girls themselves were labeled simply, "living room," "dining room," "upstairs," or "special projects." A laundry room with washers, dryers, and ironing board

Red China To Be Topic For Lecture

Sponsored by the Marin and Novato branches of American Assn. of University Women, a lecture on life in Red China will be presented at Olney Hall, College of Marin, on Jan. 27, at 8 p.m. by Lisa Hobbs.

With her background as foreign correspondent in Europe and Asia, Mrs. Hobbs of the San Francisco Examiner was the first reporter of a United States newspaper to enter communist China in almost 10 years. She was born in Australia, educated there, in Denmark, and in the United States.

In the summer of 1965 she made a 4,000-mile, 21-day trip through Red China. Her book, "I Saw Red China," will be released this month.

Signs Of Spring Theme For Show Planned By Guild

Looking forward to the signs of an early spring, the members of St. Patrick's Guild have set Feb. 9 for their "Bluebirds and Belles" luncheon fashion show at the Meadow Club.

Co-chairman for this the 11th annual fashion to be presented by the guild are Mesdames R. Dowdle and B. G. Kessler. The parade of fashions for the noontime event will be under the direction of Mrs. William Cancilla. Volunteer waitresses are under the supervision of Mrs. Martin Clarke. Mrs. Frank Monroe will chair the decorations committee.

Reservations chairmen are Mrs. Richard J. Wader and Mrs. Attilio Malatesta, both of Corte Madera.

Proceeds will benefit St. Patrick's School.

FORGET-ME-NOT

Implying slenderness in its clean, straight lines is a dot and flowered dress, designed for the pert petite's social whirl. Fashioned in two pieces, the top is yoked and sleeved in a gay floral print over a midriff of dots. The slim companion skirt is flocked in matching dots. Robbie Rivers fashions it from crisp Fortrel and cotton . . . and offers a color choice of classic young neutrals.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Remenspergers To Entertain At Post-Holiday Dinner Party

By MOLLY MARIN

Mr. and Mrs. William U. Remensperger will be hosts at a post-holiday dinner party at their home in Sausalito Saturday evening. Guests will be Messrs and Mesdames Alan Conner, James W. Smith, Van Allen Treat and James F. McIndoe and Mrs. Stanley Cowen.

THE BEN K. RIPPES and their daughter, Paula, of Corte Madera will make their home for a year in Independence, Mo., where Mr. Ripp is working on a project for Standard Oil.

HOME FROM TWO weeks in Colorado are Mr. and Mrs. David Allen of Belvedere and their family. They skiied at Aspen, where they found snow conditions on the light side in comparison to the unusually heavy snowfall encountered at California ski resorts. They traveled by train which was a treat for the children.

MRS. WINT F. SAINT, whose major hobby is training and showing her little papillon dog, is preparing to enter him in one of the major events of his career. Champion Saints' Rajah of Carousel, J.D., is well known for his appearances in entertainments at the Sausalito Woman's Club. He will be one of the 62 papillon dogs coming from all over the United States for the Golden Gate Kennel Club Show on Jan. 15 and 16 at the Cow Palace in San Francisco to compete in a specialty show for this rare breed of dog within the main show. Mrs. Saint says Rajah will be entered in this specialty show and in two obedience classes.

VISITING IN TIBURON recently for three weeks was Mrs. Peg McCall of Kotzebue, Alaska. Mrs. McCall stayed with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McAllister of Tiburon. Mrs. McCall is director of nursing at the Public Health Service Hospital in Kotzebue and has served in hospitals in France, England, Germany and Okinawa. She has lived in Alaska for the past 12 years, but is a native of San Francisco.

Patricia Thompson Becomes A Bride

In a double-ring ceremony on Dec. 26 in St. Raphael's Catholic Church, Patricia Ann Thompson of Los Angeles became the bride of Kenneth Sterling Kilborn of San Rafael.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beverly S. Thompson of Los Angeles.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white satin embroidered in seed pearls and sequins.

Preceding the bride down the aisle in gowns of olive green satin were Francis Billeci of Fremont as maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Joan and Jean Auguston of Oakland and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Lee Hicks of Lyons, Neb.

The Rev. Lee Hicks of Lyons was best man and ushering were Ken Thompson of Los Angeles and Jon Bagshaw and Irving Schwartz of San Rafael.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Elks Club.

The bride was graduated from Notre Dame Academy in Los Angeles and San Jose State College. She is employed with Campbell Union School District. Ken and Gerry Thompson are her brothers.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buzz Kilborn of San Rafael, was graduated from San Jose State College and is a genetics assistant at the school. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John Oglesby of San Rafael.

Following a Palm Springs wedding trip, the couple will reside in San Jose.

ENTHUSIASM IN A HOME

came next with Mrs. Long's windowed office adjoining.

Here, the schedule was further explained by the director . . . After the 5 o'clock meeting, dinner is served at 6:15 in the dining room. The girls must be present for this unless excused by the housekeeper. Meals may not be taken later or in their rooms. Daily chores done by the girls include making their own beds and handling their own laundry and ironing.

"The housemother or I will teach the girls how to iron or do any of the chores, but they do the actual work themselves."

"OF COURSE, I'm at the home 48 hours a week, many times at odd hours so I'm able to have conferences with them or handle special activities or problems that might come up. For instance, at 30 minutes past midnight, I took a girl to the heliport so she could make the trip home for Christmas.

"Many times the girls visit their parents on weekends or the parents come here for a short time," the director added. "We feel the group home offers a living experience that is therapy—how to live hour by hour. Yet, I am not as emotionally involved with them as a foster parent and am able to set firm but kind limits for them to follow. It's the consistent adult relationship which is so necessary to them.

"Another advantage of the group home is permanent placement for the adolescent. Here she is able to remain until she is ready to move out or until she reaches 18 years of age. Perhaps the situation at home might change—the family gets treatment, or she gains the necessary control. The youngster must be able to be trusted for us to take her in the first place. If we find she needs a more protective set up . . . she is referred back to juvenile court.

"I would advise parents of teenagers who are going through this painful period and who feel they are unable to handle them, to seek professional help. It is best to secure the advice of a doctor, family service agency, schools or any agency set up to handle the particular problem. These girls are rebelling—and they need someone to care enough to stop them when they can't help themselves.

"Many of these youngsters could be taken into foster homes, but are not stable enough to handle the family routine. Here in the group home we provide the halfway point between the institution where a protective environment is provided and the family living situation."

Mrs. Long pointed out that at the home the girls relate to only three adults . . . herself and the two housemothers who serve for alternate periods of 48 hours each. Sharon Stone's social welfare experience was gained while teaching dependent children in Chile and Eula Lowe worked at the Edgewood Institution and Homewood Terrace in San Francisco. The use of a small staff at the residence makes it easier to maintain a home-like atmosphere.

"WE HAVE one vacancy which occurred a few weeks ago when a girl could not be trusted to attend school and was returned to Juvenile Hall. This situation may occur many times until the girl gains control and can adjust to the demands of living in the group.

"The girls are referred to us from the Department of Social Services or the County Probation Department."

There is a waiting list for vacancies in the home even though the group living is in the experimental stage. The Marin Foundation and Marin County are underwriting the costs of maintaining the group home but parents are ordered by the juvenile court to pay all or a portion of the amount depending on their ability.

The county pays all medical and dental bills and the girls receive an allowance with various amounts for clothes, supplies, spending and personal needs. The girls have their own phone and pay only if calls exceed a specified amount.

THE GROUP home idea is relatively new, the Marin Foundation Residence being the only one in San Rafael and independent of any institution. It has the backing of the county and the Marin Foundation with full cooperation from the deans of women, Juvenile Court, Probation Offices, Juvenile Hall staff, judges and volunteers.

"I can't say enough for the help we've received from these quarters. For instance, one of the Marin Foundation units, the house committee, calls regularly to check on our house needs, supplying bed linens, or plumbing repairs. They even gave a bridge party to raise money for new slip covers needed in the living room. Then, too, the volunteers drive the girls to doctor appointments and the like."

One of the volunteers, Mrs. John Finn III of Mill Valley, even offered the girls the use of their cabin near Lake Tahoe in November and the girls were given $10 for tows and ski rentals. They've been invited to go again this spring.

IT'S A BUSY schedule, too, for Mrs. Anna Marie Long; one she enjoys enough to extend her working hours beyond the eight hour day into evenings and weekends for emergencies or programs. And, according to Wendy Wilson, substitute housemother during the holidays, Mrs. Long's enthusiasm is contagious. "She identifies with the girls . . . talks to them on their level". An approach which in her four short months' stay has already resulted in positive improvements.

SECRETARIES AT a firm in San Jose take a "body break." They devote an hour three times a week for workouts and exercises in a concerted effort to fight the battle of the secretarial bulge.

Coffee Break Gives Way To Body Break

SAN JOSE (UPI)—First came the lunch break, then the coffee break. Now comes the body break.

At least one firm in San Jose, is fighting the battle of the secretarial bulge by devoting an hour three times a week to workouts and exercises.

The organization is a building and development firm which concentrated on houses before starting to build and develop the figures of its secretaries.

The new move started last June when some of the firm's executives began working out from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. An apartment in one of the company's projects was converted into an exercise room with a courtyard for running and a pool for swimming.

Fred Wejak, swim coach of the San Jose Swim and Racquet Club, supervised the program which he called "Fred's Body Shop."

Soon the secretaries demanded equal rights.

Now they stretch and strain from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Already the secretaries are reporting toned muscles, tightened thighs, arms and midsections and less letdown at the end of the day.

Rhonda Pignaz To Be Installed On Sunday

Rhonda Pignaz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rose F. Pignaz, will be installed honored queen of Bethel 48, International Order of Job's Daughters, on Sunday at 7:30 p.m., at the Masonic Temple in San Rafael.

Installing honored queen for the evening will be Virginia Tabor, retiring honored queen. She will be assisted by Karen Peterson, Carolyn Weiss, Ronni Stamp, Elizabeth Denison, Mrs. Betty Thompson, and Mrs. Ruth West, all past honored queens, and Sally Hasse.

Appointed officers are Linda Schroeder, outer guard; Virginia Solmonson, inner guard; Diane Bragg, junior custodian; Judith Hinman, senior custodian; Linda Berggreen, librarian; Joyce Gustafson, musician; Merriam Spezzi, recorder; Pamela Ghilardi, treasurer; Catherine Carpenter, chaplain; Nanette Lehaman, first messenger; Lynn Prosser, second messenger; Diane Presco, third messenger; Diane Rutland, fourth messenger; and Mary Mattson, fifth messenger.

Mrs. Martha Stark will be hostess. Elizabeth Denison will be soloist and Mrs. Ad Owen, organist.

Mrs. Millicent Denison is guardian of Bethel 48 with Henry Aubel as associate guardian.

Mrs. Wint Saint Again Tops Guild

Mrs. Wint F. Saint has been chosen president for a second year of St. Brigid's Guild of the Episcopal Christ Church in Sausalito.

New officers serving with her will be Mesdames George A. Tett, first vice president; Emmet L. Rixford, second vice president; Louis Bleicker, secretary, and Francis A. Constable, treasurer.

Babies take to meat naturally when Swift, the meat specialist, prepares it!

Naturally. Swift, the meat specialist, invented meats for babies—just so babies would take to meat quickly and enthusiastically. That's why we prepare it with the fine flavors and tender textures a tiny tongue likes...while preserving the proteins, vitamins and minerals that make meat the great growth food it is! For your ease in feeding, we put the meats in special "Spoon-Easy" jars, so you can spoon out the last little bit. Because baby takes to that, too. Naturally.

Psychologist Expands Theme Of Message Transmission In Talk

By BETTY FROST

"Our primary response is to the differences in people. To find similarities is a fine art," said Dr. William Pemberton, Mill Valley consulting psychologist, when he addressed 125 women at the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Tiburon, yesterday.

The lecture, "What Woman Are You—Dialogically?", was another in the "What Woman Are You?" series sponsored by the church. Introduced as a semantics and communications expert, Dr. Pemberton developed a theme dealing with message transmission in human relations.

Pointing out that we are uncomfortable in strange situations, and "when the extremes get too great, we lose contact with one another", Dr. Pemberton spoke of his marriage counselor role as that of "translator" and of "Love as the Art of Translation."

IN INTERPERSONAL relationships and in international relationships differences tend to grow, as exemplified in the attitude, "Only some people on this planet are important — people like me," he said.

To point out the sources of some of these differences, the psychologist sketched a profile illustrating degrees of assumptive knowledge of people and things. The first stage, the infant stage, is characterized by naivete, based upon little information and few contacts with other people; the second, the child-like stage, based upon more contact with people and more information, but marked by authoritarian control, he called absolutistic, or pre-scientific; the third, youthful stage, is less authoritarian, called relativistic, and compared to early science; the fourth, or adult stage, is marked by the ability to give and take, known as transactional, and related to modern science. A fifth stage, rarely found, Dr. Pemberton considers a "unifying" stage, and in this category he places those unusual individuals, whose deep involvement with all humanity set them apart.

Within these stages, reaction can go from the higher groupings to the lower, but never in reverse.

WHEN WE BEGIN to have respect for what others consider real, we can develop reciprocity and greater understanding, he said.

The antidote for congestion of communications is to reopen the circulation of communication," Dr. Pemberton said. He spoke of the methods used in psychotherapy in his marriage consulting practice. Three approaches which freeze communications are 1. A sullen, silent "anger," attitude; 2. Making judgments, giving unwanted advice in an "Anger -out" attitude; 3. Sarcasm or making jokes in a tense situation. He suggests keeping the information rolling and maintaining the ability to modify positions in a true dialogue by means of 1. Inquiry; 2. An attempt to discover and understand honest feelings; 3. Repetition of the information in a "mirror" reflection technique.

DIALOGUE SHOULD involve an exchange of information and not be merely "throwing hot potatoes back and forth," said Dr. Pemberton.

The American male often retreats in sullen silence, or spouts in anger at home because of irritations at his work, said Dr. Pemberton.

Referring to his earlier statement that "Love is the art of translation," Dr. Pemberton said, "When there is a big steam over a small event, one should look for a deeper message."

Steel Door Frames Becoming Popular

New steel door frames are becoming increasingly popular among homeowners and apartment dwellers.

Advantages include ease of cleaning and resistance of the frames to day-to-day household "bumps" and "scratches."

New Tennis Club Chairman Is Daughter Of Life Members

MRS. SAXTON

Mrs. G. Robert Saxton, new chairman of Mill Valley Tennis Club women, has been a member of the club practically all of her life since she is the daughter of the Frank Schroeders, now of Corte Madera, who joined the club right after it was founded. Both of her parents are honorary life members.

Alice has served previously as social chairman for women's activities.

Both natives of Mill Valley, she and her husband, who is retired from his position as western division credit manager for a tire company, live in Kent Woodlands. They have one daughter, Linda, who is a sixth grader at the Kent School. For a while they lived in Los Angeles.

After her graduation from Tamalpais High School and the College of Marin Alice worked as a secretary for an insurance company in San Francisco before her marriage.

She is active in the Kentfield Guild of the Boyd Science Museum and says she enjoys playing tennis and bridge, cooking and sewing.

Other members of the new executive board for women's activities of the club are Mesdames Larry Brink, social chairman; Norman Ortman, secretary; Eugene Aureguy, treasurer; Kenneth Stevens, tennis chairman; David Stephens, interclub matches; Robbin Whittlesey, swimming; Jack Keeler, hospitality; Victor Grant, publicity; Robert Seymour, reservations; and Francis Moffat, junior tennis.

Lessons In Bridge To Begin Jan. 12

Two Wednesday series of 15 bridge lessons for beginning and intermediate players will be given at the Emporium starting Jan. 12 through April 20, afternoons from 1 to 3 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Instruction will be based on the Goren system and will feature play-as-you-learn method developed by George Gooden. James C. Myers of Kentfield will conduct the course.

LINDA SILKEY

Linda Kay Silkey Engaged To Wed Dennis T. Grubb

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Linda Kay Silkey of San Francisco and Dennis Theodore Grubb of Woodland Hills, California.

The bride-elect, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Silkey of San Francisco, was graduated from San Rafael High School and is attending Oklahoma State University in Stillwater. Phillis and Larry Silkey of San Francisco are her sister and brother.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore O. Grubb of Woodland Hills, was graduated from Southern Illinois University and is attending Oklahoma State.

A late summer wedding is planned.

Sunny Hills Staff Member Honored

Mrs. Joseph Gudstadt was the honoree at a luncheon given at West End Villa on the occasion of her retirement from the social worker's staff at Sunny Hills. Hosts were her fellow workers Miss Dina Ryz; Mesdames John Fisher, Mary Jane Murray and Mrs. Bjorn Solberg; Messrs. R. O. Dancroft, Robert Thomas, Morris Kilgore, Ron O'Connor and Jerry Darrow. Also attending the party for his wife was Dr. Joseph Gudstadt.

Little Interest Is Evinced In Coroner Office Changes

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

At least four members of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday showed little enthusiasm for making any radical change in the make-up of the county coroner's office.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr, however, urged his colleagues to look into hiring a part-time pathologist to carry out the coroner's duties under the district attorney.

Supervisors discussed the matter for 90 minutes, then agreed to postpone decision to Jan. 25. In the meantime, they called for study of several possible actions.

The studies will cover:

1. Cost of providing Coroner Frank J. Keaton with another deputy and better equipment for making out his reports.

2. How much salary increase would be necessary so the coroner could live on it without other sources of income. This will be referred to the supervisors' executive salary committee.

3. Feasibility of using part of the money now paid to private pathologists to pay part of the salary of a physician-coroner.

Supervisors made no mention of County Administrator Alan Bruce's suggestion that they might file suit against Keaton to force him to give up his private interest in mortuaries in San Rafael and Sausalito.

In a memorandum submitted to supervisors last week, Bruce suggested this as one of four possible actions. The others were to "maintain the status quo," combine the coroner's job with that of the district attorney, or put it under the sheriff.

The only other reference to a possible suit was made by Keaton himself.

Perhaps, Keaton said, supervisors should file suit "to determine whether I have or have not violated" a 1962 resolution by the board and an attorney general's opinion following it.

Keaton said he had conferred with his attorneys and was "not too concerned with the outcome" of such as suit, feeling certain he had complied with the resolution.

Also appearing were Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, and Dr. John H. Manwaring, representing the Marin Medical Society.

Bales and Mountanos each spoke out strongly against combining the coroner's office with his own. Dr. Manwaring said the society was "unequivocally" in favor of the coroner's post ultimately being turned into a job for a physician, but recognized that "there are many steps that should be taken en route."

As things now stand, Manwaring conceded, no doctor except a young man just out of medical school would take the job. To make it attractive to experienced doctors, he said, supervisors must be prepared to upgrade the salary, staff, equipment and office facilities.

Supervisors agreed that no complaint had come to their attention about Keaton's handling of the job.

At the close of the discussion, Supervisor Thomas T. Storer offered a motion declaring that "not one centillion of evidence" showing improper conduct by Keaton had been unearthed by the board.

Chairman Byron W. Leydecker refused to allow a vote, however, declaring the board had not been conducting a hearing on Keaton's conduct. Storer withdrew the motion.

Board Takes Step Toward Construction

The Lagunitas School District Board last night approved the form of a contract with the San Francisco architecture firm of Callister and Rosse to design a new elementary school.

Supt. Marshall McCunniff said the board is expected to sign the contract later.

Board members also scheduled a meeting with the architects at 8 p.m. Tuesday to discuss what type buildings they hope to have in future schools.

The board hired Mrs. Joan Snyder as noon playground supervisor and office worker. She will replace Mrs. Olga Barbano.

Bulk of the meeting was devoted to a report by three first grade teachers on courses, methods and materials in the first grade classes.

Board member William G. McBride was absent.

North Bay Artists Set Elections

Officers of the North Bay Artists will be elected at a meeting at 8 p.m. Jan. 12 at the Novato Community House.

The club, sponsored by the Novato Parks and Recreation department, has been meeting on the second Sunday each month. It will hereafter meet at 8 p.m. on the second Wednesday.

The slate proposed by the nominating committee is: Virginia Helton for president; Joan Wiker for vice president; Pauline La Lancet for secretary; Kharvina Johnson for treasurer; Herta Rothschild for arts and acceptance; Lila Baugh for exhibits; Shirley Lancaster for ways and means; Lola Lane for membership, and Katharane Johnson for publicity. Other nominations may be made from the floor.

Larkspur Studio Offers Classes

Art classes for beginners and advanced students are being held at Casa De Arte Studio, 474 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, every day except Sunday.

Monday evenings, basic and advanced drawing courses will be held by Dale Rogers; Tuesdays, Helen Conser will hold a course in oil painting; and on Wednesday evenings, life drawing will be taught by Jim Patton.

Albina Marie Meredith will conduct classes in water color Thursdays; Richard Lindauer on portrait painting Fridays; and on Saturday mornings, art classes for children will be held by Homer Sterios.

U.S. Steel Firms Make Price Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House found an acceptable solution to the structural steel price crisis today in a $2.75 a ton increase announced by giant United States Steel Corp.

President Johnson's chief economist, Gardner Ackley, said he "hoped and expected" that the $5 increase posted earlier by Bethlehem Steel, the No. 2 producer, and Inland Steel Corp. of Chicago, would be cut down to U.S. Steel's pattern.

Partial realization for Ackley's hope was quick to appear.

Bethlehem rescinded its increase and said it will "review the market situation" after details of the U.S. Steel changes are known.

Chairman Joseph L. Block of Inland said he had not seen details of U.S. Steel's new prices but "when we do, we will revise our own prices to be competitive."

Wheeling Steel Corp. said it does not produce structural steel pieces and has no comment on price moves of other companies.

A spokesman for Weirton Steel, a subsidiary of National Steel, said that the parent firm is studying the U.S. Steel move and has taken no action at this time.

The apparent settlement of the tense five-day power struggle — in which the White House accused Bethlehem and Inland of unwarranted and inflationary action in wartime—came swiftly.

U.S. Steel announced its $2.75 hike in Pittsburgh in midmorning. It coupled that increase with a $9 a ton cut in the price of cold-rolled steel sheets produced in California.

Within a half-hour Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, was en route to the White House with a ready-made statement for reporters.

"The action of U.S. Steel is generally consistent with price-wage guideposts," Ackley said. The net gain in company revenue would be "inconsequential," he said, and went on:

"The price reduction is particularly helpful and encouraging and will make it easier to meet foreign competition on the West Coast."

With that blessing, the White House signaled its willingness to call quits on a power struggle with the steel industry which, for a time, looked like a replay of the great steel price crisis of April 1962.

Salmonella Education Campaign Is Prepared

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government will launch an educational campaign designed to prevent the distribution of egg products containing salmonella bacteria.

A series of courses will be initiated by the Public Health Service Jan. 31 in Atlanta as a result of the discovery of Salmonella late last summer in powdered eggs distributed in a government program, a Public Health Service spokesman said today.

The Food and Drug Administration also is reviewing comments which have been filed regarding a proposed new regulation to require pasteurization of all egg products which move in interstate commerce. A spokesman said the regulation probably will be issued soon.

Marin Air Force Men Get Viet Area Medal

Capt. William B. Scrimgeour Jr. of Tiburon and Maj. Cecil W. Fullilove of Greenbrae were among 24 Air Force Reserve navigators who recently received the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal for flights to Viet Nam during their annual two-week active duty tours last year.

The navigators, members of the 8500th Navigator Training Squadron, were awarded their medals at Hamilton Air Force Base, where they train. They qualified for the medals by performing as members of Military Air Transport crews flying to Viet Nam.

ZONERS FACE BARE FACTS, GRANT PERMIT

How do you zone for a nudist trailer camp? Riverside County's zoning board found the way—treat them as if they had clothes on.

"I don't think zoning can cover nudism as such," said zoning administrator Richard Stokes. "We were advised by our counsel that nudism as a moral issue is not a zoning matter."

Trans-Pacific Stowaway Is Charged

HONOLULU (UPI)—Gregg J. O'Konsky of Santa Monica, who celebrated his 28th birthday with a few drinks in San Francisco, is recuperating in Honolulu city jail.

He was arraigned yesterday before a U.S. Commissioner on charges of being a stowaway and held on $100 bond.

O'Konsky, ho said he was a movie actor, was arrested by FBI agents Monday night when he arrived, ticketless, at Honolulu International Airport aboard a Pan American jet.

The Californian explained that he went to San Francisco International Airport Monday, after his birthday celebration, to say goodbye to a friend.

However, he said he walked into the plane with the friend when no one asked for his ticket at the gate. O'Konsky said he got sick on the plane, passed out in the restroom, and didn't come to until the plane was in the air.

Max Rafferty Is Charged With Teacher Persecution

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A legislator has threatened to bring Dr. Max Rafferty before a legislative committee for "unwarranted persecution of a teacher."

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, D-South San Francisco, charged that the state superintendent of public instruction "flagrantly" ignored a San Diego Board of Education decision and planned to investigate a teacher who wrote a prize-winning one-act play. Ryan repeated charges made last month by Thomas Braden, president of the state Board of Education, against Rafferty.

The play, "A Cat Named Jesus," was labeled "profane and blasphemous" by the committee of credentials of the State Department of Education, Ryan said. It was written by Mrs. Geri Turner, 31, an English teacher at San Diego's Mission Bay High School.

Ryan said the San Diego Board of Education had rejected demands by "some of Dr. Raferty's extreme right wing supporters" that Mrs. Davis be fired because of the play.

Then the department committee informed Mrs. Davis that it would investigate her "right to hold teaching credentials," he said.

Ryan said the play, not written for school presentation but for adults, was awarded first prize at a San Diego drama festival last spring.

The San Francisco lawmaker said unless Rafferty dropped the case against Mrs. Davis, he would call him and the department committee members before a legislative subcommittee for an explanation.

Baker Chorale Seeking Recruits

New members will be enrolled in the Winifred Baker Chorale at 7:15 p.m. on Jan. 12 and Jan. 19 in Angelico Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael.

Conductor Winifred Baker reports there are openings in all voices—tenor, bass, soprano and alto.

The chorale, now in its eighth season, will present the California premiere of William Schuman's "The Mighty Casey," based on "Casey at the Bat," in its May Marin concert. The group will also sing Vivaldi's "Chamber Mass" in the same concert.

Student Clubs Slate Program On Japan

"Welcome to Japan" is the theme of a presentation planned by the International Clubs of San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools, for Jan. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the San Rafael High School cafeteria.

Demonstrations of karati, judo, flower arranging and traditional dancing will be given, and Japanese food will be served.

Three Teams Clamoring For Alabama's Steve Sloan

By JERRY ESTILL

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Alabama quarterback Steve Sloan, virtually ignored in the professional football leagues' big-money drafts, now has at least three clubs clamoring for his services.

A record-shattering performance as he led the Crimson Tide to a 39-28 victory over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl — and the national championship, put Sloan in the position of being able to demand a husky bonus.

The 6-foot, 185-pound senior from Cleveland, Tenn., was selected in the 12th round of the National Football League draft by the new Atlanta Falcons. But the American Football League clubs completely ignored him.

However, that is all changed now. And Sloan, who said his boyhood ambition was to be a policeman, is listening to offers from the Falcons and at least two AFL teams that apparently would assure his security for many years.

Sloan is in Mobile for the Senior Bowl game, but he has yet to work out with the South squad due to severely bruised ribs suffered in the New Year's night game.

"The ribs are still sore," Sloan said yesterday. "I just don't know whether I will play or not."

A steady drizzle has kept Sloan and the other All-Stars indoors during their spare time since coming to Mobile. That makes it easier for Sloan to answer the numerous phone calls he receives from all over the country wishing him well and trying to entice him to sign a pro contract.

"I won't make any decision until after the Senior Bowl," Sloan said concerning his pro plans. "I'm in no hurry."

Atlanta announced Monday that Alabama teammate Tommy Tolleson had come to terms with the NFL team.

"I think that's just great," said Sloan. He inquired as to the unrevealed terms of Tolleson's contract, but gave no indication whether the signing of Tolleson (who was one of his favorite targets at Alabama) would influence his decision.

One of the AFL teams dickering with Sloan is the New York Jets, whose coach, Weeb Ewbank, is coaching the South All-Stars.

If Sloan should decide to go with the Jets, he would be faced with unseating the same Joe Namath who set most of the passing records Sloan broke at Alabama this year.

"I didn't pass much in high school," Sloan said in an interview. "Mostly I just handed off the ball."

Playing behind Namath at Alabama in 1964, Sloan was noted as an excellent field general and an adequate passer. Even at the beginning of the 1965 season, Sloan's passing was not the most impressive thing about his playing.

But about mid-season he switched from a roll-out type to that of a drop-back passer and began stalking Tide passing records.

"I worked on my passing just about every day during the summer and I think it improved a lot."

Very active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Sloan said he plans to "spend as much time as I can" in that work. While in college, Sloan was a frequent speaker to church and youth groups. He had one such speaking engagement in Mobile last night.

If Sloan's South team wins, he'll get $1,000; if the North team wins, he'll take home $750.

Local Celebs In Crosby Pro-Am; Dilemma For Kentfield Family

AT LEAST TWO Marinites will play in the Bing Crosby Pro-Am Golf Championship at Pebble Beach Jan. 20-23; Father Leonard Scannell, the Hamilton AFB chaplain, otherwise known as Gary Prayer of the Vatican C.C.; and TV personality Jim Lange of Lucas Valley. Lange, whose checkered pants were a sartorial hit at last year's Crosby, promises even louder duds this time, having burned his checkered britches behind him.

Bob is chairman of the physical education department and head baseball coach at Drake High; the Fitzhenrys' son Jack is starting forward for the Redwood High varsity basketball team; and Drake plays Redwood Friday night.

As the curtain rises, Mrs. Fitzhenry is sitting in the Redwood stands, rooting like crazy for son Jack. Over on the other side, Mr. Fitzhenry is rooting like mad for Drake, since four of his star baseballers are also on the basketball team.

Suddenly young Jack Fitzhenry scores a basket, Mrs. Fitzhenry cheers, Mr. Fitzhenry boos and . . . well, you get the idea. It's going to quiet around the dinner table at 115 South Ridgewood Drive in Kentfield for a few days. The case may even wind up in court.

ONE-MINUTE INTERVIEW: Rick Barry, San Francisco Warriors: "I always was a baseball nut and I played Little League ball back in Roselle Park, N.J. Willie Mays of the Giants always was my idol. My daddy taught me to make the basket catch like Willie does and I insisted on playing centerfield even when the coach wanted me to pitch. I even wore the same number he does (24) and I still do.

"I watched Willie play every chance I could and I was dying to meet him. One day at the Polo Grounds —I always sat in the section closest to Willie—I found myself jumping over the rail and running onto the field. I got to shake his hands before the guards caught me and threw me out. I was terribly embarrassed later, but it was worth it."

THE NORTH Shrine high school all-star football squad, for which there are at least three Marin candidates in backs Dean Lazzarini of Drake and Dick Otis of Novato and lineman John Balzan of San Rafael, will be selected on Feb. 24 by a committee of sportswriters and coaches, none of whom hails from Marin.

SAN RAFAEL HIGH alumnus Bill Walton is a member of the San Francisco State College gymnastics team. A 22-year-old junior, Walton specializes in still rings.

THE EXAMINER seems to have overlooked the Marin market for its big indoor track show at the Cow Palace Saturday night. Tickets are on sale in San Francisco (Cow Palace, Roos/Atkins, Hearst Building), on the Peninsula, San Jose, Oakland and Berkeley, but none in the Bounty County, according to the publicity releases.

Russia's Tamara Press Easily Betters Records

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Tamara Press of the Soviet Union bettered New Zealand records in the women's discus throw and shot put during a track meet at Rotorua today.

Miss Press' toss in the discus was 180-feet, 10½ inches. The old New Zealand mark was 176-2. She is the world record holder in the event with 196-1.

The Russian athlete threw the shot 56-6¾, eclipsing the previous New Zealand mark of 54-10.

Brenda Matthews, 16-year-old New Zealand girl, defeated Russia's Irina Press, Tamara's sister, by a yard in the 100-yard dash. The winner's time was 11 seconds.

Irina Press, however, bested Miss Matthews in the 80-meter hurdles. Irina, who holds the world record in this event with 10.3 seconds, covered the distance in 11.4. Miss Mathews finished in 11.5.

In the men's competition, John Davies of New Zealand turned in the fastest mile of 4:02.8 while fellow countryman Bill Baillie captured the three-mile run in 13:46 and Russia's Viktor Kudinskiy won the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 8:51.

Mariners Triumph Over West Valley

Winning their sixth game in a row and eighth of the last nine, the College of Marin basketballers dumped West Valley J.C. of Campbell 94-80 last night in Kentfield.

Marin jumped out to an early lead, headed the visitors 49-36 at intermission, and then kept the lead throughout the rest of the game.

The Tars had a balanced scoring attack once again, led by Fred Arnold with 19, Rod Monti with 19, and Jim Halm with 17. Arnold also led the team on the boards, pulling down 15 rebounds. As a team, Marin handled West Valley on the backboards, outrebounding the Vikings 76 to 42.

Marin hit 54 per cent from the floor, making 42 of 78 shots, and West Valley hit for 45 per cent (33x73).

It was Marin's final tuneup for start of Golden Valley Conference action. The Tars open the GVC slate Saturday in Marysville against Yuba Junior College, 8 p.m.

Last night's scoring:

Marin scoring: Arnold, 7-5-19; Monti, 8-3-19; Brody, 4-2-10; Galassi, 2-0-4; Hanson, 3-0-6; Halm, 8-1-17; Wolfe, 5-0-10; Menne, 1-1-3; Kilby, 2-0-4; Henika, 1-0-2. To-3: Kilby, 2-0-4; Henika, 1-0-2. Totals: 42-12—94.

West Valley scoring: Eandi, 3-1-7; Call, 2-1-5; Fisher, 3-0-6; Smith, 7-5-19; Galos, 10-1-21; Dormire, 5-4-14; White, 2-1-5; Kearns, 1-0-2; Martin, 0-1-1. Totals: 33-14—80.

LSU Tackle Picks 49ers Over Oilers

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Dave McCormick, LSU tackle who reportedly signed with the Houston Oilers after the Cotton Bowl game Saturday, has signed with the San Francisco 49ers intead, an Oiler spokesman said last night.

McCormick, part of a four-tackle, million-dollar Oiler haul after the Cotton Bowl, gave Oiler owner Bud Adams only a verbal agreement to sign, saying he wanted attorney G. T. Owen of Baton Rouge to review the contract first, the spokesman said.

Adams "expressed regret and disappointment" when he heard of McCormick's deal with the National Football League 49ers, the spokesman said.

After LSU's 14-7 upset of Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl, Adams announced that his American Football League club had signed McCormick and George Rice of LSU and Glen Ray Hines and Jim Williams of Arkansas.

The 49ers said in San Francisco that McCormick had been signed in Mobile, Ala., by Art Johnson, assistant general manager. Terms were not announced but it was learned the deal did not include a no - cut contract provision.

"Please don't throw any huge figures around," said Lou Spadia, 49er general manager.

McCormick was drafted No.5 in 1964 by the 49ers. He was the first future pick the same year by Boston of the AFL.

The Patriots traded rights to the 6-foot - 6, 255 - pounder to Houston after failing to make a deal with him.

6 Games: 5 Marin Winners

It was a great day for Marin prep basketballers yesterday, five of six teams winning final practice games before the start of Marin Athletic League action.

Marin Catholic dumped Analy 57-28, Terra Linda tripped up Crestmoor 57-52, Novato nipped El Molino 68-66, San Rafael surprised Vallejo 61-52, and Redwood throttled Mt. Diablo 52-39.

Only loser was Tam, falling to Lick-Wilmerding.

Novato 68, El Molino 66

Led by guard John Dolinsek's 24 points, the Novato Hornets edged El Molino High School's roundballers 68-66 yesterday in the Novato gym.

Dolinsek turned in a tremendous all-around performance while scoring nine baskets from the field and six free throws.

Only two points separated the basketball teams at the end of the first period, but the Hornets scored 23 points in the second period and surged out in front at the half, 36-22.

El Molino picked up the tempo of its offense in the second half, outscoring the Novato boys 20-15 in the third stanza and 23-17 in the final period, but it still was three points shy of victory.

Tom Corder and Al Parsons scored 13 points for the Hornets and Ev Fritz had 12.

Led by Lee Simon's 17 markers, the Novato Bees defeated El Molino's lightweights 40-31. The jayvees also won, 60-21 with Larry Stuart chalking up 13 points.

The Novato cagers face Tamalpais in its first Marin Athletic clash Friday at 7 p.m. on the Indians' court.

Novato	13	23	15	17	—68
El Molino	11	12	20	23	—66

Novato scorers: Tom Corder, 6-1-13; Al Parsons, 6-1-13; Tom Owens, 1-3-5; Tom Herrnberger, 0-1-1; John Dolinsek, 9-6-24; Ev Fritz, 5-2-12. Totals: 27-14—68.

Chaparrals Enter Grand Prix Circuit

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The World Grand Prix circuit, long the domain of the fleet Ferraris of Italy, may see the greatest assortment of new prototype race cars in the history of road racing in 1966.

Latest to enter the ranks of the elite circuit are the Chaparrals of wealthy Midland, Tex., sportman Jim Hall.

Hall, a 30-year-old engineer who designed and built the sleek Chevrolet-powered race cars that won 16 of 21 major U.S. races last year, confirmed yesterday that his cars will race on the international and European circuits this year.

It already had been known that the Ferrari people would be in the thick of the 1966 action with a new sports prototype in an all-out effort to regain the world manufacturers title they lost last year to the Ford Cobra produced by Shelby American of Los Angeles.

Ford hasn't announced its world racing plans, but it is known that the Detroit giant plans to defend its crown with new grand touring prototypes and the Shelby Cobras, the latter with big 427 cubic inch engines.

There are reports, too, that Bruce McLaren, the transplanted New Zealander now operating out of Sulbiton, England, will field two new formula one cars. He will drive one himself and assign the other to 21-year-old Chris Amon, also of New Zealand.

It will be the first appearance in Europe of Hall's Chaparral prototypes. Hall, who raced a Lotus BRM in overseas formula one competition in 1963, designed the Chaparral in 1962. It was the first racing sports car to succeed with an automatic transmission.

Hall said the new formula one cars would be equipped with the same automatic transmission used last year in winning such top events as the Sebring (Fla.) 12-hours of endurance, the Road

Marin 'Cats Dump Analy

Marin Catholic whipped Analy High School's basketball club 57-28 yesterday on the winner's court.

After a close first period that found the Wildcats up by just two points, the Marin quintet broke through Analy's zone defense and forged 16 points ahead at the half 33-17.

Because of ragged shooting, the Analy boys scored only 2 points in the second period, 5 in the third and 6 in the fourth.

Pat Waltz led the Marin offense with six baskets and three free throws for 15 markers, while Bob Lombardi chalked up 13 and Ches Bornia 11.

Bornia and Lombardi also led both teams in rebounds with 13 and 10 respectively.

The 'Cats shot 41 per cent from the field and 55 per cent from the free throw line while Analy registered 23 and 40 per cent in those departments.

Sam Rickords topped Analy scorers with 12 points on five baskets and two free throws.

Los Angeles Open Starts Golfing Tour

LOS ANGELES (AP)— The professional golfing wars start anew today for 1966 with a pro-amateur prelude to the $70,000 Los Angeles Open.

This is the 40th annual Los Angeles fixture which kicks off the tournament winter campaign each year, and with several notable exceptions, the nation's leading shotmakers are on hand.

Today's exercise carries an additional $5,000 loot to be split by the pros.

Prominent in the picture is Paul Harney, the surprise winner of the last two tournaments here, and the challenging names of Bill Casper Jr., Arnold Palmer, Tony Lema and other name stars.

Palmer has registered but one tournament triumph in the past 18 months. It came in the 1965 Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas.

The setting is the same as it has been for the past 10 years, the Rancho Municipal Golf Course, some 7,000 yards in length, with par 36-35—71.

Harney, who plays relatively few major tournaments these years, won the Los Angeles in 1965 with rounds of 68-71-68-69—276. The winning purse is again $12,000.

The Los Angeles Open ordinarily started on a Friday and ended its 72-hole test on a Monday. But the format was changed this year to take advantage of added television revenue for the sponsoring Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, ending Sunday.

Warriors Go For Third Straight Win Tonight

BALTIMORE (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors go for their third straight National Basketball Association victory tonight with the New York Knicks the intended victims.

Four San Franciscans scored 20 points or more with Rick Barry's 29 topping all scorers. Guy Rodgers again was superb as the leader of the Warrior attack, scoring 21 points and setting up many more. Nate Thurmond chipped in 25 and Al Attles 22.

Rodgers and Attles led a Warrior surge that broke a 78-78 tie in the third period and moved San Francisco too far ahead for the Bullets to catch up.

Almost better than the offensive display was the Warrior defense that limited high scoring Bullet guards Don Ohl and Kevin Loughery to 15 points each.

Two Goalies For Seals

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP)— The San Francisco Seals plan to dress two goalies for their encounter tonight with the Western Hockey League leaders, the Victoria Maple Leafs.

"We'll keep the Leafs guessing," said acting coach Bud Poile. Both Jack McCartan and John Henderson have had good fortune against the Maple Leafs.

McCartan has been goalie twice this season when the Seals beat the Leafs. Henderson has been goalie once when the Seals won and once when the teams tied.

San Francisco has three wins and two ties in six games with Victoria.

Poile said: "I'm inclined to go with Henderson. He's played two good games in Victoria, but we'll dress both."

Poile, the Seals general manager, is filling in as coach for Charlie Burns who is in the hospital with a muscle spasm in his back. Poile said Burns may return as coach Friday when the Seals play Victoria in San Francisco.

Rec Program Opens Saturday

The spring semester of the Drake High School recreation program for boys and girls begins Saturday, it was announced yesterday by Bob Fitzhenry, recreation director.

Activities for boys include team sports, tennis, trampoline and weight training, and girls' activities include team sports, dance, tennis, trampoline and synchronized swimming. There are also co-educational diving and swimming classes, and a music program.

There is no registration fee for families enrolled in the fall semester of the program, but for those not entered, cost is $1 per family plus 50 cents per month for each child.

BIG MAN IS NEEDED TO FLIP 'COIN'

SAN DIEGO (AP)—It isn't all-out war between some of the owners of the National and American football leagues.

This came to light today with the disclosure that President Barron Hilton of the AFL San Diego Chargers had sent a Christmas greeting to President Daniel F. Reeves of the NFL Los Angeles Rams.

Hilton, whose business office is in Los Angeles, and Reeves are personal friends.

"Everything is big in San Diego," Hilton wrote Reeves, "even the coins such as the enclosed which the Chargers present the Rams.

"I hope it might be used in the future when the opportunity presents itself for our clubs to meet on the playing field.

"Of course, it could be that we will have to call upon the Chargers to perform the official act of flipping the coin."

The "coin" was a manhole cover—weight 144 pounds.

JIM MURRAY

Celtics Last Of 'Good Ol' Days'

Deep down, I'm really an old-fashioned kind of guy. I mean, I tend to admire the great Edwardians of our time, and I'm like my friend, Alfred W. Wright, I don't resist change, I ignore it. I like to keep a decent link with the past, with verities and traditions.

I think a gentleman must be a gentleman. I wear pajamas, for instance. I think electric tooth brushes are in the worst possible taste. Tradesmen should be made to wipe their feet. I wear a vest whenever possible. I wear outer covering going to the shower in the country club. I would smoke cigars if I smoked. Regimental ties should not be permitted on public sale, and no man should be permitted to knot the regimental stripes around his collar just because he has a charge account at Carrol's. Or Sears.

MONOCLES should be sold only to Prussian officers. Or maybe one-eyed people. You never wear brown shoes with a blue suit. White wine comes with the fish and by that I don't mean tuna sandwiches. You get to wear a tweed jacket only if you have done grouse-shooting in Scotland. Women should wear boots only on horseback or if they are direct descendants of Catherine The Great. College students should shave.

The only dance I do at all well is the waltz. I think the watusi should be performed only by the Watusi.

I LIKE THINGS to be as they always have been. I like being in Vermont to vote Republican. I want to be able to wear a smoking jacket and stand under a portrait of my great-great grandfather (if they could get one, it would show him digging turnips) and to be able to say "Lady Margaret is ready for her bath now, Smithers. If you'll prepare it for her, I'll be in the study or taking the dogs over the hedges for a practice."

Or, you can see what a crucifixion life in the sports world is for me these days. I mean, the Big Ten loses in the Rose Bowl. The New York Yankees dropped the pennant. Notre Dame has Irishmen on the team. USC has guys in the backfield with only one lousy syllable in their names, and nobody on the whole squad named Lancelot or Cicero or Lochinvar. Things have gone to pot.

WHICH IS WHY I carefully matched my sox and tie the other night, put on a white (cotton) shirt, polished my shoes (not too high a gloss), put on a topcoat (whenever the temperature gets below 60, a gentleman always dons one) and went down to the Sports Arena to see the last stand of a continuing tradition in our times — the Boston Celtics.

The Celts are the last best hope of us traditionalists. They are like the old Yankees. They always win. It doesn't matter whom they play in those green uniforms. They immediately begin to act like Celtics. They pick up guys like Siegfried (Larry) or Nelson (Don) but they could just as well pick up Lohengrin or Nelson (Baby Face) and it wouldn't make any difference. They could stop a bus and pick the first 10 guys. They could get a team out of the Yellow Pages. They pick up a lot of overweight, bunioned old retreads from other teams who haven't sunk a basket in earnest in years, and all of a sudden they have paired off 25 pounds and are shooting 50 per cent from the floor.

YOU WILL recall, I am sure, how a journeyman ballplayer could put on the elegant pinstripes of the Yankees in baseball for years and suddenly become a real threat for the Hall of Fame. Do the names Myril Hoag, Joe Collins, Johnny Hopp, Luis Arroyo ring a bell? Well, cast an eye down the Celts' roster. Would you double-team Woody Sauldsbury? Ron Bonham? Sihugo Green? You better, if they're in a Celts uniform.

The same things always happen. The other team begins to toss passes off to invisible teammates. Or visible spectators. They begin to take desperate, no-chance shots. It's very comforting. Also nostalgic. Guys used to throw to the wrong bases against the old Yankees, to give fast balls to Ruth and Gehrig in tight situations. Good players used to fumble against Notre Dame—I mean the REAL Notre Dame of the old days, guys whose names ended in "O," not began with them.

FOR A WHILE, the other night in the Sports Arena, I thought our last bastion of aristocracy was crumbling, that the rabble had really finally crashed in. The L.A. Lakers got within 10 points of the Celts.

But, we looked to our leader—his imperial majesty, William Fulton Russell. And, order was shortly restored. It was just like old times. The Celts were so far in the lead, the crowds started going home by the fourth quarter. When the final buzzer sounded, there was hardly anybody in the joint but the Lakers, the Celts—and me. The night watchman came down to see who left the lights on.

Remember how the Yankees used to empty the ball park by the sixth inning? Notre Dame used to drive everybody to the parking lot—or the subway—by half time? Remember how nobody bet when Calumet had two horses in a race? How Arnold Palmer used to come up to the final hole of the Masters' 12 shots in the lead?

THOSE WERE the good old days — gone, alas! Like Grace before meals, noblesse oblige, ballroom dancing, gold-headed canes, spats, the old Yankees, the Big Ten, the U.S. Davis Cup team, Calumet, Notre Dame. Only the Boston Celtics remain to remind us of a day when excellence prevailed perennially, and greatness was not ground up by the locust of mediocrity—when games were not won by relief pitching, or the bench, or races by platers. This is why I say the Celtics are the last stand for us old characters who still carry pocket watches and refer to jetliners as "airships," and I can't wait 'til someday some young upstart starts to brag about HIS basketball team and I can say "H-arrumph! Why, you young whippersnappers never even saw a basketball unless you saw Russell and the Celtics."

Now, THERE was what I call a team! And that reminds me of Babe Ruth and Bill Tilden. And George Gipp . . .

MARIN LEAGUE BASKETBALL PROSPECTS

A Rebuilding Year For San Rafael

By RALPH CHATOIAN

(Last in a series on prospects of Marin Athletic League basketball teams.)

It's a rebuilding year for the San Rafael High School Bulldogs, and prep basketball fans are wondering what coach Mike Diaz will come up with this year.

On Diaz' past record in Marin County basketball, no one is counting the Bulldogs out of the running, although every starter on last year's team is gone, plus the first two reserves of that team.

Diaz still hasn't decided on his starting guards, and it's fortunate the Bulldogs have a few extra days before starting their Marin Athletic League slate. They draw the opening round bye Friday, getting in a practice game with Petaaluma before opening MCAL action with Tamalpais next Tuesday.

The only returnees off the San Rafael team last season are 6-2 forward Jeff Allen and 5-9 guard Jim Magliulo, and both were reserves.

Allen will be one of the starting forwards for the Bulldogs when the league opens, with Bill Tetu, a 6-2 transfer from Wisconsin, starting at the other forward. Another transfer student, 6-3 Dick Draney of Illinois, is the starting center. And Diaz didn't do any recruiting. Honest.

But then comes the two guard spots, and it's a big question mark. Besides Magliulo, battling for that position are Joe Cunningham (5-10), the all-league footballer who played junior varsity basketball last season; and Rich Schau and Roger Widmer, two 5-9 players up from last year's "B" team.

"I'm still shifting my guards around," said Diaz. "We'll have to go with the guards who are doing the job at that time."

San Rafael is sporting a 4-4 record so far this season, its biggest triumph coming over Analy, 76-27. The Bulldogs tied Drake for second place last season, winning 7 of 12 Marin Athletic League games.

"Our defense has been good this season, but we haven't been able to score enough points," lamented Diaz. "But the boys are gaining confidence now," he added. "It's a matter of rebuilding completely after losing our first seven players of last year."

Three reserve juniors have been playing quite a bit on the Bulldogs' front line, John Farrar (6-2), Chip Tyson (6-1) and Dave Smith (6-2). "They're all doing a good job," said Diaz. Another junior receiving praise from his mentor is guard Sam Crowell, up from the "B" team. Senior forward Ed Pascoe (6-1) will be seeing a lot of action this year, but he's been sidelined most of the early season with a foot injury.

Tetu has been the big man for San Rafael so far, leading the team in both scoring and rebounding. He's averaged 11.1 points per game. Allen will be counted upon for his scoring and rebounding. He has good jumping ability that will be vital if he is going to win the battles under the boards. Diaz feels Draney is a good shooter who will add to the team's point-making ability.

Mike feels the Bulldogs have been coming right along. "Against our alumni team we scored 21 in the first half and then came back with 47 in the second half," said Diaz. "They showed a lot of comeback effort."

"We're not a big team. We have to depend on our defense quite a bit. Our emphasis is on defense." So San Rafael will be trying that old rule, don't let the other team score.

Diaz was in agreement with other coaches in the league when he picked Redwood, Novato and Drake as the top teams in the league, but added, "there will be other teams that make it tough on those three.

"If we continue to progress like we have this past month, we may be able to play a spoiler role," said Mike. Other teams had better be on their toes, for the Bulldogs just may spring a surprise on them.

ANTICS ON THE BASKETBALL COURT

The Harlem Clowns, who have made basketball fans all around the world laugh at their antics, will be taking on the College of Marin Letterman Club tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Kentfield gym, proceeds going toward the purchase of travel jackets for College of Marin athletic teams. The Clowns are shown in this picture in Tokyo Municipal gymnasium, Japan, where 10,000 fans watched their exhibition. That's a huge rubber band attached to the ball which is never going to make it to the basket, just one of the Clowns' many tricks.

Bill Kidd Wins In Season's First Major Ski Event

HINDELANG, Germany, (AP) — Bill Kidd, sophomore at the University of Colorado, won the men's special slalom today of the Silbertannen races on Mt. Iseler, the season's first major Alpine competition.

Kidd, silver medalist in the 1964 Olympic slalom, was timed in 1 minute, 22.92 seconds for the to runs over the 450-meter course that had a drop of 180 meters. Eighty skiers from 15 countries participated.

Jules Melquiond of France was second and Karl Schranz of Austria was third.

Kidd is a member of the nine-man United States Alpine team which arrived last week for a month's competition against European skiers.

Jean-Claude Killy of France was first in the first run but fell near the end of the breath-taking second. The fall came at the 54th of 59 gates. The first run, laid out by Coach Bob Beatty of the U.S. team, had 60 gates.

On the first run, Schranz placed second and Kidd third.

Kidd clinched his victory with a fast first place in the second run, followed by Dumeng Gionanoli of Switzerland. Schranz made a relatively slow run.

Kidd said after his victory, "I'm very happy about winning. I believe I have regained my good form of the 1964 Olympic races."

Kidd described the first run, set out by his own coach, as too easy. He said the second run, laid out by German Coach Hans-Peter Laing, was more sharply angled and decidedly more difficult.

The special slalom was the only race of the day. The competition resumes tomorrow with the giant slalom. There is no downhill in the Hindelang meet.

Two Players Ineligible In Bowl Game

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Two Texas Western football players were ineligible when they played in the New Year's Eve Sun Bowl game against Texas Christian, reports George McCarthy, Texas Western athletic director.

He said a decision whether or not to forfeit the game would be announced at a news conference today.

McCarthy said last night that end Bob Wallace and linebacker Fred Carr were eligible for season play but ineligible for the post-season El Paso Sun Bowl game won by Texas Western, 13-12.

"Wallace and Carr were ineligible for the Sun Bowl game, but the situation arose merely from an oversight," McCarthy said.

Texas Western Coach Bobby Dobbs refused to comment, saying: "I will have to know more about the situation before I can say anything."

McCarthy said he would confer with NCAA officials but indicated previous rulings might mean Wallace and Carr would be ineligible for post-season play next year, but this year's game would not be forfeited.

The two players' ineligibility was first reported by Dick Smith, a sports writer for the Arizona Republic in Phoenix. Smith charged that Wallace and Carr did not meet NCAA junior college transfer requirements.

Both players were recruited last summer and saw plenty of action for the Texas Western Miners this season. They attended Phoenix Junior College before transferring to the El Paso school.

Smith reported that Texas Christian Athletic Director Abe Martin said, "I didn't bother to make an eligibility check on them before the game.

"I figured that if their players had played all season they would be eligible."

services of two starters and a key reserve, still had enough to whip Mt. Diablo, 52-39 yesterday in Concord.

Center Chuck Meyer, the team's top rebounder, starting forward Jack Fitzhenry and reserve Dave Strathairn didn't even suit up for the game. Fitzhenry and Strathairn have ankle injuries and Meyer is out of school with a virus.

The Giants yesterday made 24 of their 57 shots from the floor for 42 per cent. Alan Fritz, filling in for Meyer at center, was credited with a good job, as well as Jim Marc, playing for Fitzhenry. Fritz and Bruce McGee led the team in rebounds with nine each.

San Rafael 61, Vallejo 52

Led by forward Bill Tetu's 20 points, the San Rafael High School basketballers surprised Vallejo 61-52 yesterday on the Bulldog floor.

Tetu also pulled down 11 rebounds while Jeff Allen grabbed 16 and scored 10 points.

The Bulldogs trailed at halftime 32-24 and dropped 11 points behind midway through the third period, but they rallied strong to overcome the deficit and win going away.

The San Rafael cagers will host Petaluma Friday in its final tuneup before embarking on its Marin Athletic League schedule. Tip-off time for that game is 7 p.m.

Terrell Says He's Next For Cassius

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Heavyweight boxer Ernie Terrell said yesterday Cassius Clay has promised to give him the next chance at the world heavyweight championship.

Clay had named Terrell as his next opponent after defending the title last Nov. 22 against Floyd Patterson. But in recent weeks there were reports that Brian London of Great Britain might be favored for the title bout.

Terrell, recognized as world champion by the World Boxing Association, said, "I had a long discussion with Clay in Chicago just before Christmas and we agreed to fight, maybe inside of three months."

Huge North Line For Senior Bowl Saturday

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — When South backs get through running against the North line in Saturday's 17th annual Senior Bowl game, they may wish they had not tried it.

The big four who have stepped forward as leading contenders for starting defensive line positions for the North average more than 243 pounds per man.

The baby of the bunch is 240-pound Gale Gillingham of Minnesota. The biggest is 248-pound Charley Harper of Oklahoma State. And in between come Indianas' 242-pound Randy Beisler and Idaho's 245-pound Joe Dobson.

Linebackers making big defensive sounds with the Yanks so far are Dick Leftridge, a 235-pound fullback from West Virginia, Randy Schultz, a 205-pound fullback from Iowa State college and 235-pound Jim Waskiewicz of Wichita State.

Expected to go in the defensive secondary for the North are Missouri's John Roland and New Mexico's Stan Quintana at the cornerbacks with Ron Acks of illinois and George Wilson Jr. of Xavier at safety.

Both teams spent the first two days of practice in a steady drizzle. Non-contact group work has been the order for both days with South quarterback Randy Johnson from Texas A&I and Yank tossers Bill Anderson, Tulsa, and Gary Lane, Missouri, working on their passing.

South signal-caller Steve Sloan of Alabama, hampered by bruised ribs, has not participated in practice yet. He is expected to begin light work today and hopes to be ready to play Saturday.

But Sloan said yesterday, "The ribs are still sore. I just don't know whether I will play or not."

Terra Linda Wins, 57-52

Terra Linda Trojan hoopsters tripped Crestmoor High School yesterday at San Bruno, 57-52.

The Trojans led by 4 points at the end of the first period and held an eight-point lead at intermission 32-24.

New Meat Market Opens Doors In Montecito Shopping Center

Newly opened this week in the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael, is Everett's Quality Meats — located in Casassa's Gourmet Foods Store, but not a part of that operation.

This is another retail meats, fish and poultry operation of Everett Thomas of Corte Madera—his third under that name. Other stores in Tiburon, Belvedere and Sausalito have been sold out. Most recent sale was the Tiburon shop now owned by Bernard Ossen and operated as Barney's Meats.

TONY'S GULF SERVICE at 1320 Second Street, San Rafael, has been changed to Vincent's Gulf Service. New owners are Louis R. Vincent of Santa Venetia and his son, Donald, of Novato, who purchased from Anthony Schiavo. Both father and son have been in the service station business for many years. The senior Vincent has had Vincent's Fairfax Service; son Donald owns Vincent's Texaco Service near Greenbrae. Both of these stations are being sold.

AFTER FIVE YEARS in business at 942-A Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, Mrs. Kerry Tedtsen has decided to close out her store, the Artificial Garden, and retire to housewifery at her home in Fairfax. During the month of January she'll close out all merchandise—and when that's all gone she'll close the doors.

DAVID DAVIS, manager of the State Department of Motor Vehicles in Marin County, reports that a large number of people seeking renewals of their automobile licenses for 1966 haven't yet discovered that the office at 1926 Fourth Street is closed. Last activity here was the sale of Christmas trees.

New office is located at 75 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera. That can be reached by southbound drivers turning into Lucky Drive from the 101 Highway, south of the Greenbrae Bridge.

The article was originally published in the October issue of Western Dairy Journal.

HARDING ASSOCIATES, Bay Area firm of soil and foundation engineers headquartered in San Rafael, has announced a change of name of the corporation to Harding, Miller, Lawson and Associates.

Principals in the company are Richard S. Harding (who is president), Eugene A. Miller and Robert T. Lawson—all of Mill Valley, and Henry T. Taylor of Larkspur. They will continue operations from main offices at 64 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, and from branch offices in Santa Rosa and Martinez.

Unsettled Labor Scene Blamed For Farm Woes

RIVERSIDE (AP) — The county agricultural commissioner says agriculture brought in an all-time record return for the county in 1965.

Commissioner Robert Howie's annual report said profits varied widely, with growers of green onions making $618 an acre compared to only $442 an acre for growers of Thompson seedless grapes.

"Over-all, for most commodities," Howie said, "it was a good year, but a lot of ranchers had a lot of problems." The main problem:

"Chaotic labor situation at harvest seasons throughout the county, due to the withdrawal of Mexican braceros and their replacement by domestic workers, who ranged from California Youth Authority parolees to high school athletes and housewives.

"A nine-day grape strike was a factor, too," he added.

Copal is a resin, obtained mainly from Africa, used in making varnish.

Next Budget Looms Large As Determiner Of Inflation

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — What actions of the government can foster inflation? What can the government do to halt or moderate a general rise in prices and loss of purchasing power by the dollar?

The cost of the Viet Nam War — how much money the government will pump into the economy through military spending — will play a big part in answering these questions.

A big Treasury deficit could have more effect on the course of inflation than isolated instances of price rises, such as Bethlehem Steel's $5 a ton boost in structural steel prices.

So right now, the talk about inflation centers most of all on what the new federal budget will hold. Will it be bigger spending, tax changes, a growing Treasury deficit? The new budget could do a lot to an expanding economy already pushing against the ceilings of production capacity and available skilled labor.

A budget deficit always can be a stimulant, mild or strong depending upon circumstances, to the economy. Some fear that a big Treasury deficit now might turn an expanding economy into an inflation-minded boom, with prices getting out of hand and wage demands skyrocketing.

Another tax cut, as once hoped for in 1966, would give both the economy and the federal deficit a big boost — at the risk of triggering a boom and bust.

Increased taxes could hold down the size of the expected deficit and curb the threat of monetary inflation. But some fear that tax hikes also could halt economic growth and might even lead to a recession.

Holding down government spending, whether for the military or the growing demands of the "Great Society" programs, could keep the Treasury deficit in line and slow the rising national debt. But here, too, the risk is in halting the economic expansion that otherwise would soon be entering its sixth year.

If the fears of a minority of economists are realized and inflation really gets going, what are the ways to stop it?

Some old-school economists still favor what they call natural correction. This says that inflation will take care of itself if the government doesn't tinker with the money supply. When prices get too high, demand dries up and employment drops. When wages get too high, it is unprofitable to hire more men. So prices and wages get back into line.

At the other extreme are those who plug for direct wage and price controls. These are unpopular and unlikely short of all-out war conditions.

Then there are fringe controls. Curbs can be put on credit so that it's hard to find money to finance speculative ventures.

Trust Often Answers Questions Of Estate

A trust may be compared to a lease, for the duties and rights of the parties are outlined in detail and thus the trustee need not go to court except for his accountings. If he makes his determination and decisions pursuant to the terms of the trust, he is assured that there will be no question that his authority has been properly exercised. In some cases the trustee may decide to ask the court for instructions.

When a "decree of distribution" has been entered in an estate, transferring to the heirs their shares and transferring to a trustee the share of the estate to be held in trust, it is customary to set out the terms of the trust in this decree.

The basic requirements of any trust are that there be directions to the trustee:

1. As to what is to be done with the income;
2. When the trust is to terminate;
3. Who is to receive the trust assets when the trust terminates; and
4. Sufficient powers granted to the trustee to carry out the terms and purposes of the trusts.

The trustee takes possession of all the assets, and just as he would as executor, verifies that all the income applicable to the various pieces of property is received. He provides for the upkeep of the properties, maintains adequate insurance, and pays the proper property taxes.

Some trusts direct that all of the income be paid to one or several beneficiaries. Others, for example in the case of very minor children, may require the accumulation of the income not required for a child's care until the child reaches its majority (or at a later specified date).

In cases where support is an important factor, the trustee may be directed to pay out a fixed sum to be made up, first from income, and if income is insufficient, then from the principal, or he may be directed to pay whatever is necessary in the trustee's discretion for the proper care, comfort, and maintenance of the beneficiary.

The trustee goes to court for periodic accountings of his custody and management of trust assets. At that time he may also point out to the court any special circumsances or changes in the properties or rights of the beneficiaries, such as a minor attaining majority, which may have occurred during the period.

In many trusts there are two types of beneficiaries, the one we have been discussing—who receives current benefits—and one who receives benefits at a later date. These are respectively referred to as the "life tenant" and the "remainderman."

Seldom does a trust provide for the distribution of shares to a minor, and the distribution is deferred until such time as the minor reaches his majority, (or a specified age).

Trusts sometimes continue in existence during the survivorship of a wife, and do not terminate until her death or some later time. A trust may be created for one person, and on that person's death continue for another. Distributions are often made in portions of the trust at attained ages, such as one-third at age 25, one-third at 30, and the balance at 35.

A trustee must of course keep the trust property separate and distinct from his own property, and must carry out the terms of the trust impartially, fairly and promptly.

Substantial Gain In Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market made a substantial gain today. Trading was heavy.

Steels were pacemakers and were joined by motors, coppers, aluminums, aerospace issues and a wide range of selected stocks.

The ticker tape ran as much as two minutes late as buy orders mounted despite the New York City transit strike which has impeded much business in the metropolis.

At the close, the New York Stock Exchange and American Stock Exchange said that because of the transit strike, the exchanges would close one hour and a half earlier Thursday and Friday (at 2 p.m. EST instead of 3:30 p.m.).

Volume for the day was estimated at 9.7 million shares compared with 7.55 million yesterday.

Steels rallied on news that the White House had found acceptable a price increase and other price revisions by U.S. Steel. Meanwhile, Bethlehem rescinded its $5-a-ton price boost. U.S. Steel's price increase for structural shapes as $2.75.

U.S. Steel climbed more than 2 points. Similar gains were made by Bethlehem, Jones & Laughlin and Crucible which was leading the list on volume. Lukens Steel leaped 3 points.

Up around a point were Republic Steel, Colorado Fuel and Iron, Pittsburgh Steel, National Steel and Inland Steel. Wheeling gained nearly 2.

Buying fanned out to many blue chips and the averages were up substantially. All Big Three motors were up about 1. IBM rose 6.

Ahead a point or better were General Electric, Boeing, Anaconda, Kennecott, Union Carbide, Xerox and U.S. Smelting.

Eastman Kodak rose 2, Baltimore and Ohio 4, Congoleum-Nairn 3.

Coppers continued to rally on the price boost for world copper. Anaconda and Kennecott advanced more than a point each. International Nickel gained 2. Newmont Mining common rose more than a point and its preferred 8 or better.

New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad lost more than 1 each, Texas Instruments about 5, SCM Corp. and Texas Gulf Sulphur about 1.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally higher in active trading.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Savings Company Boosts Interest

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Directors of Gibraltar Savings and Loan Assn. have decided to raise to 5¼ per cent the interest paid on pre-paid investment certificate accounts.

Association President Herbert Young said the rate, normally 5 per cent, was raised yesterday by directors and is retroactive to the first of the year.

He said minimum balance of such accounts is $10,000 and funds must remain on deposit for more than six months, after which interest, normally compounded semi-annually, is paid to date of withdrawal.

Chrysler Tallies Best Year Yet

DETROIT — Retail sales of Chrysler Corp. passenger cars in 1965 were the highest in company history, V. E. Boyd, Chrysler Corp. group vice president-domestic automotive, said today.

Total 1965 retail sales were 1,375,771 units, an 8 per cent increase over the previous high of 1,269,928 units sold in calendar 1955. The 1965 sales mark exceeded 1964 retail sales of 1,119,396 by 23 per cent.

Retail sales of Chrysler Corp. passenger cars in December were 116,331 units, 6 per cent more than December of last year when 109,990 units were sold.

Citizens Federal Has Growing Year

Citizens Federal Savings and Loan Assn, reported a new high of $350 million in total assets as of Dec. 31, 1965.

The sum represents a growth of 17 million dollars in the last 12 months—an increase of 5 per cent from Dec. 31, 1964.

Savings are now reported at $286 million—up 8 per cent from a year ago. Safety reserves increased 11 per cent to over $21 million. Home mortgage loans at $309 million are up $14 million from 1964.

Citizens Federal Savings, headquartered in San Francisco, has its Marin County branch in the Northgate Shopping Center.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Access Route Needed Now To West Marin Park Area

Point Reyes National Seashore in West Marin is girding itself for a million or two visitors per year.

But the action to provide a main access route is still stymied.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen hit the nail on the head the other day when he declared: "The need for the highway (from Highway 101 to West Marin) is becoming more and more apparent as full use of the West Marin state and federal recreational areas get closer to a reality."

Kettenhofen has been urging an alternate route from the vicinity of the Marin County Civic Center to White's Hill on Sir Francis Drake Boudevard —a route that will skirt populated areas like San Rafael, San Anselmo, and Fairfax.

The state's inability to provide an adequate direct route to West Marin is due in part to obstructionist tactics within the county.

It is regrettable that when the state was ready to study the widening of Shoreline Highway, from Dolan's Corner to West Marin, conservationists effectively blocked the move.

At one time, an even more direct route from San Francisco to West Marin was suggested. This route would have turned off Highway 101 immedately north of Golden Gate Bridge, diverting northbound cars onto military land and up the coast to Point Reyes.

When these plans fell through, the next likely east-west route was either from Greenbrae into San Anselmo and Fairfax or San Rafael to San Anselmo and Fairfax.

These proposals are also running into local opposition from San Anselmo and other areas in Ross Valley, which do not relish the idea of a thoroughfare cutting through the heart of their communities.

Thus, the east-west cutoff from Highway 101 to West Marin keeps creeping northward, farther and farther away from the residents and tourists in San Francisco who will be streaming across the Golden Gate Bridge.

The only city which is actively interested in serving as "The Gateway to the National Seashore" seems to be the northernmost community in Marin — Novato.

It makes little sense for tourists from San Francisco to be forced to jam the highways from Sausalito to Novato before they can turn off toward their destination in West Marin.

Painstaking efforts to widen Highway 101 and relieve the bottlenecks on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard through Kentfield and Ross will be almost useless if another million cars are to pour across the Golden Gate and clog the main highway all the way to Novato.

We are not at all convinced that Supervisor Kettenhofen's proposal for an east-west highway from the Civic Center to White's Hill is the wisest route. But we certainly endorse his effort to get the state highway officials to study the potentialities of that route.

An even more "direct route" may still be feasible, notwithstanding the howls that will be raised by conservationists — a cutoff from Sausalito into Fort Cronkhite and out of Olema, following State Route 1, the Shoreline Highway.

The Ragged-Look Of Winter

Looking out our window at the bedraggled trees, vines and bushes, with some half-dead leaves clinging precariously, this seems to be the ragged time of the year.

Rain-beat and wind-whipped, Nature seems at low ebb. Yet, all about there are signs that the rebirth of spring is near at hand. The green grass, the narcissus flowers, the swelling acacia buds—all speak of new life for growing things.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Brown Says State's Economy Outlook Bright For This Year

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The status of California's economy for 1966 is bright, according to Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who predicted the record for this year would be the best in advances since the year 1959. Pointing out that the economy in 1965 operated at higher levels than any state in the nation, the governor said expansions caused unemployment rates to fall, with new records in employment, personal income, cash farm receipts, corporate profits, retail trade and nearly every other measurable area of activity.

Performance in only one major sector, which was home construction, fell below the levels of 1964, he pointed out, but at the same time, he said strong gains were registered in non-residential construction.

VALUE OF office buildings was $271 million, according to a survey of building permits, and above average gains were recorded in religious buildings and educational facilities.

"The 1966 outlook," he said, "is for increased construction in both residential and non-residential categories, with residential permits estimated from 190,000 to 200,000.

This prediction would indicate a heavy continuation of subdivision activity in California, and also anticipates the continued flow of people into the state to take up the new construction for 1966 and the over-built areas now containing many vacant residences.

FURTHER, it is anticipated the employment level in California will exceed an average of seven million people this year. For the first time, the employed personnel in the state exceeded seven million during one month in 1965, and the average was 6.8 million for the year.

The governor's economists figure the anticipated increase in the total employment will cut down the claims for unemployment insurance, thereby giving some respite to drains on the fund and allowing a build-up of funds to provide for emergencies and time of low employment.

At the same time, a brighter note was sounded in the State Department of Employment, where disability insurance administrators said the disability fund, financed wholly by workers, has paid off its borrowed money, and currently is actuarily sound although operating on a "tight" basis.

THIS RESULTED from the fact the legislature passed laws requiring large employers to pay in contributions on a monthly, instead of a quarterly basis, and the first month's recepits have been received, giving the fund approximately a $30 million operating balance. Increase in the rate from 1 per cent to 1.1 per cent of a worker"s salary, and increase in the wage base to $7,400 annually as a basis for payment of the worker contribution, also has served to raise the level of contributions.

Personal income in California hit $59.5 billion last year, and the estimates indicate it will reach $63.5 billion during 1966.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Justice Hall Feature Praised

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In all of the discussions and publicity about the new hall of justice, one very encouraging bit of information has been overlooked. The entire building will conform with the architectural specifications outlined by the American Standards Assn., making it accessible to handicapped persons.

Spearheaded by the Marin Easter Seal Society, the architectural barrier committee is composed of many official and voluntary agencies interested in rehabilitation of the physically handicapped. This committee has been waging a continuous battle against the erection of new buildings, which, because of certain architectural features, bar those in wheelchairs, on crutches, or those otherwise disabled from entering and using public buildings.

So, hooray for Aaron C. Green, A.I.A., for making the new hall of justice a Marin edifice that will not make second class citizens of our physically handicapped population. In fact, our committee recommends a nosegay, nay, a large bouquet to Mr. Green.

'Act Of God' Policy Decried

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On Dec. 28, our neighbor's carport roof blew off and into our yard causing considerable damage (broken trellis work, broken planter boxes and damage to overhead sprinkler system).

Our neighbor was very apologetic and most concerned over the damage to our property. He immediately called his insurance man, believing (as we did) that his home owner's liability coverage would take care of the damage to our property.

His insurance man immediately sent out an "insurance adjuster." This adjuster made no attempt to evaluate the damage to our property but stated (while standing in the middle of the living room and 50 feet away from the accident area) that our neighbor's policy had no legal responsibility for the damage to our property as the windstorm "was an act of God" and therefore the insurance company was not liable.

We have since checked with our insurance man on this and find that this is actually the way the law in this state reads. As a further "for instance" we were told that if you have a tree growing on your property and it falls and totally destroys your neighbor's house or car, your insurance company can, and will, disclaim all responsibility for this, too, is an "act of God."

Since our own policy is a $50 deductible, we are just out of pocket for the first $50 worth of damage to our property.

We feel that this information should be made available to all of the residents of this area so that they may check with their insurance people to see what steps may be taken to protect themselves from such an unfair law.

Tamalpais Rail Proposal Backed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Speaking of rebuilding the Mill Valley to Mount Tamalpais "Crookedest Railway in the World," there is a good example how such a project could be a fascinating attraction in the Bay Area and to Marin County.

Down in the Santa Cruz redwoods there is a little shortline old-fashioned railroad of only a mile or two being built. Two old rebuilt engines of almost forgotten vintage draw three or four open cars on round trips of half an hour or so along an old logging road winding through the trees from near Felton. Tourists, vacationers, and especially young people and children all seem to be thrilled with a nostalgic excitement and crowd every trip during summer and holidays.

Our trip up Mount Tamalpais would be more than fabulous compared to that one, with the almost unbelievable views of the entire Bay Area, its cities, and the Marin County lakes and woodland from the top. In spite of occasional fog at the top there would be a beautiful tree-spread of Marin County lakes and woods, and the Bay often remains in the clear.

There is a similar project in our northern lumber country redwoods where an old logging train and railroad have been resurrected, and hundreds go miles out of their way to take the trip.

This Mount Tamalpais trip used to be an unforgettable feature of tourist travel as there is probably nothing so accessible like it in the West, certainly not nearer than Glacier Point in Yosemite. Let's get going! What are we waiting for?

Teen-Agers Get Bouquet

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Teen-agers of the Terra Linda Recreation Center, I think merit a "bouquet" for their interest in promoting recreation for the mentally retarded and physically handicapped group.

The writer accompanied Ray Greenberg, chairman of the recreation committee of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Marin, to a dance put on by the Terra Linda Recreation Center with 20 boys and girls from the center entertaining 20 girls and boys from the physically handicapped and mentally retarded group who participate in a weekly program there under the directorship of Harold Higgins.

It was something to see these teen-agers dancing the frug, watusi, etc., with a live band from the center, with an enthusiasm that was certainly heartwarming. The young people responsible for the party saw to it that there wasn't a dull moment. Even the two young boys confined to wheelchairs had a ball as there was always someone giving them attention . . .

As I looked on, I thought we hear so much about juvenile delinquents and their acts of violence, but so little about our boys and girls who go all out to give a little fun to those less fortunate; and I am sure they enjoyed themselves, to boot.

Now, how about that "bouquet," Mr. Editor?

BENNETT CERF

"I ONCE KNEW a Texan who was so big," admitted Oklahoma's Helen Brown, "that when he died they couldn't find a coffin big enough to bury the poor fellow in." "So what did they do?" asked her surprised Aunt Lila. "Well," drawled Miss Brown, "they just let the hot air out of him and buried him in a shoebox."

THE TOP AD executive of a big news weekly vaguely suspects that he's been talking shop too much. He marched his five-year-old daughter around his Connecticut estate one Saturday morning and pointed out the bees, birds, frogs, and such-like. Finally she asked, "Say, Daddy, are spiders and octopuses put out by the same company?"

A WASHINGTON guide proudly told a group of tourists that the Bureau of Standards is now able to measure distances down to one millionth of an inch. "So what?" scoffed a sophisticate from Chicago. "Parking lot attendants have been doing that in our town for years.

"WHADDYAMEAN, I'm under the influence?" an indignant prisoner asked the police lieutenant. "I never said I wouldn't walk your blank, blank white line. I just asked you politely to put a net under it first!"

U.S. Push Toward Negotiation Making Us Define Settlement

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's far-flung peace initiative is unexpectedly turning into something more than an effort to get the war to the conference table.

It probably was not planned that way.

But in pressing other governments to help get negotiations started, the President's emissaries are finding that they, in turn, are being pressed:

TO DEFINE more precisely the kind of settlement we would expect.

TO COMMIT ourselves to a longer pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam even though such a pause brings no equal pause in the war against South Viet Nam.

Partly as a result of the wide-ranging talks we have initiated in Warsaw, Moscow, Belgrade, Rome, Paris, and Ottawa, the U.S. is unfolding more fully its concept of the main ingredients of the settlement we would hope to negotiate with Hanoi. We are showing we would accept:

1. A peace which would require a "non-aligned South Viet Nam," as the President's press spokesman said in Texas.

2. Any government of South Viet Nam chosen in free elections internationally supervised.

3. A return to the Geneva agreements of 1954—sound in themselves but only when observed faithfully by both sides.

4. No foreign military bases, including U.S., in South Viet Nam.

5. Withdrawal of American forces as soon as a settlement could take effect.

These peace ingredients have all been implied in official U.S. statements, including Johnson's Baltimore speech of last March. But the effect of setting them out in trying to get a negotiation started means that we would be entering the talks with most of our bargaining cards showing, while the Hanoi Communists are still asserting that the only settlement is one which gives South Viet Nam to the Viet Cong.

Possibly this is the only way a democratic government can approach a peace conference with a war only partly won. Possibly this is the only way we can enlist the good offices of other governments in advising Hanoi that now is the time to start talks.

These may be the justified risks of making a bold effort to move the war to the peace table, but you can depend upon it that Hanoi will be demanding everything and conceding nothing up to the last second of the negotiation—if they are willing to begin negotiation.

Hanoi is conceding nothing—diplomatically or militarily. But in order to enlist the active help of the other nations in breaking the won't-negotiate deadlock, we apparently wanted to assure them that the U.S. was not pointing a gun at Hanoi saying in effect: talk quickly or else.

THERE IS A TRAP here which will have to be avoided. We are not serving a time ultimatum on Hanoi. We are not saying that unless Hanoi agrees to negotiate in 48 hours or in 148 hours, heavier bombing will start.

But it is entirely in the Communist tactic for the North Vietnamese to play along for weeks by suggesting that negotiations—which never quite come off — are possible and simultaneously stepping up the war in South Viet Nam while we were refraining from carrying the penalty of the aggression to North Viet Nam.

I have no doubt in my mind that the President will take the "hard decisions" if Hanoi refuses to talk. We are prepared to defend or we are prepared to negotiate. In the President's words: "Those who insist upon testing either will find us earnest in both."

No Drama Is Due In Union Message

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson will present his annual State of the Union message the same way he did last year—in a nationwide TV-radio broadcast at a night joint meeting of Congress.

The second session of the 89th Congress convenes next Monday. At this writing, the plan is for the President to deliver his address at 9:00 p.m. Tuesday.

IN CONTRAST to a year ago, when most of the State of the Union message was devoted to the domestic field, this time the grim struggle in Viet Nam will be the predominant topic.

In its present draft form, the address contains no dramatic pronouncements.

The joint chiefs wanted the President to use this occasion to proclaim a national emergency. Such a declaration would have cleared the way for the activation of a number of "ready reserve" and National Guard units—which the joint chiefs strongly favor.

It is the joint chiefs' intent not to send these troops to Viet Nam. Instead, they would remain in the U. S. as replacements for regular forces dispatched to the combat zone.

After considerable inner council deliberation, the joint chiefs' proposal was shelved by the President as unnecessary at this time. However, it is very possible this urgent message may be reconsidered by June if the Viet Nam conflict continues to intensify.

DEFINITELY certain to be included in the President's address is the assurance that he does NOT contemplate seeking a tax increase.

While disclosing that his new budget will exceed $100 billion, the President will contend the booming economy will produce sufficient revenue to meet the large additional expenditures.

While announcing his intention to expand U. S. forces in Viet Nam to "more than 300,000," the President will lay heavy stress on willingness to negotiate "unconditionally" at any time.

The troops destined for Viet Nam are to meet General Westmoreland's request for a combat strength of six divisions. He now has the equivalent of four.

THE PRESIDENT also has approved adding several Air Force and Navy interceptor and light bomber squadrons.

The urgent need of this build-up is strikingly emphasized by two sinister developments:

Navy Intelligence has reported that in the first 25 days of December, Russia delivered 230,000 tons of arms and other war supplies to Haiphong, main North Vietnamese port. This is the largest amount so far provided in one month. Of this record total 150,000 tons was transported by Soviet freighters; 80,000 by Polish ships.

General Westmoreland has informed the Joint Chiefs of Staff that North Viet Nam used the holiday bombing lull to greatly increase the infiltration of troops and weapons into South Viet Nam. The U. S. commander particularly warned that heavy artillery is being laboriously hauled through Laos and Cambodia to Viet Cong strongholds in the central highlands of South Viet Nam—where the Reds' massive fire power can be used against lighter-armed U. S. cavalry and airborne forces.

THEODORE SORENSEN, general counsel and biographer of President Kennedy, sprained his ankle while vacationing in the Virgin Islands. He is preparing to enter private law practice in February.

Visitors Say Seattle Thinking Of Bridges Over Ferry Boats

Not really, I guess, but it sounded that way: "Belvedere and Tiburon, just a few years ago, were small villages, but they are now swank suburban communities."

New Year's Day was beautiful, grandmother was taking care of our son, and my wife and I were free.

We took a cruise on the bay aboard one of the ships of the Red and White Fleet. The boat leaves Fisherman's Wharf, goes under the Golden Gate Bridge, swings around Alcatraz Island, goes near the bay bridge, and then heads back to home port.

As I said, it was a beautiful day and great to be on the bay, but the depressing thing was listening to the running commentary coming over the loudspeaker.

IT SEEMED — aside from Belvedere and Tiburon once being "small villages" — that almost everything in our bay has to do with the military or prisons:

Fort Point "where never a shot was fired." (I thought that was nice.) Fort Barry, which is a fort. Angel Island, which housed soldiers and foreign prisoners during World War II and our own prisoners dating back to the 1800s. And, of course, Alcatraz Island, where Al Capone was once housed.

The trip was about one hour long and you could get a beer and sandwich on board. The tours are run by Harbor Carriers, the same outfit that runs the daily ferry service between Tiburon and San Francisco.

THE MOST DELIGHTFUL part of the trip was meeting Arthur and Elaine Wilk. They were visiting the bay area from Seattle with their son, Steve, and daughter, Kathy.

We talked about how lovely the bay is and how nice a town San Francisco is to visit. Then we talked about ferry service.

What a bomb shell!

I mentioned that there was much talk of reviving some kind of large scale service on the bay.

"We have some of your old ferry boats in the Seattle area," Wilk said. "There is a lot of talk of doing away with them."

"ARE YOU KIDDING?" I asked.

"No," he said, "people are beginning to think of bridges. Ferries are fun—this ride is fun—but if you want to get some place in a hurry, bridges are the answer."

I liked Mr. and Mrs. Wilk and hope they return to visit the bay area, but if it's true Seattle is thinking of doing away with ferry boats, I can think of one area that might be able to use them—again.

Wouldn't it be nice if those old ferry boats could come home?

Columnist Confidentially Looks Back On Year Of Predictions

WASHINGTON—Once a year a Washington columnist must take stock of what he wrote and how it affected the country.

In January I warned President Johnson to forget his legislative program for the Great Society. I pointed out that with a hostile Congress there was no possibility of getting any bills passed this year, and he would be better off if he concentrated on making friends up on the Hill rather than twisting arms. The President ignored the advice and we all know what happened.

With regards to the space program, I was the only one to predict that Gemini 6 and Gemini 7 would never be able to rendezvous. I pointed out that scientifically it was impossible for the two space ships to get near each other and the whole exercise would be a waste of money.

WHEN IT CAME to foreign affairs, I can take credit for advising the administration that if it escalated the war in Viet Nam, we would be at the conference table within two months. I pointed out that once the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were bombed they would realize there was no reason to continue the war.

My Pentagon and CIA sources told me once we destroyed the Ho Chi Minh Trail the North would not be able to supply its troops in South Viet Nam and they would have no choice but to surrender and sue for peace.

South America occupied a great deal of my time this year. I was the first to realize that the best way of making friends below the border was to intervene in the Dominican Republic. I wrote that quick action in the Dominican Republic would guarantee a stable government for that country and that as soon as our Marines landed both sides would forget their differences and work for the common good. Then in a few days we could pull out.

ALTHOUGH I lived in Washington, I still kept a firm grip on the pulse of New York politics, and I was the first columnist to urge John Lindsay not to run for mayor of New York as I knew he didn't have a chance.

When Teddy Kennedy proposed Judge Morrissey for the federal bench, I told Teddy privately, and then publicly, the appointment would sail through without any opposition.

Everybody forgets it now, but when the aluminum companies raised their prices I was the only columnist who pointed out that there wasn't a thing President Johnson could do about it.

Without seeming to brag, I was one of the few syndicated writers who predicted Sonny Liston would knock out Cassius Clay in the first round of their heavyweight fight.

I WAS ALSO the first one to print that Henry Ford would marry Sybil Burton and that his daughter Charlotte would marry Frank Sinatra.

But no columnist is right 100 per cent of the time, and occasionally I've slipped up. I predicted the post office would issue a stamp to commemorate President Johnson's gallstone operation. Three weeks later the post office denied it.

Synanon Slates Annual Report

Four panelists, including two residents of Synanon House at Marshall, will report on activities at the rehabilitation center during the past year on the KTIM Radio discussion program, "Marin Sounding Board," tomorrow at 9 a.m.

Taking part will be Charles Hamer, a former director of Synanon," Marvin Weinstein, involved in the Marshall building program; Dr. John R. Lee, and Hal Fenton, head of Marin Sponsors.

A recording of tomorrow's broadcast will be repeated Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

Spices were the first flavorings.

Dixie, San Rafael Joint Meeting Slated

Members of the Dixie and San Rafael school boards will meet together at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Santa Margarita School, 1055 Las Ovejas Avenue, San Rafael, to discuss formation of a single unified school district.

A representatvie of the county schools office will explain how the tax rate of such a district would be set, under new state law. The boards will compare budgets of the two districts, to attempt to see where changes would be made if unification is approved by the voters.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Careless Bidding Makes For Hard-To-Achieve Contracts

One of the chief advantages of bidding well is that you get to contracts that are easy to play.

Bad bidding lands you in contracts that only a mindreader can fulfill.

Pass	3 NT	All Pass

Opening lead — ♡ Q

When this hand came up during the Team Trials in San Francisco last November, one of America's leading experts jumped to three notrump with the North hand without ever mentioning his spades.

The contract was makable, but that's the only good word you can say for it.

SPADES PROBLEM

The problem was how to play the spades.

South refused the first heart trick, took the second heart in dummy and led a spade to try a finesse with the nine.

It was the "book" play, working whenever East has one or both of the missing high spades.

The play failed, since West got in with the jack of spades to set up his hearts.

West got in next with the king of spades to defeat the contract with the rest of the hearts.

SHOULD NOT STAB

Instead of stabbing at three notrump, North should make a forcing bid in spades over two diamonds. In some partnerships, a rebid of two spades is enough; in others, a jump to three spades is necessary.

This kind of bid gives South a choice between three notrump and four spades as final contracts.

With the actual hand South would be happy to support spades.

North would then be able to afford a misguess in spades.

North wins the first heart and loses a spade to the jack.

He wins the heart return, cashes the ace of spades and runs the diamonds to discard a heart from the South hand.

North then ruffs a heart and gives up a total of two trump tricks and one club.

DAIL QUESTION

Parner opens with 1 NT, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ K J 5
♡ Q J 10 8 6
♣ K 6 5.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three hearts. This jump shows sut of five or more cards with at least 9 points in high cards.

Partner should bid four hearts with heart support of three or more cards; but should bid three notrump if he has only two hearts.

Dorothy Culver, owner of the Surprise Gift Shop at 32 Main Street, Tiburon, reported to sheriff's deputies Monday the theft of a $75 crystal paper weight from her shop. She said she last remembered seeing it about a week ago.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 5, the fifth day of 1966 with 360 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase; the morning star is Jupiter; the evening stars are Mars, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

American naval hero Stephen Decatur was born on this day in 1779.

On this day in history:

In 1925, Mrs. Nellis Taylor Ross of Wyoming was sworn in as the first woman governor in U.S. history.

In 1949, an Israeli armored column thrust 35 miles into Egyptian territory, capturing and wrecking three airports.

In 1959, West Germany supported previous British, French, and American rejections of a Soviet proposal to make West Berlin a free city.

In 1964, Pope Paul VI and Greek Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras met in Jerusalem to duscuss Christian unity.

A Thought for the Day — The late U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, Adlai E. Stevenson said: "A wise man does not try to hurry history."

In addition to the hourly and/or per diem wages for the crafts, classifications or types of workmen listed above, contractors may be required to make employer payments for health and welfare, pension, vacation and similar purposes as required by the executed collective bargaining agreements for the particular craft, classification or type of work involved.

Overtime: Weekday, Saturday, Sunday, and Holiday overtime compensation shall be paid in accordance with executed bargaining agreements currently in effect.

The working day shall be eight hours unless otherwise specified above. The per diem rate shall be the hourly rate multiplied by the number of hours in the working day. When less than the number of hours constituting the working day, as herein stated, is worked, the wage to be paid shall be the hourly rate multiplied by the number of hours actually worked.

All skilled labor not listed above that may be employed is to be paid not less than the union wage scale for such labor and in no event to be paid less than Three and Seventy Seven and One Half One Hundredths Dollars ($3.775) per hour.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the Contract is awarded, and upon any subcontractor under him, to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the Contract.

Notice is hereby given that all bidders may submit with their bids a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability and experience. Such sworn statement may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

Bids shall be made out on forms obtained at the business office, Administration Building, San Rafael City Schools, Third and E Streets, San Rafael, California, or the offices of the Architects, 1539 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California, and shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check, cash, or bid bond, for ten (10%) per cent of the amount of the bid, made payable to the San Rafael High School District, and shall be sealed and clearly marked "Bid for Main Building Rehabilitation, San Rafael High School, Marin County, California, Bid #244," and filed with the Secretary of the City Board of Education at the offices of the San Rafael City Schools, Third and E Streets, San Rafael, California, on or before 3:00 o'clock P.M., January 21, 1966, and will be opened and publicly read aloud, at that time, on that date, and in said office.

Bids will be opened and publicly read aloud at that time, on that day, in the offices of the City Board of Education, San Rafael City Schools, Third and E Streets, San Rafael, California.

The above-mentioned check or cash or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded to him and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after being requested to do so by the San Rafael School District.

The School District reserves the right to reject any and all bids or to waive any informality in the bids.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for opening thereof.

/s/ BERT C. CORONA
Secretary, City Board of Education, Governing Body of the San Rafael High School District.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Volga Documentary Proves Fascinating

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Life along Russia's Volga River was the subject last night of a "CBS Reports" hour which the network said involved both cooperation and harassment by the Soviets. It was no cotton-candy travelogue.

It was, on the other hand, hardly what American journalism would call a crusading document, or an expose—but in view of its frank comments about various aspects of Soviet society, one cannot help but wonder about the reaction of the Russians, who have proven themselves sensitive to U.S. television.

The program's publicity described it as "a comprehesive, searching look at the Russia few Americans have seen or know much about—the villages and cities along the banks of her greatest river, the 2,300-mile Volga. Filmed over a two-month period, the broadcast probes some of the Soviet Union's vast and complex problems . . . " The producer was Gene Deporis, with Marvin Kalb as the reporter and writer.

The harassment referred to by the network was specifically mentioned in the program. In addition, there were pointed comments concerning such areas as Soviet economic "backwardness," apartment house construction, roads, conformity and displays of "organized affection."

There was also a comment about the fact that in a "classless society," a river steamer offered three classes of travel. Another segment dealt with a top steelworker who, as a leader at his factory, had an apartment, a television set, a country home and a car. "CBS Reports" said he offered the information that most workers have such apartments (his was private, strictly for his own family)—but the program then discounted this allegation by noting how many shared apartments are in use.

The program also took note of pleasant aspects of life along the Volga as well as some improving areas of Soviet society. There were shots of a beach, of singing on a riverboat, of a production of "My Fair Lady."

From a production viewpoint, this was an especially fascinating hour of "CBS Reports"—for the subject was one that was almost ideal for a documentary. It offered a chance to see something new—and in a country of unique interest to Americans. It offered a chance to combine a study of essentials with a look at beautifully photographed scenery that was important to the basic structure of the hour.

Very frankly, I cannot remember ever being bored by any video show that gave me the opportunity to see a part of the world I had never seen before. But this hour was able to accomplish tasks on a number of levels—and in color for those fortunate enough to see the program that way. NBC-TV, by the way, announced some time ago that it will present a one-hour color program filmed in the Siberian city of Irkutsk under a formal agreement with the Soviet Union.

Job Corps Leader Expects Troubles

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The new head of the Job Corps anticipates more violent "blow-ups" at the antipoverty agency's camps, but he does not believe they will undermine the youth training program.

The views of Dr. Franklyn A. Johnson, who took over this week as director of the corps, were made known today by an official of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO). OEO runs the corps.

Johnson was reported to be less concerned than some officials more directly involved about 1965 outbreaks involving Job Corps members at Camp Breckinridge, Ky., Camp Atterbury, Ind., and Camp Custer, Mich.

Meteors sometimes follow one another so quickly theirl luminous streaks give the impression of rainfall, hence the term "meteor shower."

Tuberculosis Strikes 50 Marinites In Year

Tuberculosis struck two infants, 10 women and 29 men in Marin County last year. It killed a 31-year-old Fairfax man who did know he had it.

Three reactivations of arrested tuberculosis brought the 1965 known case total to 53. According to the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn., this represents a 51.5 per cent increase over 1964 and a 163 per cent increase over 1960, when TB began a steady upward trend. Based on population, there has been a 100 per cent increase in five years.

The probability there are four or five times more active cases than the 50 new cases reported last year to the Marin County Health Department was expressed by Mrs. Geneva W. Berry, executive director of the TB association.

"Experience has shown that for every person found to have active tuberculosis there are four or five others who have the disease and are infecting others but don't know it. The reason," she explained, "is that deadly as it is tuberculosis doesn't make people feel sick in the early stages."

Not a single connection has been found between the 50 new known cases, Mrs. Berry said. Even the infectors of the two babies—a year-old girl and a 22-month-old boy—remain unidentified, she said.

"We hope the tuberculin testing planned by the Christmas Seal association for the entire Mill Valley School District on Feb. 7 will give some clues," Mrs. Berry said.

Ages of the adults stricken last year ranged from three 22-year-old women to two women ages 84 and 87. Thirteen were in the 40s, 12 in the 50s and six in the 20s.

San Rafael had 12 cases, Mill Valley, which had the most cases in 1963 and '64, and Novato each had nine cases, San Anselmo had six, Sausalito had four, Kentfield and Marin City each had two and there was one each in Corte Madera, Bolinas, Ross, Marshall and Inverness.

Here's New Way For Fitting Shoes

A revolutionary system for sizing shoes and for fitting men's feet, recently introduced to this area by Sommer & Kaufman, is meeting with excellent consumer response.

Called the dynamic fitting concept, it is termed a breakthrough in the men's shoe industry. It was developed by Jarman Shoe Co., a division of Genesco, Inc., of Nashville, Tenn.

The DFC system combines highly accurate foot measurements (in three dimensions instead of the traditional two) and new geometrically proportioned lasts, to provide better fit and comfort.

The third dimension is the circumference, or girth, at the ball of the foot, the most important measuring point, according to William St. Johnson, Jarman retail specialist.

"Better fit reduces sharply what we term topline gapping, and it also reduces vamp creases. Furthermore, shoes that fit better also hold their shape longer and last longer," St. John said.

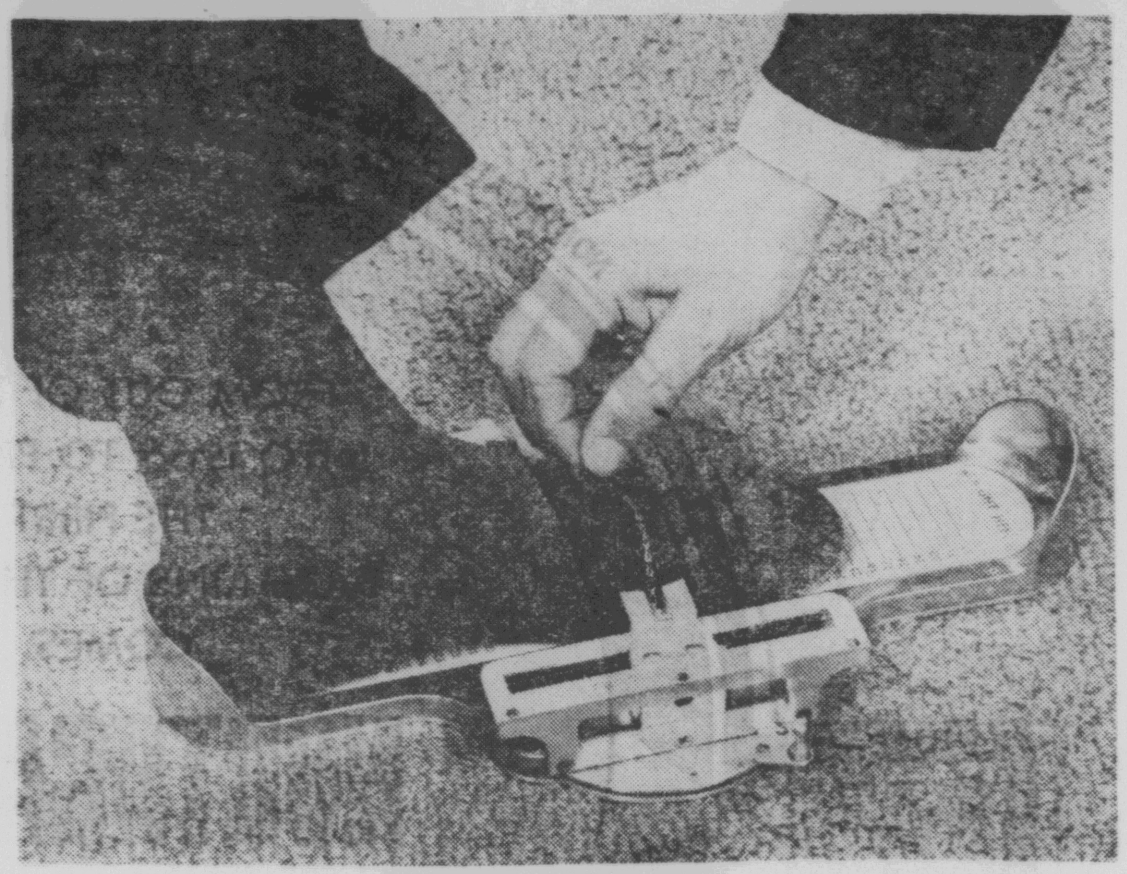
Prior to introducing the new system in New York City, Sommer & Kaufman personnel were taught how to use it. It is believed to be the first new foot-measurement system in nearly 100 years.

It is not just a revision or updating of the old sizing and fitting method. St. John explained that the standard system in use today was pretty well perfected in the 1880s, resulting from history's first mass production of shoes during the Civil War.

From that time until the introduction of this new system, there were no basic changes in shoe sizing.

Research by Jarman in recent years showed that the old system had a margin of error in both last grading and shoe-sizing. What was needed was a more precise measurement of a customer's foot in order to determine his exact size.

Development of the new system began about 15 years ago after the U.S. Army gathered detailed statistical material on foot measurements of more than 100,000 servicemen. Jarman became interested in this Army research and launched its own survey in 1960.



THREE-WAY FIT

A new concept in shoe fitting introduced by Sommer and Kaufman's Northgate store measures the length and width of a man's foot — and also the girth at the ball of the foot, providing better fit and comfort. Shoes hold their shape and last longer.

Extra Language

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Indian government announced plans to have each of its customs officers qualified in at least one foreign language.

High Heeled Shoes Chop Up Floors

NEW YORK (AP) — A 120-pound woman can exert more pressure than an elephant — if she happens to be wearing high "stiletto" shoes.

In a torture test of various flooring materials in which only ceramic mosaic tile survived, it was found that a woman shod in high fashion shoes can put a pressure of 3,500 pounds beneath one heal. An elephant develops only 50 to 100 pounds pressure per square inch beneath its foot.

When cast-iron plows appeared in the early 1800s, many farmers refused to use them for fear of "poisoning the soil."

Here Are Some Tips On Dress, Grooming

Metal on-the-door hat racks mark the bands of rarely-worn hats. A spiral tape on the part that holds the hat will prevent this.

Test color-fastness of a garment before using cleaning fluid by first applying it to the inseam or facing of garment. If fabric "bleeds," or if you're in doubt, give the job to your dry celaner, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

When you brush off your hat, wipe out the inside as well. It gets dirty and oily from the hair.

A cellulose sponge makes a fine clothes brush. It does a thorough job and can be washed clean.

It takes 48 hours for a shoe to dry out properly after it has been wet by a rainstorm.

Suede leather should be cleaned with a soft sponge. Even suede brushes can rub away the nap if used too vigorously.

After washing a wash-and-wear shirt, "finger-press" the collar edges by squeezing with finger and thumb. It will dry faster and smoother.

New Delhi Slums

NEW DELHI (AP) — One-tenth of the capital's three million people live in slums, the city commission reevaled, saying, "it is a problem which has defied solution all these years."

So, You Don't Know How Hard You Work?

If you're a 165-pound male with an average job, your feet carry you some seven and one-half miles a day and take a sledgehammer pounding of more than 1,000 tons. If you're the woman around the house, credit your feet with roughly 10 miles and 1,500 tons of jolts, according to research done by Irving J. Bottner, president of Esquire Shoe polish.

Special Buys In Bedding Slated By City Of Paris

During the month of January, City of Paris at Northgate will feature a number of special buys in bedding.

Since the store does not have a regular domestics department, it will be a good opportunity for homemakers to stock their linen closets at White Sale savings. Everything must go.

A selection of the most important sizes and colors is available in Wamsutta cotton percale sheets, cotton terry "Luxor" towels by Martex, acrilan blankets, electric blankets by General Electric, Wamsutta's embroidered Starflower towels and Kodel polyester bath rugs.

Super Secret

NEW DELHI (AP) — The National Committee of Archives complained state and central government confidential records "even a century old" have not been released to the archives. It recommended all records 25 years old be released to archives "irrespective of their classification."

Australia's senate has refused to raise income taxes by 2.5 per cent.

Emporium Course Set In Bridge

James C. Myers of Kentfield, veteran insurance broker and bridge expert, will hold bridge classes once a week for 15 weeks at The Emporium in Marin with classes scheduled every Wednesday from 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p.m., starting January 12, in the store's first floor cloakroom. No advance reservations needed. Fee is $1 per class.

Myers is also well known in Marin as a duplicate bridge tournament player, a past president of the Marin unit of the American Contract Bridge League, and a Life Master of the ACBL.

Although he has taught classes at the YWCA the series at The Big E is the first time his classes have been open to the general public.

While chess and golf rank high with Myers as hobbies as well as bridge, it is the last which brings him into the professional field as instructor endorsed by George Gooden, and using the Goren and Gooden method of play.

Here Are Hints To Keep Your Clothes Smart

You have a better chance of keeping your button-down collar looking neat if you wear a tie with a small knot.

You never polish patent leather shoes, but the soles, sides of the soles and heels need periodic attention. Use an old toothbrush to apply liquid polish.

Do not depend on the original adjusting of suspenders or belt to keep your trousers hanging properly. They sometimes stretch and require re-adjusting to look right. Knit sport shirts are justifiably at the peak of their pouplarity, but they still look less than smart on pudgy heavyweights who bulge out of them.

South African Factory Women Watch Styles

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Women factory workers in South Africa are becoming increasingly fashion conscious. Gone are the days of drab khaki and off-white overalls.

Designers of work-wear for women now have to play close attention to Paris hemlines and fashions, according to this country's National Occupational Safety Association.

The girls' safety, health and working freedom are no longer the only considerations of designers.

"Employers and unions alike see the psychological value of attractive protective clothing," says the association. "We cannot, however, follow fashion faithfully. Gimmicks for gimmicks sake do not make overalls more interesting or effective."

Current styling favors the simple shift-type overall, about 40 inches in length, made from a gaily colored synthetic material such as nylon, states the association.

SLEEK AND SOPHISTICATED AS MAMA

Gone is the day when grandma can deck her favorite granddaughter in fluffy frills and furbelows. Shown here is the "naked wool" look from a Mary Louise collection. It features a reversed tucked sleeve, darted bodice, cutaway neck and pom-pom trim. Fashioned in 65 per cent orlon and 35 per cent rayon, it comes in Bristol Aqua and is sold at the Roos-Atkins Northgate store.

Chandlers Warp 'N Woof Sets Storewide Clearance Sales

Swinging into its third month of business since its grand opening last October, Chandlers Warp 'n Woof at Northgate inaugurates the first of its storewide clearance sales.

The sales have been a tradition in the San Francisco and San Mateo stores.

One of the unusual features of the merchandising policies of this group of stores is the fact that every bolt of fabric is personally selected by the Chandler family. This occasions not only a number of buying trips each season to New York and other domestic fabric centers, but buying trips abroad—to Europe and the Orient.

As a result, all three stores are treasure houses of the latest designs, colors, textures and representations of the finest weaving art from both the United States and abroad. Through their worldwide connections, the Chandlers also feature many one-of-a-kind fabrics purchased from couturier workrooms of noted designers.

According to Stevan S. Chandler, manager of the Northgate store, this year's event will have fabrics woven by famous mills and in a wide selection that ranges from practical weaves for everyday and campus wear to beautiful presentations of woolens, blends, silks and cashmeres.

Also included in the sale is a special purchase of more than 1,000 yards from a designer workroom - the newest 1966 spring patterns in fully lined knitted fabrics: Jerseys, crochette patterns and lacy-look designs.

Though thousands of yards of regular merchandise will be made available, Chandler said there is some limitation on quantities of yardage. He suggested that interested customers should be present at the store as early as possible after its 9:30 a.m. opening.

Singers Names Make Up A Game

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Name Game" was one of the hit songs of 1965. But the wildest names in teen-age musical popdom—and the ones a listener can really play games with—are the names of the groups that sing young America's favorite songs. Every one we mention had a song in the top 100 (compiled weekly by Cashbox Magazine) at least once this year.

Forgetting whether their wailing sound is Motown (that's short for Motor Town—Detroit) or Mersey (that's the river that runs through Liverpool), the groups kind of group like this:

Flora and Fauna: The Hollies, Patty La Belle and the Bluebells, the Animals, the Beatles (Ringo, Paul, John and George may never bug out), the Byrds, the Larks, the O'Jays, the Turtles (six boys from Redondo Beach, Calif., who record on the White Whale label), the Dolphins.

The Royalists (shades of King Cole, Duke Ellington, Count Basie): Sir Douglas Quintet, Little Anthony and the Imperials, Royalettes, Kingsmen (with their regal "You Got the Gamma Goochee"), Little Caesar and the Consuls, Viscounts, Sam the Sham and the Pharoahs.

Hoi Polloi or Worse: the Vacels, the Yardbirds, the Barbarians (they scored a hit with "Are You a Boy or a Girl"), Young Rascals, Mad Lads, Strangeloves (their backup band, the McCoys, split off and made it into the top 100, too), the Kinks.

The Egotists: Supremes, Miracles, Uniques, Four Tops, Fortunes, Ovations, Marvelows, Marvelettes, Beau Brummels, Shangri-Las, Temptations, Spellbinders, Vogues, Impressions, Newbeats, Gerry and the Pacemakers, Wayne Fontana and the Mindbenders.

The Isolationists: Castaways, Tradewinds, Drifters, Herman's Hermits, Rolling Stones, Moody Blues, Bachelors, Freddie and the Dreamers, Zombies, Mojomen, Cannibal and the Headhunters.

Just Like Apple Pie: Jay and the Americans, Paul Revere and the Raiders (five guys from Portland, Ore., whose leader says his name really is Paul Revere), the Kids Next Door, the Sunrays (discovered by the clean-cut Beach Boys), Lettermen, Ivy League (they're British), Spokesmen, Astros, Detergents (who can forget their immortal "Leader of the Laundromat", Dixie Cups, Toys, Rag Dolls (took their name from a hit by the Four Seasons), T-Bones, CODs.

Zaberwocky: Lovin' Spoonful, Silkie, Gants, Hedgehoppers, Anonymous, Ikettes, the Changin' Times (two song writers turned singers, took their name from a Bob Dylan song), Them, Wonder Who, Guess Who and Who (four guys whose truck was broken into and electric guitars and drums stolen three times in two weeks; while they were out buying a guard dog, somebody stole the truck).

Mine Detectors Track Cornerstone

The cornerstone, according to records, was laid on April 20, 1864, and the building finished in 1867. The records do not reveal where the cornerstone is located.

Long Bridge

PATNA, India (AP) — A two-mile-long concrete bridge across the Sone River, opened after three years of construction work, has shortened the highway mileage between New Delhi nd Calcutta by 125 miles. The bridge is India's longest.

Low Cost Screen Helps Research

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A 27-cent item is one of the most important pieces of equipment at the $1.5 million U.S. Water Conservation Laboratory in Phoenix.

It's a long piece of wood with a wire screen attached to one end. Scientists use it to seine toads and frogs from experimental water evaporation ponds.

Bridge Out, Army Puts One Up, Down

NEW DELHI (AP)—A bridge which connected a rural community with the capital was destroyed and the army put up a temporary replacement. Then the army decided it needed the bridge back.

Now the community's 75,000 residents must travel five miles farther to reach New Delhi. It will be at least one year before they have a bridge.

Opossums Plague Farmers But Two Have Found Home

AUCKLAND, New Zealand—(AP) — Opossums are Public Enemy No. 1 to many New Zealand fruit farmers, gardeners and tree lovers. The voracious native of Australia is often blamed for causing more damage than deer and rabbits, and it is hunted with gun, trap and poison.

Shy and elusive, it packs a powerful bite and scratch if cornered.

But Tayler is different. It learned that good manners earned a full stomach.

Every Friday evening for the past year, when an Auckland couple paid a weekend visit to their seaside cottage, Tayler (so called because it hung by its tail) would appear out of the trees, leap upon a screen door and rattle it until it gained attention.

"He stays hanging from the door until he has a full belly," said the cottage owner. "The amazing thing is that we regularly see around the cottage dead opossums which have been shot by rangers, but Tayler always turn up."

But so as not to shorten the odds against Tayler, the newspapers are not publishing the cottage owner's name or address.

Tow Tayler has made news again by appearing with a baby on its back, clinging in approved opossum fashion. The cottage owners had thought Tayler was a male.

The baby gets the same meal as its mother—bread and an occasional apple.

German Scientists Are Collecting The Folk Song Sounds Of Nepal

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Three West Germans are traveling door-to-door through villages of Katmandu valley, listening to folk songs and watching native dances.

The three aren't talent scouts —they are scientists sponsored by the Fritz Thyssen Foundation of Cologne and attached to the Nepal Research Center operated by Prof. Walter Hellmich of the University of Munich.

Purpose of their travels through central Nepal is to collect and document folklore of the valley's Newar tribesmen. The Newars never wrote down their music or historical tales, but passed them down verbally through the generations.

He is assisted by sound and cameraman Eastau Lantschner, 51, and Hubert Schniebl, 29, both of Innsbruck, Austria.

From early morning until late night the three move from locality to locality, recording folk and religious music, vocal and instrumental. They ask the people how they got the music and what it means.

"One of my main aims," said Grad, "is to make a comparative study of differences in elements of music between Nepal and Europe. I have found originality in instruments here, like the long trumpets supported on bamboo poles. But the small violin of the folksingers is almost the same (as in Europe)."

Grad and his team plan to work through the winter, returning to Germany next spring.

Folklore collecting is but a small phase of the work carried on by the Nepal Research Center. Hellmich said 60 scientists in eight separate groups have visited the region since 1959 to help prepare a comprehensive profile of the Khumbu region, from Mount Everest to the Plains of Terai.

Two volumes of their research work have already been published, he said, and a third is under preparation. The research has included zoological studies, natural and cultural sciences and medical investigations.

Hellmich said the scientific groups have been based at the center, which is financed by the West German embassy, but that each team has spent a total of three months to two years in upper reaches of the Himalayas.

Big Levee Project Eyed In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Everyone has heard of Betsy, the ferocious hurricane. Soon the name LISA may be equally familiar along South Louisiana's Gulf Coast.

LISA stands for the Louisiana Intracoastal Seaway Assn., which backs a plan that would include raising a 12-foot levee to protect low coastal areas from hurricane tidal surges.

"It looks like our best plan," said Gov. John J. McKeithen after pondering LISA's potential —not only for flood protection but also for industrial possibilities.

Betsy did about $1 billion damage to the Louisiana coastal area, by best estimates. It was the third hurricane of extraordinary violence since 1958. And it stirred a lot of brainstorming as to the future.

One eminent scientist, Dr. Edward Teller, predicted that man will be able to control hurricanes in a decade or so. This is a comforting thought—but many weather forecasters are not so optimistic.

"Work is being done on it," said E. L. Hill of the New Orleans weather bureau. "How soon you will get a breakthrough, I don't know. It might be a decade, it might be several decades."

Backers of LISA would rather not wait.

In Betsy, as in other storms, the major problem was not the wind. It was the flooding caused by tidal surges — sea water pushed inland by the storm.

Towns in lowlying areas were hard hit. And thousands upon thousands of acres remained under water for weeks as floods slowly drained away.

LISA stalwarts say much of the flooding could be prevented by a 12-foot levee extending the length of the coast, from the Mississippi River to the Texas border.

Under the project envisioned by LISA, such a levee would be merely a valuable by-product of the Intracoastal Canal.

The existing canal — 12 feet deep and 150 feet wide — would be widened and deepened, with salt water locks at strategic points to let seagoing traffic in or out.

An engineering firm, Waldemar S. Nelson & Co., said dredging the canal to a depth of 40 feet and widening it to 500 feet would involve moving enough earth to create a natural levee on the seaward side.

The prospect is so enticing the 1964 legislature created LISA, with its membership drawn from adjoining parishes abutting the Gulf.

The cost of LISA is figured at about half a billion dollars.

Backers suggest most of the money could come from offshore oil royalties, now held in escrow by the federal government in the tidelands dispute.

Teen-Agers Urged For Civic Posts

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The mayor of Lincoln believes that high school students should be involved in city government.

In a letter sent to the heads of city advisory boards, Mayor Dean Peterson asked that each recommend young persons to serve as full, active members.

"I don't mean that they should dominate these boards," Petersen said, "but their viewpoints could be very helpful . . . "

Tomb Excavation

ENNA, Sicily (AP) — The Sicilian superintendency of antiquities has authorized new excavations at Montagna Di Marzo — Mountain of March. Scientists want to see whether grave looters who illegally dug up 2,500 ancient tombs there many years ago may have overlooked other finds of archeological value.

Scientific Deep Fishing Brings Up 'Sea Monsters'

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Ocean scientists have found what may be a baby sea monster slithering along in the depths off the coast of Peru.

And they also have a photograph to shake up archeologists.

The scientists, headed by American Dr. Robert G. Menzies, spent six weeks aboard the ship "Anton Bruum" cruising a zig-zag course over the Peru-Chile Trough (Fosa Peru-Chile).

Menzies and 14 assistants probed the trough bottom with a special camera and high power lamp linked to the ship by cable. The trough bottom is 2 miles beneath the ocean surface.

What may be the baby sea monster, so dear to the hearts of most sailors is called leptocephalus. Dr. Menzies' specimen, dragged up from the ocean floor by a trawl which usually goes with the camera, is about 12 inches long.

"It is conceivable that if the leptocephalus has the same growth rate as European eels, which we know a lot about, it could attain a length of 100 feet," one of Menzies assistants, Alec Ibanez, told The Associated Press.

"But to the best of our knowledge, the adults are uninvestigated and unknown," he said.

Adult leptocephaluses could be responsible, he added, for age-old sailors' stories of huge, wriggily monsters in the vastness of the Earth's oceans.

This was the second time the Peru-Chile Trough was investigated scientifically. Menzies made the intial survey in the late 1950s.

Menzies' camera, lamp and trawl are dragged along the ocean floor for several minutes at a time. The scientist has no way of knowing what the camera may be photographing in the depths.

But his assistants say Menzies seems to have an uncanny and intuitive way of submerging the camera and rig at productive spots.

The scientist, 43, who has returned to his post as director of Duke University's oceanographic program in California, also collected a new species of neopilina, a small snail-like creature which scientists once believed extinct.

Neopilina "was thought only to exist as a fossil, having become extinct 350 million years ago," Ibanez said.

The Menzies' expedition, which collected 20 living neopilina, was part of a year-long study of the southeast Pacific Ocean sponsored by the National Science Foundation in Washington.

Another — and unexpected — dividend of the trough survey came in the form of a routine underwater photograph.

"The picture appears to show several stone columns. And it's possible that they are man-made," Ibanez said. "What an archeological find that might be."

SPECIAL FOR WINTER

India Said To Spend Little On Education

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A meeting of Indian economists was told that India is spending 10 rupees ($2.10) per student per year on education, compared with $300 in the United States.

"We have the largest number of illiterates in the world—380 million—and our expenditure on research is the lowest," the speaker, D. S. Kothari, complained.

Eskimos Send Photographs Home In Place Of Letter

MONTREAL (AP) — Central Station was like old home week for some 80 Eskimos currently in Montreal for medical treatment.

The northerners, ranging in age from three months to 83 years, all come from the Northwest Territories and have been in Montreal for periods ranging from a few weeks to 18 months.

They arrived at the Travellers' Aid depot in Central Station from hospitals, convalescent homes and foster homes to have their pictures taken for the benefit of their relatives up north.

"None of these people were home for Christmas and these pictures, along with complete reports on their medical and social circumstances were sent to their families in time for Christmas," explained Mrs. M. Jean Henshaw, executive director of Travellers' Aid, a Red Feather agency which has a contract with the Department of Northern Affairs for the care of Eskimos travelling south for treatment.

"It helps so much for those at home to have a visual image to go by, rather than a written one only. Parents especially can see how their children look, how they are progressing and whether they are happy.

"Eskimo parents are exceedingly good parents and miss their children desperately, although they never hesitate to send them away if it is for the child's own good," she said.

The children, although shy, appeared happy, content and thriving with their obviously indulgent foster mothers.

"There are only two mail drops a year where they live, one in July and the other just before the freeze-up. Since most of the Eskimos there are Anglican or Catholic and do celebrate Christmas, we think it's rather nice for them to receive the pictures at this time," Mrs. Henshaw said.

The Eskimos come to Montreal suffering from a variety of illnesses including fractures, burns, heart disease, congenital defects in children and a very common Eskimo ailment of the chest which resembles bronchitis.

Many of them are now ready to go back but are waiting for transportation, which depends on the weather, the long dark period and other Arctic considerations.

The children speak either Eskimo or English, sometimes both.

NEW HOME FOR SAVINGS AND LOAN—Sometime next summer — probably in July — this two-story modern building will house both the savings and lending operations of American Savings and Loan Assn. at Northgate Shopping Center. Planning is now in final stages and bids for construction are expected to be opened this month.

Jazz Combo From Britain Jazzes Up Dylan Thomas

LONDON (AP) — A British jazz quartet has brought out a new long-playing record based on Welsh poet Dylan Thomas's play "Under Milk Wood."

The play was the last work of Thomas, who died in a New York hospital while on a poetry-reading tour of the United States in 1953.

The Stan Tracey Quartet — piano, tenor saxophone, bass and drums — attempts to transpose into jazz several of the characters and focal points in the play and to match in music Thomas's distinctive use of language.

Tracey, a 38-year-old pianist, said the phrase which kep running through his head was Thomas's "Starless and Bible Black" which is the title of one of the jazz pieces. Others include "No Good Boyo," "Cockle Row," and "I Lost My Step in Nantucket."

Hotel Losses

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — A loss of more than $23,000 was shown by the first and only state-sponsored hotel in Colombo during the first four months of its operation, a report said.

Will Moving Air Increase Yield?

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — University of Illinois researchers are trying to determine if fans in a cornfield will boost the harvest yield.

They want to know whether more air, and consequently more carbon dioxide, would increase corn production over plants in the same field not having the fans.

Last season, researchers turned the fans on when the corn tasseled and ran them day and night during the critical ear-filling period. No conclusions yet.

American Savings, Loan Will Open

American Savings and Loan Assn. of California has announced completion of preliminary plans for its ultramodern savings and loan center in San Rafael's Northgate Shopping Center.

Planning has now reached final stages for the two-story, 3,000-square-foot glass structure, with only small details yet to be worked out. Construction bids are expected to be opened this month, and the new facility is planned for completion in July.

Kenneth E. Boosey, manager at the Northgate branch presently located between Liebes and Roos Atkins, reports the branch passed its first million-dollar milestone in savings in December, just 3½ months after it opened. During 1965, American Savings loaned approximately $18 million on Marin County real estate. The American Savings real estate loan portfolio totals in excess of a billion dollars.

San Rafael-Northgate is the newest branch of the largest savings and loan branch system in the United States. American Savings, with assets over a billion dollars, is the largest savings and loan association in Northern California, and the firm celebrated its 80th anniversary last year.

Taxes On Tobacco Set Year's Record

Commerce Clearing House says collections on tobacco shot up more than $96 million to a high of $2.1 billion, reversing a downward trend in 1964.

Of the total tax take, cigarette purchases provided $2 billion.

India Drought

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A nationwide survey shows drought seriously affected all-important food grain crops in six states. Mysore State's harvest was described as the worst in 60 years.

They Feed Wildlife At Station

By WILLIAM COLEMAN

LOS ANGELES (UPI) -- Small wonder the network's front office in New York balked. There in the expense vouchers from its Los Angeles television station, KNBC-TV, was listed $10 for graham crackers and oats, along with larger sums for such items as tubes, camera parts and electrical equipment.

But KNBC-TV had an explanation and the accountants at the National Broadcasting Co. no longer question charges for oats, alfalfa, graham crackers, stale bread and cigarettes.

These are fed to the deer, raccoons, squirrels and other wild — and no so wild — animals which come calling every day at the door of the station's transmitter on Mt. Wilson.

The whole thing started in 1947 when the station leased its transmitter site. The contract demanded that the station "foster wildlife."

Caretaker George Stott, 61, took over as supervisor of the handout department of KNBC-TV.

"Some of the animals show up every evening and raise a ruckus until I dispense the goodies," Stott said. "I even have to keep a bucket of water for the raccoons to dunk their dinner in."

Stott complains that his relief rolls are getting bigger by the day. "Every time a mother raccoon has a new family, she adds to the long line that forms at the door each night," he said.

Stott said the deer favor alfalfa and sometimes help the raccoons finish off the graham crackers.

A special treat is offered to the deer about once a week when Stott puts out cigarettes. He said the tame deer do not hesitate to walk into the building to pilfer from the ash trays and clean up the butts on the floor.

"We usually decorate for Christmas," Stott said. "But the deer always eat the wreath the first night so that the other animals don't really know the difference between Christmas and any other day."

Stott said he has established somewhat of a feeding schedule and that most of the animals adhere to it pretty closely.

"The birds and squirrels come in the morning and the raccoons at night," he said. "The only problem is with the deer who will come at any time, so you must be prepared all day long.

"I have to haunt bakery shops for stale crumbs and any other tidbits I can find," he said.

Stott said his biggest problem is the same as that of the United States government:

"Once you start one of these welfare programs, there is no stopping it."

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — More than 40 years ago Herman Matheny's 80-year-old uncle bowed to the badgering of his 12-year-old nephew and allowed the boy to watch him build a medieval stronged instrument.

The old man lamented that he would be the last of generations of instrument makers, but it turned out he was wrong. Matheny remembered everything he was taught and became an accomplished artisan himself.

But now the uncle's fears probably will come true. Matheny, a plant guard at Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. in Akron, has no children to carry on the tradition.

He spends about three hours a day in his workshop at his suburban ranch-style house in Uniontown, 10 miles north of here. There he has completed 35 reproductions of the ancient music-makers. Among them are the psaltery, which resembles a flat harp on legs and date back to biblical times, and du cimers, which descended fro the psaltry.

Recently at the request of th Library of Congress, Mathe agreed to donate to the Smit sonian Institution a psalte valued at $15,000. Now he working on his first nonstring instrument, a 13th Century b lows organ.

"We were instrument make in France when we were turn out in 1560 during a religio persecution," Matheny said his heritage.

Now, he adds sadly: "No o else seems to be interested, a this art will probably die with me."

Export Scheme

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Customs investigators said they uncovered a scheme by three New Delhi firms to export ancient stone images in cases marked "brass artware." They said the relics were destined for New York City.

Woman Dies After Crash On Highway

First Marin Auto Death In New Year; Child Hurt

Mrs. Arlene F. Smith, 22, was eastbound on the highway about 4 p.m., her 3-year-old son, James, beside her, when her car crossed into the westbound lanes and smashed into a car driven by Alton B. Bench, 61, of 650 Canyon Road, Novato, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Mrs. Smith died four hours later at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco, where she had been transferred after emergency treatment for head injuries at Novato General Hospital.

Her son was in critical condition at the Novato hospital today, with head injuries.

Also in critical condition in the same hospital was Mrs. Bench, 61, who was a passenger with her husband. She suffered severe internal injuries.

The Benches' daughter, Lynn, said her parents were returning from a shopping trip to Vallejo when the crash happened.

Highway Patrolman Angelo J. Corvino, who was driving behind Mrs. Smith's 1963 Ford sedan, said he saw no reason for the car to suddenly swerve.

Mrs. Smith's body was taken to the San Francisco morgue.

President To Ask Billions For War

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson ill go to Congress after it resumes session next week for a whopping $13 billion in extra funds to finance the war in Viet Nam during the current fiscal year.

It will raise total military appropriations for this fiscal year to well above $62 billion—the highest figure since World War II.

It also gives a foretaste of what can be expected in defense spending requests in the budget Johnson will submit to Congress for the fiscal year which starts July 1.

Since appropriations include large sums for long-term production items such as ships and aircraft, they are not all spent during a 12-month period. The defense spending estimate for the current fiscal year now stands at $53 billion. Johnson's new budget is expected to call for something less than $60 billion.

Goldberg Urges U.N. To Help Peace Talks

COMBINED AP & UPI

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg today renewed President Johnson's appeal to members of the U. N. Security Council to help arrange peace talks on the Viet Nam problem.

He told the U.N. that the United States had made the following points in its contacts with key governments:

That the United States is prepared for discussions or negotiations without any prior conditions whatsoever.

That "a reciprocal reduction of hostilities could be envisaged and that a cease-fire might be the first order of business in any discussion or negotiation."

That the United States remains prepared to withdraw its forces from South Viet Nam "as soon as South Viet Nam is in a position to determine its own future without external interference."

That the United States desires no continuing military presence or bases in Viet Nam.

That the future political structure in South Viet Nam should be determined by the South Vietnamese people through democratic processes.

That the question of reunification of the country should be decided by the free decision of its people.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the powerful Senate Armed Services Committee, said today the U.S. "pause" in bombing Communist North Viet Nam has already run too long.

Russell prefaced his comments on the bombing pause with a statement that he has little hope for the Johnson ad-

Storm Eases In North

COMBINED AP & UPI

EUREKA — Heavy rain fell again today on soggy Northern California and Western Oregon, and one more town was isolated by swollen streams. See pictures, page 12.

The ominous threat of a major flood continued, despite the fact that many streams in the regiond were receding.

Disaster workers, who helped more than 1,000 people move out ahead of floodwaters, breathed a little easier as skies cleared partially and rain of the past 20 days eased up.

MORE RAIN

However, more rain was forecast tonight and temperatures went up slightly. Any significant warming could melt a deep snowpack in the mountains and cause a major disaster for the second winter in a row.

River crested last night and today well below the record levels which devastated the region last year, killing 43 people and causing damage estimated at $300 milioln.

The 1,200 residents of Ferndale in Humboldt County were isolated by the Eeel River, which was seven feet over flood stage and still rising. It was expected to level off later in the day.

Previously isolated by washed out bridges were the communities of Briceland, Whitmore and Petrolia on the Eel River.

Rep. Don Clausen, R-First Congressional District, whose district encompasses the flood area, made an aerial inspection today and reported "it amplifies the need to continue flood protective recommendations."

UKIAH RAIN

Ukiah, Mendocino County, was soaked by 4.13 inches of rain in a 24-hour period ending early today.

Some 180 persons, evacuated from Starvation Flat in Humboldt County and 65 families from the Fernbridge area and others from Orick and Hydesville were being housed and fed at the KENTFIELD QUAGMIRE — Residents of Kentfield's Kent Avenue look on as a tow truck operator prepares to move cars stalled by waters which flooded yards and basements. A score of residents there and in Larkspur were evacuated by firemen as the waters of Corte Madera Creek rose out of their banks.

Heavy Night's Rainfall

At least 20 families were evacuated from homes in Kentfield and Larkspur today as relentless rains combined with wind and high tide to push the winter's worst storm to the crisis point.

The storm dumped 11.16 inches of rain on Ross in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m.

Classes were cancelled at the College of Marin and nearby Adaline E. Kent School when Corte Madera Creek overflowed its banks.

Mud slides in several areas made traffic problems even worse.

San Rafael received 6.12 inches of rain from noon yesterday to the same time today.

This is how the storm affected various areas of Marin:

Kentfield — More than three feet of water sealed off the entrance to the Kent Woodlands area, making it impossible for residents to leave for jobs or school.

Water rose to the doorknobs on Kent Avenue apartments near the College of Marin football field. Firemen removed a dozen families from that area. Another six to eight families were evacuated from Berens Drive and McCallister Drive, where two and one-half feet of water flooded garages but receded before entering most homes.

Firemen escorted families in and out of the Granton Park area, but houses were not flooded there, according to firemen.

Fire Chief Kenneth Kamp said his men made no effort to keep records of how many families were evacuated or who they were.

Larkspur-Corte Madera—Two feet af water flooded Larkspur's Doherty Drive, main road to Redwood High School, and the parking lot of the Value World store on Magnolia Avenue.

Principal Donald Kreps declined to suspend classes at Redwood, but nearly 25 per cent of the student body was reported absent this morning.

Residents of Mohawk Avenue and Lakeside Drive in Corte Madera said the water was two feet deep and rising in their streets.

Petitions Fight Fourth Street Parking Shift

Businessmen on Fourth Street in San Rafael were circulating a petition today opposing the city council's decision to install parallel parking on the busy downtown street (See also story page 15).

Dr. Frank Howard, a San Rafael dentist and one of the men circulating the petition, said:

"The city council's decision on Monday took us all by surprise and we didn't have a chance to raise any objection.

"We will press City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen to put the matter back on the agenda for the next meeting, when we will present the petition."

He said he had canvassed businesses on Fourth Street and everyone he spoke to were against the abolition of diagonal parking between Lincoln Avenue and E Street.

The city council passed the measure by a 3-2 vote in an unexpected move at the end of Monday's meeting.

Dr. Howard said the traders' principal objections included the loss of 140 spaces with the proposed method of parking.

STORM CALLS OFF MARIN NIGHT SCHOOL

All night school classes of College of Marin have been cancelled for tonight because of storm and floods, Dean Roy G. Mikalson of the college's adult and evening school announced today.

This applies ot classes at Novato High School and Hamilton Air Force Base as well as those at the college in Kentfield.

College of Marin and neighboring Adaline E. Kent School were closed today because of floods.

Storms Are Blamed For Stopping Trains

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Track beds weakened by a continuing wintry storm caused Southern Pacific today to cancel its Cascade passenger train service between Portland, Ore., and Oakland for the third straight day.

Several of the roadbeds are under repair in Oregon.

MARINITES RELIEVED

Church Still Above Orrick Floodwaters

The waters of the Eel River and Redwood Creek in Humboldt County were reported subsiding today—to the relief of a contingent of Marin young people who spent their Christmas holidays rebuilding a church at Orrick that was severely damaged in the Christmas, 1964, flood there.

The Eureka Humboldt Times reported the Orrick church apparently was unharmed by this week's flood, which caused some 70 people—most of the population of the tiny community—to flee their homes.

A dozen teen-agers — eight boys and four girls—and three adults from the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael spent Christmas holidays in Orrick, working on the Presbyterian church there.

Little but the walls of the cement block building remained after the flood of just over a year ago. Some of the Marin young people worked at its restoration during last Easter vacation and again last summer. The Christmas holiday contingent put in a new ceiling and started refinishing the walls, reported Rev. T. Royal Scott, who headed the work party. The roof was replaced last summer.

Minister of the Orrick church is Rev. Joel Peters, who was ordained in his native India and did post-graduate study at San Anselmo Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. Rev. Peters' house is at high enough elevation to escape the flood, Rev. Scott said.

"I just hope our work didn't go for nothing," said Rev. Scott.

Jury Indicts Bobby Baker

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Former Senate aide Robert G. (Bobby) Baker was indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of tax evasion, conspiracy and other offenses.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas deB. Katzenbach said the nine-count indictment charged that Baker understated his income by $54,558.91 for 1961 and 1962.

Baker was accused of evading $23,090.97 in federal income taxes for those two years, the Justice Department said.

City Cool To Cubans

OAKLAND (UPI) — The city council voted last night to tell the federal government it does not want Cuban refugees brought into the East Bay area.

Transport Unions Stand Pat

COMBINED AP & UPI

NEW YORK — Union negotiators rejected Mayor John V. Lindsay's plea today for resumption of subway and bus service while contract negotiations continue.

Lindsay entered the strike talks on the fifth day of a transportation paralysis which started the day he took office.

The rejection of his plan came from the second line of union negotiators, now handling the bargaining for the nine officers of two striking unions who were jailed for calling the strike.

Another court session was scheduled for today concerning the possibility of levying fines against the officers and the unions.

Traffic congestion of fantastic proportions forced the city today to institute a voluntary plan for staggered working hours for the duration of the subway-bus strike.

The strike is costing business losses estimated at $100 million daily.

Union leader Michael J. Quill and eight other top union brass were prisoners of the city for contempt of a court order for resumption of public transit service. Quill suffered a possible heart attack shortly after he was jailed yesterday. Today his condition was still serious, but not critical, according to Bellevue Hospital.

Reagan Is In The Running

TRIES NEW CAREER—Actor Ronald Reagan shows a variety of expressions as he confirms his long-rumored plans to seek the Republican nomination for governor, at a press conference yesterday in Los Angeles. Newsmen saw a half-hour filmed exposition of Reagan's political views, which also was simultaneously released on television stations throughout California. He said his campaign will be "without name calling." (AP Wirephoto)

Calls For Creative Society

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Republican Ronald Reagan, an old-timer in the movies but a newcomer to politics, today steered a course he hoped would put him in the governor's chair of the nation's most populous state.

Reagan, 54, formally announced his candidacy last night for the Republican nomination as California governor in the state's June 7 primary.

In his formal announcement, Reagan suggested establishment of a "Creative Society" in California, apparently as a rival to President Johnson's "Great Society."

"A great society must be a free society, and to be truly great and really free, it must be a creative society calling on the genius and power of its people. Legislation alone can't solve our problems, nor will they disappear under a shower of tax dollars."

Turning to civil rights, Reagan said there was a limit to what could be accomplished by laws and regulations and that he questioned "whether anything additional is needed in that line." Instead, he said he would seek to mobilize people "of goodwill" to "make it plainly evident that those few who choose to walk with prejudice will walk alone."

He courted votes from the Democrats, outnumbering Republicans 4.1 million to 2.8 million, by saying millions of Democrats were "devoted to the cause of freedom and torn between loyalty to party and concern for their own deeply held beliefs and principles."

At the same time, he sought unity within his own party by pledging to work for whoever wins the primary election and asking his fellow Republicans to do so.

Reagan told a news conference after the announcement that he would not submit voters to a "loyalty oath" to find out if they were members of the John Birch Society.

Reagan turned some of his attention in his 30-minute announcement to state issues—in contrast to most of his speeches during his unofficial campaign period.

He held up a catsup bottle and said one Oakland plant manufactured 28 million fewer of them after cancellation of the Mexican bracero farm laborer program.

He also charged the Brown administration with sweeping budget deficits under the rug with "gimmicks" and called proposals for a state withholding tax "the worst gimmick of all."

Welfare costs, he said, had doubled in the past eight years. He warned against asking working men and women to provide welfare for citizens who make welfare a "way of life, free-loading at the expense of more conscientious citizens."

Describing California city streets as "jungle paths after dark," Reagan said the state needs legislation to "untie the hands of our local law enforcement officers."

Republicans Mostly Silent But Demos Sharpen Razors

Democrats were quick to knock down Reagan for his announcement that he would seek the GOP gubernatorial nomination in the June primary.

On the other hand, GOP chiefs were treading softly in an effort to avoid open party warfare and maintain unity.

Former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher, one announced candidate for the Republican nod, said last night that he looked forward to a "very intense" campaign against Reagan, including challenges of his "philosophical statements."

Christopher added, "I won't provoke anything."

The only other announced Republican contender, Laughlin E. Waters, said the actor's candidacy would give state Republicans a choice between the "moderate and winning position" and the "positions which were overwhelmingly rejected nationally in California during the last election.

There was no comment from either of California's two GOP senators.

Sen. George Murphy—another actor turned politician—was silent because—according to an aide—"he's interested in party unity, and he didn't make statements for Christopher or Waters."

The office of Sen. Thomas Kuchel said the senator was out of town and not reachable by telephone.

Roger Kent of Kentfield, the chairman of a group working to re-elect Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, called Reagan's 30-minute television announcement "canned political garbage." Kent added that Reagan's facts were inaccurate and his "sincere look the product of the make-up man and the lighting expert."

Democratic state chairman Robert L. Coate said, "Reagan's chief appeal will be to people who don't know about government." He added, however, that the actor would be "an extremely tough candidate."

Coate's GOP counterpart, Dr. Gaylord Parkinson, did not have an immediate comment on Reagan.

Assemblyman Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, regarded as a possible gubernatorial aspirant, said Reagan's declaration was "politically regretable." he explained, "If we were wise, we'd have only one candidate...someone's going to get hurt in the primary."

Former Republican Gov. Goodwin Knight, considering whether he would seek the nomination, said, "this does not alter any plans I may have had...I still plan to make a decision within a week or two."

Sen. John F. McCarthy of San Rafael, Republican leader in the state senate, said, "I think it's going to be a rugged fight, and I hope it is an honest fight."

"I think it's (Reagan's announcement) wonderful," beamed Mrs. Edward P. Archer president of the California Young Republicans.

Brown's Committee Issues Denials To Reagan Views

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown's major campaign committee issued to newsmen last night a 15-page denial of most major points made by actor Ronald Reagan in announcing his candidacy.

In reply to a Reagan charge that California's unemployment rate was nearly 40 per cent higher than the rest of the nation and that the state led the nation in bankruptcies, the committee said:

"California's economy in 1965 operated at higher levels than any state in the nation; higher even than most nations of the free world."

It said employment, personal income, corporate profits, farm income and retail trade volume set new highs.

"It is not true that California leads the nation in bankruptcies and business failures. Reagan is simply wrong."

The campaign group also disputed an inference by Reagan that cancellation of the bracero farm labor program had injured the tomato and other agricultural businesses.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

German Politicos Fete Adenauer

BONN, Germany (AP)—Konrad Adenauer stood ramrod straight on his 90th birthday today as he received a long line of political leaders and diplomats at a reception in the House of Parliament.

Adenauer

One of the wellwishers who spent the longest time with the former chancellor was Soviet Charge d'Affaires S. M. Kudriavtsev, whose government Adenauer perennially opposes. Their conversation could not be overheard.

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard was among the last in the line, introduced according to a previously prepared list.

Adenauer, West Germany's first postwar chancellor who led his country up from the ruins of the Third Reich, gave up the government helm in 1963. He has announced he will not seek re-election this year as chairman of the ruling Christian Democratic party. He retains his seat as the oldest member of the Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament.

Britons Due Key Election Fight

LONDON (AP) — The Labor and Conservative parties plan high-powered campaigns in a special parliamentary election at Hull, where a splinter-faction candidate opposed to the government's support of U.S. policy in Viet Nam is threatening to cut into Labor votes.

Gott

If Labor does not win back the seat vacated by the death of Henry Solomons last November, Prime Minister Harold Wilson's parliamentary majority will be reduced to one vote.

The outside threat to Labor in the Jan. 27 election is Richard Gott, 27, a journalist put up by a group called the Radical Alliance. Its organizers are leaders in Britain's ban-the-bomb movement.

Kevin McNamara, 31, a law lecturer, is the Labor candidate, and Toby Jessel, 31, an exporter, is the Conservative entry. The small Liberal Party is running Mrs. Laurie Millward, a housewife.

East Germans Flee

UELZEN, Germany (AP) — Four East Germans, including two 13-year-old girls, fled across Communist minefields into West Germany during the night, police reported. In Berlin, an East Berlin woman, 23, fled across the Communist built wall.

Luci's Man Moved

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Patrick J. Nugent, engaged to marry President Johnson's daughter Luci Banes, will be transferred to Washington, D.C., to complete his active military duty in the Air National Guard.

Nazis Picket Cal

BERKELEY (UPI) — Three members of the American Nazi Party picketed the main entrance to the University of California's Berkeley campus briefly yesterday, protesting inclusion of an avowed Communist on a student-faculty committee. They carried signs protesting the membership of Bettina Aptheker who says she is a Communist.

Smathers In Hospital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George A. Smothers, D-Fla., who announced Monday that he would not be a candidate for re-election in 1968, entered Georgetown University Hospital here yesterday for medical tests.

Raft Testifies

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Raft, star of scores of Hollywood gangster films, made a brief and unexpected appearance yesterday before a federal grand jury investigating money deals of the Cosa Nostra. The jury was investigating the purchase and sale of stocks by the Costa Nostra crime family of Vieto Genovese, now serving a 15-year jail term on narcotics charge.

Landmark Burns

INDIO (AP) — This community's mustard-brown, two-story Southern Pacific Railroad depot —said to be the eldest building in the Coachella and Imperial valleys — has burned to the ground. Fire officials said the old structure burned yesterday in 30 minutes, and that a dozen giant Washingtonia palms nearby caught fire.

GOP Hires Newsman

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republicans have hired former Washington newsman Robert T. Hartmann to help "turn the lights back on so the public can see what is really happening." The former Washington bureau chief of the Los Angeles Times, will help with publicity, speechwriting and research.

Relations Cut Off

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China today announced the severance of diplomatic relations with Dahomey. The government of the West African country broke relations with Peking two days ago after Gen. Christophe Soglo, the army chief of staff, took control on Dec. 22.

Refinery Fire Out

LYONS, France (UPI)—A $2 million blaze that claimed 13 lives at one of Europe's newest oil refineries was brought under control today by firemen using special equipment rushed from as far away as Paris, 300 miles to the northwest. An investigation was launched immediately to find out the cause of the spectacular series of explosions and fire at the Feyzin Refinery near here.

Tax Hike Suggested

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Americans for Democratic Action believes the Johnson administration should raise taxes if it cannot finance the Great Society and the war in Viet Nam. Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., ADA national chairman, said yesterday the increasing cost of the war should not be permitted to "strangle the Great Society in its infancy."

'Nice, Quiet' Man Is Held In Slaying

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI) — Authorities held a "nice, quiet, old man" on a murder charge today in the shooting of a Negro civil rights worker whose 1,500 fellow students staged an angry march on City Hall.

Officers released no word from Marvin Segrest, a white, 69-year-old service station attendant, on the slaying which brought state and FBI agents rushing to this predominantly Negro town on the fringe of Alabama's Black (soil) Belt.

Investigators said Samuel L. (Sammy) Younge Jr., 21, a political science major at Tuskegee Institute, apparently was shot during an argument over use of a rest room at Tuskegee's only all-night service station.

Younge's body, sprawled at the entrance to an alley about 75 feet from the station, was found by a taxi driver around midnight Tuesday. The youth was clutching a golf club, which Dist. Atty. Tom Young speculated may have been used as a weapon. Younge was killed by a .38 bullet in the temple.

When word of the slaying spread, 1,500 students at Tuskegee Institute, probably the nation's most famous Negro college, marched in a chilling rain to City Hall and demanded to see Mayor Charles M. Keever.

Backed by Tuskegee's five councilmen, two of whom are Negroes, Keever was heckled by some students, who shouted "This is the time for strong action . . . (not) regrets."

Waldie In Surgery

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie, majority floor leader in the lower house of the Legislature, was "doing fine" today after knee surgery at the University of California Medical Center The surgery resulted from a high school football injury.

ONE OF MANY—This 45-foot cypress may have been one of the biggest, but certainly was not the only tree which fell in Marin County as the worst storm of the season reached dangerous proportions. This one did little damage when it fell in front of the Lagunitas Post Office, blocking part of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Others landed on houses, cars and power lines.

Kentfield Residents Flee Their Homes

the middle of Granada Drive, east of Highway 101.

Mill Valley — Mr. and Mrs. Louis Books thought an earthquake had struck when an earth slide crashed down on their small cottage at 426 West Blithedale Avenue at 7:30 a.m.

The earth pushed the house into redwoods, cracked it in two and broke gas lines, resulting in a fire which was soon put out by firemen. Mrs. Books suffered a scratch on the right foot.

Asst. Fire Chief Joseph Regalia reported the house was "all catywampus" and "pretty well shot. Furniture is all over."

At least two furnaces were extinguished by waters which flooded Tamalpais Valley basements.

Mill Valley police diverted traffic from 9 p.m. yesterday to 4:15 a.m. today around a flooded section of East Blithedale Avenue at Ashford Avenue. Traffic entering Mill Valley from the north was routed back to Highway 101 and south to Shoreline Highway.

Water was over the sidewalks on Camino Alto and Miller Avenue at 10:30 a.m. The city street department received several calls during the night for sandbags to barricade homes.

Sausalito-Marin City—A truck jacknifed into a mudslide on Highway 101 south of the Richardson Bay Bridge about 6:30 a.m., blocking all four southbound lanes and backing up commute traffic for five miles. The California Highway Patrol said it took an hour to open the highway.

Truck driver Glenn P. Gross, 51, of Eureka, suffered a cut arm when a pickup truck slammed into his big rig, the patrol said. Two sailors in the pickup truck, Richard W. Allen, 20, and Roy West, 19, suffered minor injuries.

Some stalled commuters turned to the Tiburon ferry as a means of getting to work. W. C. Helman, assistant general manager of Harbors Tours Inc., said the ferry service had a 70 per cent increase in passengers this morning. Normally about 100 passengers board the Harbor King at Tiburon at 7:30 a.m.; today there were 170.

A falling tree broke power lines at 73 Cazneau Avenue, Sausalito, at 12:30 a.m., interrupting electric service for 50 Pacific Gas and Electric Co. customers until lines were repaired at 5:15 a.m., according to Leonard O. Robertson, PG and E electrical superintendent. The big oak had been dedicated by the Sausalito Woman's Club.

An inch of water was reported on the factory floor at E. D. Bullard and Co., 2680 Bridgeway. Several roads in Marinship were flooded.

Sausalito firemen used a pump to eliminate water from the corporation yard at Bee and Caledonia streets.

Belvedere-Tiburon — Engine room and offices of the Tiburon Fire Department's main station at 1617 Tiburon Boulevard had three inches of water today. There was flooding on Tiburon Boulevard, and on Cove Road in Belvedere.

Sewers backed up in a few homes on Belvedere's San Rafael Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John Newell of 35 Cove Road, Belvedere, said their living room, utility room and bedroom were flooded by at least eight inches of water. It was the third time in five years their home had been flooded, said Mrs. Newell. It happened before in 1961 and 1963.

San Rafael—City crews worked through the night to keep houses from flooding in the Bret Harte area, according to Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles.

A, B and Second streets were full of water in downtown San Rafael this morning and Rawles said high tide might force Second Street's closing.

Motorists detoured to avoid the flooded intersection of First and B streets.

One class at Short School, Marin and Bayview streets, San Rafael, was moved during the morning to an entranceway when water flooded a classroom, the library and boiler room.

Four inches of water were reported at the home of Mrs. D. Oberschlake, 381 Redwood Highway. Mrs. Oberschlake said construction near the 3-R School cut off storm drainage.

An underground cable failed at Fourth and H streets at 4:45 a.m., cutting electricity for 400 PG and E customers in the Fairhills area until 5:27 a.m. Another failure affected 100 customers in Peacock Gap for an hour when a tree hit a line at McNear's Beach at 12:10 a.m.

San Anselmo—Water was hubcap deep on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in front of the new Sunny Hills Shopping Center and three and one-half feet deep on Sycamore Avenue next to the Creek Apartments.

San Anselmo Creek crested about three inches below overhanging buildings at 2:30 a.m. today but caused no damage.

A small oak tree landed on the roof of the Felix M. Warburg home at 443 Lagunitas Road, at 4:45 a.m. today.

Novato—Water was reported under houses along Walton Street at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Center Road was blocked between Tamalpais Avenue and Lu Sutton School in Novato. Many motorists left cars and walked home.

The North Marin County Water District said Stafford Lake rose two feet in the 24 hours through this morning, but was more than five feet below the spillway.

City crews worked all night to keep debris from drainage ditches.

San Geronimo Valley — A clogged drain flooded Alta Avenue in Lagunitas. The intersection of Redwood and Park avenues was flooded and a land slide partly blocked Ridge Road and undermined houses. A 45-foot cypress tree fell onto Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in front of the Lagunitas post office.

Fifteen county maintenance men worked through the night to keep roads in this and other county areas open and to clear drains, according to Public Works Director Donald R. Frost, who also was up most of the night.

A toppled tree near the new San Geronimo Valley Country Club knocked out electricity for 150 families from 1:15 a.m. to 2:05 a.m.

West Marin—Shoreline Highway was flooded at Inverness, forcing motorists to detour via Bear Valley Road.

Trees were down at several places.

The Marin Municipal Water District reported that Lagunitas, Nicasio and Bon Tempe reservoirs all were full this morning. Kent Lake was 2.8 inches from the spillway at 8 a.m. and Alpine Lake was 13 feet from the top.

Rainfall readings throughout the county for the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. were:

Kent Woodlands, 10.7 inches; Lake Lagunitas, 9.1; Kent Lake, 9; Alpine Lake, 8; Woodacre, and Larkspur, 6.25; Inverness, 6; San Anselmo, 5.72; Chevy Chase (Larkspur), 5.6; Lake Bon Tempe, 5.4; Point Reyes Station, 4.99; Nicasio and Manor Hill (Fairfax), 4.7; Santa Venetia, 4.1; Belvedere, 3.96; Tamalpais Valley, 3.4; Sausalito, 3.34; Mill Valley, 3.28; Hamilton Air Force Base, 3.17; Terra Linda, 2.9; Bolinas, 2.41; Novato, 2.17.

Reward Posted For Lost Spouse

A $10,000 reward for information leading to the whereabouts of a Tamalpais Valley woman missing since May 10, 1964, is being offered by the husband, sheriff's officers said today.

Bruce B. Jones, 441 Live Oak Drive, is offering the money in connection with disappearance of Gertrude Kavesh Jones, 44. Circulars of the offer and including a photograph are being prepared, officers said.

Mrs. Jones is described as weighing 135 pounds, having brown hair and eyes, wearing glasses with thick lens, and having a tendency to hitchhike. The Joneses formerly lived at 301 Richardson Way, Tamalpais Valley.

Thieves Take Tools At Building Sites

Tools were stolen from two houses under construction in the north part of San Rafael, police learned Monday.

Linscott Construction Co. reported power tools and plumbing equipment taken from a tool box at a Sky View Terrace building site, and a $450 paint sprayer from a house being built at Santiago Way and Lucas Park Road.

Car Lot Office Hit

The office shack of the Smilin' Ed Woods used car lot at 801 Second Street, San Rafael, was broken into and $294 worth of auto accessories, tires and batteries were stolen, police were told Monday.

Banker's Trial Jury Completed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A jury of seven women and five men begins hearing testimony today in the federal trial of Don C. Silverthorne and William S. Bennett, charged with mishandling $1.1 million in San Francisco National Bank funds.

The jury was sworn in late yesterday after 56 prospective jurors and alternates were dismissed, many because they told Judge Charles L. Powell that they already had fixed opinions in the case.

Charges against Silverthorne and Bennett followed closure of the San Francisco National Bank last January by the federal government. It was the first San Francisco bank failure since the depression.

ministration's "peace offensive."

The North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry, in a statement broadcast by Hanoi Radio yesterday, labeled the suspension of U.S. air attacks "trick" to further what it called "a deceptive peace campaign."

Presidential envoy W. Averell Harriman today extended his Viet Nam peace mission to Thailand and Japan in the Far East. He was reported to have won a promise in Cairo that the U.A.R. would renew its contacts with other nations concerned with the Viet Nam war.

Execution Stay Granted Inmate

Six days before he was scheduled to die in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber, Ernest Leroy Jacobson, 30, received a stay of execution today pending an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Jacobson was convicted of the 1964 drowning in Los Angeles of the 2-year-old daughter of his common-law wife.

Suspect Enters More Pleas On Forgeries

Guilty pleas to two additional counts of forgery were entered in Marin Superior Court yesterday by James Albert Sprague, 21, of 110 Laurel Place San Rafael.

Sprague had pleaded guilty to two counts last Tuesday. The final three counts in the 7-count complaint have been dismissed. Sprague forged checks ranging from $9.50 to $45 in Marin County from Oct. 14 to Oct. 18.

Condition Critical

Sidney Braverman, owner of Braverman's Home Furnishers, San Anselmo, remained in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital where he was taken after apparently suffering a heart attack yesterday at the Bank of Marin in San Rafael.

Seven times as many frying chickens are commercially grown in the U.S. as were produced at the end of World War II.

Cong today shot down a mammoth U. S. Army "flying crane" helicopter while it was ferrying ammunition to the Vietnamese Central Highlands, killing the five Americans aboard. U. S. troops in the same area captured and burned a Communist base camp.

A U. S. spokesman said the $6.25 million twin turbine aircraft called a "skycrane" was burning before it crashed and that it apparently was the victim of Communist ground fire.

It was one of only six in existence. Ammunition aboard exploded for hours afterward, preventing any rescue efforts.

The "Flying crane" is used to pick up downed helicopters and can be used as a troop transport.

In the ground war a U. S. 1st Air Cavalry battalion of about 800 men swooped down on a Viet Cong base within a mile of the Cambodian border and burned the camp the Communists had obviously used as a rest area.

The battle area was about 35 miles west of Pleiku in the Central Highlands and about 240 miles north of Saigon in the Ia Drang valley section where U. S. troops fought their costliest battle of the war late in 1965.

The United States has asked the United Arab Republic to act as the power protecting American war prisoners in Viet Nam, reliable sources said today.

They said it was believed to have been prompted by recent executions of Americans by the Viet Cong and the fact that a growing number of U. S. prisoners have been taken.

STORM

Humboldt County fairgrounds here.

The heaviest hit section of Oregon was the Roseburg and Myrtle Creek area where an estimated 200 families were evacuated because of surface water and high water from the South Umpqua River.

Scattered evacuations were were reported along the Coquille and Winchuck River in Oregon and isolated sections of California.

The storm was indirectly blamed for two deaths. A coast guardsman drowned Tuesday while checking buoys in the Columbia River and a truck driver was killed Monday when high winds overturned his trailer truck near Pendleton, Ore.

At Dunsmuir, snow-burdened roofs of five buildings collapsed today at Dunsmuir where a wintry storm has left this northern California town and some nearby areas without electric power for more than 30 hours.

Heavy rain increased the weight of the snow, caving in roofs of the old Southern Pacific roundhouse, two commercial garages, the old Methodist Church and a 40-by-80 foot structure known as the Youth Building.

Pleads Guilty To Stealing

William Patrick Maloney, 24, of 182 Belvedere Street, San Rafael, will be sentenced in Marin Superior Court next Tuesday for possession of stolen goods. He pleaded guilty yesterday.

Four beer steins, sterling silver, and furniture, taken in a burglary last February of the residence of Kermit H. Fisher at 635 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, was found in Maloney's home.

Guarded for the Generations

A generous endowment fund assures the proper care and administration of Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in years ahead. Thus this historic site will remain typically Marin in its beauty. Should you wish to visit this beauty spot, we will be pleased to answer your questions and describe our facilities.

OBITUARIES

Marjorie O. Ross Dies At 56

Mrs. Marjorie Olivette Ross, 56, of 37 Rosebank Avenue, Kentfield, died unexpectedly of a heart attack at her home early today.

The wife of John E. Ross, a professor of statistics and economics at San Francisco City College, Mrs. Ross was an active member of the Ross Valley Players, appearing in many of their productions. She was a school teacher for nearly 30 years. She was a junior high school teacher in Daly City at the time of her death.

A native of California, she moved to Marin County 18 years ago. She was graduated from the University of Arizona and later took her master's degree at San Francisco State College. She was a member of the Delta Gamma Sorority.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a son, Robert, an associate professor at University of California at Berkeley; a daughter, Susan, a student at San Diego State College; a sister, Mrs. Cecilia Van Houten of Mexico; and a brother, Cecil Klee, superintendent of schools in Huntington Park, Los Angeles County.

There will be no funeral. Burial will be in a family plot in Hayward.

County Service Tax On Agenda

A tax covering municipal services in unincorporated areas will be discussed by the Marin Federation of Improvement Clubs Monday. The meeting will begin at 7:45 p.m. at the Civic Center.

Mill Valley Mayor Michael Wornum, a member of the county services committee, will speak on the proposed tax.

Wornum and Mayor Robert D. Carrow of Novato, another member of the committee, have proposed taxing agencies such as a county service area, which is administered by supervisors, as a means of wiping out the tax inequity between city property owners and those in unincorporated areas receiving equal services at lower tax.

Closed Session Results Not Told

The San Rafael Board of Education met in closed session for nearly two hours last night to discuss complaints against teachers, administrators and members of the board itself.

Schools Supt. Bert C. Corona said he "was happy" with what took place at the session, which had been requested by the California Teachers Assn., but said there was "really nothing" he could report publicly.

There was no formal action taken, he said.

MRS. ELSING

Private family funeral for Marion H. Elsing of San Rafael, who died Monday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness, will be held tomorrow at the Presbyterian Church in Exeter, Tulare County. She was 79 years old.

Mrs. Elsing was the widow of Rev. Warren Elsing, who was pastor of the church in Exeter when he died in 1930. A native of Neosho, Mo., she lived in California 60 years, the last 11 in Marin County with her sister, Miss Margaret Hamilton, at 509 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael.

She is survived by a daughter, Margaret Elsing of Palo Alto, and her sister, Miss Hamilton. She was a 50-year member of the Order of Eastern Star.

Burial will be in Exeter Cemetery. Local arrangements were handled by the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

R. G. QUINNELL

Funeral for Russell C. Quinnell, 75, retired plumber of 31 Latham Street, San Rafael, will be Friday at 1 p.m. at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

He was a retired member of Plumbers Union Local 38. He was born in North Dakota, but lived in St. Paul, Minn., for most of his life until coming to California—and San Rafael—in 1941. He had lived at the Latham Street address ever since moving here.

His wife, Hattie Quinnell, died in 1955.

Surviving are two daughters and a son, Mrs. Harold Wolhaupter of San Rafael, Mrs. Dean Holler of Dallas, Tex., and Russell G. Quinnell of Fairfield; six grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren, and several brothers and sisters.

Brochure To Explain Proposed Annexation

The North Marin Water District Board last night approved a brochure to be sent to all residents of the 45-square mile area of Northwest Marin proposed for annexation to the district.

The brochures prepared by the district staff, contains 18 questions and answers regarding the proposed annexation.

The water district board awarded Johns Manville Corp. of San Francisco a $93,550 contract for asbestos concrete pipe, and Specification Products of South San Francisco, a $20,497 contract for fire hydrants. In each case, the successful bidder was the lower of two

The board agreed to an increase from $10,000 to $18,000 in cost of a study of future water supplies being made by the Sonoma County Flood Control District. The North Marin and Marin Municipal Water districts will each pay a quarter of the cost, with the Sonoma district paying the remainder.

Heater Taken

Foreman Kenneth Johnson reported to police yesterday the theft of a space heater worth $150 from a construction site at 193 Lucas Park Drive, San Rafael.

Mayor Reviews Library Plans

San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini was brieted by the San Rafael Library Board last night on operation, financing and expected expansion of the city library.

Mrs. Vivian Smith, librarian, said Bettini attended the library board session to gain a better understanding of the library before the council reviews budget requests for fiscal 1967.

Board members told the mayor they hope soon to expand the children's library. They also discussed long-range plans such as setting up branches in other parts of the city.

The board will begin to think about its budget requests at the Feb. 7 meeting, Mrs. Smith predicted.

Sausalito Names Planners Again

The Sausalito City Council last night reappointed two planning commissioners and a member of the community appearances advisory board.

Alan D. Bonapart and John A. Sweeny were reappointed to the planning commission, each for a four-year term.

Theodore T. Bountmy was reappointed to the CAAB for a one-year term.

Blaze Kills Four Of Five Children

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Fire today destroyed a nearby Waterford Township house in which five children were sleeping.

Four of them were killed. The fifth was reported in fair condition.

Waterford Township police identified the victims as 8-year-old Donald Brown and his three sisters: Kathy 15; Nancy, 12; and Julia, 7. Their brother, Larry, 14, escaped the flames and was hospitalized.

Officers said their mother, Barbara, was at work at the time and the children were alone.

Fairfax Trustees Name It White Hill School

That new school in Fairfax School District will be called White Hill School.

Decision for the obvious—since the school will be on White's Hill—was reached by the district board last night after a four-month debate on what to name the school.

Mary Pincini, a sixth grader at Manor School, and Rob Roy of 46 Tamalpais Road, Fairfax, both suggested the winning name.

The Fairfax board received a recommendation from a committee screening candidates for district superintendent, recommending that seven candidates be interviewed, and set a meeting to discuss the recommendation for Saturday at 10 a.m. at Manor School. Supt. Homer Sisk will retire in June.

Meeting Postponed

A meeting of Glenwood Homeowners Assn., scheduled for last night, was postponed until 7:45 p.m. next Tuesday in the Church of the Redeemer, Glenwood.

Bachelor's Body Found In Clutter

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The body of a 28-year-old man was found Tuesday night lying on the floor of his cluttered, disordered apartment. Police said he apparently had been dead for some time.

Police said Daryll Dean France was found dead among overturned furniture and broken dishes. An aquarium was broken and a small live aligator was found in a closet, officers said.

Despite the disorder, the coroner's office reported, there were no marks of violence on France's body. An autopsy was scheduled to determine the cause of death.

Peter Lawford Marriage May End Next Month

Reports of an impending divorce multiplied yesterday when Mrs. Lawford and one of her children remained in Sun Valley, Ida., while the rest of the Kennedy family, including the late President's widow, Jackie, and her children, departed the ski resort.

"It's entirely possible that Pat will stay there for the six-week residence that will quality her for obtaining a divorce," said a source close to Lawford. "It certainly wouldn't come as a surprise."

The Lawfords were virtually separated more than a year ago when Pat moved out of the family home in Santa Monica to live in a newly purchased New York City apartment.

Mental Test Set In Coin Burglary

Robert Harold Wood, 29, who pleaded guilty Nov. 31 to burglary of H and J Coin Shop in San Anselmo, yesterday was ordered to California Medical Facility at Vacaville for a 90-day observation period.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court held up sentencing until after the observation at Vacaville. Wood, of 737 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, and his brother, Thomas Edward, 21, still a fugitive, were jointly charged with the Nov. 17 burglary.

San Anselmo police recovered the approximately $10,000 loot in rare coins.

Center To Be Closed

Sausalito Names A Head Librarian

Mrs. Audrey Kay Berteau was named today as head librarian of the Sausalito Public Library.

She has worked for five years at the Palo Alto Public Library, where she was responsible for reference services, readers assistance, circulation and public relations for the central library and its three branches.

Sausalito has been without a head librarian since resignation in July, 1964, of Mrs. Cynthia B. Willcox. Since that time, Mrs. Dolly Georgetti has been acting librarian.

Mrs. Berteau will receive $700 per month, a hike of $50 per month over her predecessor. The increased salary was approved last night by the Sausalito City Council.

A native of California, Mrs. Berteau worked in New York City for Time magazine and in Japan and Germany for the U.S. government. In Germany she was in charge of 16 American libraries, having her headquarters in Stuttgart. She did the same type of work in Japan.

The new librarian, who will start work Monday, was graduated from University of California at Los Angeles and obtained her library science degree from University of Southern California. She resides in Corte Madera.

The appointment was made by the library board and announced by its president, Mrs. James J. Carroll.

Meeting Postponed

The Marinwood Assn. will meet at 8 p.m. at the Marinwood Community Center next Tuesday, postponing the meeting from last night's regular date, President Lawson L. Wood announced today.

Marinwood Park Board's Gavel To Manuel Morris

Manuel Morris was named chairman of the Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission last night, replacing chairman prot em Walter Van Gelder.

Van Gelder, who has served since William T. Lane Jr. resigned from the commission two months ago, attended his last meeting last night. He did not wish reappointment to the commission and his term expired Dec. 31.

Commissioners learned that Lawrence Crawford's resignation as recreation director will take effect Saturday. He will become recreation supervisor in El Cerrito. The commission will interview candidates for the director post Jan. 15.

The commission also urged that anyone wishing to serve on the commission to fill Van Gelder's position call Mrs. Genevieve (Fred) Bolding, secretary of the Marinwood Community Services District.

Commissioners recommended that the community services district board increase the wages of Mrs. Jan Swanson, tiny tot program director from $3 to $3.50 an hour.

Drums Stolen

Drums and equipment valued at $200 were reported stolen from the music room of Terra Linda High School yesterday by Gordon Lowe, music teacher. He told San Rafael police thieves apparently entered the room through a rear door.

School Building Plans Readied

San Anselmo School District trustees last night spent most of their meeting listening to curriculum reports on speech therapy, French and instrumental music programs in the district, then made some final arrangements for construction of Red Hill School.

Trustees hired Gordon H. Howe of Santa Rosa at $500 a month as building inspector on the job. They agreed to hire Abbott A. Hanks Co. of San Rafael to run laboratory tests on concrete used on the job.

The trustees agreed to inform county officials of a surveyor's report which shows as much as 10 feet of Fawn Drive encroaching on Hidden Valley School property in Sleepy Hollow.

Russia and Turkey are the only two countries having territory in both Asia and Europe.

Jail Cell Vigilantes Beat Sex Suspects

James John McElhinney, 43, was severely beaten about the face yesterday afternoon by a "committee" of other Marin County Jail inmates.

He was the second man charged with sexual misbehavior with children to be injured in the jail within a week.

Sheriff's officers said identity of the assailants had not been determined today. According to deputies, McElhinney, who shortly before noon had been ordered in Marin Superior Court to 90 days observation at Atascadero State Hospital, was beaten in the jail day room about 1:15 p.m.

He was taken to San Rafael General Hospital, where several stitches were taken in his lip and left eyebrow, then returned to jail. He was taken to Atascadero last night.

McElhinney, of 108 Eldridge Avenue, Mill Valley, pleaded guilty Nov. 18 to having carnal relations with a 14-year-old girl.

In a similar beating following his arrest last Wednesday, Robert Jack Berg, 39, of San Francisco, suffered a rib fracture. He did not, however, require hospitalization.

Berg, charged with lewd and lascivious behavior with a 9-year-old Tiburon girl, is free on $2,750 bail.

"Milk is the children's wine and wine is the old man's milk," said Sir William Osler, 19th century physician.

Committee Set To Fight School Plan

A newly formed San Geronimo Valley group, the Committee for Sensible School Sites, will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pederson, Oak Grove and Garden Way, Woodacre.

The group, which has been formed to oppose passage of a $200,000 bond issue and $400,000 state loan request in the Lagunitas School District Feb. 15, first met last week to draft the formal argument against the measures which will accompany sample ballots.

Members are opposed to use of the money to build a new elementary school on property where eight homes, including the Pederson residence, now are located.

Teen-Age Pair Appear On Narcotics Charge

Marc Torvend Ford, 18, of Sausalito, and a girl companion, Karen Lee Ames, 19, of Tiburon, were arraigned charging felony counts of possession of narcotics and possession of marijuana.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas then continued both cases until this afternoon for counsel and plea entry.

In addition, Ford is charged on the joint complaint with concealing stolen credit cards. He also faces two earlier felony counts of using stolen credit cards.

The pair was arrested after sheriff's officers and San Rafael and Sausalito police allegedly found marijuana and traces of methadone hydrochloride, morphine and atrophine in a saddle bag of Ford's at the Hilarita Housing apartment of Miss Ames last Wednesday.

Both suspects remained in county jail today in lieu of $5,500 bail each on the charges.

San Diego Adopts Flood Control Plan

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego County Board of Supervisors has approved inclusion of funds in the county budget for plans to build a long-delayed county-wide flood control system.

Warren Barney, director of special district services, said the plan will require 18 months to complete, but could become the basis for formation of a flood control district.

Clues Found To General's Crash

SEATTLE (AP) — An Air Force general bringing a jet plane in for an instrument landing in dark, rainy weather apparently plowed through half a mile of treetops northwest of Seattle before plunging to his death in Puget Sound.

Maj. Gen. I. L. Branch, 53, commander of the Edwards Air Force Base flight test center in California, vanished from radarscopes only a few miles from his destination Sunday. He was flying to Seattle on Air Force business.

Wreckage of the general's plane, his Air Force blue tunic with his name inside and some aeronautical charts were found yesterday. Wreckage was scattered along a half-mile swath leading from a timbered ridge to the beach at Point Jefferson.

San Anselmo Library Vote Bared: To Join County Plan

The San Anselmo library board will recommend to the city council that San Anselmo join the county library cooperative system, City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt said yesterday afternoon.

Louis Yates, a board spokesman, refused yesterday morning to disclose whether the board decided for or against the county system at its public meeting Monday night.

Flautt said board chairman Valerie M. Ansel told him the board wanted to report its decision to him before disclosing it to the public. (The library board's meetings are public but rarely draws an audience.)

The board will make its recommendation to the council at its meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in City Hall, Flautt said.

City membership in the county system would allow residents to withdraw books from the county library at no cost. San Anselmo is the only city in the county which does not have such an arrangement.

Strep Cases Down As Year Runs Out

Streptococcus infections, as usual, led the list of communicable diseases reported in Marin County during the final week of 1965, but the number, 22, was far below previous weeks.

The county health department also reported 13 cases of gonorrhea, two of infectious hepatitis, two of syphilis and one of mumps.

The San Anselmo library board will recommend to the city council that San Anselmo join the county library cooperative system, City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt said yesterday afternoon.

Louis Yates, a board spokesman, refused yesterday morning to disclose whether the board decided for or against the county system at its public meeting Monday night.

Flautt said board chairman Valerie M. Ansel told him the board wanted to report its decision to him before disclosing it to the public. (The library board's meetings are public but rarely draws an audience.)

The board will make its recommendation to the council at its meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in City Hall, Flautt said.

City membership in the county system would allow residents to withdraw books from the county library at no cost. San Anselmo is the only city in the county which does not have such an arrangement.

Strep Cases Down As Year Runs Out

Streptococcus infections, as usual, led the list of communicable diseases reported in Marin County during the final week of 1965, but the number, 22, was far below previous weeks.

The county health department also reported 13 cases of gonorrhea, two of infectious hepatitis, two of syphilis and one of mumps.

For the first time in the history of Northern California a Billion-Dollar Savings Institution now pays you

DAILY INTEREST, COMPOUNDED DAILY!

Of the six giant billion-dollar savings institutions in Northern California, only American Savings has offered 21%-more interest.* ☆ Now, American Savings again leads the way... as the only billion-dollar financial institution in Northern California paying Daily Interest, Compounded Daily. Think what this means to your peace of mind and your pocketbook: ☆ A mighty billion dollars in strength behind your savings passbook; 21%-more interest; you earn interest on interest every day; you earn interest the moment you put your money in... right up to the moment you take it out, regardless of the day of the month or the month of the year. ☆ If your savings are earning less than our 21%-more, you're losing money every day; If you aren't getting Daily-Daily Interest, you're losing money every day.

Do something about it... now! Move your savings to Northern California's largest... today! There will never be a better time!

American Savings pays interest from date received on funds held to quarter's end; interest earned to day of withdrawal on funds held six months or longer (a State law) if a $5 balance remains to quarter's end.

Teen-Agers Face Marijuana Charge

Corte Madera police arrested four 18-year-old youths on charges of possession of marijuana and conspiracy after their speeding car raced by an officer checking a minor traffic accident at 4:15 a.m. today.

Patrolman Charles S. Brobeck said he gave chase after the auto sped by him at Tamalpais Drive and Willow Avenue, heading west.

As the car turned off Tamalpais onto Redwood Avenue, Brobeck saw someone throw a white cellophane bag from the car. He continued in pursuit and radioed a nearby Larkspur police car to pick up the bag.

Brobeck said the substance in the bag, not yet analyzed by a laboratory, appeared to be a fine grain marijuana mixed with an unknown substance.

Brobeck stopped the car at Bayview and Pepper avenues in Larkspur and, with the aid of Larkspur officers Scott Waterman and Alasdair MacDonald, arrested the youths. They are:

Steven Ferdinando Marshall, unemployed, of 28 Diana Lane, Larkspur; Robert Menchen, a draftsman from North Hollywood; Stephen Willard Cox, unemployed from North Hollywood, and driver Michael Clinton Gruener, unemployed from Hollywood.

Brobeck said one of the youths admitted throwing the bag from the car, and that it contained marijuana.

Brobeck said Marshall told him he met the other three youths in Sausalito last night. They went to San Francisco and were on their way to Marshall's home when caught, Brobeck said.

All four were in county jail today with bail set at $3,300 each.

Radio Station Owner Tells Of Klan Terror

WASHINGTON (AP) — The owner of a Bogalusa, La., radio station said today Ku Klux Klan members threatened violence and death after he and a group of others invited former Rep. Brooks Hays of Arkansas to speak there.

"It had nothing to do with integration," Ralph Blumberg told the House Committee on un-American Activities. He said Hays, a former presidential assistant, had been invited to speak on "better community relations," said "this was a matter of freedom of speech."

He said to his surprise the mayor of Bogalusa and its city attorney opposed the meeting on the ground that its timing was bad and the Klan would oppose it violently. The meeting had to be canceled for lack of a place to hold it, he said.

Blumberg, who bought station WBOX in Bogalusa in 1961, said the Klan organized a boycott of the station and threatened advertisers to make them stop using the station. He said he lost almost all of his sponsors.

Blumberg said anonymous telephone callers rang his phone every two hours day and night for weeks, and threatened his life and those of his wife and children.

His car windows were smashed, he said, tacks were strewn in his driveway to ruin his tires, and high-powered rifle bullets were fired at his transmitter installation.

San Quentin Stabbing Trial Thrown Out: Dorado Case

A 1963 Marin Superior Court jury conviction of Robert Gene Glover, 33, for assault on a San Quentin Prison inmate has been reversed by the First District Court of Appeals, San Francisco.

Setting of a new trial date was scheduled for noon today by Judge Thomas F. Keating, Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said the appeal ruling was based on the so-called Dorado decision, which holds that a suspect is entitled to counsel before questioning by police and that confessions obtained without the suspect's consent may not be used against him in trial.

Glover, convicted Sept. 18, 1963, for the stabbing of Henry L. Wolfenden, 28, with a sharp brass rod on Feb. 5 of that year, has been returned to San Quentin from Folsom Prison.

Glover was already serving a life term for robbery and escape in Kern County and sex perversion in Solano County when charged with the Wolfenden assault. He was given another life sentence for the crime, assault by a lifer, with no possibility for parole within nine years.

Terra Linda Fire Ratings Improve

Fire insurance rates in the Terra Linda Community Services District will come down, Terra Linda Fire Chief George Walser announced today.

The chief received confirmation of the new ratings from the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau. The new ratings were established Oct. 15, but the information was delayed in getting to him, Walser said.

The community rating will go from a six to five and the commercial area will go to a "low six" to a "high five," the chief said. He could not say what effect this would have on the premiums. "That's up to the insurance companies," he said.

The improved ratings are based on improved fire protection service and inspections.

Santa Rosa Woman Hurt In Collision

Corrine K. DuBato, 46, of Santa Rosa suffered cuts and bruises when her southbound car was struck from the rear on Highway 101 near Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, at 7:50 a.m. Monday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Miss DuBato's car was hit by a car driven by Clarence R. Uthe Jr., 33, of Petaluma. Miss DuBato was treated at Marin General Hospital.

San Anselmo Injured In Rear-End Smashup

Sidney Taylor, 42, of 101 Broadmoor Avenue, San Anselmo, was treated for a mild concussion at Marin General Hospital at 6 p.m. yesterday, following a chain reaction rear-end auto collision in the westbound lanes of San Francis Drake Boulevard at Sais Avenue, San Anselmo.

Taylor's auto was struck from the rear by one driven by Eugene R. Waugh, 19, of 79 Ridge Road, San Anselmo, police said. Two other drivers involved in the accident were Gareth E. Hughes, 24, of 16 Frustuck Avenue, Fairfax, and Donald L. Schomaker of 38 Ridge Road, San Anselmo.

Supervisors Reject Zone Change In Black Point

Marin County supervisors yesterday discussed a proposed zone change for 13 acres at Black Point for nearly an hour before voting 4-1, with Supervisor William A. Gnoss dissenting, to leave it alone.

A change to planned residential zoning with apartment houses or clustering permitted was asked by owner Philip Rosenberg. The planning commission, however, recommended restriction to single-family residences only. Under the commission's recommendation, about 25 homes could be placed on the property, on the southeast side of Highway 37 at the end of Manzanita Drive.

Attorney Leland H. Jordan, representing Rosenberg, said the property would not be developed until a large holding on the south, covered by the Black Point Master Plan, is built up.

The Black Point Improvement Club and several property owners nearby protested apartments. Gnoss thought it would be best to approve the planning commission recommendation to assure protestors that there would be no apartments. But the four other supervisors thought any change would be premature in light of the dependency on the master plan development.

Supervisors also struggled at length with planned residential zoning asked by H. A. B. Sneve on 3.5 acres between Sacramento Avenue, Butte Street and Highway 101 near Sausalito.

The developer wanted to put about 100 units on the property but the planning commission said there should be no more than one unit for every 2,500 square feet of land. This would produce about 60 units.

Supervisors said up to 2,000 density might be allowed if the developer produces a plan for apartments of no more than two bedrooms, with parking under the buildings.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

1. Granted $6,000 to support the Marin Institute on Alcoholism for the balance of the fiscal year.

2. Approved final map of the Seascape Subdivision at Muir Beach.

3. Abandoned a wedge-shaped easement between Green Valley Court and Hidden Valley Lane in Sleepy Hollow.

4. Approved Rex Williams' application for division of his Muir Beach property into a 10,000 square foot lot and one of 12,000 square feet. This was over the protests of neighbors.

5. Approved use permits for a shopping center and gasoline service station on Donahue Street opposite Drake Avenue in Marin City.

6. Appointed David Van Pelt acting planning director until the arrival of Al Zucker on Jan. 24.

7. Authorized payment of $14,314.86 from the county road fund to cover slide control work done on Red Hill in Tiburon last year by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

8. Authorized $62 for agricultural commissioner Richard T. Straw to attend the commission's winter meeting in Sacramento; $221 for County Clerk George H. Choate and his assistant Agnes Nathanson, to attend the clerks' association annual meeting in Anaheim; $36 for traffic engineer James Roberts to attend a two-day workshop session at Berkeley; $26 for Assessor Bert W. Broemmel to attend an assessors' association two-day conference in Sacramento, and $56 for director of economic development John Martin Douglas, to attend a three-day course on airport economics at Berkeley.

9. Rejected all four bids on an addition to the county corporation yard at Nicasio. The lowest bid, of Joseph E. Redmond of San Rafael, was more than twice the estimate.

10. Awarded contract to Joseph E. Redmond of San Rafael for construction of a court room at Juvenile Hall at $6,766. Redmond was the lowest of four bidders.

11. Set hearing for 1:30 p.m., Jan. 18 on widening of Bir Francis Drake Boulevard between the Ross line and Laurel Grove Avenue in Kentfield.

12. Approved upgrading for the Sausalito School District's pre-school program, financed mainly through the federal war on poverty. Improvements will add $3,966 in new equipment and add $3,904 to the budget expenditure.

13. Set for next Tuesday at 4 p.m. a joint hearing with the parks and recreation commission on the county property projects, the financing summary and a county-wide bond issue.

14. Endorsed in principle Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce's recommended guidelines for County Chamber of Commerce.

15. Approved a planning commission report on exceptions to the subdivision ordinance on the tentative map for Los Caballos Estates in Marinwood.

16. Set for Jan. 25 at 1:30 p.m. hearings on rezoning at Oak Manor and zoning amendments concerning nonconforming uses, classifying interim areas and architectural sections.

17. Were told by County Administrator Alan Bruce that the January starting date for the neighborhood youth corps at the Employment Development Department's winter meeting in Sacramento for County Clerk George H. Choate and his assistant Agnes Nathanson, to attend the clerks' association annual meeting in Anaheim; $36 for traffic engineer James Roberts to attend a two-day workshop session at Berkeley; $26 for Assessor Bert W. Broemmel to attend an assessors' association two-day conference in Sacramento, and $56 for director of economic development John Martin Douglas, to attend a three-day course on airport economics at Berkeley.

18. Learned that an application for federal funds will soon be before them for approval for traffic improvements and additions to the Marin City Community Center.

19. Put off consideration of appointments to the airport commission until next week.

20. Again continued consideration on the assessment protest of Saza Hiarlis and Bessie Berberis, Carmelita Boyle Silberberg and Ida Boyle Grimes on a piece next to the Mill Valley Golf Course.

21. Agreed to ask the division of highways for more state money to complete the barrier project on Waldo Grade.

22. Awarded contract to E. A. Forde Co. of San Anselmo for a drainage structure between Pine and Main streets in Tamalpais Valley at $7,622.

23. Named Marjorie Ward, employment counselor to the welfare services department, to administer the county employment clause in the bail of justice contract. The Sausalito School District's pre-school program financed $562 to $650 a month.

Rains Cause River Floods; Snow Drifts Isolate Town

EVACUATED — Residents of Starvation Flat, Humboldt County, rest in the nearby Hydesville Hall yesterday following their evacuation from flooded farm lands. Eight families had escaped from waters of the fast rising Van Duzen River by yesterday, but four other families refused to leave their homes. The flooded area is 25 miles south of Eureka.

OUT OF BANKS—Waters of the Van Duzen River roar out of their banks to flood the community of Starvation Flat. Some families remained as rain continued to swell the river and cover farm land. Rains are expected to continue through the weekend.

SAFETY — Youngsters evacuated from their homes in Starvation Flat play in nearby Hydesville. The Eel River (right) slices through a road near Ferndale, 17 miles south of Eureka.

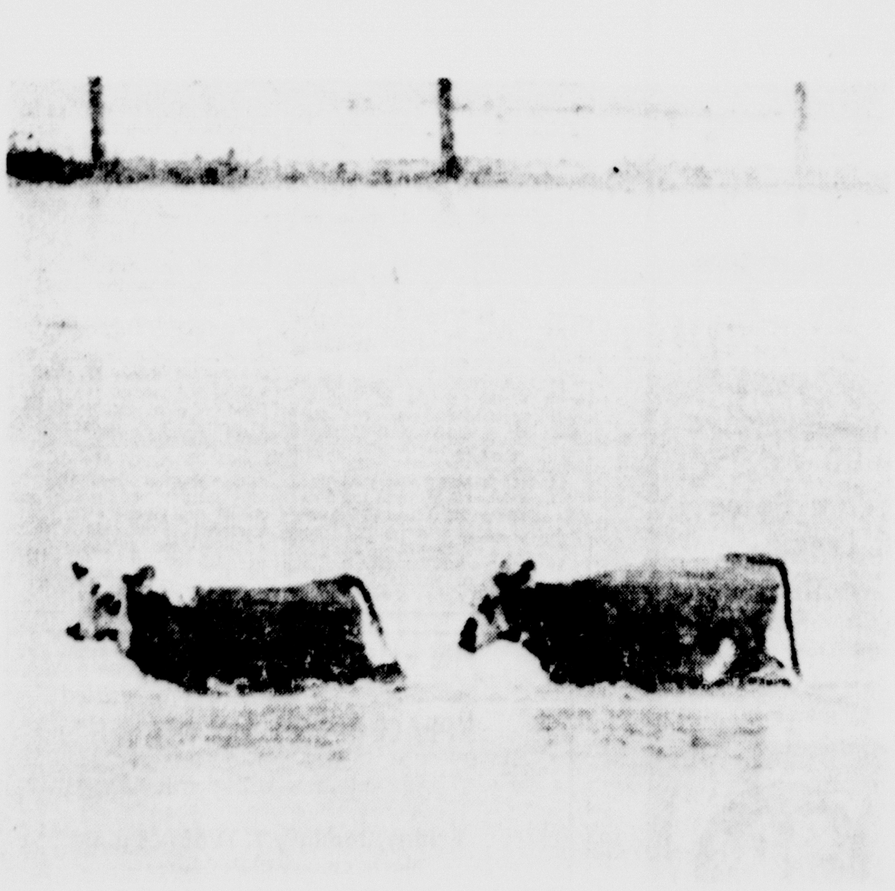
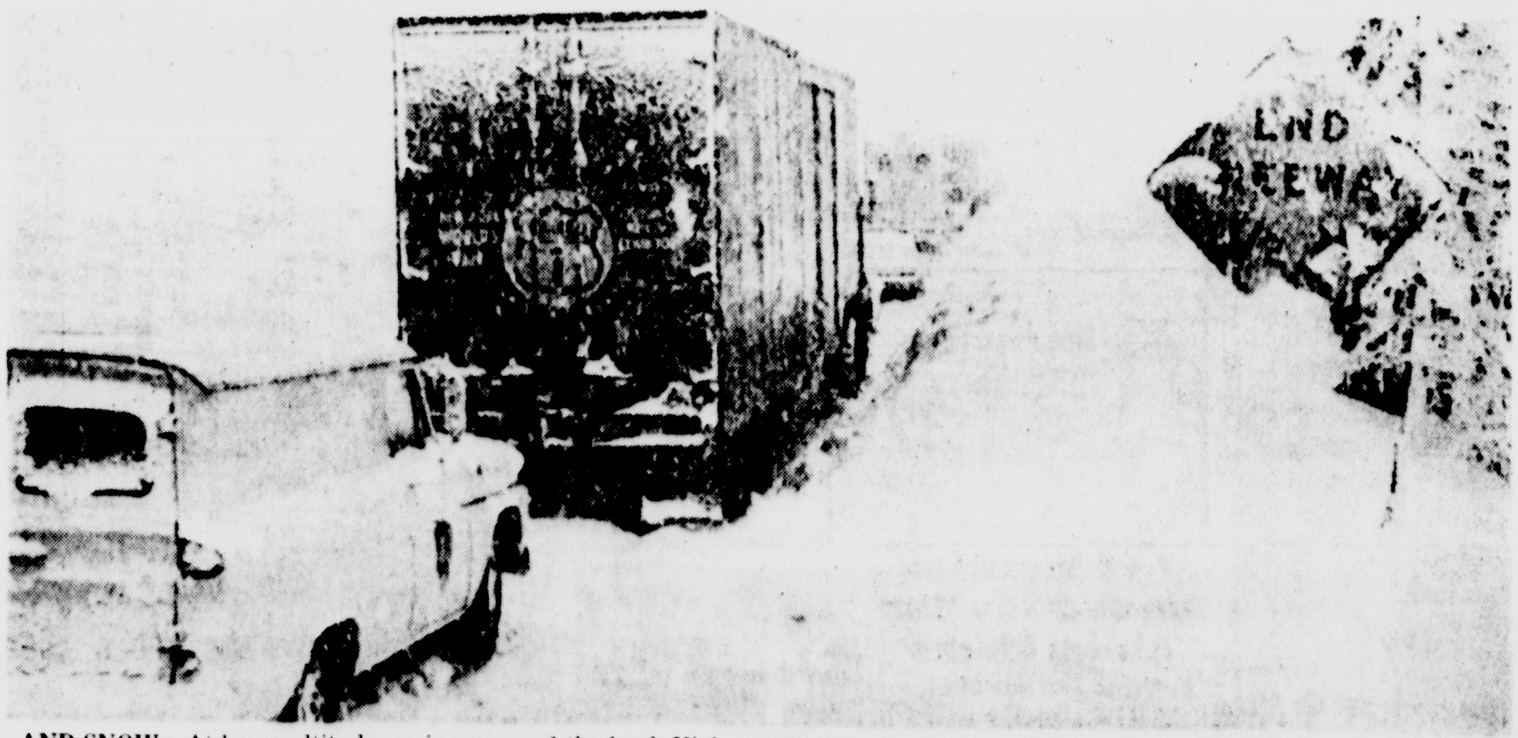
STARVATION FLAT—Another view of the community which was inundated by flood waters of the Van Duzen River. The rains came from a widepread storm off the northerrn Pacific Coast which sent rain and snow from California to Washington.



DEEP PASTURE—Calves on a livestock ranch at Salmon Creek, 10 miles south of Eureka, moved toward higher ground yesterday. Northern California rivers were rising as the rain continued.



AND SNOW—At lower altitudes, rain swamped the land. Higher up, near Dunsmuir, Siskiyou County, the freeway ended for these vehicles which were stopped by soggy snow on interstate highway 5. Traffic in Dunsmuir was halted by snow, except on the main street. Residents stocked up on food as drifts piled five feet high.

CAPITAL TRIP IS APPROVED

Storer To Go For Meeting, Reception

Marin County Supervisors voted 4-0 late yesterday to send Supervisor Thomas T. Storer to Washington, D.C., for a three-hour conference and reception.

Storer abstained in the vote, but let it be known that he was eager to go to the Jan. 19 conference, called by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Other supervisors were a little skeptical, but voted for the expense of the trip.

COUNTY POLICY

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said the county had a policy setting a $150 limit for trips of board members out of the state. County Administrator Alan Bruce said the Washington trip would probably cost about $300.

The vice president has invited representatives from all counties of more than 100,000 population to a conference on implementation of federal assistance programs. The conference will be from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., then Humphrey and his wife will give a reception for the officials.

ALSO INVITED

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker, chairman of the board, received the invitation but said he could not go.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen noted that the vice president sent no agenda for the conference and wondered about its value.

"They're just going to put everyone in an amphitheater and fill them with a bunch of platitudes," Kettenhofen said.

Behr repeated that it was against county policy.

"You've already said that three times," Storer said.

The board then voted to approve the expense.

Novato Lights Fight Ends In Split Vote

Marin County supervisors yesterday got into a good deal of philosophy and a split vote over annexation of the 53-lot Castelwood subdivision to the Novato County Lighting District.

Although the tract, on the west side of Eucalyptus Avenue, will soon be adjacent to the city of Novato and could be annexed to it, developer Harold Frazier had promised home buyers that he would not seek annexation to the city.

Robert Lagle, Novato planning director, requested that the tract be annexed to the city, saying this would be in line with orderly development.

Supervisors William A. Gnoss and Byron W. Leydecker voted for annexation to the Novato city lighting district, but they were voted down by the other board members, who argued that they did not like forcing owners to take such a step against their will.

"You don't call it force," Leydecker said, "you call it leadership. We have got to provide this leadership."

The board then voted unanimously to annex the tract to the county lighting district.

Sausalito Police Due New Headquarters

Sausalito City Mgr. Charles E. Brown reported last night that the new police headquarters at 29 Caledonia Street, "will be ready in two or three weeks," and apparently it won't be a moment too soon.

While Brown was talking, the roof was leaking at the police station at the rear of the council chamber.

AIRPORT PLAN HAS A HAPPY LANDING

By RICHARD LYTTLE

After a turbulent flight of tempers, the Marin County Board of Supervisors achieved a happy landing and a unanimous vote on the county airport at Novato late yesterday.

It was accomplished through further explanation.

Some supervisors evidently thought at the start of the session that a vote to cancel the exclusive clause in the airport lease to Harry O. Tollefson would commit the county to a $500,000 to $600,000 development program there.

It will cost $17,500 to cancel the lease. At the start of the discussion, Board Chairman Byron W. Leydecker suggested the issue be turned over to the county airport commission, now being formed.

Leydecker particularly wanted the commission's recommendation on the suggestion of County Administrator Alan Bruce that the county adopt a limited development policy, keeping the present runway alignment and spending only $85,000. Included in his plan would be purchase of 11 additional acres for parking and plane tie-down.

The $500,000 to $600,000 project would include federal assistance, mean the realignment of the runway from an east-west to a north-south direction and purchase of 60 acres. The federal aviation authority would pay more than half the total cost. The county share would thus be around $250,000.

Only four members of the airport commission have been appointed so far, and some Novato Airport boosters, including Mayor Robert D. Carrow, looked upon Leydecker's suggestion as a move to delay decision.

Richard Nave of Novato, recently appointed to the commission, said at one point that the decision could be delayed considerably if some members of the board succeed in appointing opponents to the Novato project to the commission.

Leydecker brought his gavel down with a crash.

"I will not have you questioning motives!" he said. "I think you are out of order."

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney eventually explained that the agreement he had drawn up would not commit the county to closing out the exclusive contract or paying Tollefson until application was made for federal funds.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss of Novato, who repeatedly urged action, moved to approve agreement in principle. This passed unanimously. Tollefson has not yet signed, Maloney said.

By extracting the exclusive clause in the agreement, the county can qualify for federal funds and receive $2,500 a year in state aid. The lease runs until 1972.

Douglas Keeps Job By A Vote Of 4-1

With a 4-1 vote taken in closed session last night, Marin County Board of Supervisors confirmed its earlier decision to appoint John Martin Douglas of San Rafael as county director of promotion and development at $15,600 a year.

Doubt about the appointment had been voiced Dec. 24 by Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, who said that when he voted for Douglas he was unaware the new director, who began work Monday, was a neighbor of Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker.

Last night, Storer moved for abolition of the department until the Marin County Chamber of Commerce had time to put forward recommendations.

"I should like to see the Chamber of Commerce be given a chance to see what they can do," said Storer. However, he agreed to withdraw the motion if given answers to "some questions I have" in a closed session.

When the question of Douglas's suitability was raised by Supervisor William A. Gnoss, Leydecker declared:

"Douglas doesn't happen to be a close friend of mine. . . . He just happens to be a neighbor.

"I debated with myself for a long time whether to say outright that he was a neighbor and I came to the decision, rightly or wrongly, that it was immaterial and irrevelant to the issue. I didn't care to prejudice the matter one way or the other.

"If I wanted to put people who are friends of mine into county government, I wouldn't do it in this crude fashion."

Leydecker lives at 12 Oakmont Court, San Rafael. Douglas lives around the corner at 80 Oakmont Avenue. Their houses back up to each other.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said he had "lost a lot of sleep" since this matter came up.

"I have been very emotionally concerned," said Kettenhofen. "I am convinced we should continue with this department. We are going to disintegrate morale in the Civic Center if we go back on this—even if we have made a wrong decision, and I don't believe we have."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said he voted for Douglas Dec. 22 because he believed he was the best man for the job and was supported in the selection by County Administrator Alan Bruce.

"Frankly," said Behr, "this is the sort of guerrilla warfare which I am accustomed to, but not out of uniform."

Behr reluctantly agreed to Storer's motion for a closed session, but declared, "My judgment is not going to be disturbed. If we go into executive session, we are going to pull the scab off an old wound."

Senior Citizens To See Winery

A luncheon and a visit to a winery are two of this month's events planned by the San Rafael Community Recreation Center's Advisory Board of Senior Citizens.

On Jan. 20, the luncheon will be held in the center at Second and Brooks streets at noon. On Jan. 25, members will leave San Rafael at 9:30 a.m. by bus for lunch with Redwood City Senior Citizens, followed by a visit to Paul Masson Winery, Saratoga.

Parallel Parking Due In 45 Days

Conversion of parking from diagonal to parallel along San Rafael's Fourth Street should take about 45 days, weather permitting, according to Public Works Director Norris W. Rawles.

The San Rafael City Council voted Monday night to install parallel parking on Fourth Street from Lincoln Avenue to E Street.

During the discussion it was estimated that the changeover would result in loss of 139 parking spaces and accompanying revenue.

Rawles said yesterday he believes fewer spaces will be lost. He said he wants to study the area carefully so that as few spaces as possible are lost.

Rawles said he will recommend that parking spaces be doubled up, with double-headed meters on a single pole, and four-foot red zones after each two parking spaces.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. said that although there will be a loss of revenue, the conversion will be legal because the revenue bond requirements of the downtown parking district will be met.

Eugene K. Sturgis, attorney for the parking district, said "My recollection is that they (the city) can do this as long as they maintain sufficient revenue in the district to meet the bond requirements."

Sturgis said there must be sufficient revenue from parking meters in the district to meet the bond payments, interest and sinking fund requirements.

"My recollection is that revenues have been 'way over and there is a surplus," Sturgis said.

Car Knocks Patrolman 100 Feet

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A California Highway Patrol officer, who stopped to give a San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge driver a ticket, was struck and knocked 100 feet by another car, officers reported.

The highway patrol said officer Bob Martin, 26, on the force less than one year, suffered a broken pelvis and internal injuries.

Officers said Martin had stopped Gerald Greenwade of Stockton to give him a speeding ticket near the bridge's Fifth Street off-ramp in San Francisco.

A car driven by Richard G. Klehm, 34, of Berkeley, sideswiped Greenwade's car, hitting Martin and throwing him across the rain-slick pavement, officers said.

Klehm was charged with felony drunk driving and was taken to San Francisco City Jail.

Martin was taken to Mission Emergency Hospital, then transferred to Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame for treatment by his own doctor. Martin is married and has two children.

Teacher's Strike Continues At Catholic School

NEW YORK (UPI) — A teachers' strike at St. John's University, largest Roman Catholic university in the nation, went into its second day today.

University officials said yesterday the strike by members of the AFL-CIO United Federation of College Teachers failed to disrupt classes. A St. John's spokesman said all but 44 of 651 faculty members were working.

A union spokesman, however, said some 200 instructors were absent from the two campuses in Jamaica, Queens, and Brooklyn.

The strike was called to protest the dismissal of 31 teachers, many of whom were active in union affairs and protests over academic freedom.

Analy Reunion Set

The classes of 1933 and 1934 of Analy High School, Sebastopol, have scheduled a dinner reunion at the Cafe El Portal, San Francisco, Jan. 15 at 8 p.m. Reservations can be made with Mrs. Arthur B. Sexton, 940 Vernal Avenue, Mill Valley.

HIM ALMOST HAS A HAREM

President Lyndon B. Johnson's beagle, Him, poses on the White House lawn yesterday with five female puppies he fathered. The mother is Brigette, owned by Austin, Tex., veterinarian R. Benton Smith. Dr. Smith kept the sixth puppy in the litter, a male; President Johnson brought the five females to Washington on his way back from his holidays at the LBJ Ranch. He plans to keep only one of them. Sausalito Delays Vote On TV Cable Rules

Sausalito city councilmen waded through the fourth draft of a proposed community antenna television ordinance last night and then continued the discussion until next Tuesday.

Attorney A. Leonard Bjorklund Jr., representing Martin's Community Antenna System, which is now operating in the city, suggested a stronger section requiring underground cable installation.

Under the proposed ordinance, underground cable is required unless the council grant permission for overhead cable.

Mayor Jan Paul Dyk said overhead cables would be permitted only in cases of hardship or where circumstances prevent underground installation.

Peter F. Sloss, a director of Sausalito Communications Service, a proposed non-profit television antenna cable company, questioned the requirement that engineering plans be supplied when a company applies for a franchise. Sausalito Communications Service applied for a franchise last month to construct a community antenna television system.

The directors propose to have subscribers as voting members of the corporation and to turn over any surplus income to the Sausalito Foundation for Community Betterment. Sloss said the engineering plans required "would cost several thousands," and the firm "hoped to do that after the first stage of application."

Councilmen wanted clarification on the section dealing with liability insurance requirements, and asked City Mgr. Charles A. Brown to confer with the city's insurance adviser.

After a public hearing at which there was no protest, the council granted Malcolm Dewees a use permit for a planned unit development at 319 Sausalito Boulevard. Dewees plans to construct four duplexes and a single-family home. The permit included requirement of a 32-foot height limit.

The Sausalito City Council also:

1. Introduced an ordinance establishing a police vehicle parking zone and no-parking zones on Filbert Avenue, Glen Drive, Crescent Avenue and Cloud View Road.

2. Received a report from Brown that the city will receive its full allocation, about $70,000, from the county toward widening of Bridgeway.

3. Received thanks from Gene Poole of the Sausalito Firemen's Assn. for the disability insurance coverage provided firemen by the city. Poole also noted that the firemen "would appreciate anything that could be added" in the way of disability payments.

4. Received notice that Robert Kirchmann of San Rafael has been granted a conditional license from the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board to serve liquor aboard his charter fishing boat Viajero, which operates out of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor. The permit allows the serving of liquor while the boat is under way, but not while it is berthed.

5. Received a letter from Mrs. Stanley Cowen, 2 Toyon Lane, commending police and fire personnel for their "prompt, courteous and efficient" action when her husband collapsed and died at his home Dec. 21.

6. Adjourned until 8 p.m. Tuesday in memory of Stanley Cowen, a former director of the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District and a past president of the Sausalito Rotary Club.

Councilman Eleanor O'Hara Chapin was absent.

Petaluma Man Pleads Guilty To Burglary

Judgment is Jan. 25. A second defendant, Gerald Dalton Rich, 23, was sentenced on Dec. 7 to nine months in Marin County Jail. A third, Harold Bradley Sheffield, 20, still faces trial in the burglary.

All are from Petaluma.

Private Hospital Asks Reopening Of County Bids

Terra Linda Valley Hospital, long dissatisfied over loss of county patients, has formally protested to Marin County supervisors, requesting that bidding on patient care be reopened.

In a letter sent to supervisors yesterday, Bruce R. Morgan, attorney for the hospital, claims Terra Linda Valley Hospital was excluded from bidding last November on the grounds that only non-profit hospitals were eligible.

On Dec. 20, Deputy County Counsel Thomas G. Hendricks gave the opinion that both profit and non-profit hospitals could bid. Terra Linda Valley Hospital claims it can provide acute patient care at $35 a day. San Rafael General Hospital, which has the county contract, charges $48 and will soon charge $53 a day.

Oil companies began issuing the first road maps in 1914.

Hollis Wins Supervisors' Split Approval Of New Aide

Marin County supervisors yesterday voted 4-1, with Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen dissenting, to allocate $2,277 to the county schools office toward hiring a coordinator for vocational education.

Kettenhofen charged the move would "slow down rather than upgrade" county high schools.

Board Chairman Byron W. Leydecker, who opposed the suggestion vigorously when it was first proposed Dec. 14, voted for the transfer yesterday, saying he was "pragmatic enough" to know this was the only way to get anything accomplished. Leydecker said he would stick by his earlier appraisal that the county schools office "was down the drain" because of unifications that must come to pass.

The board's action was contrary to the recommendation of County Administrator Alan Bruce, who challenged the entire scheme, saying the board would commit itself to more financial aid than appeared on the surface and the need for a vocational education coordinator was doubtful.

Supervisors three weeks ago asked Supt. of County Schools Virgil S. Hollis to look into the suggestion. But Hollis only reiterated the earlier request.

The coordinator will receive $13,750 a year. Bruce declared the county will be paying half this cost next fiscal year.

Auto Is Stolen

Dave M. Bartholow, of 10 Oakhill Drive, San Anselmo, Monday told police his car, left parked with the keys in the ignition, had been stolen about 5:15 p.m. from in front of his office at 63 Jordan Street, San Rafael.

Aliens Reminded: Time To Register

Federal law requires that all aliens in the United States register with the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service each January. Registration forms are available at all post offices.

The only non-citizens excluded from the requirement, according to District Director C. W. Fullilove, are persons in the diplomatic service, foreign representatives of certain international organizations and persons admitted temporarily as agricultural workers.

Parents or guardians must file for alien children under 14 years old.

Enjoy Sweet Spanish Onions

A WHOLE MEAL sandwich, self-pickling onion rings, and pork chops with sage onions are only three of the many ways to enjoy the delicate-flavored Sweet Spanish Onions. Equally good raw or cooked, versatile onions add a new enjoyment to the day's good eating.

Looking for something different? Sweet Spanish Onions are here in our markets. No ordinary onions these! In looks, they are distinctive with their crisp bronze or creamy-white skins which crackle at a touch. These paper-like coverings are delicate, so handle with care.

In size, they are large enough to stuff with a savoury filling for a whole meal dish. By nature, when sliced the cuts may be separated into rings so perfect for garnishes, pickling, and French Fried Onion Rings.

BY WAY of flavor, they live up to their name, being so mild-mannered that their crisp goodness adds much to sandwiches, salads, and uncooked relishes. To prepare them for slices and rings, cut off the root end. Do not remove skins. Using the stem end as a handle, cut in slices of desired width, then remove skins. We like to keep one of these onions in a plastic bag in the refrigerator so that sandwich makers can have a chilled onion slice for the concoction. P.S. Do not store any quantity of onions in the refrigerator. They like a cool dark dry place, well-ventilated.

When we're planning on using onion rings, we plan to include our Pork Chops and Sage Onions dish. This gives us a chance of using the smaller rings, centers, and end cuts of the onions. Sometimes we chop them, spread on a shallow pan and freeze the bits. They may then be put in a refrigerator container for adding delicate flavor to salad and sandwich mixtures and to cooked dishes.

AN ONION SANDWICH MEAL

For each serving, use 1 large or 2 small slices of pumpernickel or rye bread. Spread lightly with soft butter, then with softened cream cheese (nice whipped to a fluff with a bit of milk). Cover with thin slices of smoked or kippered salmon, then paper-thin slices of raw sweet Spanish onions. Top off with a dollop of mayonnaise and a sprinkling of capers or chopped dill pickle. Provide a knife and fork with this sandwich! There are endless variations.

SELF-PICKLING ONION SLICES AND RINGS

Slice sweet Spanish onions into slices a little less than ¼-inch thick. Remove skins. Place the onion slices in a wide-mouthed jar and pour over them enough dill pickle juice to cover. Refrigerate onions 3 or 4 days to pickle. They may be used as slices in sandwiches like the above or with hamburgers, and on cold meat plates. Or they may be separated into rings to use as a relish or garnish. The small rings and centers may be chopped and added to salmon or potato salads. Good, good, good!

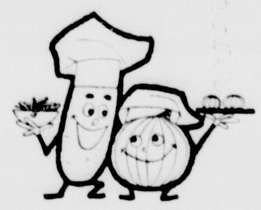
PORK CHOPS AND SAGE ONIONS

4 pork chops, shoulder or loin
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon each of butter and salad oil.
1½ teaspoons salt
5 cups thin-sliced Idaho sweet Spanish onions
Dashes of coarse-grind black pepper
1 teaspoon powdered sage
½ cup water or dry white wine

Coat chops lightly with flour.

Brown in the heated butter and oil in heavy skillet or Dutch oven over moderately-low heat. (Stay with it, so you will have no scorching.) Turn chops, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Brown lightly on other side and remove from utensil.

Put onion in the fat. Toss about to coat onion; then brown



lightly. Add remaining salt and the sage. Add chops, pulling the onions around them. Then add water or wine. Reduce heat to simmer. Cover tightly and cook slowly about 1 hour. Makes four servings. It is easy to make more!

P.S. Better take a look now and then if you are not sure of your range's simmering ability or unless you are using your jewel of an electric skillet. Or put tightly-covered utensil in 350° F. oven for 1½ hours.

SWEET SPANISH ONION SALAD-RELISHES

Orange-Onion Slices: Cut large oranges into cartwheels, after peeling. Slice very thin and remove skins of sweet Spanish onions. Arrange orange and onion slices overlapping or any way you like to make a pretty picture. Avocado wedges may be included. Pour over French dressing. Chill thoroughly. Especially good with chili con carne with beans. This is a striking buffet dish.

Onions and Beets: Arrange in alternate layers in shallow bowl cold sliced canned or cooked beet slices and thin-sliced sweet Spanish onions. Or combine tiny whole beets and onion rings. Add oil and vinegar or French dressing with garlic, as desired. Let stand in refrigerator several hours. Good with pork, cold meats, fish.

Herbed Onion Slices: Peel 2 large sweet Spanish onions. Slice crosswise about ¼-inch thick. Mix together 6 snipped mint leaves, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 teaspoon fresh thyme or ¼ teaspoon crumbled dry thyme. Arrange onion slices in flat dish. Over them sprinkle some of the herbs, salt, coarse-grind black pepper. Repeat layers, topping with the herbs, salt, pepper. Mix together ½ cup olive or other salad oil and ¼ cup red wine vinegar. Spoon carefully over onions. Chill at least an hour or all day, spooning some of dressing over onions during that time. Wonderful with roast lamb hot or cold, or in sandwiches of thin slices of rye bread and boiled ham or cold sliced lamb. Use dressing for salads or as marinade.

Low In Calories

Canned consomme and raw vegetables make a refreshing first course that is low in calories. Place 1 (10½ ounce) can of condensed consomme in refrigerator for about 4 hours, or until jelled. Divide soup into three 4 ounce stemmed glasses, layering it with a total of ⅓ to ½ cup of chopped raw vegetables (carrot, celery, cucumber, radishes, watercress, and parsley). Top each with a spoonful of salted whipped cream.

HONORS MAGI

A Cake For Epiphany Day

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) —Twelfth Night takes the cake.

King's Cake, Twelfth Cake and bean cake are all names for the same thing, a pound-cake like confection baked on Jan. 6, which is Epiphany Day, to honor the Magi. But some historians say that the custom pre-dates Christianity.

In our time, the ceremony of the Twelfth Cake generally is credited to the French, says the American Institute of Baking. Tradition dictates that a small dried bean or silver coin be baked into the cake, which is a firm, thick, round pastry, somewhat like a pound cake with fruit.

The man who finds the bean or the coin in his portion is named king for the evening's partying, and granted the privilege of choosing his queen for the festivities.

IN THE 12TH century, the celebration was religious in nature, adds the institute. The monks of St. Michel chose an Epiphany king by means of a bean cake. The man chosen occupied a special throne in the monastery chapel for the day, during Matins, High Mass and Vespers. Soon after that time, said the institute, Twelfth Night became an occasion for secular revelry.

A variation was added in the English observance in diarist Samuel Pepys' time. A clove also was inserted in the cake and the guest who found it in his portion became the "knave" of the party.

TWO NATIONS on our continent still observe the King's Cake custom. The institute says that French Canadians place a dry bean and a dry whole pea in the traditional galette des rois to designate a king and a queen for the partying.

Mexico's rosca de reyes differs from the galette in that it is made with yeast dough, flavored with citrus blossom water and grated lemon peel and garnished with sugar sprinkles and crystalized fruit. Some Mexicans also use the cake to schedule another party. The guest who finds a porcelain or other ovenproof replica of the Christ Child in his portion of cake traditionally becomes host or hostess of another party —on Feb. 2, or Candlemas Day.

BLACK CHERRY brandy torte is a 20th century version of France's King's Cake or Twelfth Cake, traditionally baked on Epiphany Day.

Cut a 12-ounce loaf pound cake into 3 layers of equal size. Drain a 1 pound 13 ounce can of pitted dark sweet cherries and reserve ½ cup of the juice. Add 1 tablespoon of cornstarch to reserved juice in small saucepan. Cook over low heat until juice boils, stirring constantly. Continue cooking 3 minutes; remove from heat.

Add cherries and ½ teaspoon of brandy extract to thickened juice and allow to cool. Spread cooled fruit mixture between cake layers. Add 1 teaspoon of sugar and ½ teaspoon of brandy extract to ½ cup of heavy cream and whip until thick enough to spread on top of cake. Chill until serving time. Makes 6-8 servings.

Tasty Rolls Filled With Marmalade

Nice when neighbors drop in! Marmalade rolls and coffee.

MARMALADE ROLLS

½ cup warm water
1 package active dry yeast
1 egg
1 tablespoon sugar
2½ cups biscuit mix
¼ cup chopped walnuts
½ cup raisins
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup orange marmalade

In a large warm bowl, dissolve the yeast in the warm water. With a spoon, mix in the egg, sugar and biscuit mix. Dust a board with extra biscuit mix and turn out dough on it. Kneed about 20 times or until smooth; let rest 5 to 10 minutes. Roll out into a 15 by 12 inch rectangle; cut into twelve 5 by 3 inch rectangles. Mix walnuts, raisins, cinnamon, nutmeg and marmalade; put a heaping teaspoon of the mixture on the center of each small rectangle; roll up and stretch the 2 open ends of each to meet to make a ball. Place in greased 9-inch round cake pan. Cover; let rise in a warm draft-free place about 1 hour. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until well browned—about 20 minutes.

Test The Stiffness

To test the stiffness of egg whites for angel food cakes or meringues, turn the bowl upside down. This suggestion is not as risky as you may think. First, test by tilting the bowl on its side. If the egg whites start to slip and do not cling to the bowl, they need further whipping.

When Friends Meet— Glaze Almond Cake

When friends come in for bridge or a committee meeting, they are bound to enjoy a freshly baked cake dessert.

If you want to try a new recipe, here's one that won't break the bank. It's a one-egg cake with an interesting glazed almond topping. You may want to fill and split this cake, as suggested in the following recipe; we found it is also good without a filling, served as a "coffee cake" fresh from the oven.

GLAZED ALMOND CAKE

1½ cups unsifted regular flour
1¾ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup granulated sugar
½ cup butter, soft
⅔ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 large egg
⅓ cup light brown sugar, packed
¼ cup halved (split flat) blanched almonds
¼ cup slivered toasted blanched almonds

Filling

In the large bowl of the electric mixer, thoroughly stir together the flour, baking powder, salt and granulated sugar. Add ¼ cup of the butter, ½ cup of the milk and the vanilla. At medium speed, beat for 2 minutes. Add remaining milk and the egg; at low speed, beat only until smooth (overbeating will produce tunnels). Turn into a greased and floured round cake pan (9 by 1½ inches). Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—25 to 30 minutes.

In a small saucepan over low heat, melt the remaining ¼ cup butter; stir in the brown sugar; spread over hot cake; sprinkle with the halved almonds. Place under broiler (about 5 inches from heat); watching constantly, broil until sugar bubbles and almonds brown — from 1 to 3 minutes; turn pan during broiling if necessary to brown evenly.

Place cake in pan on wire rack for 15 minutes. Loosen edges and turn out onto wire rack; turn right side up; cool.

With a long sharp knife with a serrated blade, cut the cake in half horizontally. Place the lower half on a serving plate. Add the Filling; sprinkle with the slivered almonds. Place top half of cake over filling. Serve at once.

Filling:

You may use a cooked custard mixture thickened with flour or cornstarch and flavored with vanilla.

Or if you are accustomed to using prepared fillings, you may use a 4-serving package of vanilla or butterscotch-flavor pudding-and-pie-filling mix, making it up according to package directions and cooling it. Spread as much of the pudding mix as will go comfortably on the bottom layer of the cake. (AP)

Artichoke Leaves

If you're preparing a dish that specifies fresh artichoke hearts, make good use of the discarded artichoke leaves. Use them for the wherewithall for dips instead of high-calorie tidbits, or scrape the meat from the leaves to flavor soups and sauces.

A FRIENDLY DISCUSSION between group home director, Mrs. Anna Marie Long, center, and alternate housemothers, Misses Eula Lowe, left, and Sharon Stone takes place every two days when the housemother arrives on duty so that continuity in management is maintained.

Director Helps Create Home

By LOIS SENS

"I started my job here as director of the group home in September, on Labor Day. Things went bang, bang, bang, and it has been going on like that ever since."

These are the words of Mrs. Anna Marie Long, well-liked director of the Marin Foundation Group Residence for girls in San Rafael.

The home provides a therapeutic living situation for five high school girls whose families or foster homes aren't able to handle the problems they present, the director explained. Mrs. Long, in the daily routine of the home, sets limitations providing a framework within which the girls are able to adjust socially.

The girls attend high schools in Novato, Terra Linda and San Rafael, with afternoons free after classes until 5 p.m. when community counseling meetings are held at the home.

Mrs. Long explains that the day begins at 6:30 a.m. when the housemother on duty, either Miss Sharon Stone of San Rafael or Miss Eula Lowe of San Francisco, awakens the girls. Breakfast is prepared buffet style by the housemother, or the girls can choose toast or cereal instead.

THE GIRLS prepare their own lunches either the evening before or in the morning from food items listed by the housemother.

After school hours, they may come home to a snack, visit friends, shop, study or bring their friends home.

ON WEEKENDS, the girls may date, but must be in at various times depending on their age and how privileges are handled. "We must be introduced to the boys, know where they are going, when they will get there and when they will return to the home," adds the director.

"We're pleased and excited at the way the group home situation seems to be working out," says Anna Long. "The kids can respond to this kind of setting more readily . . . it's working out just as I'd hoped it would after realizing the theory's possibilities."

She pointed out that in many cases disciplinary problems with adolescents arise when the parents fail to set limits for them to follow.

"The girl or boy will keep on pushing or testing parents' authority just to see how far they can transgress. In many homes these limits are never set up and the child feels the parents don't care. Here at the home, I care what they do, and at first there is a great deal of pushing and testing until we establish that I mean what I say, kindly but firmly, in disciplining them."

Mrs. Long, who is a trained social welfare worker, has spent 15 years working in administrative and casework levels of social welfare. She began her career as a teacher of English and drama in a Boulder, Colo., high school.

THROUGH teaching adolescents, she became interested in the social aspect of her work and followed this inclination by doing group work with the Young Women's Christian Assn. in Palo Alto. Following this, she attended classes at the University of California and was graduated with a master of social welfare degree.

Anna Marie then did case work for the Family Service Agency in San Francisco and in this capacity, she became interested in the possibilities of successful treatment of adolescents through group therapy. Mrs. Long also served as an executive of Travelers Aid Society in San Francisco before becoming a supervisor for the California Youth Authority's Los Guilucos School For Girls in Santa Rosa.

THE RESIDENCE in San Rafael is a comfortable-looking brown shingled house with spacious, airy rooms. One crosses a porch on entering from the street and is ushered into a small vestibule and sitting room.

Many of the girls living in the group home are quite talented . . . one making her own jewelry, another expressing her musical ability in playing the piano, organ and oboe.

One of the girls who had drawn kitchen duty for the week, was busy drying dishes in the kitchen in preparation for the evening meal, which the housemother would cook. Other weekly chores divided up by the girls themselves were labeled simply, "living room," "dining room," "upstairs," or "special projects." A laundry room with washers, dryers, and ironing board

Red China To Be Topic For Lecture

Sponsored by the Marin and Novato branches of American Assn. of University Women, a lecture on life in Red China will be presented at Olney Hall, College of Marin, on Jan. 27, at 8 p.m. by Lisa Hobbs.

With her background as foreign correspondent in Europe and Asia, Mrs. Hobbs of the San Francisco Examiner was the first reporter of a United States newspaper to enter communist China in almost 10 years. She was born in Australia, educated there, in Denmark, and in the United States.

In the summer of 1965 she made a 4,000-mile, 21-day trip through Red China. Her book, "I Saw Red China," will be released this month.

Signs Of Spring Theme For Show Planned By Guild

Looking forward to the signs of an early spring, the members of St. Patrick's Guild have set Feb. 9 for their "Bluebirds and Belles" luncheon fashion show at the Meadow Club.

Co-chairman for this the 11th annual fashion to be presented by the guild are Mesdames R. Dowdle and B. G. Kessler. The parade of fashions for the noontime event will be under the direction of Mrs. William Cancilla. Volunteer waitresses are under the supervision of Mrs. Martin Clarke. Mrs. Frank Monroe will chair the decorations committee.

Reservations chairmen are Mrs. Richard J. Wader and Mrs. Attilio Malatesta, both of Corte Madera.

Proceeds will benefit St. Patrick's School.

FORGET-ME-NOT

Implying slenderness in its clean, straight lines is a dot and flowered dress, designed for the pert petite's social whirl. Fashioned in two pieces, the top is yoked and sleeved in a gay floral print over a midriff of dots. The slim companion skirt is flocked in matching dots. Robbie Rivers fashions it from crisp Fortrel and cotton . . . and offers a color choice of classic young neutrals.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

By MOLLY MARIN

Mr. and Mrs. William U. Remensperger will be hosts at a post-holiday dinner party at their home in Sausalito Saturday evening. Guests will be Messrs and Mesdames Alan Conner, James W. Smith, Van Allen Treat and James F. McIndoe and Mrs. Stanley Cowen.

THE BEN K. RIPPES and their daughter, Paula, of Corte Madera will make their home for a year in Independence, Mo., where Mr. Ripp is working on a project for Standard Oil.

HOME FROM TWO weeks in Colorado are Mr. and Mrs. David Allen of Belvedere and their family. They skiied at Aspen, where they found snow conditions on the light side in comparison to the unusually heavy snowfall encountered at California ski resorts. They traveled by train which was a treat for the children.

MRS. WINT F. SAINT, whose major hobby is training and showing her little papillon dog, is preparing to enter him in one of the major events of his career. Champion Saints' Rajah of Carousel, J.D., is well known for his appearances in entertainments at the Sausalito Woman's Club. He will be one of the 62 papillon dogs coming from all over the United States for the Golden Gate Kennel Club Show on Jan. 15 and 16 at the Cow Palace in San Francisco to compete in a specialty show for this rare breed of dog within the main show. Mrs. Saint says Rajah will be entered in this specialty show and in two obedience classes.

VISITING IN TIBURON recently for three weeks was Mrs. Peg McCall of Kotzebue, Alaska. Mrs. McCall stayed with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McAllister of Tiburon. Mrs. McCall is director of nursing at the Public Health Service Hospital in Kotzebue and has served in hospitals in France, England, Germany and Okinawa. She has lived in Alaska for the past 12 years, but is a native of San Francisco.

Patricia Thompson Becomes A Bride

In a double-ring ceremony on Dec. 26 in St. Raphael's Catholic Church, Patricia Ann Thompson of Los Angeles became the bride of Kenneth Sterling Kilborn of San Rafael.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beverly S. Thompson of Los Angeles.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white satin embroidered in seed pearls and sequins.

Preceding the bride down the aisle in gowns of olive green satin were Francis Billeci of Fremont as maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Joan and Jean Auguston of Oakland and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Lee Hicks of Lyons, Neb.

The Rev. Lee Hicks of Lyons was best man and ushering were Ken Thompson of Los Angeles and Jon Bagshaw and Irving Schwartz of San Rafael.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Elks Club.

The bride was graduated from Notre Dame Academy in Los Angeles and San Jose State College. She is employed with Campbell Union School District. Ken and Gerry Thompson are her brothers.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buzz Kilborn of San Rafael, was graduated from San Jose State College and is a genetics assistant at the school. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John Oglesby of San Rafael.

Following a Palm Springs wedding trip, the couple will reside in San Jose.

ENTHUSIASM IN A HOME

came next with Mrs. Long's windowed office adjoining.

Here, the schedule was further explained by the director . . . After the 5 o'clock meeting, dinner is served at 6:15 in the dining room. The girls must be present for this unless excused by the housekeeper. Meals may not be taken later or in their rooms. Daily chores done by the girls include making their own beds and handling their own laundry and ironing.

"The housemother or I will teach the girls how to iron or do any of the chores, but they do the actual work themselves."

"OF COURSE, I'm at the home 48 hours a week, many times at odd hours so I'm able to have conferences with them or handle special activities or problems that might come up. For instance, at 30 minutes past midnight, I took a girl to the heliport so she could make the trip home for Christmas.

"Many times the girls visit their parents on weekends or the parents come here for a short time," the director added. "We feel the group home offers a living experience that is therapy—how to live hour by hour. Yet, I am not as emotionally involved with them as a foster parent and am able to set firm but kind limits for them to follow. It's the consistent adult relationship which is so necessary to them.

"Another advantage of the group home is permanent placement for the adolescent. Here she is able to remain until she is ready to move out or until she reaches 18 years of age. Perhaps the situation at home might change—the family gets treatment, or she gains the necessary control. The youngster must be able to be trusted for us to take her in the first place. If we find she needs a more protective set up . . . she is referred back to juvenile court.

"I would advise parents of teenagers who are going through this painful period and who feel they are unable to handle them, to seek professional help. It is best to secure the advice of a doctor, family service agency, schools or any agency set up to handle the particular problem. These girls are rebelling—and they need someone to care enough to stop them when they can't help themselves.

"Many of these youngsters could be taken into foster homes, but are not stable enough to handle the family routine. Here in the group home we provide the halfway point between the institution where a protective environment is provided and the family living situation."

Mrs. Long pointed out that at the home the girls relate to only three adults . . . herself and the two housemothers who serve for alternate periods of 48 hours each. Sharon Stone's social welfare experience was gained while teaching dependent children in Chile and Eula Lowe worked at the Edgewood Institution and Homewood Terrace in San Francisco. The use of a small staff at the residence makes it easier to maintain a home-like atmosphere.

"WE HAVE one vacancy which occurred a few weeks ago when a girl could not be trusted to attend school and was returned to Juvenile Hall. This situation may occur many times until the girl gains control and can adjust to the demands of living in the group.

"The girls are referred to us from the Department of Social Services or the County Probation Department."

There is a waiting list for vacancies in the home even though the group living is in the experimental stage. The Marin Foundation and Marin County are underwriting the costs of maintaining the group home but parents are ordered by the juvenile court to pay all or a portion of the amount depending on their ability.

The county pays all medical and dental bills and the girls receive an allowance with various amounts for clothes, supplies, spending and personal needs. The girls have their own phone and pay only if calls exceed a specified amount.

THE GROUP home idea is relatively new, the Marin Foundation Residence being the only one in San Rafael and independent of any institution. It has the backing of the county and the Marin Foundation with full cooperation from the deans of women, Juvenile Court, Probation Offices, Juvenile Hall staff, judges and volunteers.

"I can't say enough for the help we've received from these quarters. For instance, one of the Marin Foundation units, the house committee, calls regularly to check on our house needs, supplying bed linens, or plumbing repairs. They even gave a bridge party to raise money for new slip covers needed in the living room. Then, too, the volunteers drive the girls to doctor appointments and the like."

One of the volunteers, Mrs. John Finn III of Mill Valley, even offered the girls the use of their cabin near Lake Tahoe in November and the girls were given $10 for tows and ski rentals. They've been invited to go again this spring.

IT'S A BUSY schedule, too, for Mrs. Anna Marie Long; one she enjoys enough to extend her working hours beyond the eight hour day into evenings and weekends for emergencies or programs. And, according to Wendy Wilson, substitute housemother during the holidays, Mrs. Long's enthusiasm is contagious. "She identifies with the girls . . . talks to them on their level". An approach which in her four short months' stay has already resulted in positive improvements.

Coffee Break Gives Way To Body Break

SAN JOSE (UPI)—First came the lunch break, then the coffee break. Now comes the body break.

At least one firm in San Jose, is fighting the battle of the secretarial bulge by devoting an hour three times a week to workouts and exercises.

The organization is a building and development firm which concentrated on houses before starting to build and develop the figures of its secretaries.

The new move started last June when some of the firm's executives began working out from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. An apartment in one of the company's projects was converted into an exercise room with a courtyard for running and a pool for swimming.

Fred Wejak, swim coach of the San Jose Swim and Racquet Club, supervised the program which he called "Fred's Body Shop."

Soon the secretaries demanded equal rights.

Now they stretch and strain from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

A typical session includes exercises, calisthenics and running.

Rhonda Pignaz To Be Installed On Sunday

Rhonda Pignaz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rose F. Pignaz, will be installed honored queen of Bethel 48, International Order of Job's Daughters, on Sunday at 7:30 p.m., at the Masonic Temple in San Rafael.

Installing honored queen for the evening will be Virginia Tabor, retiring honored queen. She will be assisted by Karen Peterson, Carolyn Weiss, Ronni Stamp, Elizabeth Denison, Mrs. Betty Thompson, and Mrs. Ruth West, all past honored queens, and Sally Hasse.

Appointed officers are Linda Schroeder, outer guard; Virginia Solmonson, inner guard; Diane Bragg, junior custodian; Judith Hinman, senior custodian; Linda Berggreen, librarian; Joyce Gustafson, musician; Merriam Spezzi, recorder; Pamela Ghilardi, treasurer; Catherine Carpenter, chaplain; Nanette Lehaman, first messenger; Lynn Prosser, second messenger; Diane Presco, third messenger; Diane Rutland, fourth messenger; and Mary Mattson, fifth messenger.

Mrs. Martha Stark will be hostess. Elizabeth Denison will be soloist and Mrs. Ad Owen, organist.

Mrs. Millicent Denison is guardian of Bethel 48 with Henry Aubel as associate guardian.

Mrs. Wint Saint Again Tops Guild

Mrs. Wint F. Saint has been chosen president for a second year of St. Brigid's Guild of the Episcopal Christ Church in Sausalito.

New officers serving with her will be Mesdames George A. Tett, first vice president; Emmet L. Rixford, second vice president; Louis Bleicker, secretary, and Francis A. Constable, treasurer.

Psychologist Expands Theme Of Message Transmission In Talk

By BETTY FROST

"Our primary response is to the differences in people. To find similarities is a fine art," said Dr. William Pemberton, Mill Valley consulting psychologist, when he addressed 125 women at the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Tiburon, yesterday.

The lecture, "What Woman Are You—Dialogically?", was another in the "What Woman Are You?" series sponsored by the church. Introduced as a semantics and communications expert, Dr. Pemberton developed a theme dealing with message transmission in human relations.

Pointing out that we are uncomfortable in strange situations, and "when the extremes get too great, we lose contact with one another", Dr. Pemberton spoke of his marriage counselor role as that of "translator" and of "Love as the Art of Translation."

IN INTERPERSONAL relationships and in international relationships differences tend to grow, as exemplified in the attitude, "Only some people on this planet are important — people like me," he said.

To point out the sources of some of these differences, the psychologist sketched a profile illustrating degrees of assumptive knowledge of people and things. The first stage, the infant stage, is characterized by naivete, based upon little information and few contacts with other people; the second, the child-like stage, based upon more contact with people and more information, but marked by authoritarian control, he called absolutistic, or pre-scientific; the third, youthful stage, is less authoritarian, called relativistic, and compared to early science; the fourth, or adult stage, is marked by the ability to give and take, known as transactional, and related to modern science. A fifth stage, rarely found, Dr. Pemberton considers a "unifying" stage, and in this category he places those unusual individuals, whose deep involvement with all humanity set them apart.

Within these stages, reaction can go from the higher groupings to the lower, but never in reverse.

WHEN WE BEGIN to have respect for what others consider real, we can develop reciprocity and greater understanding, he said.

The antidote for congestion of communications is to reopen the circulation of communication," Dr. Pemberton said. He spoke of the methods used in psychotherapy in his marriage consulting practice. Three approaches which freeze communications are 1. A sullen, silent "anger," attitude; 2. Making judgments, giving unwanted advice in an "Anger -out" attitude; 3. Sarcasm or making jokes in a tense situation. He suggests keeping the information rolling and maintaining the ability to modify positions in a true dialogue by means of 1. Inquiry; 2. An attempt to discover and understand honest feelings; 3. Repetition of the information in a "mirror" reflection technique.

DIALOGUE SHOULD involve an exchange of information and not be merely "throwing hot potatoes back and forth," said Dr. Pemberton.

The American male often retreats in sullen silence, or spouts in anger at home because of irritations at his work, said Dr. Pemberton.

Referring to his earlier statement that "Love is the art of translation," Dr. Pemberton said, "When there is a big steam over a small event, one should look for a deeper message."

New Tennis Club Chairman Is Daughter Of Life Members

MRS. SAXTON

Mrs. G. Robert Saxton, new chairman of Mill Valley Tennis Club women, has been a member of the club practically all of her life since she is the daughter of the Frank Schroeders, now of Corte Madera, who joined the club right after it was founded. Both of her parents are honorary life members.

Alice has served previously as social chairman for women's activities.

Both natives of Mill Valley, she and her husband, who is retired from his position as western division credit manager for a tire company, live in Kent Woodlands. They have one daughter, Linda, who is a sixth grader at the Kent School. For a while they lived in Los Angeles.

After her graduation from Tamalpais High School and the College of Marin Alice worked as a secretary for an insurance company in San Francisco before her marriage.

She is active in the Kentfield Guild of the Boyd Science Museum and says she enjoys playing tennis and bridge, cooking and sewing.

Other members of the new executive board for women's activities of the club are Mesdames Larry Brink, social chairman; Norman Ortman, secretary; Eugene Aureguy, treasurer; Kenneth Stevens, tennis chairman; David Stephens, interclub matches; Robbin Whittlesey, swimming; Jack Keeler, hospitality; Victor Grant, publicity; Robert Seymour, reservations; and Francis Moffat, junior tennis.

Little Interest Is Evinced In Coroner Office Changes

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

At least four members of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday showed little enthusiasm for making any radical change in the make-up of the county coroner's office.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr, however, urged his colleagues to look into hiring a part-time pathologist to carry out the coroner's duties under the district attorney.

Supervisors discussed the matter for 90 minutes, then agreed to postpone decision to Jan. 25. In the meantime, they called for study of several possible actions.

The studies will cover:

1. Cost of providing Coroner Frank J. Keaton with another deputy and better equipment for making out his reports.

2. How much salary increase would be necessary so the coroner could live on it without other sources of income. This will be referred to the supervisors' executive salary committee.

3. Feasibility of using part of the money now paid to private pathologists to pay part of the salary of a physician-coroner.

Supervisors made no mention of County Administrator Alan Bruce's suggestion that they might file suit against Keaton to force him to give up his private interest in mortuaries in San Rafael and Sausalito.

In a memorandum submitted to supervisors last week, Bruce suggested this as one of four possible actions. The others were to "maintain the status quo," combine the coroner's job with that of the district attorney, or put it under the sheriff.

The only other reference to a possible suit was made by Keaton himself.

Perhaps, Keaton said, supervisors should file suit "to determine whether I have or have not violated" a 1962 resolution by the board and an attorney general's opinion following it.

Keaton said he had conferred with his attorneys and was "not too concerned with the outcome" of such as suit, feeling certain he had complied with the resolution.

Also appearing were Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, and Dr. John H. Manwaring, representing the Marin Medical Society.

Bales and Mountanos each spoke out strongly against combining the coroner's office with his own. Dr. Manwaring said the society was "unequivocally" in favor of the coroner's post ultimately being turned into a job for a physician, but recognized that "there are many steps that should be taken en route."

As things now stand, Manwaring conceded, no doctor except a young man just out of medical school would take the job. To make it attractive to experienced doctors, he said, supervisors must be prepared to upgrade the salary, staff, equipment and office facilities.

Supervisors agreed that no complaint had come to their attention about Keaton's handling of the job.

At the close of the discussion, Supervisor Thomas T. Storer offered a motion declaring that "not one centillion of evidence" showing improper conduct by Keaton had been unearthed by the board.

Chairman Byron W. Leydecker refused to allow a vote, however, declaring the board had not been conducting a hearing on Keaton's conduct. Storer withdrew the motion.

Board Takes Step Toward Construction

The Lagunitas School District Board last night approved the form of a contract with the San Francisco architecture firm of Callister and Rosse to design a new elementary school.

Supt. Marshall McCunniff said the board is expected to sign the contract later.

Board members also scheduled a meeting with the architects at 8 p.m. Tuesday to discuss what type buildings they hope to have in future schools.

The board hired Mrs. Joan Snyder as noon playground supervisor and office worker. She will replace Mrs. Olga Barbano.

Bulk of the meeting was devoted to a report by three first grade teachers on courses, methods and materials in the first grade classes.

Board member William G. McBride was absent.

North Bay Artists Set Elections

Officers of the North Bay Artists will be elected at a meeting at 8 p.m. Jan. 12 at the Novato Community House.

The club, sponsored by the Novato Parks and Recreation department, has been meeting on the second Sunday each month. It will hereafter meet at 2 p.m. on the second Wednesday.

The slate proposed by the nominating committee is: Virginia Helton for president; Joan Wiker for vice president; Pauline La Lancet for secretary; Kharvina Johnson for treasurer; Herta Rothschild for arts and acceptance; Lila Baugh for exhibits; Shirley Lancaster for ways and means; Lola Lane for membership, and Katharane Johnson for publicity. Other nominations may be made from the floor.

Larkspur Studio Offers Classes

Art classes for beginners and advanced students are being held at Casa De Arte Studio, 474 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, every day except Sunday.

Monday evenings, basic and advanced drawing courses will be held by Dale Rogers; Tuesdays, Helen Conser will hold a course in oil painting; and on Wednesday evenings, life drawing will be taught by Jim Patton.

Albina Marie Meredith will conduct classes in water color Thursdays; Richard Lindauer on portrait painting Fridays; and on Saturday mornings, art classes for children will be held by Homer Sterios.

U.S. Steel Firms Make Price Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House found an acceptable solution to the structural steel price crisis today in a $2.75 a ton increase announced by giant United States Steel Corp.

President Johnson's chief economist, Gardner Ackley, said he "hoped and expected" that the $5 increase posted earlier by Bethlehem Steel, the No. 2 producer, and Inland Steel Corp. of Chicago, would be cut down to U.S. Steel's pattern.

Partial realization for Ackley's hope was quick to appear.

Bethlehem rescinded its increase and said it will "review the market situation" after details of the U.S. Steel changes are known.

Chairman Joseph L. Block of Inland said he had not seen details of U.S. Steel's new prices but "when we do, we will revise our own prices to be competitive."

Wheeling Steel Corp. said it does not produce structural steel pieces and has no comment on price moves of other companies.

A spokesman for Weirton Steel, a subsidiary of National Steel, said that the parent firm is studying the U.S. Steel move and has taken no action at this time.

The apparent settlement of the tense five-day power struggle — in which the White House accused Bethlehem and Inland of unwarranted and inflationary action in wartime—came swiftly.

U.S. Steel announced its $2.75 hike in Pittsburgh in midmorning. It coupled that increase with a $9 a ton cut in the price of cold-rolled steel sheets produced in California.

Within a half-hour Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, was en route to the White House with a ready-made statement for reporters.

"The action of U.S. Steel is generally consistent with price-wage guideposts," Ackley said. The net gain in company revenue would be "inconsequential," he said, and went on:

"The price reduction is particularly helpful and encouraging and will make it easier to meet foreign competition on the West Coast."

With that blessing, the White House signaled its willingness to call quits on a power struggle with the steel industry which, for a time, looked like a replay of the great steel price crisis of April 1962.

Salmonella Education Campaign Is Prepared

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government will launch an educational campaign designed to prevent the distribution of egg products containing salmonella bacteria.

A series of courses will be initiated by the Public Health Service Jan. 31 in Atlanta as a result of the discovery of Salmonella late last summer in powdered eggs distributed in a government program, a Public Health Service spokesman said today.

The Food and Drug Administration also is reviewing comments which have been filed regarding a proposed new regulation to require pasteurization of all egg products which move in interstate commerce. A spokesman said the regulation probably will be issued soon.

Marin Air Force Men Get Viet Area Medal

Capt. William B. Scrimgeour Jr. of Tiburon and Maj. Cecil W. Fullilove of Greenbrae were among 24 Air Force Reserve navigators who recently received the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal for flights to Viet Nam during their annual two-week active duty tours last year.

The navigators, members of the 8500th Navigator Training Squadron, were awarded their medals at Hamilton Air Force Base, where they train. They qualified for the medals by performing as members of Military Air Transport crews flying to Viet Nam.

ZONERS FACE BARE FACTS, GRANT PERMIT

How do you zone for a nudist trailer camp? Riverside County's zoning board found the way—treat them as if they had clothes on.

"I don't think zoning can cover nudism as such," said zoning administrator Richard Stokes. "We were advised by our counsel that nudism as a moral issue is not a zoning matter."

The result? Trailer park permits granted, despite some opposition from neighbors.

Trans-Pacific Stowaway Is Charged

HONOLULU (UPI)—Gregg J. O'Konsky of Santa Monica, who celebrated his 28th birthday with a few drinks in San Francisco, is recuperating in Honolulu city jail.

He was arraigned yesterday before a U.S. Commissioner on charges of being a stowaway and held on $100 bond.

O'Konsky, ho said he was a movie actor, was arrested by FBI agents Monday night when he arrived, ticketless, at Honolulu International Airport aboard a Pan American jet.

The Californian explained that he went to San Francisco International Airport Monday, after his birthday celebration, to say goodbye to a friend.

However, he said he walked into the plane with the friend when no one asked for his ticket at the gate. O'Konsky said he got sick on the plane, passed out in the restroom, and didn't come to until the plane was in the air.

Max Rafferty Is Charged With Teacher Persecution

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A legislator has threatened to bring Dr. Max Rafferty before a legislative committee for "unwarranted persecution of a teacher."

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, D-South San Francisco, charged that the state superintendent of public instruction "flagrantly" ignored a San Diego Board of Education decision and planned to investigate a teacher who wrote a prize-winning one-act play. Ryan repeated charges made last month by Thomas Braden, president of the state Board of Education, against Rafferty.

The play, "A Cat Named Jesus," was labeled "profane and blasphemous" by the committee of credentials of the State Department of Education, Ryan said. It was written by Mrs. Geri Turner, 31, an English teacher at San Diego's Mission Bay High School.

Ryan said the San Diego Board of Education had rejected demands by "some of Dr. Raferty's extreme right wing supporters" that Mrs. Davis be fired because of the play.

Then the department committee informed Mrs. Davis that it would investigate her "right to hold teaching credentials," he said.

Ryan said the play, not written for school presentation but for adults, was awarded first prize at a San Diego drama festival last spring.

The San Francisco lawmaker said unless Rafferty dropped the case against Mrs. Davis, he would call him and the department committee members before a legislative subcommittee for an explanation.

Baker Chorale Seeking Recruits

New members will be enrolled in the Winifred Baker Chorale at 7:15 p.m. on Jan. 12 and Jan. 19 in Angelico Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael.

Conductor Winifred Baker reports there are openings in all voices—tenor, bass, soprano and alto.

The chorale, now in its eighth season, will present the California premiere of William Schuman's "The Mighty Casey," based on "Casey at the Bat," in its May Marin concert. The group will also sing Vivaldi's "Chamber Mass" in the same concert.

Student Clubs Slate Program On Japan

"Welcome to Japan" is the theme of a presentation planned by the International Clubs of San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools, for Jan. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the San Rafael High School cafeteria.

Demonstrations of karati, judo, flower arranging and traditional dancing will be given, and Japanese food will be served.

Three Teams Clamoring For Alabama's Steve Sloan

By JERRY ESTILL

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Alabama quarterback Steve Sloan, virtually ignored in the professional football leagues' big-money drafts, now has at least three clubs clamoring for his services.

A record-shattering performance as he led the Crimson Tide to a 39-28 victory over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl — and the national championship, put Sloan in the position of being able to demand a husky bonus.

The 6-foot, 185-pound senior from Cleveland, Tenn., was selected in the 12th round of the National Football League draft by the new Atlanta Falcons. But the American Football League clubs completely ignored him.

However, that is all changed now. And Sloan, who said his boyhood ambition was to be a policeman, is listening to offers from the Falcons and at least two AFL teams that apparently would assure his security for many years.

Sloan is in Mobile for the Senior Bowl game, but he has yet to work out with the South squad due to severely bruised ribs suffered in the New Year's night game.

"The ribs are still sore," Sloan said yesterday. "I just don't know whether I will play or not."

A steady drizzle has kept Sloan and the other All-Stars indoors during their spare time since coming to Mobile. That makes it easier for Sloan to answer the numerous phone calls he receives from all over the country wishing him well and trying to entice him to sign a pro contract.

"I won't make any decision until after the Senior Bowl," Sloan said concerning his pro plans. "I'm in no hurry."

Atlanta announced Monday that Alabama teammate Tommy Tolleson had come to terms with the NFL team.

"I think that's just great," said Sloan. He inquired as to the unrevealed terms of Tolleson's contract, but gave no indication whether the signing of Tolleson (who was one of his favorite targets at Alabama) would influence his decision.

One of the AFL teams dickering with Sloan is the New York Jets, whose coach, Weeb Ewbank, is coaching the South All-Stars.

If Sloan should decide to go with the Jets, he would be faced with unseating the same Joe Namath who set most of the passing records Sloan broke at Alabama this year.

"I didn't pass much in high school," Sloan said in an interview. "Mostly I just handed off the ball."

Playing behind Namath at Alabama in 1964, Sloan was noted as an excellent field general and an adequate passer. Even at the beginning of the 1965 season, Sloan's passing was not the most impressive thing about his playing.

But about mid-season he switched from a roll-out type to that of a drop-back passer and began stalking Tide passing records.

"I worked on my passing just about every day during the summer and I think it improved a lot."

Very active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Sloan said he plans to "spend as much time as I can" in that work. While in college, Sloan was a frequent speaker to church and youth groups. He had one such speaking engagement in Mobile last night.

If Sloan's South team wins, he'll get $1,000; if the North team wins, he'll take home $750.

Sometime after that payday Saturday, Steve Sloan will get a much bigger chunk from some pro team.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Local Celebs In Crosby Pro-Am; Dilemma For Kentfield Family

AT LEAST TWO Marinites will play in the Bing Crosby Pro-Am Golf Championship at Pebble Beach Jan. 20-23; Father Leonard Scannell, the Hamilton AFB chaplain, otherwise known as Gary Prayer of the Vatican C.C.; and TV personality Jim Lange of Lucas Valley. Lange, whose checkered pants were a sartorial hit at last year's Crosby, promises even louder duds this time, having burned his checkered britches behind him.

THERE'S A DILEMMA, EMMA, in the J. Robert Fitzhenry household at 115 South Ridgewood Drive, Kentfield.

Bob is chairman of the physical education department and head baseball coach at Drake High; the Fitzhenrys' son Jack is starting forward for the Redwood High varsity basketball team; and Drake plays Redwood Friday night.

As the curtain rises, Mrs. Fitzhenry is sitting in the Redwood stands, rooting like crazy for son Jack. Over on the other side, Mr. Fitzhenry is rooting like mad for Drake, since four of his star baseballers are also on the basketball team.

Suddenly young Jack Fitzhenry scores a basket, Mrs. Fitzhenry cheers, Mr. Fitzhenry boos and . . . well, you get the idea. It's going to quiet around the dinner table at 115 South Ridgewood Drive in Kentfield for a few days. The case may even wind up in court.

ONE-MINUTE INTERVIEW: Rick Barry, San Francisco Warriors: "I always was a baseball nut and I played Little League ball back in Roselle Park, N.J. Willie Mays of the Giants always was my idol. My daddy taught me to make the basket catch like Willie does and I insisted on playing centerfield even when the coach wanted me to pitch. I even wore the same number he does (24) and I still do.

"I watched Willie play every chance I could and I was dying to meet him. One day at the Polo Grounds —I always sat in the section closest to Willie—I found myself jumping over the rail and running onto the field. I got to shake his hands before the guards caught me and threw me out. I was terribly embarrassed later, but it was worth it."

THE NORTH Shrine high school all-star football squad, for which there are at least three Marin candidates in backs Dean Lazzarini of Drake and Dick Otis of Novato and lineman John Balzan of San Rafael, will be selected on Feb. 24 by a committee of sportswriters and coaches, none of whom hails from Marin.

SAN RAFAEL HIGH alumnus Bill Walton is a member of the San Francisco State College gymnastics team. A 22-year-old junior, Walton specializes in still rings.

THE EXAMINER seems to have overlooked the Marin market for its big indoor track show at the Cow Palace Saturday night. Tickets are on sale in San Francisco (Cow Palace, Roos/Atkins, Hearst Building), on the Peninsula, San Jose, Oakland and Berkeley, but none in the Bounty County, according to the publicity releases.

Russia's Tamara Press Easily Betters Records

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Tamara Press of the Soviet Union bettered New Zealand records in the women's discus throw and shot put during a track meet at Rotorua today.

Miss Press' toss in the discus was 180-feet, 10½ inches. The old New Zealand mark was 176-2. She is the world record holder in the event with 196-1.

The Russian athlete threw the shot 56-6¾, eclipsing the previous New Zealand mark of 54-10.

Brenda Matthews, 16-year-old New Zealand girl, defeated Russia's Irina Press, Tamara's sister, by a yard in the 100-yard dash. The winner's time was 11 seconds.

Irina Press, however, bested Miss Matthews in the 80-meter hurdles. Irina, who holds the world record in this event with 10.3 seconds, covered the distance in 11.4. Miss Mathews finished in 11.5.

In the men's competition, John Davies of New Zealand turned in the fastest mile of 4:02.8 while fellow countryman Bill Baillie captured the three-mile run in 13:46 and Russia's Viktor Kudinskiy won the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 8:51.

Los Angeles Open Starts Golfing Tour

LOS ANGELES (AP)— The professional golfing wars start anew today for 1966 with a pro-amateur prelude to the $70,000 Los Angeles Open.

This is the 40th annual Los Angeles fixture which kicks off the tournament winter campaign each year, and with several notable exceptions, the nation's leading shotmakers are on hand.

Today's exercise carries an additional $5,000 loot to be split by the pros.

Prominent in the picture is Paul Harney, the surprise winner of the last two tournaments here, and the challenging names of Bill Casper Jr., Arnold Palmer, Tony Lema and other name stars.

Palmer has registered but one tournament triumph in the past 18 months. It came in the 1965 Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas.

Missing from the tournament, however, are Gary Player of South Africa, the 1965 U.S. Open champion, and the fearsome Jack Nicklaus, last year's leading money winner who makes a point of skipping this event each winter.

The setting is the same as it has been for the past 10 years, the Rancho Municipal Golf Course, some 7,000 yards in length, with par 36-35—71.

Harney, who plays relatively few major tournaments these years, won the Los Angeles in 1965 with rounds of 68-71-68-69—276. The winning purse is again $12,000.

The Los Angeles Open ordinarily started on a Friday and ended its 72-hole test on a Monday. But the format was changed this year to take advantage of added television revenue for the sponsoring Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, ending Sunday.

Warriors Go For Third Straight Win Tonight

BALTIMORE (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors go for their third straight National Basketball Association victory tonight with the New York Knicks the intended victims.

Four San Franciscans scored 20 points or more with Rick Barry's 29 topping all scorers. Guy Rodgers again was superb as the leader of the Warrior attack, scoring 21 points and setting up many more. Nate Thurmond chipped in 25 and Al Attles 22.

Rodgers and Attles led a Warrior surge that broke a 78-78 tie in the third period and moved San Francisco too far ahead for the Bullets to catch up.

Almost better than the offensive display was the Warrior defense that limited high scoring Bullet guards Don Ohl and Kevin Loughery to 15 points each.

Two Goalies For Seals

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP)— The San Francisco Seals plan to dress two goalies for their encounter tonight with the Western Hockey League leaders, the Victoria Maple Leafs.

"We'll keep the Leafs guessing," said acting coach Bud Poile. Both Jack McCartan and John Henderson have had good fortune against the Maple Leafs.

McCartan has been goalie twice this season when the Seals beat the Leafs. Henderson has been goalie once when the Seals won and once when the teams tied.

San Francisco has three wins and two ties in six games with Victoria.

Poile said: "I'm inclined to go with Henderson. He's played two good games in Victoria, but we'll dress both."

Poile, the Seals general manager, is filling in as coach for Charlie Burns who is in the hospital with a muscle spasm in his back. Poile said Burns may return as coach Friday when the Seals play Victoria in San Francisco.

Mariners Triumph Over West Valley

Winning their sixth game in a row and eighth of the last nine, the College of Marin basketballers dumped West Valley J.C. of Campbell 94-80 last night in Kentfield.

Marin jumped out to an early lead, headed the visitors 49-36 at intermission, and then kept the lead throughout the rest of the game.

The Tars had a balanced scoring attack once again, led by Fred Arnold with 19, Rod Monti with 19, and Jim Halm with 17. Arnold also led the team on the boards, pulling down 15 rebounds. As a team, Marin handled West Valley on the backboards, outrebounding the Vikings 76 to 42.

Marin hit 54 per cent from the floor, making 42 of 78 shots, and West Valley hit for 45 per cent (33x73).

It was Marin's final tuneup for start of Golden Valley Conference action. The Tars open the GVC slate Saturday in Marysville against Yuba Junior College, 8 p.m.

Last night's scoring:

Marin scoring: Arnold, 7-5-19; Monti, 8-3-19; Brody, 4-2-10; Galassi, 2-0-4; Hanson, 3-0-6; Halm, 8-1-17; Wolfe, 5-0-10; Menne, 1-1-3; Kilby, 2-0-4; Henika, 1-0-2; Tosi, Kilby, 2-0-4; Henika, 1-0-2. Totals: 42-12—94.

West Valley scoring: Eandi, 3-1-7; Call, 2-1-5; Fisher, 3-0-6; Smith, 7-5-19; Galos, 10-1-21; Dormire, 5-4-14; White, 2-1-5; Kearns, 1-0-2; Martin, 0-1-1. Totals: 33-14—80.

LSU Tackle Picks 49ers Over Oilers

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Dave McCormick, LSU tackle who reportedly signed with the Houston Oilers after the Cotton Bowl game Saturday, has signed with the San Francisco 49ers intead, an Oiler spokesman said last night.

McCormick, part of a four-tackle, million-dollar Oiler haul after the Cotton Bowl, gave Oiler owner Bud Adams only a verbal agreement to sign, saying he wanted attorney G. T. Owen of Baton Rouge to review the contract first, the spokesman said.

Adams "expressed regret and disappointment" when he heard of McCormick's deal with the National Football League 49ers, the spokesman said.

After LSU's 14-7 upset of Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl, Adams announced that his American Football League club had signed McCormick and George Rice of LSU and Glen Ray Hines and Jim Williams of Arkansas.

The 49ers said in San Francisco that McCormick had been signed in Mobile, Ala., by Art Johnson, assistant general manager. Terms were not announced but it was learned the deal did not include a no-cut contract provision.

"Please don't throw any huge figures around," said Lou Spadia, 49er general manager.

McCormick was drafted No.5 in 1964 by the 49ers. He was the first future pick the same year by Boston of the AFL.

The Patriots traded rights to the 6-foot-6, 255-pounder to Houston after failing to make a deal with him.

BIG MAN IS NEEDED TO FLIP 'COIN'

SAN DIEGO (AP)—It isn't all-out war between some of the owners of the National and American football leagues.

This came to light today with the disclosure that President Barron Hilton of the AFL San Diego Chargers had sent a Christmas greeting to President Daniel F. Reeves of the NFL Los Angeles Rams.

Hilton, whose business office is in Los Angeles, and Reeves are personal friends.

"Everything is big in San Diego," Hilton wrote Reeves, "even the coins such as the enclosed which the Chargers present the Rams.

"I hope it might be used in the future when the opportunity presents itself for our clubs to meet on the playing field.

"Of course, it could be that we will have to call upon the Chargers to perform the official act of flipping the coin."

The "coin" was a manhole cover—weight 144 pounds.

Chaparrals Enter Grand Prix Circuit

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The World Grand Prix circuit, long the domain of the fleet Ferraris of Italy, may see the greatest assortment of new prototype race cars in the history of road racing in 1966.

Latest to enter the ranks of the elite circuit are the Chaparrals of wealthy Midland, Tex., sportman Jim Hall.

Hall, a 30-year-old engineer who designed and built the sleek Chevrolet-powered race cars that won 16 of 21 major U.S. races last year, confirmed yesterday that his cars will race on the international and European circuits this year.

It already had been known that the Ferrari people would be in the thick of the 1966 action with a new sports prototype in an all-out effort to regain the world manufacturers title they lost last year to the Ford Cobra produced by Shelby American of Los Angeles.

Ford hasn't announced its world racing plans, but it is known that the Detroit giant plans to defend its crown with new grand touring prototypes and the Shelby Cobras, the latter with big 427 cubic inch engines.

There are reports, too, that Bruce McLaren, the transplanted New Zealander now operating out of Sulbiton, England, will field two new formula one cars. He will drive one himself and assign the other to 21-year-old Chris Amon, also of New Zealand.

It will be the first appearance in Europe of Hall's Chaparral prototypes. Hall, who raced a Lotus BRM in overseas formula one competition in 1963, designed the Chaparral in 1962. It was the first racing sports car to succeed with an automatic transmission.

Hall said the new formula one cars would be equipped with the same automatic transmission used last year in winning such top events as the Sebring (Fla.) 12-hours of endurance, the Road

6 Games: 5 Marin Winners

It was a great day for Marin prep basketballers yesterday, five of six teams winning final practice games before the start of Marin Athletic League action.

Marin Catholic dumped Analy 57-28, Terra Linda tripped up Crestmoor 57-52, Novato nipped El Molino 68-66, San Rafael surprised Vallejo 61-52, and Redwood throttled Mt. Diablo 52-39.

Only loser was Tam, falling to Lick-Wilmerding.

Novato 68, El Molino 66

Led by guard John Dolinsek's 24 points, the Novato Hornets edged El Molino High School's roundballers 68-66 yesterday in the Novato gym.

Dolinsek turned in a tremendous all-around performance while scoring nine baskets from the field and six free throws.

Only two points separated the basketball teams at the end of the first period, but the Hornets scored 23 points in the second period and surged out in front at the half, 36-22.

El Molino picked up the tempo of its offense in the second half, outscoring the Novato boys 20-15 in the third stanza and 23-17 in the final period, but it still was three points shy of victory.

Tom Corder and Al Parsons scored 13 points for the Hornets and Ev Fritz had 12.

Led by Lee Simon's 17 markers, the Novato Bees defeated El Molino's lightweights 40-31. The jayvees also won, 60-21 with Larry Stuart chalking up 13 points.

The Novato cagers face Tamalpais in its first Marin Athletic clash Friday at 7 p.m. on the Indians' court.

Novato scorers: Tom Corder, 6-1-13; Al Parsons, 6-1-13; Tom Owens, 1-3-5; Tom Herrnberger, 0-1-1; John Dolinsek, 9-6-24; Ev Fritz, 5-2-12. Totals: 27-14—68.

Marin 'Cats Dump Analy

Marin Catholic whipped Analy High School's basketball club 57-28 yesterday on the winner's court.

After a close first period that found the Wildcats up by just two points, the Marin quintet broke through Analy's zone defense and forged 16 points ahead at the half 33-17.

Because of ragged shooting, the Analy boys scored only 2 points in the second period, 5 in the third and 6 in the fourth.

Pat Waltz led the Marin offense with six baskets and three free throws for 15 markers, while Bob Lombardi chalked up 13 and Ches Bornia 11.

Bornia and Lombardi also led both teams in rebounds with 13 and 10 respectively.

The 'Cats shot 41 per cent from the field and 55 per cent from the free throw line while Analy registered 23 and 40 per cent in those departments.

Sam Rickords topped Analy scorers with 12 points on five baskets and two free throws.

Celtics Last Of 'Good Ol' Days'

Deep down, I'm really an old-fashioned kind of guy. I mean, I tend to admire the great Edwardians of our time, and I'm like my friend, Alfred W. Wright, I don't resist change, I ignore it. I like to keep a decent link with the past, with verities and traditions.

I think a gentleman must be a gentleman. I wear pajamas, for instance. I think electric tooth brushes are in the worst possible taste. Tradesmen should be made to wipe their feet. I wear a vest whenever possible. I wear outer covering going to the shower in the country club. I would smoke cigars if I smoked. Regimental ties should not be permitted on public sale, and no man should be permitted to knot the regimental stripes around his collar just because he has a charge account at Carrol's. Or Sears.

MONOCLES should be sold only to Prussian officers. Or maybe one-eyed people. You never wear brown shoes with a blue suit. White wine comes with the fish and by that I don't mean tuna sandwiches. You get to wear a tweed jacket only if you have done grouse-shooting in Scotland. Women should wear boots only on horseback or if they are direct descendants of Catherine The Great. College students should shave.

The only dance I do at all well is the waltz. I think the watusi should be performed only by the Watusi.

I LIKE THINGS to be as they always have been. I like being in Vermont to vote Republican. I want to be able to wear a smoking jacket and stand under a portrait of my great-great grandfather (if they could get one, it would show him digging turnips) and to be able to say "Lady Margaret is ready for her bath now, Smithers. If you'll prepare it for her, I'll be in the study or taking the dogs over the hedges for a practice."

Or, you can see what a crucifixion life in the sports world is for me these days. I mean, the Big Ten loses in the Rose Bowl. The New York Yankees dropped the pennant. Notre Dame has Irishmen on the team. USC has guys in the backfield with only one lousy syllable in their names, and nobody on the whole squad named Lancelot or Cicero or Lochinvar. Things have gone to pot.

WHICH IS WHY I carefully matched my sox and tie the other night, put on a white (cotton) shirt, polished my shoes (not too high a gloss), put on a topcoat (whenever the temperature gets below 60, a gentleman always dons one) and went down to the Sports Arena to see the last stand of a continuing tradition in our times — the Boston Celtics.

The Celts are the last best hope of us traditionalists. They are like the old Yankees. They always win. It doesn't matter whom they play in those green uniforms. They immediately begin to act like Celtics. They pick up guys like Siegfried (Larry) or Nelson (Don) but they could just as well pick up Lohengrin or Nelson (Baby Face) and it wouldn't make any difference. They could stop a bus and pick the first 10 guys. They could get a team out of the Yellow Pages. They pick up a lot of overweight, bunioned old retreads from other teams who haven't sunk a basket in earnest in years, and all of a sudden they have paired off 25 pounds and are shooting 50 per cent from the floor.

YOU WILL recall, I am sure, how a journeyman ballplayer could put on the elegant pinstripes of the Yankees in baseball for years and suddenly become a real threat for the Hall of Fame. Do the names Myril Hoag, Joe Collins, Johnny Hopp, Luis Arroyo ring a bell? Well, cast an eye down the Celts' roster. Would you double-team Woody Sauldsbury? Ron Bonham? Sihugo Green? You better, if they're in a Celts uniform.

The same things always happen. The other team begins to toss passes off to invisible teammates. Or visible spectators. They begin to take desperate, no-chance shots. It's very comforting. Also nostalgic. Guys used to throw to the wrong bases against the old Yankees, to give fast balls to Ruth and Gehrig in tight situations. Good players used to fumble against Notre Dame—I mean the REAL Notre Dame of the old days, guys whose names ended in "O," not began with them.

FOR A WHILE, the other night in the Sports Arena, I thought our last bastion of aristocracy was crumbling, that the rabble had really finally crashed in. The L.A. Lakers got within 10 points of the Celts.

But, we looked to our leader—his imperial majesty, William Fulton Russell. And, order was shortly restored. It was just like old times. The Celts were so far in the lead, the crowds started going home by the fourth quarter. When the final buzzer sounded, there was hardly anybody in the joint but the Lakers, the Celts—and me. The night watchman came down to see who left the lights on.

Remember how the Yankees used to empty the ball park by the sixth inning? Notre Dame used to drive everybody to the parking lot—or the subway—by half time? Remember how nobody bet when Calumet had two horses in a race? How Arnold Palmer used to come up to the final hole of the Masters' 12 shots in the lead?

THOSE WERE the good old days — gone, alas! Like Grace before meals, noblesse oblige, ballroom dancing, gold-headed canes, spats, the old Yankees, the Big Ten, the U.S. Davis Cup team, Calumet, Notre Dame. Only the Boston Celtics remain to remind us of a day when excellence prevailed perennially, and greatness was not ground up by the locust of mediocrity—when games were not won by relief pitching, or the bench, or races by platers. This is why I say the Celtics are the last stand for us old characters who still carry pocket watches and refer to jetliners as "airships," and I can't wait 'til someday some young upstart starts to brag about HIS basketball team and I can say "H-arrumph! Why, you young whippersnappers never even saw a basketball unless you saw Russell and the Celtics."

Now, THERE was what I call a team! And that reminds me of Babe Ruth and Bill Tilden. And George Gipp . . .

MARIN LEAGUE BASKETBALL PROSPECTS

A Rebuilding Year For San Rafael

By RALPH CHATOIAN

(Last in a series on prospects of Marin Athletic League basketball teams.)

It's a rebuilding year for the San Rafael High School Bulldogs, and prep basketball fans are wondering what coach Mike Diaz will come up with this year.

On Diaz' past record in Marin County basketball, no one is counting the Bulldogs out of the running, although every starter on last year's team is gone, plus the first two reserves of that team.

Diaz still hasn't decided on his starting guards, and it's fortunate the Bulldogs have a few extra days before starting their Marin Athletic League slate. They draw the opening round bye Friday, getting in a practice game with Petaaluma before opening MCAL action with Tamalpais next Tuesday.

The only returnees off the San Rafael team last season are 6-2 forward Jeff Allen and 5-9 guard Jim Magliulo, and both were reserves.

Allen will be one of the starting forwards for the Bulldogs when the league opens, with Bill Tetu, a 6-2 transfer from Wisconsin, starting at the other forward. Another transfer student, 6-3 Dick Draney of Illinois, is the starting center. And Diaz didn't do any recruiting. Honest.

But then comes the two guard spots, and it's a big question mark. Besides Magliulo, battling for that position are Joe Cunningham (5-10), the all-league footballer who played junior varsity basketball last season; and Rich Schau and Roger Widmer, two 5-9 players up from last year's "B" team.

"I'm still shifting my guards around," said Diaz. "We'll have to go with the guards who are doing the job at that time."

San Rafael is sporting a 4-4 record so far this season, its biggest triumph coming over Analy, 76-27. The Bulldogs tied Drake for second place last season, winning 7 of 12 Marin Athletic League games.

"Our defense has been good this season, but we haven't been able to score enough points," lamented Diaz. "But the boys are gaining confidence now," he added. "It's a matter of rebuilding completely after losing our first seven players of last year."

Three reserve juniors have been playing quite a bit on the Bulldogs' front line, John Farrar (6-2), Chip Tyson (6-1) and Dave Smith (6-2). "They're all doing a good job," said Diaz. Another junior receiving praise from his mentor is guard Sam Crowell, up from the "B" team. Senior forward Ed Pascoe (6-1) will be seeing a lot of action this year, but he's been sidelined most of the early season with a foot injury.

San Rafael		Opposition

43	Santa Rosa	48
64	Armijo	67

Tetu has been the big man for San Rafael so far, leading the team in both scoring and rebounding. He's averaged 11.1 points per game. Allen will be counted upon for his scoring and rebounding. He has good jumping ability that will be vital if he is going to win the battles under the boards. Diaz feels Draney is a good shooter who will add to the team's point-making ability.

Mike feels the Bulldogs have been coming right along. "Against our alumni team we scored 21 in the first half and then came back with 47 in the second half," said Diaz. "They showed a lot of comeback effort."

"We're not a big team. We have to depend on our defense quite a bit. Our emphasis is on defense." So San Rafael will be trying that old rule, don't let the other team score.

Diaz was in agreement with other coaches in the league when he picked Redwood, Novato and Drake as the top teams in the league, but added, "there will be other teams that make it tough on those three.

"If we continue to progress like we have this past month, we may be able to play a spoiler role," said Mike. Other teams had better be on their toes, for the Bulldogs just may spring a surprise on them.

San Rafael's league schedule:
Jan. 11 — Tamalpais
Jan. 14 — At Marin Catholic
Jan. 18 — At Redwood
Jan. 21 — Drake
Jan. 25 — Terra Linda

ANTICS ON THE BASKETBALL COURT

The Harlem Clowns, who have made basketball fans all around the world laugh at their antics, will be taking on the College of Marin Letterman Club tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Kentfield gym, proceeds going toward the purchase of travel jackets for College of Marin athletic teams. The Clowns are shown in this picture in Tokyo Municipal gymnasium, Japan, where 10,000 fans watched their exhibition. That's a huge rubber band attached to the ball which is never going to make it to the basket, just one of the Clowns' many tricks.

Bill Kidd Wins In Season's First Major Ski Event

HINDELANG, Germany, (AP) — Bill Kidd, sophomore at the University of Colorado, won the men's special slalom today of the Silbertannen races on Mt. Iseler, the season's first major Alpine competition.

Kidd, silver medalist in the 1964 Olympic slalom, was timed in 1 minute, 22.92 seconds for the to runs over the 450-meter course that had a drop of 180 meters. Eighty skiers from 15 countries participated.

Jules Melquiond of France was second and Karl Schranz of Austria was third.

Kidd is a member of the nine-man United States Alpine team which arrived last week for a month's competition against European skiers.

Jean-Claude Killy of France was first in the first run but fell near the end of the breath-taking second. The fall came at the 54th of 59 gates. The first run, laid out by Coach Bob Beatty of the U.S. team, had 60 gates.

On the first run, Schranz placed second and Kidd third.

Kidd clinched his victory with a fast first place in the second run, followed by Dumeng Gionanoli of Switzerland. Schranz made a relatively slow run.

Kidd said after his victory, "I'm very happy about winning. I believe I have regained my good form of the 1964 Olympic races."

Kidd described the first run, set out by his own coach, as too easy. He said the second run, laid out by German Coach Hans-Peter Laing, was more sharply angled and decidedly more difficult.

The special slalom was the only race of the day. The competition resumes tomorrow with the giant slalom. There is no downhill in the Hindelang meet.

Two Players Ineligible In Bowl Game

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Two Texas Western football players were ineligible when they played in the New Year's Eve Sun Bowl game against Texas Christian, reports George McCarthy, Texas Western athletic director.

He said a decision whether or not to forfeit the game would be announced at a news conference today.

McCarthy said last night that end Bob Wallace and linebacker Fred Carr were eligible for season play but ineligible for the post-season El Paso Sun Bowl game won by Texas Western, 13-12.

"Wallace and Carr were ineligible for the Sun Bowl game, but the situation arose merely from an oversight," McCarthy said.

Texas Western Coach Bobby Dobbs refused to comment, saying: "I will have to know more about the situation before I can say anything."

McCarthy said he would confer with NCAA officials but indicated previous rulings might mean Wallace and Carr would be ineligible for post season play next year, but this year's game would not be forfeited.

The two players' ineligibility was first reported by Dick Smith, a sports writer for the Arizona Republic in Phoenix. Smith charged that Wallace and Carr did not meet NCAA junior college transfer requirements.

Both players were recruited last summer and saw plenty of action for the Texas Western Miners this season. They attended Phoenix Junior College before transferring to the El Paso school.

Smith reported that Texas Christian Athletic Director Abe Martin said, "I didn't bother to make an eligibility check on them before the game.

"I figured that if their players had played all season they would be eligible."

services of two starters and a key reserve, still had enough to whip Mt. Diablo, 52-39 yesterday in Concord.

Center Chuck Meyer, the team's top rebounder, starting forward Jack Fitzhenry and reserve Dave Strathairn didn't even suit up for the game. Fitzhenry and Strathairn have ankle injuries and Meyer is out of school with a virus.

The Giants yesterday made 24 of their 57 shots from the floor for 42 per cent. Alan Fritz, filling in for Meyer at center, was credited with a good job, as well as Jim Marc, playing for Fitzhenry. Fritz and Bruce McGee led the team in rebounds with nine each.

eight cagers got in the scoring column.

Craig Hill, Fred Smith, Steve Congdon and Mike Anisle all scored eight points, while Fred Daniele led the assault with 11 markers on four buckets and three charities.

Terra Linda Bees won the preliminary skirmish 52-20. Rich Codington paced the attack with 13 points followed by Jim Jaccard with 10.

The Trojans entertain the Marin Catholic Wildcats Friday at 7 p.m. in their first Marin Athletic League game.

The San Rafael cagers will host Petaluma Friday in its final tuneup before embarking on its Marin Athletic League schedule. Tip-off time for that game is 7 p.m.

Huge North Line For Senior Bowl Saturday

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — When South backs get through running against the North line in Saturday's 17th annual Senior Bowl game, they may wish they had not tried it.

The big four who have stepped forward as leading contenders for starting defensive line positions for the North average more than 243 pounds per man.

The baby of the bunch is 240-pound Gale Gillingham of Minnesota. The biggest is 248-pound Charley Harper of Oklahoma State. And in between come Indianas' 242-pound Randy Beisler and Idaho's 245-pound Joe Dobson.

Linebackers making big defensive sounds with the Yanks so far are Dick Leftridge, a 235-pound fullback from West Virginia, Randy Schultz, a 205-pound fullback from Iowa State college and 235-pound Jim Waskiewicz of Wichita State.

Expected to go in the defensive secondary for the North are Missouri's John Roland and New Mexico's Stan Quintana at the cornerbacks with Ron Acks of illinois and George Wilson Jr. of Xavier at safety.

Both teams spent the first two days of practice in a steady drizzle. Non-contact group work has been the order for both days with South quarterback Randy Johnson from Texas A&I and Yank tossers Bill Anderson, Tulsa, and Gary Lane, Missouri, working on their passing.

South signal-caller Steve Sloan of Alabama, hampered by bruised ribs, has not participated in practice yet. He is expected to begin light work today and hopes to be ready to play Saturday.

But Sloan said yesterday, "The ribs are still sore. I just don't know whether I will play or not."

Terra Linda Wins, 57-52

The Trojans led by 4 points at the end of the first period and held an eight-point lead at intermission 32-24.

With subs playing in the second half, the Terra Linda squad maintained an 8 to 10-point lead throughout the third quarter and staved off a weak Crestmoor fourth period rally to emerge victorious.

San Rafael 61, Vallejo 52

Led by forward Bill Tetu's 20 points, the San Rafael High School basketballers surprised Vallejo 61-52 yesterday on the Bulldog floor.

Tetu also pulled down 11 rebounds while Jeff Allen grabbed 16 and scored 10 points.

The Bulldogs trailed at halftime 32-24 and dropped 11 points behind midway through the third

San Rafael Bees Play Like Varsity

San Rafael High School's Class B cagers scored like varsity players yesterday when the Bullpups whipped Vallejo's lightweights 72-50. Gary Welch scored 21 points for the San Rafael quint and Steve Durham added 14.

Tamalpais High School's Class B cagers topped Lick-Wilmerding 44-22 yesterday. Topping the scoring for the Tam bunch were Pat Schafer with 18 points, Leroy Barrow, 10, and Larry Adams, 10.

America 500, the Bridgehampton 500 and the Times Grand Prix in Riverside, Calif.

Hall said Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., and Joquim Bonnier of Geneva, Switzerland, would drive the Chaparral in the international competition. They are veteran Grand Prix drivers.

The tentative European schedule includes the Le Mans 24-hour race, the 1,000-kilometer event at Moza, Italy; the 12-hour race at Rheims, France; the Pa Grand Prix of Belgium; and the 1,000-kilometer race at the Nurburg-Ring in West Germany.

The cars also will run in the 24-hour Continental race at Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 5-6, and in the 12-hour at Sebring in March.

Hall and Hap Sharp, also of Midland, Tex., will continue to drive Chaparrals on the U.S. circuit, defending the North American road racing title they won last year.

Terrell Says He's Next For Cassius

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Heavyweight boxer Ernie Terrell said yesterday Cassius Clay has promised to give him the next chance at the world heavyweight championship.

Clay had named Terrell as his next opponent after defending the title last Nov. 22 against Floyd Patterson. But in recent weeks there were reports that Brian London of Great Britain might be favored for the title bout.

Terrell, recognized as world champion by the World Boxing Association, said, "I had a long discussion with Clay in Chicago just before Christmas and we agreed to fight, maybe inside of three months."

Drag Winners

John Marshall of Marin City and Larry Schlee of San Rafael were among the drag winners last Sunday at the Fremont Drag Strip. Marshall drove his Chevy 93.72 miles per hour in 14.93 seconds and Schlee drove his Chevy 88.45 miles per hour in 15.46 seconds, each man winning his specific class.

Mays Is City's 'Man Of Year'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Willie Mays, most valuable player in the National League last season, has been named San Francisco's Baseball Man of the Year.

The center fielder of the San Francisco Giants will receive his award Feb. 13 at the annual dinner of the San Francisco Baseball Writers.

Other baseball figures in addition to the 1965 Major League home run king will be honored at the awards dinner.

New Meat Market Opens Doors In Montecito Shopping Center

Newly opened this week in the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael, is Everett's Quality Meats — located in Casassa's Gourmet Foods Store, but not a part of that operation.

This is another retail meats, fish and poultry operation of Everett Thomas of Corte Madera—his third under that name. Other stores in Tiburon, Belvedere and Sausalito have been sold out. Most recent sale was the Tiburon shop now owned by Bernard Ossen and operated as Barney's Meats.

TONY'S GULF SERVICE at 1320 Second Street, San Rafael, has been changed to Vincent's Gulf Service. New owners are Louis R. Vincent of Santa Venetia and his son, Donald, of Novato, who purchased from Anthony Schiavo. Both father and son have been in the service station business for many years. The senior Vincent has had Vincent's Fairfax Service; son Donald owns Vincent's Texaco Service near Greenbrae. Both of these stations are being sold.

AFTER FIVE YEARS in business at 942-A Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, Mrs. Kerry Tedtsen has decided to close out her store, the Artificial Garden, and retire to housewifery at her home in Fairfax. During the month of January she'll close out all merchandise—and when that's all gone she'll close the doors.

DAVID DAVIS, manager of the State Department of Motor Vehicles in Marin County, reports that a large number of people seeking renewals of their automobile licenses for 1966 haven't yet discovered that the office at 1926 Fourth Street is closed. Last activity here was the sale of Christmas trees.

New office is located at 75 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera. That can be reached by southbound drivers turning into Lucky Drive from the 101 Highway, south of the Greenbrae Bridge.

NEW NAME FOR Walker Chrysler - Plymouth, Mill Valley, is Marin Chrysler-Plymouth. Same address—505 Miller Avenue.

A LOW - COST European tour currently offered through Budd's Travel and Tours, San Rafael, takes in 10 countries in 22 days via air-conditioned Vavo-Greyhound motor coaches with reclining seats. It is priced from $649.

JOHN R. PITCAIRN of San Rafael, owner of Pitcairn Management Service, had his article, "Tax Planning Time Is Now," selected as recommended reading by the National Assn. of Artificial Breeders in their December digest. The article was originally published in the October issue of Western Dairy Journal.

HARDING ASSOCIATES, Bay Area firm of soil and foundation engineers headquartered in San Rafael, has announced a change of name of the corporation to Harding, Miller, Lawson and Associates.

Principals in the company are Richard S. Harding (who is president), Eugene A. Miller and Robert T. Lawson—all of Mill Valley, and Henry T. Taylor of Larkspur. They will continue operations from main offices at 64 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, and from branch offices in Santa Rosa and Martinez.

Unsettled Labor Scene Blamed For Farm Woes

RIVERSIDE (AP) — The county agricultural commissioner says agriculture brought in an all-time record return for the county in 1965.

Commissioner Robert Howie's annual report said profits varied widely, with growers of green onions making $618 an acre compared to only $442 an acre for growers of Thompson seedless grapes.

"Over-all, for most commodities," Howie said, "it was a good year, but a lot of ranchers had a lot of problems." The main problem:

"Chaotic labor situation at harvest seasons throughout the county, due to the withdrawal of Mexican braceros and their replacement by domestic workers, who ranged from California Youth Authority parolees to high school athletes and housewives.

"A nine-day grape strike was a factor, too," he added.

Copal is a resin, obtained mainly from Africa, used in making varnish.

Next Budget Looms Large As Determiner Of Inflation

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — What actions of the government can foster inflation? What can the government do to halt or moderate a general rise in prices and loss of purchasing power by the dollar?

The cost of the Viet Nam War — how much money the government will pump into the economy through military spending — will play a big part in answering these questions.

A big Treasury deficit could have more effect on the course of inflation than isolated instances of price rises, such as Bethlehem Steel's $5 a ton boost in structural steel prices.

So right now, the talk about inflation centers most of all on what the new federal budget will hold. Will it be bigger spending, tax changes, a growing Treasury deficit? The new budget could do a lot to an expanding economy already pushing against the ceilings of production capacity and available skilled labor.

A budget deficit always can be a stimulant, mild or strong depending upon circumstances, to the economy. Some fear that a big Treasury deficit now might turn an expanding economy into an inflation-minded boom, with prices getting out of hand and wage demands skyrocketing.

Another tax cut, as once hoped for in 1966, would give both the economy and the federal deficit a big boost — at the risk of triggering a boom and bust.

Increased taxes could hold down the size of the expected deficit and curb the threat of monetary inflation. But some fear that tax hikes also could halt economic growth and might even lead to a recession.

Holding down government spending, whether for the military or the growing demands of the "Great Society" programs, could keep the Treasury deficit in line and slow the rising national debt. But here, too, the risk is in halting the economic expansion that otherwise would soon be entering its sixth year.

If the fears of a minority of economists are realized and inflation really gets going, what are the ways to stop it?

Some old-school economists still favor what they call natural correction. This says that inflation will take care of itself if the government doesn't tinker with the money supply. When prices get too high, demand dries up and employment drops. When wages get too high, it is unprofitable to hire more men. So prices and wages get back into line.

At the other extreme are those who plug for direct wage and price controls. These are unpopular and unlikely short of all-out war conditions.

Then there are fringe controls. Curbs can be put on credit so that it's hard to find money to finance speculative ventures.

Trust Often Answers Questions Of Estate

A trust may be compared to a lease, for the duties and rights of the parties are outlined in detail and thus the trustee need not go to court except for his accountings. If he makes his determination and decisions pursuant to the terms of the trust, he is assured that there will be no question that his authority has been properly exercised. In some cases the trustee may decide to ask the court for instructions.

When a "decree of distribution" has been entered in an estate, transferring to the heirs their shares and transferring to a trustee the share of the estate to be held in trust, it is customary to set out the terms of the trust in this decree.

The basic requirements of any trust are that there be directions to the trustee:

1. As to what is to be done with the income;

2. When the trust is to terminate;

3. Who is to receive the trust assets when the trust terminates; and

4. Sufficient powers granted to the trustee to carry out the terms and purposes of the trusts.

The trustee takes possession of all the assets, and just as he would as executor, verifies that all the income applicable to the various pieces of property is received. He provides for the upkeep of the properties, maintains adequate insurance, and pays the proper property taxes.

Some trusts direct that all of the income be paid to one or several beneficiaries. Others, for example in the case of very minor children, may require the accumulation of the income not required for a child's care until the child reaches its majority (or at a later specified date).

In cases where support is an important factor, the trustee may be directed to pay out a fixed sum to be made up, first from income, and if income is insufficient, then from the principal, or he may be directed to pay whatever is necessary in the trustee's discretion for the proper care, comfort, and maintenance of the beneficiary.

The trustee goes to court for periodic accountings of his custody and management of trust assets. At that time he may also point out to the court any special circumsances or changes in the properties or rights of the beneficiaries, such as a minor attaining majority, which may have occurred during the period.

In many trusts there are two types of beneficiaries, the one we have been discussing—who receives current benefits—and one who receives benefits at a later date. These are respectively referred to as the "life tenant" and the "remainderman."

Seldom does a trust provide for the distribution of shares to a minor, and the distribution is deferred until such time as the minor reaches his majority, (or a specified age).

Trusts sometimes continue in existence during the survivorship of a wife, and do not terminate until her death or some later time. A trust may be created for one person, and on that person's death continue for another. Distributions are often made in portions of the trust at attained ages, such as one-third at age 25, one-third at 30, and the balance at 35.

A trustee must of course keep the trust property separate and distinct from his own property, and must carry out the terms of the trust impartially, fairly and promptly.

Substantial Gain In Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market made a substantial gain today. Trading was heavy.

Steels were pacemakers and were joined by motors, coppers, aluminums, aerospace issues and a wide range of selected stocks.

The ticker tape ran as much as two minutes late as buy orders mounted despite the New York City transit strike which has impeded much business in the metropolis.

At the close, the New York Stock Exchange and American Stock Exchange said that because of the transit strike, the exchanges would close one hour and a half earlier Thursday and Friday (at 2 p.m. EST instead of 3:30 p.m.).

Volume for the day was estimated at 9.7 million shares compared with 7.55 million yesterday.

Steels rallied on news that the White House had found acceptable a price increase and other price revisions by U.S. Steel. Meanwhile, Bethlehem rescinded its $5-a-ton price boost. U.S. Steel's price increase for structural shapes as $2.75.

U.S. Steel climbed more than 2 points. Similar gains were made by Bethlehem, Jones & Laughlin and Crucible which was leading the list on volume. Lukens Steel leaped 3 points.

Up around a point were Republic Steel, Colorado Fuel and Iron, Pittsburgh Steel, National Steel and Inland Steel. Wheeling gained nearly 2.

Buying fanned out to many blue chips and the averages were up substantially. All Big Three motors were up about 1. IBM rose 6.

Ahead a point or better were General Electric, Boeing, Anaconda, Kennecott, Union Carbide, Xerox and U.S. Smelting.

Eastman Kodak rose 2, Baltimore and Ohio 4, Congoleum-Nairn 3.

Coppers continued to rally on the price boost for world copper. Anaconda and Kennecott advanced more than a point each. International Nickel gained 2. Newmont Mining common rose more than a point and its preferred 8 or better.

New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad lost more than 1 each, Texas Instruments about 5, SCM Corp. and Texas Gulf Sulphur about 1.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally higher in active trading.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Savings Company Boosts Interest

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Directors of Gibraltar Savings and Loan Assn. have decided to raise to 5¼ per cent the interest paid on pre-paid investment certificate accounts.

Association President Herbert Young said the rate, normally 5 per cent, was raised yesterday by directors and is retroactive to the first of the year.

He said minimum balance of such accounts is $10,000 and funds must remain on deposit for more than six months, after which interest, normally compounded semi-annually, is paid to date of withdrawal.

Chrysler Tallies Best Year Yet

DETROIT — Retail sales of Chrysler Corp. passenger cars in 1965 were the highest in company history, V. E. Boyd, Chrysler Corp. group vice president-domestic automotive, said today.

Total 1965 retail sales were 1,375,771 units, an 8 per cent increase over the previous high of 1,269,928 units sold in calendar 1955. The 1965 sales mark exceeded 1964 retail sales of 1,119,396 by 23 per cent.

Retail sales of Chrysler Corp. passenger cars in December were 116,331 units, 6 per cent more than December of last year when 109,990 units were sold.

Citizens Federal Has Growing Year

Citizens Federal Savings and Loan Assn. reported a new high of $350 million in total assets as of Dec. 31, 1965.

The sum represents a growth of 17 million dollars in the last 12 months—an increase of 5 per cent from Dec. 31, 1964.

Savings are now reported at $286 million—up 8 per cent from a year ago. Safety reserves increased 11 per cent to over $21 million. Home mortgage loans at $309 million are up $14 million from 1964.

Citizens Federal Savings, headquartered in San Francisco, has its Marin County branch in the Northgate Shopping Center.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Access Route Needed Now To West Marin Park Area

Point Reyes National Seashore in West Marin is girding itself for a million or two visitors per year.

But the action to provide a main access route is still stymied.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen hit the nail on the head the other day when he declared: "The need for the highway (from Highway 101 to West Marin) is becoming more and more apparent as full use of the West Marin state and federal recreational areas get closer to a reality."

Kettenhofen has been urging an alternate route from the vicinity of the Marin County Civic Center to White's Hill on Sir Francis Drake Boudevard —a route that will skirt populated areas like San Rafael, San Anselmo, and Fairfax.

The state's inability to provide an adequate direct route to West Marin is due in part to obstructionist tactics within the county.

It is regrettable that when the state was ready to study the widening of Shoreline Highway, from Dolan's Corner to West Marin, conservationists effectively blocked the move.

At one time, an even more direct route from San Francisco to West Marin was suggested. This route would have turned off Highway 101 immedately north of Golden Gate Bridge, diverting northbound cars onto military land and up the coast to Point Reyes.

When these plans fell through, the next likely east-west route was either from Greenbrae into San Anselmo and Fairfax or San Rafael to San Anselmo and Fairfax.

These proposals are also running into local opposition from San Anselmo and other areas in Ross Valley, which do not relish the idea of a thoroughfare cutting through the heart of their communities.

Thus, the east-west cutoff from Highway 101 to West Marin keeps creeping northward, farther and farther away from the residents and tourists in San Francisco who will be streaming across the Golden Gate Bridge.

The only city which is actively interested in serving as "The Gateway to the National Seashore" seems to be the northernmost community in Marin — Novato.

It makes little sense for tourists from San Francisco to be forced to jam the highways from Sausalito to Novato before they can turn off toward their destination in West Marin.

Painstaking efforts to widen Highway 101 and relieve the bottlenecks on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard through Kentfield and Ross will be almost useless if another million cars are to pour across the Golden Gate and clog the main highway all the way to Novato.

We are not at all convinced that Supervisor Kettenhofen's proposal for an east-west highway from the Civic Center to White's Hill is the wisest route. But we certainly endorse his effort to get the state highway officials to study the potentialities of that route.

An even more "direct route" may still be feasible, notwithstanding the howls that will be raised by conservationists — a cutoff from Sausalito into Fort Cronkhite and out of Olema, following State Route 1, the Shoreline Highway.

The Ragged-Look Of Winter

Looking out our window at the bedraggled trees, vines and bushes, with some half-dead leaves clinging precariously, this seems to be the ragged time of the year.

Rain-beat and wind-whipped, Nature seems at low ebb. Yet, all about there are signs that the rebirth of spring is near at hand. The green grass, the narcissus flowers, the swelling acacia buds—all speak of new life for growing things.

Brown Says State's Economy Outlook Bright For This Year

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The status of California's economy for 1966 is bright, according to Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who predicted the record for this year would be the best in advances since the year 1959. Pointing out that the economy in 1965 operated at higher levels than any state in the nation, the governor said expansions caused unemployment rates to fall, with new records in employment, personal income, cash farm receipts, corporate profits, retail trade and nearly every other measurable area of activity.

Performance in only one major sector, which was home construction, fell below the levels of 1964, he pointed out, but at the same time, he said strong gains were registered in non-residential construction.

VALUE OF office buildings was $271 million, according to a survey of building permits, and above average gains were recorded in religious buildings and educational facilities.

"The 1966 outlook," he said, "is for increased construction in both residential and non-residential categories, with residential permits estimated from 190,000 to 200,000.

This prediction would indicate a heavy continuation of subdivision activity in California, and also anticipates the continued flow of people into the state to take up the new construction for 1966 and the over-built areas now containing many vacant residences.

FURTHER, it is anticipated the employment level in California will exceed an average of seven million people this year. For the first time, the employed personnel in the state exceeded seven million during one month in 1965, and the average was 6.8 million for the year.

The governor's economists figure the anticipated increase in the total employment will cut down the claims for unemployment insurance, thereby giving some respite to drains on the fund and allowing a build-up of funds to provide for emergencies and time of low employment.

At the same time, a brighter note was sounded in the State Department of Employment, where disability insurance administrators said the disability fund, financed wholly by workers, has paid off its borrowed money, and currently is actuarily sound although operating on a "tight" basis.

THIS RESULTED from the fact the legislature passed laws requiring large employers to pay in contributions on a monthly, instead of a quarterly basis, and the first month's recepits have been received, giving the fund approximately a $30 million operating balance. Increase in the rate from 1 per cent to 1.1 per cent of a worker"s salary, and increase in the wage base to $7,400 annually as a basis for payment of the worker contribution, also has served to raise the level of contributions.

Personal income in California hit $59.5 billion last year, and the estimates indicate it will reach $63.5 billion during 1966.

Justice Hall Feature Praised

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In all of the discussions and publicity about the new hall of justice, one very encouraging bit of information has been overlooked. The entire building will conform with the architectural specifications outlined by the American Standards Assn., making it accessible to handicapped persons.

Spearheaded by the Marin Easter Seal Society, the architectural barrier committee is composed of many official and voluntary agencies interested in rehabilitation of the physically handicapped. This committee has been waging a continuous battle against the erection of new buildings, which, because of certain architectural features, bar those in wheelchairs, on crutches, or those otherwise disabled from entering and using public buildings.

So, hooray for Aaron C. Green, A.I.A., for making the new hall of justice a Marin edifice that will not make second class citizens of our physically handicapped population. In fact, our committee recommends a nosegay, nay, a large bouquet to Mr. Green.

'Act Of God' Policy Decried

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On Dec. 28, our neighbor's carport roof blew off and into our yard causing considerable damage (broken trellis work, broken planter boxes and damage to overhead sprinkler system).

Our neighbor was very apologetic and most concerned over the damage to our property. He immediately called his insurance man, believing (as we did) that his home owner's liability coverage would take care of the damage to our property.

His insurance man immediately sent out an "insurance adjuster." This adjuster made no attempt to evaluate the damage to our property but stated (while standing in the middle of the living room and 50 feet away from the accident area) that our neighbor's policy had no legal responsibility for the damage to our property as the windstorm "was an act of God" and therefore the insurance company was not liable.

We have since checked with our insurance man on this and find that this is actually the way the law in this state reads. As a further "for instance" we were told that if you have a tree growing on your property and it falls and totally destroys your neighbor's house or car, your insurance company can, and will, disclaim all responsibility for this, too, is an "act of God."

Since our own policy is a $50 deductible, we are just out of pocket for the first $50 worth of damage to our property.

We feel that this information should be made available to all of the residents of this area so that they may check with their insurance people to see what steps may be taken to protect themselves from such an unfair law.

Tamalpais Rail Proposal Backed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Speaking of rebuilding the Mill Valley to Mount Tamalpais "Crookedest Railway in the World," there is a good example how such a project could be a fascinating attraction in the Bay Area and to Marin County.

Down in the Santa Cruz redwoods there is a little shortline old-fashioned railroad of only a mile or two being built. Two old rebuilt engines of almost forgotten vintage draw three or four open cars on round trips of half an hour or so along an old logging road winding through the trees from near Felton. Tourists, vacationers, and especially young people and children all seem to be thrilled with a nostalgic excitement and crowd every trip during summer and holidays.

Our trip up Mount Tamalpais would be more than fabulous compared to that one, with the almost unbelievable views of the entire Bay Area, its cities, and the Marin County lakes and woodland from the top. In spite of occasional fog at the top there would be a beautiful tree-spread of Marin County lakes and woods, and the Bay often remains in the clear.

There is a similar project in our northern lumber country redwoods where an old logging train and railroad have been resurrected, and hundreds go miles out of their way to take the trip.

This Mount Tamalpais trip used to be an unforgettable feature of tourist travel as there is probably nothing so accessible like it in the West, certainly not nearer than Glacier Point in Yosemite. Let's get going! What are we waiting for?

Teen-Agers Get Bouquet

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Teen-agers of the Terra Linda Recreation Center, I think merit a "bouquet" for their interest in promoting recreation for the mentally retarded and physically handicapped group.

The writer accompanied Ray Greenberg, chairman of the recreation committee of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Marin, to a dance put on by the Terra Linda Recreation Center with 20 boys and girls from the center entertaining 20 girls and boys from the physically handicapped and mentally retarded group who participate in a weekly program there under the directorship of Harold Higgins.

It was something to see these teen-agers dancing the frug, watusi, etc., with a live band from the center, with an enthusiasm that was certainly heartwarming. The young people responsible for the party saw to it that there wasn't a dull moment. Even the two young boys confined to wheelchairs had a ball as there was always someone giving them attention . . .

As I looked on, I thought we hear so much about juvenile delinquents and their acts of violence, but so little about our boys and girls who go all out to give a little fun to those less fortunate; and I am sure they enjoyed themselves, to boot.

Now, how about that "bouquet," Mr. Editor?

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

"I ONCE KNEW a Texan who was so big," admitted Oklahoma's Helen Brown, "that when he died they couldn't find a coffin big enough to bury the poor fellow in." "So what did they do?" asked her surprised Aunt Lila. "Well," drawled Miss Brown, "they just let the hot air out of him and buried him in a shoebox."

THE TOP AD executive of a big news weekly vaguely suspects that he's been talking shop too much. He marched his five-year-old daughter around his Connecticut estate one Saturday morning and pointed out the bees, birds, frogs, and such-like. Finally she asked, "Say, Daddy, are spiders and octopuses put out by the same company?"

A WASHINGTON guide proudly told a group of tourists that the Bureau of Standards is now able to measure distances down to one millionth of an inch. "So what?" scoffed a sophisticate from Chicago. "Parking lot attendants have been doing that in our town for years.

"WHADDYAMEAN, I'm under the influence?" an indignant prisoner asked the police lieutenant. "I never said I wouldn't walk your blank, blank white line. I just asked you politely to put a net under it first!"

U.S. Push Toward Negotiation Making Us Define Settlement

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's far-flung peace initiative is unexpectedly turning into something more than an effort to get the war to the conference table.

It probably was not planned that way.

But in pressing other governments to help get negotiations started, the President's emissaries are finding that they, in turn, are being pressed:

TO DEFINE more precisely the kind of settlement we would expect.

TO COMMIT ourselves to a longer pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam even though such a pause brings no equal pause in the war against South Viet Nam.

Partly as a result of the wide-ranging talks we have initiated in Warsaw, Moscow, Belgrade, Rome, Paris, and Ottawa, the U.S. is unfolding more fully its concept of the main ingredients of the settlement we would hope to negotiate with Hanoi. We are showing we would accept:

1. A peace which would require a "non-aligned South Viet Nam," as the President's press spokesman said in Texas.

2. Any government of South Viet Nam chosen in free elections internationally supervised.

3. A return to the Geneva agreements of 1954—sound in themselves but only when observed faithfully by both sides.

4. No foreign military bases, including U.S., in South Viet Nam.

5. Withdrawal of American forces as soon as a settlement could take effect.

These peace ingredients have all been implied in official U.S. statements, including Johnson's Baltimore speech of last March. But the effect of setting them out in trying to get a negotiation started means that we would be entering the talks with most of our bargaining cards showing, while the Hanoi Communists are still asserting that the only settlement is one which gives South Viet Nam to the Viet Cong.

Possibly this is the only way a democratic government can approach a peace conference with a war only partly won. Possibly this is the only way we can enlist the good offices of other governments in advising Hanoi that now is the time to start talks.

These may be the justified risks of making a bold effort to move the war to the peace table, but you can depend upon it that Hanoi will be demanding everything and conceding nothing up to the last second of the negotiation—if they are willing to begin negotiation.

Hanoi is conceding nothing—diplomatically or militarily. But in order to enlist the active help of the other nations in breaking the won't-negotiate deadlock, we apparently wanted to assure them that the U.S. was not pointing a gun at Hanoi saying in effect: talk quickly or else.

THERE IS A TRAP here which will have to be avoided. We are not serving a time ultimatum on Hanoi. We are not saying that unless Hanoi agrees to negotiate in 48 hours or in 148 hours, heavier bombing will start.

But it is entirely in the Communist tactic for the North Vietnamese to play along for weeks by suggesting that negotiations—which never quite come off — are possible and simultaneously stepping up the war in South Viet Nam while we were refraining from carrying the penalty of the aggression to North Viet Nam.

I have no doubt in my mind that the President will take the "hard decisions" if Hanoi refuses to talk. We are prepared to defend or we are prepared to negotiate. In the President's words: "Those who insist upon testing either will find us earnest in both."

No Drama Is Due In Union Message

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson will present his annual State of the Union message the same way he did last year—in a nationwide TV-radio broadcast at a night joint meeting of Congress.

The second session of the 89th Congress convenes next Monday. At this writing, the plan is for the President to deliver his address at 9:00 p.m. Tuesday.

IN CONTRAST to a year ago, when most of the State of the Union message was devoted to the domestic field, this time the grim struggle in Viet Nam will be the predominant topic.

In its present draft form, the address contains no dramatic pronouncements.

The joint chiefs wanted the President to use this occasion to proclaim a national emergency. Such a declaration would have cleared the way for the activation of a number of "ready reserve" and National Guard units—which the joint chiefs strongly favor.

It is the joint chiefs' intent not to send these troops to Viet Nam. Instead, they would remain in the U. S. as replacements for regular forces dispatched to the combat zone.

After considerable inner council deliberation, the joint chiefs' proposal was shelved by the President as unnecessary at this time. However, it is very possible this urgent message may be reconsidered by June if the Viet Nam conflict continues to intensify.

DEFINITELY certain to be included in the President's address is the assurance that he does NOT contemplate seeking a tax increase.

While disclosing that his new budget will exceed $100 billion, the President will contend the booming economy will produce sufficient revenue to meet the large additional expenditures.

While announcing his intention to expand U. S. forces in Viet Nam to "more than 300,000," the President will lay heavy stress on willingness to negotiate "unconditionally" at any time.

The troops destined for Viet Nam are to meet General Westmoreland's request for a combat strength of six divisions. He now has the equivalent of four.

THE PRESIDENT also has approved adding several Air Force and Navy interceptor and light bomber squadrons.

The urgent need of this build-up is strikingly emphasized by two sinister developments:

Navy Intelligence has reported that in the first 25 days of December, Russia delivered 230,000 tons of arms and other war supplies to Haiphong, main North Vietnamese port. This is the largest amount so far provided in one month. Of this record total 150,000 tons was transported by Soviet freighters; 80,000 by Polish ships.

General Westmoreland has informed the Joint Chiefs of Staff that North Viet Nam used the holiday bombing lull to greatly increase the infiltration of troops and weapons into South Viet Nam. The U. S. commander particularly warned that heavy artillery is being laboriously hauled through Laos and Cambodia to Viet Cong strongholds in the central highlands of South Viet Nam—where the Reds' massive fire power can be used against lighter-armed U. S. cavalry and airborne forces.

THEODORE SORENSEN, general counsel and biographer of President Kennedy, sprained his ankle while vacationing in the Virgin Islands. He is preparing to enter private law practice in February.

Visitors Say Seattle Thinking Of Bridges Over Ferry Boats

Not really, I guess, but it sounded that way: "Belvedere and Tiburon, just a few years ago, were small villages, but they are now swank suburban communities."

New Year's Day was beautiful, grandmother was taking care of our son, and my wife and I were free.

We took a cruise on the bay aboard one of the ships of the Red and White Fleet. The boat leaves Fisherman's Wharf, goes under the Golden Gate Bridge, swings around Alcatraz Island, goes near the bay bridge, and then heads back to home port.

As I said, it was a beautiful day and great to be on the bay, but the depressing thing was listening to the running commentary coming over the loudspeaker.

IT SEEMED — aside from Belvedere and Tiburon once being "small villages" — that almost everything in our bay has to do with the military or prisons:

Fort Point "where never a shot was fired." (I thought that was nice.) Fort Barry, which is a fort. Angel Island, which housed soldiers and foreign prisoners during World War II and our own prisoners dating back to the 1800s. And, of course, Alcatraz Island, where Al Capone was once housed.

The trip was about one hour long and you could get a beer and sandwich on board. The tours are run by Harbor Carriers, the same outfit that runs the daily ferry service between Tiburon and San Francisco.

THE MOST DELIGHTFUL part of the trip was meeting Arthur and Elaine Wilk. They were visiting the bay area from Seattle with their son, Steve, and daughter, Kathy.

We talked about how lovely the bay is and how nice a town San Francisco is to visit. Then we talked about ferry service.

What a bomb shell!

I mentioned that there was much talk of reviving some kind of large scale service on the bay.

"We have some of your old ferry boats in the Seattle area," Wilk said. "There is a lot of talk of doing away with them."

"ARE YOU KIDDING?" I asked.

"No," he said, "people are beginning to think of bridges. Ferries are fun—this ride is fun—but if you want to get some place in a hurry, bridges are the answer."

I liked Mr. and Mrs. Wilk and hope they return to visit the bay area, but if it's true Seattle is thinking of doing away with ferry boats, I can think of one area that might be able to use them—again.

Wouldn't it be nice if those old ferry boats could come home?

Columnist Confidentially Looks Back On Year Of Predictions

WASHINGTON—Once a year a Washington columnist must take stock of what he wrote and how it affected the country.

In January I warned President Johnson to forget his legislative program for the Great Society. I pointed out that with a hostile Congress there was no possibility of getting any bills passed this year, and he would be better off if he concentrated on making friends up on the Hill rather than twisting arms. The President ignored the advice and we all know what happened.

With regards to the space program, I was the only one to predict that Gemini 6 and Gemini 7 would never be able to rendezvous. I pointed out that scientifically it was impossible for the two space ships to get near each other and the whole exercise would be a waste of money.

WHEN IT CAME to foreign affairs, I can take credit for advising the administration that if it escalated the war in Viet Nam, we would be at the conference table within two months. I pointed out that once the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were bombed they would realize there was no reason to continue the war.

My Pentagon and CIA sources told me once we destroyed the Ho Chi Minh Trail the North would not be able to supply its troops in South Viet Nam and they would have no choice but to surrender and sue for peace.

South America occupied a great deal of my time this year. I was the first to realize that the best way of making friends below the border was to intervene in the Dominican Republic. I wrote that quick action in the Dominican Republic would guarantee a stable government for that country and that as soon as our Marines landed both sides would forget their differences and work for the common good. Then in a few days we could pull out.

ALTHOUGH I lived in Washington, I still kept a firm grip on the pulse of New York politics, and I was the first columnist to urge John Lindsay not to run for mayor of New York as I knew he didn't have a chance.

When Teddy Kennedy proposed Judge Morrissey for the federal bench, I told Teddy privately, and then publicly, the appointment would sail through without any opposition.

Everybody forgets it now, but when the aluminum companies raised their prices I was the only columnist who pointed out that there wasn't a thing President Johnson could do about it.

Without seeming to brag, I was one of the few syndicated writers who predicted Sonny Liston would knock out Cassius Clay in the first round of their heavyweight fight.

I WAS ALSO the first one to print that Henry Ford would marry Sybil Burton and that his daughter Charlotte would marry Frank Sinatra.

But no columnist is right 100 per cent of the time, and occasionally I've slipped up. I predicted the post office would issue a stamp to commemorate President Johnson's gallstone operation. Three weeks later the post office denied it.

Synanon Slates Annual Report

Four panelists, including two residents of Synanon House at Marshall, will report on activities at the rehabilitation center during the past year on the KTIM Radio discussion program, "Marin Sounding Board," tomorrow at 9 a.m.

Taking part will be Charles Hamer, a former director of Synanon," Marvin Weinstein, involved in the Marshall building program; Dr. John R. Lee, and Hal Fenton, head of Marin Sponsors.

A recording of tomorrow's broadcast will be repeated Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

Dixie, San Rafael Joint Meeting Slated

Members of the Dixie and San Rafael school boards will meet together at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Santa Margarita School, 1055 Las Ovejas Avenue, San Rafael, to discuss formation of a single unified school district.

A representatvie of the county schools office will explain how the tax rate of such a district would be set, under new state law. The boards will compare budgets of the two districts, to attempt to see where changes would be made if unification is approved by the voters.

Careless Bidding Makes For Hard-To-Achieve Contracts

One of the chief advantages of bidding well is that you get to contracts that are easy to play.

Bad bidding lands you in contracts that only a mindreader can fulfill.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

When this hand came up during the Team Trials in San Francisco last November, one of America's leading experts jumped to three notrump with the North hand without ever mentioning his spades.

The contract was makable, but that's the only good word you can say for it.

SPADES PROBLEM

The problem was how to play the spades.

South refused the first heart trick, took the second heart in dummy and led a spade to try a finesse with the nine.

It was the "book" play, working whenever East has one or both of the missing high spades.

The play failed, since West got in with the jack of spades to set up his hearts.

West got in next with the king of spades to defeat the contract with the rest of the hearts.

SHOULD NOT STAB

Instead of stabbing at three notrump, North should make a forcing bid in spades over two diamonds. In some partnerships, a rebid of two spades is enough; in others, a jump to three spades is necessary.

This kind of bid gives South a choice between three notrump and four spades as final contracts.

With the actual hand South would be happy to support spades.

North would then be able to afford a misguess in spades.

North wins the first heart and loses a spade to the jack.

He wins the heart return, cashes the ace of spades and runs the diamonds to discard a heart from the South hand.

North then ruffs a heart and gives up a total of two trump tricks and one club.

DAIL QUESTION

Parner opens with 1 NT, and the next player passes.

You hold:

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three hearts. This jump shows sut of five or more cards with at least 9 points in high cards.

Partner should bid four hearts with heart support of three or more cards; but should bid three notrump if he has only two hearts.

In addition to the hourly and or per diem wages for the crafts, classifications or types of workmen listed above, contractors may be required to make employer payments for health and welfare, pension, vacation and similar purposes as required by the executed collective bargaining agreements for the particular craft, classification or type of work involved.

Overtime: Weekday, Saturday, Sunday, and Holiday overtime compensation shall be paid in accordance with executed bargaining agreements currently in effect.

The working day shall be eight hours unless otherwise specified above. The per diem rate shall be the hourly rate multiplied by the number of hours in the working day. When less than the number of hours constituting the working day, as herein stated, is worked, the wage to be paid shall be the hourly rate multiplied by the number of hours actually worked.

All skilled labor not listed above that may be employed is to be paid not less than the union wage scale for such labor and in no event to be paid less than Three and Seventy Seven and One Half One Hundredths Dollars ($3.775) per hour.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the Contract is awarded, and upon any subcontractor under him, to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the Contract.

Notice is hereby given that all bidders may submit with their bids a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability and experience. Such sworn statement may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

Bids shall be made out on forms obtained at the business office, Administration Building, San Rafael City Schools, Third and E Streets, San Rafael, California, or the offices of the Architects, 1539 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California, and shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check, cash, or bid bond, for ten (10%) per cent of the amount of the bid, made payable to the San Rafael High School District, and shall be sealed and clearly marked "Bid for Main Building Rehabilitation, San Rafael High School, Marin County, California, Bid #244," and filed with the Secretary of the City Board of Education at the offices of the San Rafael City Schools, Third and E Streets, San Rafael, California, on or before 3:00 o'clock P.M., January 21, 1966, and will be opened and publicly read aloud, at that time, on that date, and in said office.

Bids will be opened and publicly read aloud at that time, on that day, in the offices of the City Board of Education, San Rafael City Schools, Third and E Streets, San Rafael, California.

The above-mentioned check or cash or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded to him and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after being requested to do so by the San Rafael School District.

The School District reserves the right to reject any and all bids or to waive any informality in the bids.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for opening thereof.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Volga Documentary Proves Fascinating

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Life along Russia's Volga River was the subject last night of a "CBS Reports" hour which the network said involved both cooperation and harassment by the Soviets. It was no cotton-candy travelogue.

It was, on the other hand, hardly what American journalism would call a crusading document, or an expose—but in view of its frank comments about various aspects of Soviet society, one cannot help but wonder about the reaction of the Russians, who have proven themselves sensitive to U.S. television.

The program's publicity described it as "a comprehesive, searching look at the Russia few Americans have seen or know much about—the villages and cities along the banks of her greatest river, the 2,300-mile Volga. Filmed over a two-month period, the broadcast probes some of the Soviet Union's vast and complex problems . . . " The producer was Gene Deporis, with Marvin Kalb as the reporter and writer.

The harassment referred to by the network was specifically mentioned in the program. In addition, there were pointed comments concerning such areas as Soviet economic "backwardness," apartment house construction, roads, conformity and displays of "organized affection."

There was also a comment about the fact that in a "classless society," a river steamer offered three classes of travel. Another segment dealt with a top steelworker who, as a leader at his factory, had an apartment, a television set, a country home and a car. "CBS Reports" said he offered the information that most workers have such apartments (his was private, strictly for his own family)—but the program then discounted this allegation by noting how many shared apartments are in use.

The program also took note of pleasant aspects of life along the Volga as well as some improving areas of Soviet society. There were shots of a beach, of singing on a riverboat, of a production of "My Fair Lady."

From a production viewpoint, this was an especially fascinating hour of "CBS Reports"—for the subject was one that was almost ideal for a documentary. It offered a chance to see something new—and in a country of unique interest to Americans. It offered a chance to combine a study of essentials with a look at beautifully photographed scenery that was important to the basic structure of the hour.

Very frankly, I cannot remember ever being bored by any video show that gave me the opportunity to see a part of the world I had never seen before. But this hour was able to accomplish tasks on a number of levels—and in color for those fortunate enough to see the program that way. NBC-TV, by the way, announced some time ago that it will present a one-hour color program filmed in the Siberian city of Irkutsk under a formal agreement with the Soviet Union.

Job Corps Leader Expects Troubles

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The new head of the Job Corps anticipates more violent "blow-ups" at the antipoverty agency's camps, but he does not believe they will undermine the youth training program.

The views of Dr. Franklyn A. Johnson, who took over this week as director of the corps, were made known today by an official of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO). OEO runs the corps.

Johnson was reported to be less concerned than some officials more directly involved about 1965 outbreaks involving Job Corps members at Camp Breckinridge, Ky., Camp Atterbury, Ind., and Camp Custer, Mich.

Meteors sometimes follow one another so quickly their luminous streaks give the impression of rainfall, hence the term "meteor shower."

Tuberculosis Strikes 50 Marinites In Year

Tuberculosis struck two infants, 10 women and 29 men in Marin County last year. It killed a 31-year-old Fairfax man who did know he had it.

Three reactivations of arrested tuberculosis brought the 1965 known case total to 53. According to the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn., this represents a 51.5 per cent increase over 1964 and a 163 per cent increase over 1960, when TB began a steady upward trend. Based on population, there has been a 100 per cent increase in five years.

The probability there are four or five times more active cases than the 50 new cases reported last year to the Marin County Health Department was expressed by Mrs. Geneva W. Berry, executive director of the TB association.

"Experience has shown that for every person found to have active tuberculosis there are four or five others who have the disease and are infecting others but don't know it. The reason," she explained, "is that deadly as it is tuberculosis doesn't make people feel sick in the early stages."

Not a single connection has been found between the 50 new known cases, Mrs. Berry said. Even the infectors of the two babies—a year-old girl and a 22-month-old boy—remain unidentified, she said.

"We hope the tuberculin testing planned by the Christmas Seal association for the entire Mill Valley School District on Feb. 7 will give some clues," Mrs. Berry said.

Ages of the adults stricken last year ranged from three 22-year-old women to two women ages 84 and 87. Thirteen were in the 40s, 12 in the 50s and six in the 20s.

San Rafael had 12 cases, Mill Valley, which had the most cases in 1963 and '64, and Novato each had nine cases. San Anselmo had six, Sausalito had four, Kentfield and Marin City each had two and there was one each in Corte Madera, Bolinas, Ross, Marshall and Inverness.

Here's New Way For Fitting Shoes

A revolutionary system for sizing shoes and for fitting men's feet, recently introduced to this area by Sommer & Kaufman, is meeting with excellent consumer response.

Called the dynamic fitting concept, it is termed a breakthrough in the men's shoe industry. It was developed by Jarman Shoe Co., a division of Genesco, Inc., of Nashville, Tenn.

The DFC system combines highly accurate foot measurements (in three dimensions instead of the traditional two) and new geometrically proportioned lasts, to provide better fit and comfort.

The third dimension is the circumference, or girth, at the ball of the foot, the most important measuring point, according to William St. Johnson, Jarman retail specialist.

"Better fit reduces sharply what we term topline gapping, and it also reduces vamp creases. Furthermore, shoes that fit better also hold their shape longer and last longer," St. John said.

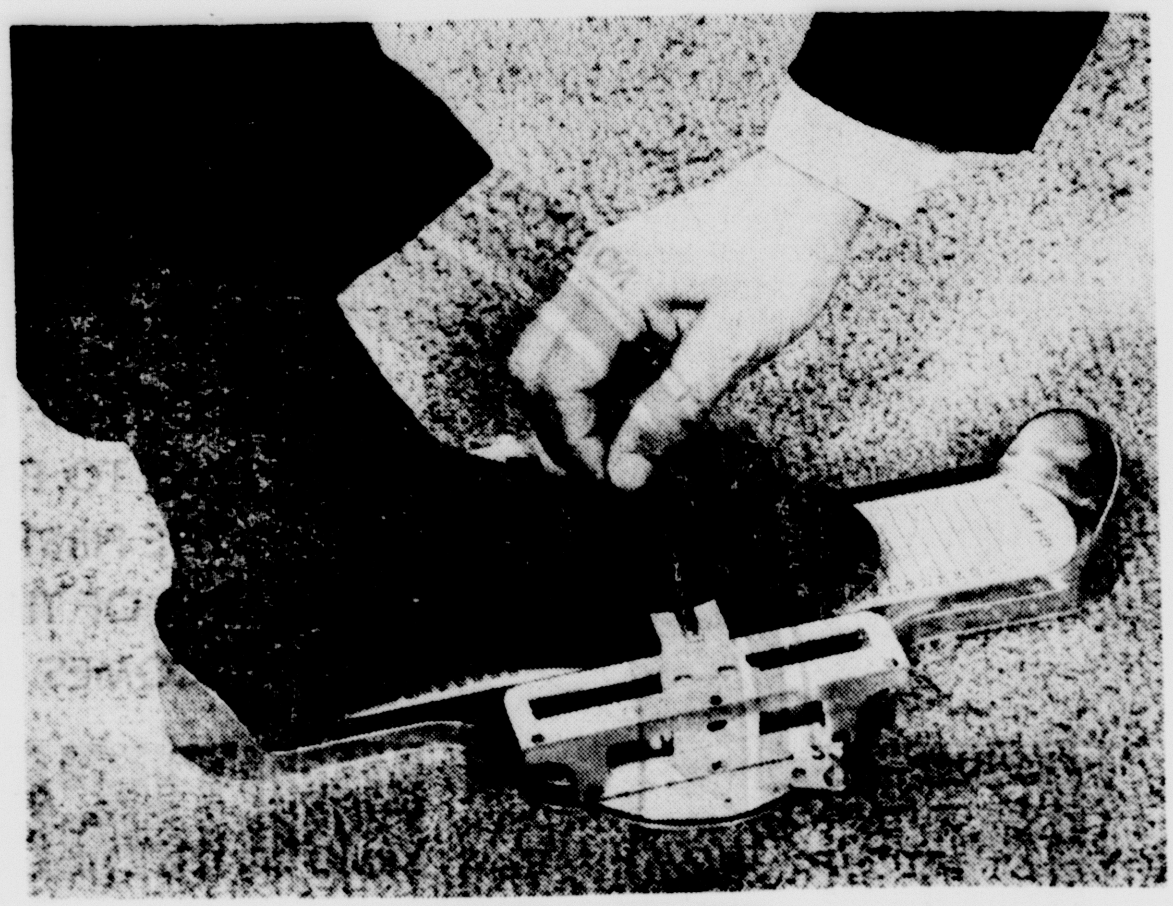
Prior to introducing the new system in New York City, Sommer & Kaufman personnel were taught how to use it. It is believed to be the first new foot-measurement system in nearly 100 years.

It is not just a revision or updating of the old sizing and fitting method. St. John explained that the standard system in use today was pretty well perfected in the 1880s, resulting from history's first mass production of shoes during the Civil War.

From that time until the introduction of this new system, there were no basic changes in shoe sizing.

Research by Jarman in recent years showed that the old system had a margin of error in both last grading and shoe-sizing. What was needed was a more precise measurement of a customer's foot in order to determine his exact size.

Development of the new system began about 15 years ago after the U.S. Army gathered detailed statistical material on foot measurements of more than 100,000 servicemen. Jarman became interested in this Army research and launched its own survey in 1960.



THREE-WAY FIT

A new concept in shoe fitting introduced by Sommer and Kaufman's Northgate store measures the length and width of a man's foot — and also the girth at the ball of the foot, providing better fit and comfort. Shoes hold their shape and last longer.

Extra Language

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Indian government announced plans to have each of its customs officers qualified in at least one foreign language.

High Heeled Shoes Chop Up Floors

NEW YORK (AP) — A 120-pound woman can exert more pressure than an elephant — if she happens to be wearing high "stiletto" shoes.

In a torture test of various flooring materials in which only ceramic mosaic tile survived, it was found that a woman shod in high fashion shoes can put a pressure of 3,500 pounds beneath one heal. An elephant develops only 50 to 100 pounds pressure per square inch beneath its foot.

When cast-iron plows appeared in the early 1800s, many farmers refused to use them for fear of "poisoning the soil."

Here Are Some Tips On Dress, Grooming

Metal on-the-door hat racks mark the bands of rarely-worn hats. A spiral tape on the part that holds the hat will prevent this.

Test color-fastness of a garment before using cleaning fluid by first applying it to the inseam or facing of garment. If fabric "bleeds," or if you're in doubt, give the job to your dry celaner, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

When you brush off your hat, wipe out the inside as well. It gets dirty and oily from the hair.

It takes 48 hours for a shoe to dry out properly after it has been wet by a rainstorm.

Suede leather should be cleaned with a soft sponge. Even suede brushes can rub away the nap if used too vigorously.

After washing a wash-and-wear shirt, "finger-press" the collar edges by squeezing with finger and thumb. It will dry faster and smoother.

New Delhi Slums

NEW DELHI (AP) — One-tenth of the capital's three million people live in slums, the city commission reevaled, saying, "it is a problem which has defied solution all these years."

So, You Don't Know How Hard You Work?

If you're a 165-pound male with an average job, your feet carry you some seven and one-half miles a day and take a sledgehammer pounding of more than 1,000 tons. If you're the woman around the house, credit your feet with roughly 10 miles and 1,500 tons of jolts, according to research done by Irving J. Bottner, president of Esquire Shoe polish.

Special Buys In Bedding Slated By City Of Paris

During the month of January, City of Paris at Northgate will feature a number of special buys in bedding.

Since the store does not have a regular domestics department, it will be a good opportunity for homemakers to stock their linen closets at White Sale savings. Everything must go.

A selection of the most important sizes and colors is available in Wamsutta cotton percale sheets, cotton terry "Luxor" towels by Martex, acrilan blankets, electric blankets by General Electric. Wamsutta's embroidered Starflower towels and Kodel polyester bath rugs.

Super Secret

NEW DELHI (AP) — The National Committee of Archives complained state and central government confidential records "even a century old" have not been released to the archives. It recommended all records 25 years old be released to archives "irrespective of their classification."

Australia's senate has refused to raise income taxes by 2.5 per cent.

Emporium Course Set In Bridge

James C. Myers of Kentfield, veteran insurance broker and bridge expert, will hold bridge classes once a week for 15 weeks at The Emporium in Marin with classes scheduled every Wednesday from 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p.m., starting January 12, in the store's first floor cloakroom. No advance reservations needed. Fee is $1 per class.

Myers is also well known in Marin as a duplicate bridge tournament player, a past president of the Marin unit of the American Contract Bridge League, and a Life Master of the ACBL.

Although he has taught classes at the YWCA the series at The Big E is the first time his classes have been open to the general public.

While chess and golf rank high with Myers as hobbies as well as bridge, it is the last which brings him into the professional field as instructor endorsed by George Gooden, and using the Goren and Gooden method of play.

Here Are Hints To Keep Your Clothes Smart

You have a better chance of keeping your button-down collar looking neat if you wear a tie with a small knot.

You never polish patent leather shoes, but the soles, sides of the soles and heels need periodic attention. Use an old toothbrush to apply liquid polish.

Do not depend on the original adjusting of suspenders or belt to keep your trousers hanging properly. They sometimes stretch and require re-adjusting to look right. Knit sport shirts are justifiably at the peak of their pouplarity, but they still look less than smart on pudgy heavyweights who bulge out of them.

South African Factory Women Watch Styles

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Women factory workers in South Africa are becoming increasingly fashion conscious. Gone are the days of drab khaki and off-white overalls.

Designers of work-wear for women now have to play close attention to Paris hemlines and fashions, according to this country's National Occupational Safety Association.

The girls' safety, health and working freedom are no longer the only considerations of designers.

"Employers and unions alike see the psychological value of attractive protective clothing," says the association. "We cannot, however, follow fashion faithfully. Gimmicks for gimmicks sake do not make overalls more interesting or effective."

Current styling favors the simple shift-type overall, about 40 inches in length, made from a gaily colored synthetic material such as nylon, states the association.

SLEEK AND SOPHISTICATED AS MAMA

Gone is the day when grandma can deck her favorite granddaughter in fluffy frills and furbelows. Shown here is the "naked wool" look from a Mary Louise collection. It features a reversed tucked sleeve, darted bodice, cutaway neck and pom-pom trim. Fashioned in 65 per cent orlon and 35 per cent rayon, it comes in Bristol Aqua and is sold at the Roos-Atkins Northgate store.

Chandlers Warp 'N Woof Sets Storewide Clearance Sales

Swinging into its third month of business since its grand opening last October, Chandlers Warp 'n Woof at Northgate inaugurates the first of its storewide clearance sales.

The sales have been a tradition in the San Francisco and San Mateo stores.

One of the unusual features of the merchandising policies of this group of stores is the fact that every bolt of fabric is personally selected by the Chandler family. This occasions not only a number of buying trips each season to New York and other domestic fabric centers, but buying trips abroad—to Europe and the Orient.

As a result, all three stores are treasure houses of the latest designs, colors, textures and representations of the finest weaving art from both the United States and abroad. Through their worldwide connections, the Chandlers also feature many one-of-a-kind fabrics purchased from couturier workrooms of noted designers.

According to Stevan S. Chandler, manager of the Northgate store, this year's event will have fabrics woven by famous mills and in a wide selection that ranges from practical weaves for everyday and campus wear to beautiful presentations of woolens, blends, silks and cashmeres.

Also included in the sale is a special purchase of more than 1,000 yards from a designer workroom - the newest 1966 spring patterns in fully lined knitted fabrics: Jerseys, crochette patterns and lacy-look designs.

Though thousands of yards of regular merchandise will be made available, Chandler said there is some limitation on quantities of yardage. He suggested that interested customers should be present at the store as early as possible after its 9:30 a.m. opening.

Singers Names Make Up A Game

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Name Game" was one of the hit songs of 1965. But the wildest names in teen-age musical popdom—and the ones a listener can really play games with—are the names of the groups that sing young America's favorite songs. Every one we mention had a song in the top 100 (compiled weekly by Cashbox Magazine) at least once this year.

Forgetting whether their wailing sound is Motown (that's short for Motor Town—Detroit) or Mersey (that's the river that runs through Liverpool), the groups kind of group like this:

Flora and Fauna: The Hollies, Patty La Belle and the Bluebells, the Animals, the Beatles (Ringo, Paul, John and George may never bug out), the Byrds, the Larks, the O'Jays, the Turtles (six boys from Redondo Beach, Calif., who record on the White Whale label), the Dolphins.

The Royalists (shades of King Cole, Duke Ellington, Count Basie): Sir Douglas Quintet, Little Anthony and the Imperials, Royalettes, Kingsmen (with their regal "You Got the Gamma Goochee"), Little Caesar and the Consuls, Viscounts, Sam the Sham and the Pharoahs.

Hoi Polloi or Worse: the Vacels, the Yardbirds, the Barbarians (they scored a hit with "Are You a Boy or a Girl"), Young Rascals, Mad Lads, Strangeloves (their backup band, the McCoys, split off and made it into the top 100, too), the Kinks.

The Egotists: Supremes, Miracles, Uniques, Four Tops, Fortunes, Ovations, Marvelows, Marvelettes, Beau Brummels, Shangri-Las, Temptations, Spellbinders, Vogues, Impressions, Newbeats, Gerry and the Pacemakers, Wayne Fontana and the Mindbenders.

The Isolationists: Castaways, Tradewinds, Drifters, Herman's Hermits, Rolling Stones, Moody Blues, Bachelors, Freddie and the Dreamers, Zombies, Mojomen, Cannibal and the Headhunters.

Just Like Apple Pie: Jay and the Americans, Paul Revere and the Raiders (five guys from Portland, Ore., whose leader says his name really is Paul Revere), the Kids Next Door, the Sunrays (discovered by the clean-cut Beach Boys), Lettermen, Ivy League (they're British), Spokesmen, Astros, Detergents (who can forget their immortal "Leader of the Laundromat"), Dixie Cups, Toys, Rag Dolls (took their name from a hit by the Four Seasons), T-Bones, CODs.

Zaberwocky: Lovin' Spoonful, Silkie, Gants, Hedgehoppers, Anonymous, Ikettes, the Changin' Times (two song writers turned singers, took their name from a Bob Dylan song), Them, Wonder Who, Guess Who and Who (four guys whose truck was broken into and electric guitars and drums stolen three times in two weeks; while they were out buying a guard dog, somebody stole the truck).

Mine Detectors Track Cornerstone

The cornerstone, according to records, was laid on April 20, 1864, and the building finished in 1867. The records do not reveal where the cornerstone is located.

Long Bridge

PATNA, India (AP) — A two-mile-long concrete bridge across the Sone River, opened after three years of construction work, has shortened the highway mileage between New Delhi and Calcutta by 125 miles. The bridge is India's longest.

Low Cost Screen Helps Research

It's a long piece of wood with a wire screen attached to one end. Scientists use it to seine toads and frogs from experimental water evaporation ponds.

Bridge Out, Army Puts One Up, Down

NEW DELHI (AP)—A bridge which connected a rural community with the capital was destroyed and the army put up a temporary replacement. Then the army decided it needed the bridge back.

Now the community's 75,000 residents must travel five miles farther to reach New Delhi. It will be at least one year before they have a bridge.

Opossums Plague Farmers But Two Have Found Home

AUCKLAND, New Zealand—(AP) — Opossums are Public Enemy No. 1 to many New Zealand fruit farmers, gardeners and tree lovers. The voracious native of Australia is often blamed for causing more damage than deer and rabbits, and it is hunted with gun, trap and poison.

Shy and elusive, it packs a powerful bite and scratch if cornered.

But Tayler is different. It learned that good manners earned a full stomach.

Every Friday evening for the past year, when an Auckland couple paid a weekend visit to their seaside cottage, Tayler (so called because it hung by its tail) would appear out of the trees, leap upon a screen door and rattle it until it gained attention.

"He stays hanging from the door until he has a full belly," said the cottage owner. "The amazing thing is that we regularly see around the cottage dead opossums which have been shot by rangers, but Tayler always turn up."

But so as not to shorten the odds against Tayler, the newspapers are not publishing the cottage owner's name or address.

Tow Tayler has made news again by appearing with a baby on its back, clinging in approved opossum fashion. The cottage owners had thought Tayler was a male.

The baby gets the same meal as its mother—bread and an occasional apple.

German Scientists Are Collecting The Folk Song Sounds Of Nepal

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Three West Germans are traveling door-to-door through villages of Katmandu valley, listening to folk songs and watching native dances.

The three aren't talent scouts —they are scientists sponsored by the Fritz Thyssen Foundation of Cologne and attached to the Nepal Research Center operated by Prof. Walter Hellmich of the University of Munich.

Purpose of their travels through central Nepal is to collect and document folklore of the valley's Newar tribesmen. The Newars never wrote down their music or historical tales, but passed them down verbally through the generations.

He is assisted by sound and cameraman Eastau Lantschner, 51, and Hubert Schniebl, 29, both of Innsbruck, Austria.

From early morning until late night the three move from locality to locality, recording folk and religious music, vocal and instrumental. They ask the people how they got the music and what it means.

"One of my main aims," said Grad, "is to make a comparative study of differences in elements of music between Nepal and Europe. I have found originality in instruments here, like the long trumpets supported on bamboo poles. But the small violin of the folksingers is almost the same (as in Europe)."

Grad and his team plan to work through the winter, returning to Germany next spring.

Folklore collecting is but a small phase of the work carried on by the Nepal Research Center. Hellmich said 60 scientists in eight separate groups have visited the region since 1959 to help prepare a comprehensive profile of the Khumbu region, from Mount Everest to the Plains of Terai.

Two volumes of their research work have already been published, he said, and a third is under preparation. The research has included zoological studies, natural and cultural sciences and medical investigations.

Hellmich said the scientific groups have been based at the center, which is financed by the West German embassy, but that each team has spent a total of three months to two years in upper reaches of the Himalayas.

Big Levee Project Eyed In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Everyone has heard of Betsy, the ferocious hurricane. Soon the name LISA may be equally familiar along South Louisiana's Gulf Coast.

LISA stands for the Louisiana Intracoastal Seaway Assn., which backs a plan that would include raising a 12-foot levee to protect low coastal areas from hurricane tidal surges.

"It looks like our best plan," said Gov. John J. McKeithen after pondering LISA's potential —not only for flood protection but also for industrial possibilities.

Betsy did about $1 billion damage to the Louisiana coastal area, by best estimates. It was the third hurricane of extraordinary violence since 1958. And it stirred a lot of brainstorming as to the future.

One eminent scientist, Dr. Edward Teller, predicted that man will be able to control hurricanes in a decade or so. This is a comforting thought—but many weather forecasters are not so optimistic.

"Work is being done on it," said E. L. Hill of the New Orleans weather bureau. "How soon you will get a breakthrough, I don't know. It might be a decade, it might be several decades."

Backers of LISA would rather not wait.

In Betsy, as in other storms, the major problem was not the wind. It was the flooding caused by tidal surges — sea water pushed inland by the storm.

Towns in lowlying areas were hard hit. And thousands upon thousands of acres remained under water for weeks as floods slowly drained away.

LISA stalwarts say much of the flooding could be prevented by a 12-foot levee extending the length of the coast, from the Mississippi River to the Texas border.

Under the project envisioned by LISA, such a levee would be merely a valuable by-product of the Intracoastal Canal.

The existing canal — 12 feet deep and 150 feet wide — would be widened and deepened, with salt water locks at strategic points to let seagoing traffic in or out.

An engineering firm, Waldemar S. Nelson & Co., said dredging the canal to a depth of 40 feet and widening it to 500 feet would involve moving enough earth to create a natural levee on the seaward side.

The prospect is so enticing the 1964 legislature created LISA, with its membership drawn from adjoining parishes abutting the Gulf.

The cost of LISA is figured at about half a billion dollars.

Backers suggest most of the money could come from offshore oil royalties, now held in escrow by the federal government in the tidelands dispute.

Teen-Agers Urged For Civic Posts

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The mayor of Lincoln believes that high school students should be involved in city government.

In a letter sent to the heads of city advisory boards, Mayor Dean Peterson asked that each recommend young persons to serve as full, active members.

"I don't mean that they should dominate these boards," Petersen said, "but their viewpoints could be very helpful . . . "

Tomb Excavation

ENNA, Sicily (AP) — The Sicilian superintendency of antiquities has authorized new excavations at Montagna Di Marzo — Mountain of March. Scientists want to see whether grave looters who illegally dug up 2,500 ancient tombs there many years ago may have overlooked other finds of archeological value.

Scientific Deep Fishing Brings Up 'Sea Monsters'

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Ocean scientists have found what may be a baby sea monster slithering along in the depths off the coast of Peru.

And they also have a photograph to shake up archeologists.

The scientists, headed by American Dr. Robert G. Menzies, spent six weeks aboard the ship "Anton Bruum" cruising a zig-zag course over the Peru-Chile Trough (Fosa Peru-Chile).

Menzies and 14 assistants probed the trough bottom with a special camera and high power lamp linked to the ship by cable. The trough bottom is 2 miles beneath the ocean surface.

What may be the baby sea monster, so dear to the hearts of most sailors is called leptocephalus. Dr. Menzies' specimen, dragged up from the ocean floor by a trawl which usually goes with the camera, is about 12 inches long.

"It is conceivable that if the leptocephalus has the same growth rate as European eels, which we know a lot about, it could attain a length of 100 feet," one of Menzies assistants, Alec Ibanez, told The Associated Press.

"But to the best of our knowledge, the adults are uninvestigated and unknown," he said.

Adult leptocephaluses could be responsible, he added, for age-old sailors' stories of huge, wriggily monsters in the vastness of the Earth's oceans.

This was the second time the Peru-Chile Trough was investigated scientifically. Menzies made the intial survey in the late 1950s.

Menzies' camera, lamp and trawl are dragged along the ocean floor for several minutes at a time. The scientist has no way of knowing what the camera may be photographing in the depths.

But his assistants say Menzies seems to have an uncanny and intuitive way of submerging the camera and rig at productive spots.

The scientist, 43, who has returned to his post as director of Duke University's oceanographic program in California, also collected a new species of neopilina, a small snail-like creature which scientists once believed extinct.

Neopilina "was thought only to exist as a fossil, having become extinct 350 million years ago," Ibanez said.

The Menzies' expedition, which collected 20 living neopilina, was part of a year-long study of the southeast Pacific Ocean sponsored by the National Science Foundation in Washington.

Another — and unexpected — dividend of the trough survey came in the form of a routine underwater photograph.

"The picture appears to show several stone columns. And it's possible that they are man-made," Ibanez said. "What an archeological find that might be."

Menzies, he added, hopes to return soon to follow up the photograph with a scientific investigation.

India Said To Spend Little On Education

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A meeting of Indian economists was told that India is spending 10 rupees ($2.10) per student per year on education, compared with $300 in the United States.

"We have the largest number of illiterates in the world—330 million—and our expenditure on research is the lowest," the speaker, D. S. Kothari, complained.

SPECIAL FOR WINTER

It's smart to tie this winter, whether your look is sporty and tailored or soft and refined. One of the smartest ways to tie is shown in this hi-ride little-heeler by Quali-Craft, rounded at toe and slightly curved at heel. At Leed's Northgate store.

Eskimos Send Photographs Home In Place Of Letter

The northerners, ranging in age from three months to 83 years, all come from the Northwest Territories and have been in Montreal for periods ranging from a few weeks to 18 months.

They arrived at the Travellers' Aid depot in Central Station from hospitals, convalescent homes and foster homes to have their pictures taken for the benefit of their relatives up north.

"None of these people were home for Christmas and these pictures, along with complete reports on their medical and social circumstances were sent to their families in time for Christmas," explained Mrs. M. Jean Henshaw, executive director of Travellers' Aid, a Red Feather agency which has a contract with the Department of Northern Affairs for the care of Eskimos travelling south for treatment.

"It helps so much for those at home to have a visual image to go by, rather than a written one only. Parents especially can see how their children look, how they are progressing and whether they are happy.

"Eskimo parents are exceedingly good parents and miss their children desperately, although they never hesitate to send them away if it is for the child's own good," she said.

The children, although shy, appeared happy, content and thriving with their obviously indulgent foster mothers.

"There are only two mail drops a year where they live, one in July and the other just before the freeze-up. Since most of the Eskimos there are Anglican or Catholic and do celebrate Christmas, we think it's rather nice for them to receive the pictures at this time," Mrs. Henshaw said.

The Eskimos come to Montreal suffering from a variety of illnesses including fractures, burns, heart disease, congenital defects in children and a very common Eskimo ailment of the chest which resembles bronchitis.

Many of them are now ready to go back but are waiting for transportation, which depends on the weather, the long dark period and other Arctic considerations.

The children speak either Eskimo or English, sometimes both.

NEW HOME FOR SAVINGS AND LOAN—Sometime next summer — probably in July — this two-story modern building will house both the savings and lending operations of American Savings and Loan Assn. at Northgate Shopping Center. Planning is now in final stages and bids for construction are expected to be opened this month.

Jazz Combo From Britain Jazzes Up Dylan Thomas

LONDON (AP) — A British jazz quartet has brought out a new long-playing record based on Welsh poet Dylan Thomas's play "Under Milk Wood."

The play was the last work of Thomas, who died in a New York hospital while on a poetry-reading tour of the United States in 1953.

The Stan Tracey Quartet — piano, tenor saxophone, bass and drums — attempts to transpose into jazz several of the characters and focal points in the play and to match in music Thomas's distinctive use of language.

Tracey, a 38-year-old pianist, said the phrase which kep running through his head was Thomas's "Starless and Bible Black" which is the title of one of the jazz pieces. Others include "No Good Boyo," "Cockle Row," and "I Lost My Step in Nantucket."

Hotel Losses

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — A loss of more than $23,000 was shown by the first and only state-sponsored hotel in Colombo during the first four months of its operation, a report said.

Will Moving Air Increase Yield?

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — University of Illinois researchers are trying to determine if fans in a cornfield will boost the harvest yield.

They want to know whether more air, and consequently more carbon dioxide, would increase corn production over plants in the same field not having the fans.

Last season, researchers turned the fans on when the corn tasseled and ran them day and night during the critical ear-filling period. No conclusions yet.

American Savings, Loan Will Open

American Savings and Loan Assn. of California has announced completion of preliminary plans for its ultramodern savings and loan center in San Rafael's Northgate Shopping Center.

Planning has now reached final stages for the two-story, 3,000-square-foot glass structure, with only small details yet to be worked out. Construction bids are expected to be opened this month, and the new facility is planned for completion in July.

Kenneth E. Boosey, manager at the Northgate branch presently located between Liebes and Roos Atkins, reports the branch passed its first million-dollar milestone in savings in December, just 3½ months after it opened. During 1965, American Savings loaned approximately $18 million on Marin County real estate. The American Savings real estate loan portfolio totals in excess of a billion dollars.

San Rafael-Northgate is the newest branch of the largest savings and loan branch system in the United States. American Savings, with assets over a billion dollars, is the largest savings and loan association in Northern California, and the firm celebrated its 80th anniversary last year.

Long Talk

BOMBAY, India (AP)—M. S. Muthanna, general manager of Bombay Telephones, says the average daily number of calls per telephone in this city is 16, against four to six in foreign countries, and that the average duration of a call is five minutes, contrasted with 70 to 80 seconds in foreign countries.

Taxes On Tobacco Set Year's Record

Commerce Clearing House says collections on tobacco shot up more than $96 million to a high of $2.1 billion, reversing a downward trend in 1964.

Of the total tax take, cigarette purchases provided $2 billion.

India Drought

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A nationwide survey shows drought seriously affected all-important food grain crops in six states. Mysore State's harvest was described as the worst in 60 years.

MORE THAN MEETS THE EYE

It takes a deft touch to apply eye makeup properly as Christy and Charlotte Gilman of San Rafael are discovering here as students at the recent Elizabeth Arden Eye Clinic held at Northgate Drugs. Miss Nancy Decker, cosmetician at the drug store is the instructor. The school had more than 50 students and is scheduled to be repeated soon.

Here's Tips On Colors, Patterns

"Paisley" has grown into an important name in the men's clothing field, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear—and is mistakenly being applied to every bold print pattern.

The basic dark suit for teens in school is a black mohair or one with a high sheen. The three-button model is the best seller.

One of the strongest trends of the season has been the rush for patterned slacks, from neat checks and small plaids to big bold plaids and oversize houndstooth checks. These pants, slacks or trews go very well with plain colored blazers.

There's been a huge gain in the buying and wearing of over-the-calf socks.

Color is coming on fast in socks, with stripes a strong leader. There are handsome dress hose available in the vertical shadow ribs and sport styles with the big favorite horizontal competition stripes.

Pajamas have taken on a novelty and sportswear look. Many are patterned like the surfers' Aloha "jam" prints. Others are decorated with big wide chest stripes. There's even a Valentine's Day pajama packed in a can.

Tax Evasion

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Revenue officials said they uncovered the case of a Bombay businessman who had evaded income taxes for at least 20 years.

Killings Rats

MEERUT, India (AP) — A "kill rats" campaign has been launched in this northern India area. It is estimated rodents eat or destroy 6 per cent of the food grains in Uttar Pradesh state.

They Feed Wildlife At Station

By WILLIAM COLEMAN

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Small wonder the network's front office in New York balked. There in the expense vouchers from its Los Angeles television station, KNBC-TV, was listed $10 for graham crackers and oats, along with larger sums for such items as tubes, camera parts and electrical equipment.

But KNBC-TV had an explanation and the accountants at the National Broadcasting Co. no longer question charges for oats, alfalfa, graham crackers, stale bread and cigarettes.

These are fed to the deer, raccoons, squirrels and other wild — and no so wild — animals which come calling every day at the door of the station's transmitter on Mt. Wilson.

The whole thing started in 1947 when the station leased its transmitter site. The contract demanded that the station "foster wildlife."

Caretaker George Stott, 61, took over as supervisor of the handout department of KNBC-TV.

"Some of the animals show up every evening and raise a ruckus until I dispense the goodies," Stott said. "I even have to keep a bucket of water for the raccoons to dunk their dinner in."

Stott complains that his relief rolls are getting bigger by the day. "Every time a mother raccoon has a new family, she adds to the long line that forms at the door each night," he said.

Stott said the deer favor alfalfa and sometimes help the raccoons finish off the graham crackers.

A special treat is offered to the deer about once a week when Stott puts out cigarettes. He said the tame deer do not hesitate to walk into the building to pilfer from the ash trays and clean up the butts on the floor.

"We usually decorate for Christmas," Stott said. "But the deer always eat the wreath the first night so that the other animals don't really know the difference between Christmas and any other day."

Stott said he has established somewhat of a feeding schedule and that most of the animals adhere to it pretty closely.

"The birds and squirrels come in the morning and the raccoons at night," he said.

"The only problem is with the deer who will come at any time, so you must be prepared all day long.

"I have to haunt bakery shops for stale crumbs and any other tidbits I can find," he said.

Stett said his biggest problem is the same as that of the United States government:

"Once you start one of these welfare programs, there is no stopping it."

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — More than 40 years ago Herman Matheny's 80-year-old uncle bowed to the badgering of his 12-year-old nephew and allowed the boy to watch him build a medieval stronged instrument.

The old man lamented that he would be the last of generations of instrument makers, but it turned out he was wrong. Matheny remembered everything he was taught and became an accomplished artisan himself.

But now the uncle's fears probably will come true. Matheny, a plant guard at Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. in Akron, has no children to carry on the tradition.

He spends about three hours a day in his workshop at his suburban ranch-style house in Uniontown, 10 miles north of here. There he has completed 35 reproductions of the ancient music-makers. Among them are the psaltery, which resembles a flat harp on legs and dates back to biblical times, and dulcimers, which descended from the psaltry.

Recently at the request of the Library of Congress, Matheny agreed to donate to the Smithsonian Institution a psaltery valued at $15,000. Now he is working on his first nonstringed instrument, a 13th Century bellows organ.

"We were instrument makers in France when we were turned out in 1560 during a religious persecution," Matheny said of his heritage.

Now, he adds sadly: "No one else seems to be interested, and this art will probably die out with me."

Export Scheme

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Customs investigators said they uncovered a scheme by three New Delhi firms to export ancient stone images in cases marked "brass artware." They said the relics were destined for New York City.
